DEMOCRACY'S LAST APPEAL TO VOTERS.

Freedom and Liberty the Keynote of the Speeches Heard Last Evening.

PARTY NOMINEES ON HAND.

JAMES MINTURN AND DR. STECK THE PRINCIPAL SPEAKERS.

The Last Meeting of the Democrats in This City—Minturn Charged G. O. P. Administration With Insincerity—Dr. Steck's Remarks.

The last public appeal of the Plainfield Democracy in this campaign was made at the meeting held in Washington Hall last night. The meeting was attended by a large and enthusiastic audience, composed almost entirely of voters who paid close attention to the arguments made by the various speakers. This was the last of the series of meetings arranged and carried out by the officers of the Democratic Jeffersonian Club. The Democrats believe that the meetings have been very effective among the voters of the city, especially since they have been well attended and the audiences have displayed keen interest in the speeches heard.

The meeting last night was called to order by President John O'Keefe, of the club, who named former Councilman Walter Hetfield as chairman of the gathering. E. A. S. Man, candidate for Congress in the Eighth district, and Messrs. Park and Lammerding, candidates for members of Assembly, were present and occupied seats on the platform together with the other speakers—Dr. Charles F. Steck, of Pennsylvania, and James Minturn, of Hoboken—and the vice-presidents.

After a few words in regard to the leading questions of the campaign, in which he declared that imperialism was not the predominant feature, but trusts, Mr. Hetfield spoke for some length on the domineering policy as practiced by the Republicans in intimidating voters. Their plan, he said, is to give a ticket to an employe, telling him it is marked and they will know how it has been voted. If it is not as they wish the unfortunate voter is told he will lose his position. Their statements are false, Mr. Hetfield said, as they cannot tell how a man votes, and he advised his hearers to cast their ballot as their conscience dictated and not as their employers wished.

He then introduced John Lammerding, of Elizabeth, candidate for Member of Assembly, who spoke briefly on the subject of trusts. The Republicans declare there are no trusts but Mr. Lammerding differed with them, as according to the present state of affairs the man who produces the most gets the least and the one producing the least gets the most.

Mr. Park was the next to address the audience but owing to circumstances his remarks were also very brief. He took up the subject of American liberty and independence as left by our forefathers. Having that legacy, he said, vote as an American citizen should and be not intimidated by anyone. The Democratic party, he said, was a party for the laboring man and not for trusts as the Republicans are.

Mr Parks was followed by one of the principal speakers of the evening, Corporation Attorney James Minturn, of Hoboken. For over an hour Mr. Minturn discussed the leading questions of the day, dwelling particularly on the empty promises made by the Republicans. They have had ample opportunity, he said, in which to prove their arguments advanced in 1896, but as yet they failed to do so. He declared McKinley himself was all right if he was let alone but in all his actions the hand of Mark Hanna could be plainly seen. The reason, he said, was because Hanna had paid $180,000 of the President's debts in order to have a voice in the government. He then touched lightly on the subjects of imperialism and trusts and concluded by saying that the only expansion wanted in this country was that which will give every poor man the same privileges as the rich now enjoy.

The last speaker of the evening was Rev. Dr. Charles S. Steck, of Pennsylvania. Unfortunately, owing to the lateness of the hour, he was unable to go into detail in any part of his speech but what he did say created great enthusiasm. The subject of trusts and imperialism predominated in his discourse, both of which he handled in an able and energetic manner. He concluded his remarks by saying that our flag ceases to be American when it oppresses, as in the Philippines.

REPUBLICANS LIKE OUTLOOK IN JERSEY.

State Committee Says That Mr. McKinley Will Have a Majority of 45,000.

BIG MEETING AT NEWARK.

EVERY COUNTY REPRESENTED AND STEPS TAKEN TO TIE UP STRINGS.

Chairman Murphy Hopeful — He Said That Reports Showed a Hardening of the Situation for the Better.

In the headquarters in Walnut street, Newark, yesterday afternoon, what was probably the last formal meeting of the New Jersey State Republican committee before next Tuesday's election was held. Nearly every county in the State was represented when Chairman Franklin Murphy called the meeting to order, after having excluded all except those who had been invited to be present. Besides members of the State committee, the latter included the chairmen of the various county committees, most of whom were on hand. United States Senators William J. Sewell and John Kean and State Senators from various counties were also on hand. Final reports were received from all the counties as to the outlook for next Tuesday, and immediately after the meeting steps were taken to "tie up what ever strings had become loosened."

On the whole, it was stated, the reports did not materially change the complexion of things from what it was at the last conference of State and county representatives about two weeks ago, when Chairman Murphy gave forty five thousand as the State commmittee's estimate of McKinley's majority in New Jersey next Tuesday. Some of the counties made slight decreases from the previously given figures, while in others there was an increase.

After the conference State Chairmairman Murphy announced that there was was not much to be said about it.

"I see no reason to change my former figures," he said. "The reports submitted show a little hardening of the situation, for the better, if anything, and affairs, so far as the campaign is concerned, seem to be in good shape throughout. I believe that the State will give McKinley at least 45 000 majority."

Chairman Murphy also said that reports from Middlesex county indicate the election by the Republicans of Theodore Strong as State Senator, and that the factional differences in the party in Burlington county are being rapidly healed.

United States Senator Kean was more liberal than Chairman Murphy, declaring that "New Jersey will give McKinley more than 50,000 majority." He also said that Union county will be found in the Republican column with a good majority.

SAYS WIRES CAUSED IT.

Expert Electrician Inspected the Wires in Somerset Street School House Recently.

An expert electrician from the Edision labortory in Newark, made an investigation recently of the wiring in the basement of the Somerset street school, for the purpose of ascertaining whether the recent fire could have been or was caused by imperfect wiring or a cross of wires. In his opinion the fire could have been caused by the wires, and he believes that it was. Wires were found running over the top of a heater and the insulation was missing. It was probably burned off. This seems to satisfy the minds of the borough officials that electric light wires were responsible for the fire. This opinion was held by many before, but several others, who professed to know, claimed that such could not be the case.

This will no doubt have a tendency to make people more careful when stringing electric light wires in a house or building of any kind. The Board of Underwriters are to a large degree responsible for some things in this line, for they are supposed to examine and know that everything is all right.

Eliza Halstead Townley Dead.

Eliza Halstead Townley, one of Elizabeth's most prominent women for many years, died Tuesday at her home, on North Broad street, aged eighty-one. She was the widow of former Mayor Robert W. Townley, who made a fortune in the dry goods and general merchandise business at Fort Wayne, Ind., and after retiring came to Elizabeth, where he was born, to spend the rest of his life.

HORDES OF HUNTERS AFTER MASTER BUNNY

Open Season for Rabbits, Quail and Pheasants in New Jersey Began Today.

MANY HUNTERS ARE OUT.

MOST OF THE COUNTRY IN THIS VICINITY HAS BEEN "POSTED."

Reports From Hunterdon and South Jersey Tell of Lots of "Cottontails," But Very Few Birds This Season.

"It was just this way last year," sighed Master Bunny, as he squatted beside a clump of wild carrot, now dead and brown, on a hillside a mile away to the south of this city early this morning. "Just as the leaves have fallen and it begins to get real cool the men and their naughty dogs come roaming over here—"

"My, what's that?" questioned his frightened spouse as the distant roar of a shot gun sounded over the ridge. A short, stout man, with half a dozen rabbits fast to his belt and as many wandering at his heels, appeared in view. He carried a gun.

"Great scott, it's Jim Babbitt," and the little couple were up and away while the hounds bayed long and deep.

So it was for the poor "cotton-tails" from one end of the State to the other when this morning dawned for it marked the opening of the hunting season for rabbit, quail and pheasant. Plainfield, as well as the other cities of Jersey, sent a goodly delegation of hunters into the field. How well they will succeed is another matter.

There is very little opportunity to hunt in the vicinity of Plainfield this season. Where a few years ago the hunters could wander at will over the fields and meadows, they now encounter the "no trespassing or hunting" signs of the Game Protective Association and individual property owners. All through Union, Middlesex and Somerset counties, the country has been carefully "posted" and the shooting there has been reserved for the owners and members of the association. The consequence is that many of Plainfield's sportsmen have departed today for other fields where the forbidding signs are not so plentiful. Hunterdon county and the southern part of the State are said to be overrun with rabbits and many have to go to either of those hunting grounds.

Unless the rain falls steadily all the afternoon the day will not be a bad one for shooting. The cold east wind is not good, however, and keeps the rabbits and birds well under cover. Quail and pheasant are, by the way, reported to be rather scarce throughout the State except in those places which were stocked by their owners and are now carefully "posted." Rabbits are in plenty, however, and some wonderful tales of great captures may be confidently expected in a day or two.

LIVED TO RIPE OLD AGE.

Mrs. Seaman Passed Away at the Home of Her Sister.

Mrs. Catherine Seaman, after a life of over four score years, died this morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. Hannah E. Hazen, of 905 Watchung avenue. She had several paralytic strokes during the past year and had been confined to her bed for some time. Last evening she attempted to go down stairs when she slipped and fell.

She was carried to her room and a physician hurriedly summoned. She seemed worse during the night and passed quietly away this morning. Death was caused by heart failure.

She was born in Dutchess county, New York, and married there. Her husband was killed in the Civil War and since his death she made her home with Mrs. Hazen. She was a member of the First M. E. church, this city, where she was a regular attendant when her health permitted. She leaves two step-daughters.

The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock from Mrs. Hazen's residence.

Played Euchre.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Clark, of Somerset place, entertained the Montauk Euchre Club at their home last evening. This was the first meeting of the club for this season. There were five tables. Mrs. Robert M. Clark won the first prize for the women, and Mrs. Woolley, of Newark, secured the second prize. For the men Dr. Dundon won first prize and Arthur Cannon the second prize. Wm. N. Tier was awarded the booby prize.

PARTIES AND PRANKS MARKED LAST NIGHT

Hallowe'en Properly Celebrated in Many Ways by Young and Old People.

NO SERIOUS MISCHIEF DONE

THE EVENING SPENT IN A SOCIAL MANNER IN SEVERAL HOMES.

Pail of Flour Intended to Greet Boys Full of Tricks Was Encountered by Party Who Had Planned a Social Surprise.

Hallowe'en was duly celebrated by the small boys of Plainfield last evening. Crowds of them wandered through the streets, dodged the policemen and performed various stunts supposed to be appropriate to the time. Gates were carefully removed and hidden blocks off from their original resting place. Piazza chairs and settees were also distributed where they didn't belong.

Several large crowds of boys were out during the evening, but no serious mischief at their hands has yet been reported. The police went on duty at 6 o'clock, an hour earlier than usual, and were kept more or less busy looking after the Hallowe'en celebrators. Door bells were rung and numerous tricks played on peaceful residents. Many of the crowd were masked and grotesquely costumed.

There were many gatherings, big and little, at city and borough homes, to celebrate the day and try the various stunts and games which are supposed to take on strange and wierd powers on Hallowe'en.

Preparations were made by Miss Lulu Randolph, of West Eighth street, to catch any practical jokers who might visit her home. A pail of flour was so arranged that an attempt to ring the bell would deposit its contents on the unfortunate at the bell. She was not expecting the crowd of thirty young people who had arranged to give her a surprise. They all gathered about the front door and then one of them rang the bell. Without warning a shower of flour came from above. Miss Randolph opened the door and was somewhat horrified to find a crowd of her young friends generally covered with flour and half choked with it.

It is needless to say that the surprise on both sides was entirely genuine. A pleasant evening was spent, however, by the young folks who came from Brooklyn, New York, New Brunswick, Bound Brook and this city. It was arranged by Miss Cornell, of Bound Brook. In a peanut hunt Miss Cornell and Mr. Burn, of Brooklyn, won the prizes.

One young man left his bicycle outside the house and a party of revellers hid it in a neighboring field where the owner found it after hunting for several hours.

Miss Mary French, of West Seventh street, entertained a number of her friends at a Hallowe'en party last evening. The usual games and good time was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Kline, of Westervelt avenue, gave a Hallowe'en party last night. There was a large number of guests present and everyone had a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael McCarthy, of Lee place, entertained about thirty couples at their home last evening with a "house warming." Dancing was the feature of the evening. There were also songs and recitations given by several of those present.

Under the auspices of the U. S. S. Club a party was given at the residence of John Titus, of Park avenue, one of the members. There were about about forty present. The usual games appropriate to the occasion were played.

Of all the Hallowe'en sociables given last evening probably none proved more enjoyable than the one which the Scotch Thistle Club gave to its members and their friends. They assembled in Skandia Hall to the number of 100, and for four hours listened to an excellent programme of music, songs and recitations.

Everyone joined in making the evening a memorable one and they succeeded admirably. Among those who contributed to the fun were Thomas Hendry, Mrs. Donald McInness, Andrew Blair, Mrs. William Gloak, John Mortimer, John Nicholson, Alex. McDuff, James Stewart, Mrs. William Gray and David Bowden. After partaking of an excellent supper the affair was brought to a close by the singing of "Auld Country" songs. The committee of arrangements consisted of James Stewart, Alex. McDuff and Robert Kenney, assisted by Mrs. Head, Sr., and Mrs.

GAMBLING UNDER POLITICAL CLOAK.

Union Colored Republican Club Raided by the Police and Several Arrested.

TOO MUCH POKER PLAYING.

JIM BABBIT'S COHORTS GET INTO SERIOUS TROUBLE.

Stabbing Affray the Other Day Occurred in the Rooms of the Club—Trial Will be Held Next Week.

When political discussion grows slack for want of defenders for Bryan and his principles, the police say that some of the negro voters who claim allegiance to the Union Colored Republican Club, of this city, are wont to while away the hours at their club rooms with an occasional game of poker. The knifing of the cheek of Elsworth Cuff, Monday afternoon, put the police in possession of evidence which has resulted in the wholesale arrest of members of the club, charged with maintaining a gambling house.

Plainfield possesses two organizations of colored Republican voters, neither of which has been recognized by the Republican city campaign committee. They are the Union Club and the Southern League. The rivalry has been high between them and both have tried to obtain the recognition of the city committee. The city committee has demanded a consolidation, but the rivalry has been too keen and the members couldn't agree.

Leader and the most prominent figure of the Union Club has been special Officer Jas. Babbitt, popularly known as "Jim." It is alleged that he has permitted the gambling to go on in the rooms of the Union Club on East Front street without interference.

Last Monday afternoon there was a game of "stud poker" in which there is evidence that money changed hands. The police claim that these quiet little games have been a regular feature at the club. On this occasion there were some words, a blow or two, a knife was drawn and Ellsworth Cuff's cheek was slit. Gilbert Thompson, alias "Tip," is now in the county jail awaiting the action of the Grand Jury.

From the evidence which the police secured at the time of this little excitement, complaints were drawn against James Babbitt, Gilbert Thompson, Ellsworth Cuff, David Martin, Oscar TenEyck, Fred Taylor, "Pop" Anderson and William Davis. The charge against each, as members of the Union Club, is for maintaining a gambling den. The trial was set yesterday by City Judge Runyon for Friday morning, November 9th. No lawyers have yet been retained but it is understood that all will enter a plea of not guilty and fight the charge

SIGNAL MAN FATALLY HURT.

Fast Train Struck Central Employe at Cranford This Morning.

Harry Vail, aged 40 years, a signal man at Cranford, was struck by a train at that place about 10 o'clock this morning and sustained injuries that will prove fatal. There were several fractures about the head and his face was frightfully cut. He was brought to Muhlenberg Hospital about 11 o'clock and it was stated soon afterward that the man could not live. Mr. Vail lives at Dunellen and he has a wife and two children.

The train that struck Mr. Vail is known as No. 6, eastbound, and leaves this city at 9:42. The next stop is Elizabeth. The train came upon Mr. Vail so quickly that he was unable to get out of its way before it struck him.

Death of Young Lady.

After an illness of but a few days, Miss Sophia Saums, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Saums, of Clinton avenue, died at the hospital early this morning. She was taken to the institution Saturday suffering from appendicitis. The disease was too far advanced and she was unable to survive an operation. She was 16 years old and was identified for a long time with the Monroe Avenue church, taking an active part in all its affairs. Besides her parents she is survived by three brothers and one sister.

New Pastor for Dunellen.

At a meeting of the congregation of the Dunellen Presbyterian church last evening, Rev. N. J. Sproull, of Englishtown, to whom a call was extended, informed them that he had accepted. His pastoral duties will not commence, however, until January next.

Mrs. W. W. St. John, of West Front street, entertained a number of friends yesterday in honor of her birthday.

MR. MARTINE SAYS BRYAN WILL WIN.

"Farmer Orator" Declares That the Masses of the People Are With the Democracy.

COUNTS JERSEY FOR HIM.

SPEAKS FROM PERSONAL EXPERIENCE WITH VOTERS.

Predicts That This State Will Give 7,000 to 10,000 Majority for Bryan —Big Demonstration in Somerville Last Night.

James E Martine, who has been devoting almost his entire time for the past six weeks to stumping in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, told a Press reporter today that he feels certain that Bryan will win a great victory in the country and that he is confident that New Jersey will go into the Democratic column election day.

"I will stand by what I told Mr. Bryan at my home last February when he visited me, said Mr. Martine, "when I said to him that the Democrats will carry New Jersey this fall. For the past six weeks I have been on the stump continuously. My experience bears out the conclusion that the people are with us. It has been said that the so-called leaders of the party are not earnestly with us. As for this, it makes but little difference. The people are with us—for this is a campaign in which the masses are moved—they themselves are the leaders. A cause so just cannot fail. I feel that we shall carry New Jersey by from 7,000 to 10,000, but never mind the exact majority. God and the people are with us in this fight, and we will surely elect Mr. Bryan President."

There will be an important meeting of the U. S. Grant Republican Club of the borough next Monday evening at their rooms on Somerset street.

The U. S. Grant Republican Club will meet this evening promptly at 7 o'clock for the purpose of marching to Music Hall to attend the mass-meeting to be held there. Capt. Smith will be in charge.

Senator Reed, of the borough, has completed arrangements to have election returns received next Tuesday night at Saengerbund Hall, and a cordial invitation is extended to all to be present.

Secretary Devereux, of the Democratic State committee yesterday afternoon arranged for 280 Democratic mass-meetings to be held all over New Jersey between today and November 6th.

Seventy-five North Plainfield Democrats went to Somerville last night and attended the big Democratic meeting held in Germania Hall in that place. The principal address was made by Congressman Livingston. The trip of the boroughites was made in a special trolley car.

Councilman S. S. Swackhamer addressed an enthusiastic meeting of Democrats at Peapack last night.

DANTES GOES TO PRISON.

Drug Clerk Arraigned Before Judge Cowing in General Sessions in New York.

Edmond Dantes, formerly a drug clerk in this city, was arraignd yesterday before Judge Cowing in General Sessions, New York, and was sentenced to one year in State Prison. Dantes, who is a Russian, 27 years old, of 217 East Broadway, is a pharmacist by trade and had been convicted of substituting his name for that of Charles H. Hall in a diploma issued by the College of Pharmacy of the City of New York, May 3d, 1892. The prisoner had just finished a term in State prison for grand larceny, and previous to that he had been convicted of falsifying the accounts of Charles H. Hall, whose diploma he afterwards used to carry on a drug business in New York.

In Justice Mattison's Court.

Justice Mattison has issued papers in the following cases: John L. Gifford against P. W. McDonough, landlord and tenant, returnable today; Wm. Miles, Jr., against Alexander Stiglitz and Helen D. Stiglitz, landlord and tenant, returnable Nov. 5th; J. F. Martin against Augustus Pruden and John Doe, on contract, returnable Nov. 5th.

To Visit His Native Heath.

Matthew Roger Brown, expert at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, will sail for his old home in Scotland about the first of December. He will be abroad about six weeks. Upon his return he will come to Plainfield. He has not yet decided whether he will remain with the Hillside Club next year, but it is quite likely that he will.

SOCIETY PEOPLE IN OLD-FASHIONED TOGS

Hallowe'en Celebrated in Typical Style at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Clubhouse.

AUTUMNAL DECORATIONS.

CIDER, PUMPKIN PIES AND DOUGHNUTS FOR SUPPER.

Misses Andrews and Bushnell Arranged the Pleasant Affair — Gentlemen Guests Acted as Waiters—Those Who Were Present.

The pretty home of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club was the scene last evening of a delightful Hallowe'en event that will always be remembered by those present as a golden one in the history of the club. The efforts of Miss Gertrude Andrews and Miss Helen Bushnell, who arranged the affair, were crowned with success. A feature that furnished no end of fun was the appearance of the guests in genuine country style.

The clubhouse was resplendent with decorations. Cornstalks, red peppers and Jack o'lanterns were used to good advantage and produced a novel effect. In the reception room were to be found cornstalks and other products of the field, and, being illuminated with the lanterns, it was unique and attractive.

Throughout the evening there was general frolic, including the ducking for apples and other games that are appropriate to such an occasion. There was dancing, the Virginia reel being given in true style.

The costumes of many were mirth-provoking. Miss Bushnell appeared in a blue and white print dress and a pink sunbonnet, while Miss Andrews in a green and black wrapper, with a long apron, red sunbonnet, carrying a basket of pink and red flowers, attracted all by the unique makeup. Miss Lawson wore a wrapper of lavender color, blue apron, and Miss Emma Schoonmaker was gowned in a blue dress, white apron and a large straw hat. Mrs. Edward M. VanBuren, who kindly consented to be the chaperone, was gowned in an old print dress, black and white sunbonnet and white stockings. The other young women wore short light dresses, low neck and in general varied but little.

The men assisted in carrying out the general idea. Dr. B. VanD. Hedges wore a pair of old trousers, long coat, embroidered waistcoat, and Dr. Ard appeared in blue overalls, high boots and bandana kerchief. Fred Goddward also wore blue overalls, colored shirt, bandana tie and big straw hat. Harry and Clifford McGee were attired in old clothes, colored shirts, linen dusters and high collars. Most of the men wore large straw hats and appeared as ridiculous as possible.

During the evening supper was served in the dining room and such appetizing things as mince and pumpkin pies, doughnuts, cider, etc, were served by the men who acted as waiters. This menu was thoroughly enjoyed and assisted very much in making the affair complete. It was about 12:30 o'clock when the guests began to leave for home and all extended a vote of thanks to Miss Andrews and Miss Bushnell for the pleasant evening.

Those present included the Misses Edith Smalley, Helen Talmage, Lotta Lowe, Lydia P. Ackerman, Katheryn and Mary Anderson Reinhart, May, Margaret and Louise Holly, May Evans, Efna Strong, Maude VanBoskerck, Nancy Lawson, Emma Schoonmaker, Mrs. Edward M. VanBuren, Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, Henry Lowe, H. Reeve Stockton, Edward T. Wilson, James M. Middledith, Clarence Peck, L. H. VanBuren, Arthur Talmage, Howard and Fred Huntington, Louis and O. G. Waring, T. R. VanBoskerck, Dr. F. C. Ard, Fred Goddard, C. Westley Abbott, Frank L. Schoonmaker, Harry and Clifford McGee, of Plainfield. The out-of-town guests included Miss Gertrude Harrison, of New Haven; Miss Laura Post and Mr. Carhart, of New York; Miss Ethel Waterman, of Southport, Conn.

On Reduced Meadway.

Cars on the Rahway Street Railway are now running on one half-hour headway, leaving Picton on the hour and half hour, and connecting with every other car each way on the Plainfield and Elizabeth line.

Address by Mrs. Carleton.

Mrs. Will Carleton, wife of the ballad writer, will make an address tomorrow afternoon before the members and friends of the Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Baptist church. All are invited.

A FRUITLESS SEARCH.

Little Likelihood of Finding Victims of New York's Fire Horror.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—That no accurate count can ever be made of those who lost their lives in the fire and explosion which spread death and destruction from the Tarrant building was proved when the two coffins marked "Body No. 1" and "Body No. 2" were taken to the morgue. They were filled with what were supposed to be charred and disfigured human remains.

The first coffin held what were said to be two feet, five pieces of flesh, a fragment of skull and some charred clothing, all found in a heap in the ruins at 100 Warren street. Several little bundles in the other coffin marked Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5 were believed to be all that was left of four other bodies. They consisted of what the searchers described as charred flesh and bones. All were found in the portion of the ruins near Warren and Greenwich streets.

When the coffins reached the morgue, their contents were examined thoroughly by Assistant Morgue Keeper Jackson and Patrolman Jefferson Morrell, stationed at the morgue. The two experts in things mortuary said that in coffin No. 1 the part which was supposed to be human remains was nothing but gum arabic, glass and wood stuck together into a mass. There was not a vestige of bones or human flesh about it.

They also said that two or three of the other bundles said to be human flesh were not human remains at all but masses of debris stuck together.

There is little doubt that some of the fragments found and others which can be seen down in the tangled mass of brick and iron are those of human beings, but their condition precludes indentification or enumeration. The lists of missing and the stories of survivors will be the only means of approximating the death total.

A fireman's story would indicate that 30 lives were lost in the Tarrant building alone.

EARTHQUAKE IN FLORIDA.

Eight Distinct Shocks Felt In Jacksonville.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 1.—Eight distinct earthquake shocks were felt in Jacksonville yesterday. The first shock was at 11:10 o'clock a. m. and shook some of the large buildings in the city. Hundreds of people believed that heavy ordnance was being fired in or near the city. At 11:25 o'clock another shock equally as severe was felt, and other shocks continued at 15 minute intervals until 12:30 o'clock.

At 4:04 o'clock in the afternoon the seventh shock was felt, severer than any of the preceding, followed four minutes later by a report and shock, the severest of the day. The last disturbance made the window panes rattle in several sections of the city.

The local weather bureau officials realized the nature of the shocks at the first and kept the time. Director Mitchell of the department could not say officially, as he had no instruments to determine the matter, but stated it as his opinion that the vibrations passed from south to north. There was no disturbance in the water noticeable, and the shocks were not severe enough to cause any damage.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

A smallpox outbreak was reported at Guayaquil, Ecuador.

A London dispatch reported the death of Edward Henry Stuart Bligh, seventh Earl Darnley.

A valuable horse in Bath Beach, N. Y., was cured of lockjaw. This is the first cure in veterinary history.

John W. Yerkes, Republican candidate for governor of Kentucky, visited President McKinley at Canton.

Doctors at the Post Graduate hospital, New York city, were unable to rouse Nina Leavitt, the baby who has been asleep for 22 days.

Three hundred miners employed at the Hudson colliery, at Wilkesbarre, went on strike. There was also a strike at one colliery in the Hazleton region.

The Venezuela Earthquake.

CARACAS, Venezuela, Nov. 1.—Further details received regarding the earthquake of Monday last show that San Casimiro, Cua and Charallano were entirely destroyed. An islet situated at the mouth of the Neveri river has disappeared. At Tacarigua, Brochico and Curiepe the damage done was considerable. There are many dead and injured. Railroad and telephonic service between Caranero and Rio Chico is interrupted. Railroad service between Quayra and Caracas was resumed this morning.

Indian Bureau Saves Money.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The Indian bureau finds that the new system of transporting Indian supplies by dealing directly with the railroads instead of through contractors has effected a saving of 20 per cent, or $40,000, in transportation expenses for the last fiscal year. Heretofore the railroads have refrained from bidding for the transportation contracts, and private contractors have received large profits.

French Cruisers at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 1.—The French cruisers La Cecille and La Souchet, the former the flagship of Admiral Richard, arrived in port late yesterday. A number of tugs went down the bay to meet them, but no one was allowed aboard until the vessels cast anchor off the Lazaretto light, in lower Canton, and the ceremony of exchanging national salutes by the vessels and Fort McHenry was concluded.

Two Miners Killed.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 1.—William Shepard and Calvin Conner, miners, were killed by a fall of coal in the Pine Ridge colliery of the Algonquin Coal company at Miners Mills. Both bodies were covered by tons of coal and rock, and it was several hours before the debris could be cleared away and the men taken out.

Khaki Cloth Contract.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The contract for furnishing the quartermaster's department of the United States army with 1,000,000 yards of khaki cloth has been awarded to the American khaki mills at 22 cents a yard. There were two other bidders, John Wanamaker and Boesneck, Broesel & Co.

FIGHT OVER ALVORD.

No Decision as to Which Court Gets Him.

GARDINER HOLDS THE EMBEZZLER.

Absconding Bank Teller Looks Worn and Seems Likely to Collapse. Jurisdiction to Be Decided Today.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The question of jurisdiction in the case of Cornelius L. Alvord, who robbed the First National bank of $690,000, came up again yesterday, when Alvord was brought into the Tombs police court. After the attorneys representing the United States, the state of New York, Alvord and the First National bank had spent nearly an hour in arguing with each other, Magistrate Flammer put the case over until 11 o'clock today, when, he said, he would probably decide whether he would hold the embezzler for trial in a state or a United States court. Then Alvord was taken back to the Tombs.

Before Detective Sergeants Conly and Armstrong brought Alvord over from the Tombs the police court room was filled with the usual crowd of curious people, who had come to see the man who had got away with nearly $700,000. A number of lawyers who were interested in the case were also present. They were: General Henry L. Burnett, United States district attorney; Ernest A. Baldwin, assistant United States district attorney, who has charge of the criminal matters for the district attorney; Fisher A. Baker of Peabody, Baker & Peabody of 2 Wall street, counsel for the First National bank, and Jacob F. Miller of Miller, Decker & Miller of 120 Broadway, counsel for Alvord. United States Marshal William Henkel, with two deputies, J. E. McAviney and M. H. Blake, were also present.

Before Alvord was brought over General Burnett explained the attitude of his office in the case. He said that there could be no doubt but that the case against Alvord was essentially one for a United States court. He cited sections 711 and 5,209 of the revised statutes to sustain him in the contention. "The case is similar to that of John C. Eno, who robbed the Second National bank of a large amount; the case of Fonda in Michigan and Pelton in Massachusetts."

Alvord looked very much worried when he was brought into the courtroom by Detectives Armstrong and Cary. His eyes were bloodshot, and his lips trembled when he spoke. He was in a highly nervous state, and the detectives feared that he would break down physically.

Mr. Bryan In Ohio.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 1.—The Democratic national candidate, William J. Bryan, made his first speech of the campaign here last night. He arrived on a special train at 8 o'clock and went direct to Music hall, where he talked for an hour. Hon. Judson Harmon, formerly attorney general under President Cleveland, presided at the meeting, and there were many other leading Democrats present. The doors were opened at 7 p. m., but more than enough to fill the hall were present before 6 o'clock. The day was spent entirely in this state, and the itinerary covered the country between this city and Toledo. Beginning with an hour's speech at Toledo at 10 o'clock in the morning, Mr. Bryan spoke in succession at Wauseon, Napoleon, Ottawa, Lima, Wapakoneta, Sidney, Piqua, Troy, Dayton, Hamilton and College Corner.

Launching of the Arrow.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Charles R. Flint's Arrow, under contract to be the fastest ship ever designed, was launched yesterday at Ayer's shipyard at Nyack, N. Y. She has been built under a guarantee by her designer of 42 miles an hour, and it is expected that under pressure she will be able to make 50. It has been generally given out that she was constructed as a yacht for Mr. Flint's personal use, but rumors have been persistent that she was built under contract with one of the South American governments for service as a torpedo boat. Her plans, so far as they have been made public, show her fully equipped for torpedo service. The Arrow will go in tow to Newark, N. J., where her shafting and engines will be put in. Her destination after she has been fitted out at Newark has not been announced.

Hungarians In a Tumult.

BUDAPEST, Nov. 1.—A stormy debate is proceeding in the lower house of the Hungarian parliament on the Archduke Ferdinand's renunciation of claim to the Hungarian throne in behalf of the issue of his morganatic marriage. Francis Kossuth had insisted on the right of Countess Chotek to become queen of Hungary, and the premier, Koloman de Szell, had declared that this was impossible. Immediately there arose a tremendous tumult, with deafening cries of "She shall be queen!" When quiet was restored, the premier expressed the greatest respect for the wife of Archduke Ferdinand, but explained that it was impossible to alter the law of succession. This explanation he followed with a strong appeal to the chamber to pass the bill confirming the renunciation.

Annoying the Pullmans.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The young man who for several years annoyed the Pullmans in Chicago by demanding money of them and calling himself Gustave Pullman was arrested here yesterday. He called at the hotel where young George and Sanger Pullman are living and sent his card up to the former. Pullman had him ejected, and he returned and demanded $60,000. He was again put out and on his third visit was arrested. After being arraigned in police court he was taken to the insane pavilion at Bellevue hospital for observation.

Blair Claims Big Damages.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 1.—Suit for $250,000,000 has been filed against 25 of the most prominent citizens in Texas by Joel Blair of Bell county. The petition alleges that the defendants conspired to gain possession of his right in valuable Waco property and caused him to be placed in an asylum for two years.

General Otis In Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Major General Otis is at the war department in conference with officials regarding military matters, including his new duties in command of the department of the lakes at Chicago.

PLAN AN INVASION.

Boers Under General Botha to Enter Cape Colony.

RECRUITS AWAIT THEM THERE.

Heavy British Casualty List Reaches London—Shipment of Gold by Kruger on the Bundesrath Denied.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—A dispatch from Pretoria says: "Intelligence has reached here that Commandant General Botha is marching with a strong force to invade Cape Colony near Kenhardt, where, it is said, the irreconcilable Boers are ready to join him."

"Mr. Cecil Rhodes," says the Pretoria correspondent of The Daily Mail, "will oppose the settlement of Boers in Damaraland, but he will welcome them to Rhodesia and will grant favorable terms after the war to induce them to settle there."

Another long casualty list has been received by the war office. Lieutenant Lord Grosvenor was wounded in the right thigh during the fighting at Bethlehem.

A message from Hamburg says that the provincial court has laid an embargo upon bar gold of the value of 2,500,000 marks which arrived at Cuxhaven on the imperial mail steamer Bundesrath from Delagoa Bay. This step was taken, it is alleged, for the sole purpose of reimbursing insurance companies here for gold withheld by the Transvaal government during the war. The Hamburgische Boerstenhalle, however, denies a rumor that the gold was shipped by Mr. Kruger.

A Fight With Boers.

CAPE TOWN, Nov. 1.—A force of 200 Boers attacked the Cape police pickets at Palmietfontein Tuesday afternoon. After two hours' fighting the Boers retired, but maintained a running fight for some distance along the north bank of the Orange river. One policeman was wounded. The Boer casualties are not known. The Cape government has offered a reward of $1,000 for the discovery of the authors of the recent outrages at Fraserburg.

Kruger's Reception.

MARSEILLES, Nov. 1.—The Kruger reception committee has issued an appeal to the population to participate in the demonstrations that are being arranged for Mr. Kruger's reception, but to abstain from "hostile acts or words toward a nation friendly to France."

Roosevelt In Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Nov. 1.—The train bearing the Republican vice presidential candidate arrived in this city shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday after making a pause at Black Rock, an industrial suburb of Buffalo and the north bound railway center of the city. The governor was accorded a splendid reception at this place and addressed a few remarks to the laboring people. From the time of the governor's arrival until the time he retired there was one continuous ovation. The streets through which he had to pass on his way from the depot were crowded with people. The governor spoke at three meetings, one on the east side in the industrial portion of the city, which was an open air affair and where so many people were gathered that less than one-half of them could hear the speaker. Another followed in a small hall where the major part of the audience was composed of Italians, and the third and last was in the immense Convention hall, which was filled to the doors.

American Newspaper Congratulated.

PARIS, Nov. 1.—The last issue of the Paris exposition edition of the New York Times appeared yesterday. The paper had been published daily, except on Sundays, since May 21 and been one of the striking features of America's exhibit, its circulation having extended over the entire continent. The closing ceremony was witnessed by American officials. The final issue contains five columns of letters tendering congratulations to the management upon the success of the undertaking and expressions of regret at its discontinuance. Among these are communications from M. Picard, M. Cambon, General Horace Porter, Mr. Ferdinand W. Peck, United States Consul General Gowdy, M. Jules Claretie, M. de Rodays, editor of the Figaro, and seven United States consuls in Europe. Mr. George W. Ochs, the publisher, was heartily congratulated on the successful conduct and termination of his work.

Storm In Paris Council.

PARIS, Nov. 1.—The municipal council had a stormy session yesterday in consequence of a motion made by M. Colly to name certain streets in Paris after Blanqui, Flourens and other heroes of the siege during the Franco-Prussian war. M. Colly declared that the honor was due them "in recognition of their efforts to save Paris from the shameful capitulation prepared by General Trochu." His proposal aroused a perfect pandemonium, which the president of the council was unable to quiet. The Socialists rose en masse and shook their fists in the faces of the Nationalists. M. Colly's motion was finally carried.

To Reorganize Salvation Army.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Commander Booth Tucker of the Salvation Army, who has been several weeks in London, returned aboard the White Star liner Teutonic. He said the object of his visit abroad was to induce General William Booth, commander in chief of the Salvation Army, to visit America. General Booth promised to come to New York next September and spend six months in the country assisting in reorganizing the Army.

Talc Concerns Combine.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 1.—The Columbia Talc company, the American Talc company and Kellar Bros.' Talc and Pulp company have been combined into the Union Talc company, with a capital stock of $1,000,000. H. G. Hanford of New York has been elected president. The business of the company will be conducted at Gouverneur, St. Lawrence county.

Parnell Estate Sold.

DUBLIN, Nov. 1.—Avondale, the estate of the late Charles Stewart Parnell, was sold at auction yesterday by the land judges' court. The purchaser was Mr. Boyland, a friend of Mr. John Howard Parnell, brother of the famous Irish statesman.

CASTELLANE A SPENDTHRIFT.

George Gould Appointed Trustee For His Sister, the Countess.

PARIS, Nov. 1.—The civil tribunal has appointed George J. Gould trustee for the Countess of Castellane, his sister.

According to the pleadings in the case her husband, Count Boni of Castellane, spent 23,000,000 francs in four years, whereas his income from his wife's fortune is only 3,000,000 francs.

The action in the case was the result of a suit brought by Mr. Gould against his sister. The court granted his request and appointed him trustee. The proceedings were conducted in secret session, only the bare decision being announced.

The Castellanes are now staying in the country together.

The Collapse Not Unexpected.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Rumors have been current for some time of an approaching climax in the affairs of the Castellane family.

Creditors have been pressing the count, and his recent visit to this country was said to have been for the purpose of inducing the Goulds to help him out of the difficulties he was in.

When he came to New York some months ago, it was said that his departure from Paris was in the nature of a flight, but he denied this statement on his arrival here and threatened to fight a duel with a French editor who declared he was in financial difficulties and connected his name with certain matters on the bourse.

Boni de Castellane has cut more or less of a figure in Paris politics. He is a deputy and a Royalist. At the disgraceful affair on the Anteuil race track he led in the insulting demonstration against the president of the French republic.

Premonitory symptoms of the financial trouble which has come upon Anna, the Countess Castellane, have, in fact, not been lacking for any part of the period since her gorgeous wedding in March, 1895.

MINERS RETURN TO WORK.

Differences Adjusted With Two Companies—Silk Hands Strike.

HAZLETON, Pa., Nov. 1.—The Milnesville colliery, operated by the A. S. Van Wickle estate, will resume work tomorrow. The company has agreed to grant the men all the concessions made by the other companies and operators.

Calvin Pardee & Co. and a committee representing the strikers for whom there was no work at Lattimer when operations were resumed on Monday have arrived at an amicable agreement, and all the discharged men are back at their old places today.

About 100 of the 150 girls employed at the Freeland silk mill, 12 miles north of here, went on strike yesterday afternoon because of the refusal of the company to discharge a forelady whose father, a miner employed at Jeddo, is said to have worked during the coal strike. The girls also demanded a uniform wage rate of $1 a day. The managers of the industry allege that the forelady whose discharge is demanded has given satisfaction and will be retained. They also claim that they cannot grant a wage increase because the mill has been operated at a loss for several months.

Santiago Needs Protection.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Nov. 1.—Colonel Whitside has not received orders discontinuing this military department, but the unofficial advices on the subject are accepted, and business men generally deplore the outcome. They point out that Santiago's interests are entirely different from those of Havana and contend that a military headquarters should be maintained here. Everybody in Santiago has the utmost confidence in General Wood, but under the military system Colonel Whitside has been able to adjust many important matters by personal attention. To have referred them to Havana, it is urged, would have worked a hardship to the business interests of this community. It is admitted on all hands that there is no necessity for a strong force of troops here, but it is considered essential that a military commander, holding ample authority, should remain for some time to come.

Tracking the Murderer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The hunt for Flannigan, the negro who killed Prison Keeper Hugh McGovern in this city on Saturday night, is being prosecuted with vigor across the river in New Jersey. It is expected that the officers will have a fight before Flannigan is captured. Sheriff Van Buskirk of Bergen county, N. J., and his deputies are aiding the New York officers. When last seen, the negro murderer was going up the Susquehanna road in the direction of the Ramapo mountains and is now believed to be hiding in one of the settlements in the mountains inhabited by "Jackson White" negroes. The latter have given local authorities much trouble in the past and are known as desperate characters.

A Medal For American Professor.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 1.—The Society of Arts of London has awarded a silver medal to Professor R. W. Wood of the physics department of the University of Wisconsin in recognition of his work on the diffraction process of color photography. Professor Wood visited England in February by special invitation of the society, presenting papers on this and other subjects before the principal societies of London.

SENATOR DAVIS' ILLNESS.

Said to Be a Case of Blood Poisoning From Which He Will Recover.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—An authoritative statement has been received from St. Paul as to the exact condition of Senator Cushman K. Davis, who has been ill at his home in that city for some weeks. The statement is as follows:

After his return from speaking in the Maine campaign in September Senator Davis was troubled by some slight twinges of pain in one of his feet, to which he paid but little attention, thinking them the result of some neuralgic or rheumatic condition which would soon pass away, but began to make his plans for speeches in Minnesota and other states. In pursuance of these plans he went to Duluth, where he spoke on Friday, Sept. 21; thence to Alexandria, Minn., speaking at the latter named place on Monday, the 25th of September.

At Duluth his foot pained him very much, and at Alexandria it was so bad he could not wear his shoe and spoke in great and constant pain. He returned to St. Paul the next day, and on Wednesday his physician ordered him to his bed. A few days later an operation was performed, but he failed to get better, and after some days of discouragement Dr. A. J. Stone, one of the most eminent surgeons of the northwest and a long time personal friend of Senator Davis, was consulted and took charge of the case. Dr. Stone associated with himself Drs. Rotrock and Lancaster. An operation, with a view of prompt relief, was performed on Sunday, Oct. 14, which was immediately beneficial, and on Oct. 24 a further operation was performed. The surgeons express the opinion that no more operations will be necessary.

The case is one of blood poisoning caused by infection of a slight abrasion of the skin of his foot from the dye of a black silk stocking. The foot is rapidly healing, and the principal factor in the case now is the senator's extreme nervousness, caused by confinement to his room and the wear and tear on his nerves by the severe pain endured by him during the advanced stage of the disease. It is confidently believed that the senator will be in good health by the opening of the session of congress in December.

LIPTON'S PORK CORNER.

Price Goes to $20 a Barrel—Sir Thomas' Profits.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—The culmination of the October pork corner controlled by Sir Thomas Lipton came yesterday, when pork for delivery this month advanced $3, rising on fewer than a dozen trades from $17, Tuesday's closing price, to $20. Shorts who had held off until the last moment boosted the price to $20. It was said that Sir Thomas could have made the price $100 as well as $20, but he declared he had no intention of "squeezing" anybody.

As a result of his deal here Lipton is believed to have made $350,000. There were only 35,000 barrels of pork that could be delivered, and the Irishman owned them all as well as twice that number bought from people who did not have a barrel they could deliver. When the price reached $16 some time ago, the majority of shorts thought it time to buy some of the pork they had contracted to deliver at approximately $11 per barrel during October. Numerous private settlements are said to have been made, so that while bearish speculators in pork have received some painful financial injuries the wounds have not been mortal.

Brewery For Japan.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 1.—The Vilter Manufacturing company is closing a contract to ship a complete set of brewing machinery to Japan, the first ever shipped from America to that country. Mr. Shimogo, the promoter of the enterprise, accompanied by S. Yamanouyal of New York, was in Milwaukee on Monday. They decided to adopt the plans of the Vilter company, although they have visited all the European manufacturers of brewing machinery. The Vilter company will be able to furnish the plant, which will cost about $100,000, in three months, whereas the foreign manufacturers could not finish it in less than six months.

The Prohibition Special.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 1.—The Prohibition special left Pittsburg at 6:15 last evening and reached here at 8 o'clock for the night meeting. Several hundred local Prohibitionists, with the Washington Military band, greeted the party. A street parade preceded the speaking. The meeting was held at the town hall, which was crowded with about 600 persons. The speakers of the evening were Presidential Candidate John G. Woolley, National Chairman Oliver W. Stewart and Lee L. Grumbine, candidate for congressman at large.

Rolling Mill to Close.

ALTOONA, Pa., Nov. 1.—The rolling mill of the Altoona Iron company at this place will be closed down, and about 400 persons will cease working them. A short while ago the mill's management decided to reduce the puddlers' wages from $4.25 to $3 per ton. They refused to accept the reduction, and the company has decided to close the mill down rather than pay the wages that the workmen insist on having. The rolling mill is one of the oldest industries in this city.

Burglars Burn a Town.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 1.—The business portion of the town of Shelby, Polk county, was almost entirely destroyed by fire yesterday morning. During the night a gang of burglars, believed to be five in number, swooped down on the town. The tills of many stores and shops were tapped, and three safes were broken open.

Bloody Boundary Dispute.

VIENNA, Nov. 1.—Official confirmation has been received here from Mostar in Herzegovina, of the reports of a collision growing out of a boundary dispute between an Austro-Hungarian military patrol and a force of Montenegrin soldiers. One Montenegrin was killed, and several on each side were wounded.

McKinley Has Many Callers.

CANTON, O., Nov. 1.—The McKinley home was thronged with visitors yesterday. They came from far and near, some merely to pay their respects, some on matters of business and some to talk politics. The president and his secretaries were kept busy attending to them.

Killed by a Thrasher.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 1.—While backing a thrasher into a barn the machine was overturned and struck Albert Overton of Edgebert, Lewis county, crushing him to death.

UNCLE SAM'S REPLY.

The Anglo-German Proposition Agreed To.

TO MAINTAIN OPEN DOOR IN CHINA.

Territorial Integrity of the Empire Must Be Preserved—The American Government In Full Sympathy With England and Germany.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The state department has made public the British-German agreement respecting the maintenance of the "open door" and territorial integrity of China, with the answer of the United States government sent in duplicate to each of the principals to the agreement.

Secretary Hay's note to Lord Pauncefote is as follows:

"I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your note of the 23d of October inclosing the text of an agreement between Great Britain and Germany relating to affairs in China, which was signed in London on the 16th inst. by the Marquis of Salisbury and the German embassador on behalf of their respective governments and inviting the acceptance by the United States of principles recorded in that agreement. These principles are:

"'First.—It is a matter of joint and permanent international interest that the ports on the rivers and littoral of China should remain free and open to trade and to every other legitimate form of economic activity for the nationals of all countries without distinction, and the two governments agree on their part to uphold the same for all Chinese territory so far as they can exercise influence.

"'Second.—Her Britannic majesty's government and the imperial German government will not on their part make use of the present complication to obtain for themselves any territorial advantages in Chinese dominions and will direct their policy toward maintaining undiminished the territorial condition of the Chinese empire.'

"The United States have heretofore made known their adoption of both these principles. During the last year this government invited the powers interested in China to join in an expression of views and purposes in the direction of impartial trade with that country and received satisfactory assurances to that effect from all of them. When the recent troubles were at their height, this government, on the 3d of July, once more made an announcement of its policy regarding impartial trade and the integrity of the Chinese empire and had the gratification of learning that all the powers held similar views, and since that time the most gratifying harmony has existed among all the nations concerned as to the ends to be pursued, and there has been little divergence of opinion as to the details of the course to be followed. It is therefore with much satisfaction that the president directs me to inform you of the full sympathy of this government with those of her Britannic majesty and the German emperor in the principles set forth in the clauses of the agreement above cited.

"The third clause of the agreement provides:

"'Third.—In case of another power making use of the complications in China in order to obtain under any form whatever such territorial advantages the two contracting parties reserve to themselves to come to a preliminary understanding as to the eventual steps to be taken for the protection of their own interests in China.'

"As this clause refers to a reciprocal arrangement between the two high contracting parties the government of the United States does not regard itself as called upon to express an opinion in respect to it."

A similar note, mutatis mutandis, has been addressed by the secretary of state to the imperial German charge d'affaires.

Japan Agrees.

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—The formal reply of Japan, unreservedly acceding to the terms of the Anglo-German agreement, has been received at the German foreign office.

Ordered to China.

DURBAN, Natal, Nov. 1.—The Gordon highlanders and the Devonshire regiment have been ordered to be ready to sail for China in a few days.

Will Rebuild In Hoboken.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—It is announced in Hoboken that the North German Lloyd Steamship company have decided to rebuild their piers in that city and have abandoned their intention of removing to New York. There will be three piers built in place of the four destroyed, and the buildings will be two stories high and fireproofed so far as possible. The work of removing the debris will be commenced at once. Pier 3 will be the first one reconstructed and will be ready for business by July 1, 1900. Work on the other piers will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Porto Rico Registration Closed.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Nov. 1.—Yesterday was the last day of registration for the forthcoming election of a house of delegates and a commissioner to Washington. It is estimated that the total registration will reach 110,000, though probably about 30,000 will be rejected. The Federals still firmly assert that they will not go to the polls. No reports of trouble anywhere in the island were received except news of a small riot at Aguadilla, which was without serious result.

Financing Swiss Railroads.

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—Dr. von Siemens, president of the Deutsche bank, is in Paris completing negotiations for financing the Swiss railroads. The transaction, it is said, involves a loan of 300,000,000 francs at 4 per cent, which will be raised principally by American banks, assisted by English, French, German and Swiss financiers. The matter attracted much attention on the Berlin bourse.

Antitax Riots In Roumania.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—"There have been serious antitax riots," says the Vienna correspondent of The Daily Express, "in the Serat district of Roumania. Two local officials were killed, and the troops who were sent to enforce payment were resisted by the peasants, who killed eight of them."

Drowned In Dundee Lake.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—While George Arnold and his wife of Clifton, N. J., were crossing Dundee lake the boat upset and Mrs. Arnold was drowned.

Changes That Census May Make.

The announcement of the population by States made at the Census Office brings the question of reapportionment of Representatives in Congress prominently into view. It has for some time been assumed that the basis of the next apportionment would be about 200,000 to a Congressional district, instead of 173,901, as at present. This ratio would give us a House of 377 members and an Electoral College of 467, instead of 357 Representatives and 557 electors, as now.

Of this increase it is figured out that New Jersey would contribute one—the present Hudson county district being divided.

Advocates of the creation of a new State, to be composed only of the territory now known as New York city, are furnished with an additional argument by the completed census figures. Leaving New York State out of consideration, only three of the forty-five States have population greater than that of New York city—Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois. The city's inhabitants, 3,437,202, constitute 4½ per cent. of those of the United States; in other words, one out of every twenty-five in the country's total population, 76,295,220, is a resident of Greater New York.

Perhaps even a more comprehensive idea of New York city's size may be obtained from consideration of the fact that all the residents of Delaware, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Utah, Vermont, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Washington, and Florida—eleven States—could be brought here in place of the present population and they would not fill the places of the population the city is shown to have by the census.

For Mr. Adelmann's Benefit.

It is reported that Superintendent Adelmann, of the Plainfield Street Railway Company, denies the statement that he has failed to reply to communications from borough officials regarding the operation of the trolley in the borough. If Mr. Adelmann will refresh his memory he will remember that he has received communications from Robert Clark, Jr., chairman of the street committee, in which the latter endeavored to secure for the borough such things as the people were justly entitled to, and that he failed to reply to the same. Some time afterward when he was met on the street by Mr. Clark and asked about the matters referred to, Mr. Adelmann simply smiled and said that they would be attended to in time. If Mr. Adelmann wants proof that this is true he is referred to Mr. Clark.

So far as the condition of Somerset street is concerned, and the reported statement by Mr. Adelmann that the repairs are not completed, the work was done last week and left in a disgraceful condition, as anyone who has seen it can testify. If there is such a thing as compelling a trolley company to live up to every letter of the ordinance granting them a franchise in the borough, the company can rest assured that Mayor Smalley and the Council will see that it is done.

The Vote Next Tuesday.

The total popular vote in the United States next Tuesday will be the greatest ever polled, and in this respect the Newark Advertiser says:

Every Presidential election year since 1824, with one exception, the popular vote has shown an increase over the previous year. The exception was 1864, during the period of the Civil War, when the southern States did not vote in the election, and yet the popular vote fell off only 652,061.

The greatest increase in four years was two millions, between 1872 and 1876. The next highest increase was between 1892 and 1896, namely, 1,842,206. Between 1824 and 1896 the total vote polled in Presidential elections increased from 352,062 to 13,912,976. Since 1872 the popular vote has more than doubled.

In 1872 the popular vote in New Jersey was 168,112, and in 1896 reached the figure of 374,476. In all probability the total vote of the nation next Tuesday will not be less than 15,500,000, and the vote more than 400,000 in this State.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

W. F. Godfrey, a traveling missionary, visited Plainfield yesterday with a queer-looking wagon and a team of horses. The wagon is covered with Scripture quotations and looks like a Gypsy affair. Mr. Godfrey uses this means of traveling about the country preaching the Gospel.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

If the efforts of Manager Maze Edwards, of Music Hall, to secure attractions of the highest order for his patrons are appreciated, the theatre will be packed on the occasion of the presentation of Sardou's "Fedora" next Monday night. It is not often that a production of this proportion, which usually confines its route to the largest cities, visits places the size of our growing city, and it is to be hoped that efforts to secure its appearance here will be rewarded by an appreciative number to assure its being a financial success, as it will certainly prove a source of pleasure and edification to the cultured portion of our population. There is no reason to presume that the theatre will not be filled to welcome "Fedora," as the interest engendered by its coming appearance is indicative of a wide intent to witness undoubtedly the greatest play of the world's most famous playwright, in which Fanny Davenport and Sara Bernhardt added much to their fame and fortune.

There will be an important convention in Plainfield on Election Day—Tuesday next both afternoon and evening. It is the occasion of the mobilization of the allied armies of fun and it will take place upon the stage of Music Hall at 2:15 and 8:15 p. m. and will be called "What Happened to Jones." People who desire to see the jolly side of a work-a-day life are advised to attend as delegates. They are advised to secure their seats early as there will be a great attendance, for all have heard of Jones and want a laugh at his expense. Look for the funniest company of comedians of the season who will assist in the performance of "What Happened to Jones." Reserved seat tickets for either performance can now be secured at the box office. Election returns will be read from the stage during the performance.

Lockhart's baby elephants made their first appearance at Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre Monday. These elephants are said to be wonderfully well trained and their performance is simply marvelous. Ida Fuller, the prismatic queen of illuminated dancers, will be prominent in the bill, and she promises an entirely new series of dances. Sam, Kitty and Clara Morton show their unique singing and dancing specialty and others are Clemence Sisters, operatic sketch; Murphy and Allen, in an illusion act, "The Bifurcated Girl;" St. Onge Bros., trick bicyclists; Lawrence Crane, magician; Budd Bros., acrobats; Sisson and Wallace, in a "kid" specialty and many more.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

Bribery, Mr. Martine Calls It.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—At the Republican meeting in North Plainfield the chairman stated that 150 Republican workers would be placed on every street corner to work the Republican ticket. This is an insult to the intelligence of the voters of North Plainfield—and it only means 150 bribes to vote for McKinley. This shows the amount of the Republican corruption fund. I appeal to fair minded voters to stand firm. Vote your convictions, without fear or the hope of reward. J. E. Martine.

—The best method of cleansing the liver is the use of the famous little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Easy to take. Never gripe. L. W. Randolph.

is an article that has a place in every home. In fact no home is complete without one. There was a time when such an article was a luxury, but not now, and when we say we have the handsomest as well as the cheapest line in the city we don't exaggerate in the least, for we don't buy our furniture in any haphazard manner, and when an article is placed on our floor you may rest assured that it's the best that can be had for the money. The fact that our furniture sales are twice as large as last year is sufficient proof of it. The Morris Chairs that we direct particular attention to are those at 9.48, 9.98, 10.98, 11.98 and 12.98.

They are finished in beautiful quartered golden oak and mahogany, rubbed and polished, have hair spring seats, claw feet, handsome carvings, and the cushions are upholstered in the best grades of Arlington velours, filled with hair.

Hall Furniture In this line as well as any other we are prepared to fill your wants. All the newest designs, quartered oak, golden finish, with French bevel plate mirror, heavy brass fixtures for hats and umbrellas, 12 different styles to select from, the prices start at 6.98 and run up to 12.48.

Lamp Light It is our aim to furnish the best possible light that a lamp can give. The beauty of the article is secondary—and yet we have had remarkable success in combining both light and beauty. Decorated and solid color lamps and globes to match are here in delightful choice. There has never been such a lamp stock in this town before. The character of them are away above the average. No more appropriate and acceptable wedding present could be found than one of these lamps. You are invited to inspect them. Prices and styles too numerous to quote, but we have them from 75c to 13.98. There are no duplicates of these lamps.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Nov. 1—The marriage of Miss Jennie Martin Tingley, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tingley, of Dunellen, to Jacob Byer, of Bound Brook, took place at the home of the bride's parents last evening. Rev. Samuel Cox, of Croton, N. J., an uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony. Miss Grace Lowrie, of Dunellen, was bridemaid and Bismarck Byer, of Bound Brook, acted as best man. After a wedding supper, which was attended by a large number of guests, the young couple left for a short honeymoon trip to southern points. They will take up their residence in Bound Brook, where the groom has a successful business.

Today is the beginning of the open season for rabbits, quail and partridges and the local sportsmen are out in full force. Adam Dealaman and Sanford Staples have gone to Whitehouse, George Rinehart and Matthew McGovern will scour the mountains in the vicinity of Pittston, while Peter Benward and Peter Schneiderwind have selected Asbury as their stamping ground.

For the past two nights the electric lights in the borough have been on their bad behavior. Tuesday night they went out at 9:30 and remained out for the rest of the night. Last night they seemed undecided about remaining lighted and the lights kept going out at intervals, greatly inconveniencing the store keepers and others.

The Dunellen football eleven expect to play a team from Rahway on the Lincoln avenue grounds Saturday. On election day morning another game will be played with the North Plainfield High School team, which the local eleven defeated last Saturday. It will also be played on the borough grounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Waldron celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage by giving a dance in Apgar's Hall last evening. There was a large number present and dancing was kept up until a late hour. Both host and hostess were remembered with a number of presents befitting the occasion.

Charles Hill received word by telephone yesterday of the death of his brother, John Hill, at Tottenville, S. I. His information did not give any particulars as to the cause.

A number of thoughtless residents of the borough are searching for gates today which were left unguarded or had not been removed by the owners.

The rehearsal of the Choral Union, which was to have been held last Monday night, will take place this evening.

George Schmidt removed his family into the house which he recently purchased of Mrs. Fisher.

Miss Annie Sirisky, of Raritan, is the guest of her brother, Bernard Sirisky.

Mrs. John Fulton, of New York, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles Ross.

Mrs. William E. Terry has returned from a New York visit.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, Nov. 1.—About forty friends appeared at the home of Frank O. Nelson last evening greatly to the surprise of the latter. The visitors immediately began to make themselves at home and Mr. Nelson, grasping the situation, joined in the fun. Dancing, music for which was furnished by Howard Snowden, was kept up until a late hour. The serving of refreshments brought the festivities to a close. The party was arranged by Miss Vera Nelson.

The Republicans of the township are confident that Piscataway will give a big majority for McKinley. According to the estimate of some it will not fall short of 150.

The reception to be given by the dancing class will take place next Wednesday night instead of Tuesday as has been stated.

Altogether Hallow 'Een passed off very quietly in town, the boys finding very few gates to lift causing them to retire early.

John Becker, of New Brunswick, was the guest of friends in town yesterday.

Andrew Johnson, who has been sick for some time past, is improving slowly.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, November 1.—Mr. and Mrs. Arlington Drake entertained their friends at a Hallowe'en party at their home near Glenside last evening. Those who attended the pleasant affair from the village enjoyed a double pleasure—that of a straw ride and the pleasure of the party at the end of the trip. The evening was given up to the playing of Hallowe'en games and other pranks which always makes this night one of pleasure to the young people. About 12 o'clock refreshments were served and shortly after the merry guests departed for their homes.

The case of Frederick Hoppell and Albert Gibson, who were charged with breaking the borough ordinance regarding the dropping of crushed stone upon the street, was heard before Judge Clark last night. Gibson pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $2 50. Hoppell made a contest but the Judge thought the evidence presented was strong enough to find a verdict of guilty, so imposed a fine of $5 and cost.

The open season for rabbits started this morning. Nearly every one who owned or could borrow a gun was out bright and early in search of cottontails. Several left for Whitehouse and the Great Swamp, near the Passaic river, but the majority were satisfied to do their tramping nearer home.

Hallow'een has passed with but few gates missing in town. But it was not the fault of the boys, but because the residents have learned from experience that it is much better to remove them themselves and thus save a great many hard words the day following.

A pleasant surprise party was tendered last evening to Miss Hattie Keuhn by a number of her young associates. The evening was passed very enjoyably playing games and in social chat after which refreshments were served.

The Scotch Plains housewives are making the annual complaints against the tramp nuisance. Yesterday morning several big and healthy-looking "Wandering Willies" made a house-to-house canvass in town asking for money.

The special trolley car which is to carry the members of the Republican Club and their friends to the party mass-meeting in Music Hall this evening, will leave the Park avenue crossing at 7:15.

A regular meeting of the Township Committee will be held in the township rooms this evening.

Mayor Henry L. Hall, of the borough, is quite ill at his home on North avenue, Fanwood.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, Nov. 1—Isaac Randolph was in town last night. He and a party from here went up the country today on a hunting trip.

P. J. McDonough is erecting a barn in the rear of his new house.

The pond fills very slowly since it was drawn out Sunday.

John Mundy is on the sick list this week.

TROLLEY FRANCHISE.

Raritan Traction Company Gets Right of Way Through Metuchen.

The Borough Council of Metuchen has granted the Raritan Traction Company the right of way through that borough. The ordinance, which was introduced some time ago, was put through on its final passage an agreement having been reached as to the restrictions. The franchise is for 99 years with a forfeiture clause if the trolley company violates its agreement. The company is to pay the borough $1,500 and macadamize the streets on which the tracks are laid from curb to curb.

This brings the lines of the Perth Amboy Company up to those of the Middlesex and Somerset Traction on Main street.

WELCOMED BY EXEMPTS

FRIENDS OF AUGUSTE SALTZMAN HAD A GOOD TIME.

Happy Speech Made by Mr. Saltzman in Presenting Banner—Accepted by President Barkalew.

The members of the Exempt Firemen's Association and their friends joined last evening in giving their fellow member and townsman, Auguste Saltzman, a welcome back to his home after an absence in Europe of nearly two years.

President L. E. Barkalew presided, and after the roll call the business of the evening was suspended and all present were given the privilege of the floor. It will be remembered that recently Mr. Saltzman presented to the association a handsome banner which was made in Switzerland. At that time the presentation was made to a few of the officers. Last evening it was the desire that it should be made more public, and Mr. Saltzman made a happy speech in giving the banner. In return President Barkalew accepted the gift for the association and extended a hearty welcome to the donor. The banner was on exhibition in the room where everyone greatly admired it.

President Barkalew then introduced the Jeanrenaud Brothers, who entertained those present for a half hour with selections on various musical instruments. Following the entertainment remarks were made by some of those present, including Councilmen Tolles, Buckle, Randolph and Coriell, Chief Doane, S. B. Joseph, Charles Burnett, W. R. Stanbery, V. W. Nash, Fred Green, and many other members and friends of the association. There was a happy exchange of thought, and, of course, fire was the chief topic. Mr. Saltzman told how the Kansas City firemen captured the first prize at the Paris Exposition, and also related some interesting facts concerning his trip abroad.

After the speeches refreshments were served by a committee from the association, including D. W. Litteli, E. M. Laing, George Clark, James Armstrong, R. B. Rogers, Edward Mosher and others. The evening's entertainment concluded with the showing of pictures of the Galveston disaster by Wm. Schorb. There were also illustrated songs rendered by the Jeanrenaud Brothers. In conclusion several votes of thanks were given to those who helped to make the affair a success.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss May VanFleet, of East Third street, has been entertaining company from Jersey City for several days.

E. M. Bartles, of German Valley, returned home this morning, after spending a day and night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. T. Woodhull, West Front street.

SUIT AGAINST BANK DIRECTORS.

Case Being Heard by Vice-Chancellor Pitney at Newark.

A suit by Receiver Edward S. Campbell, of the Middlesex County Bank, at Perth Amboy, against the directors to make them personally liable for the losses to the bank occasioned by the defalcation of George M. Valentine, the cashier, was heard by Vice-Chancellor Pitney at Newark yesterday. Mr. Pitney said after the counsel for the receiver had outlined the case: "Your case really amounts to one of two things: If the directors knew of Valentine's acts they were guilty of neglect; if they didn't know of those acts, they should have known."

James Parker, of Perth Amboy, counsel for the directors, remarked that that was not necessarily the case. The Vice-Chancellor responded: "Well, I can see it, but you can argue it if you want to, Mr. Parker. I have the advantage of you by having been the president and a director of a bank for many years."

The petition in the case sets forth that the total amount lost was $261,747.82; it charges gross carelessness by the president and directors, and their abandonment of their duties to Valentine. It is also charged that considerable money was lost through the careless and unwarrantable transactions of the president and directors.

Berlin. Der unlängst von einem Straßenbahnwagen überfahrene und tödtlich verletzte Arbeiter Knoop ist das 21. Opfer der Großen Berliner Straßenbahn im Laufe eines Vierteljahres. Im Monat Juli wurden in Berlin und Umgegend von den Wagen der Straßenbahn neun Personen todtgefahren, davon drei an einem einzigen Tage, und 13 schwer verletzt. Im August fielen sieben Personen, zu denen im selben Monat noch 15 Schwerverletzte kamen, der Straßenbahn zum Opfer. Der Monat September wies vier Todte auf. Schwere Verletzungen erlitten im September 16 Personen.—Das Landgericht verurtheilte den Schriftsteller und Herausgeber der „Zukunft," Maximilian Harden, wegen Majestätsbeleidigung, begangen in dem Artikel: „Der Kampf mit dem Drachen," zu sechs Monaten Festungshaft. — Der Gold-, Silber- und Bijouteriewaarenhändler Hugo Wolff ist mit Hinterlassung einer Schuldenlast von über 100,000 Mark flüchtig geworden.—Gestorben sind hierorts der Bildhauer Franz Rosse, Rentner Friedrich Thierichens, der Schulvorsteher a. D. Julius Hube und der ehemalige Direktor der Charlottenschule, Professor Goldbeck.

Potsdam. Auf dem Bahnpostamte wurde der Postassistent Schönebey verhaftet. Derselbe hatte schon seit einiger Zeit Briefe, in denen er Geld vermuthete, geöffnet, ihres Inhaltes beraubt und dann in seiner Wohnung fortgeworfen.

Wriezen. Anhier hat der Inhaber der Firma Hermann Marcuse, eines der bedeutendsten Getreidegeschäfte im Oderbruch, in Folge schlechten Geschäftsganges Selbstmord verübt.

Züllichau. Aus Eifersucht feuerte der Arbeiter Gustav Horikolow auf dem Gutshofe zu Klemzig auf die Köchin Anna Horn nach kurzem Wortwechsel, zwei Revolverschüsse ab; sodann erschoß er sich selbst. Das Mädchen war lebensgefährlich verletzt.

Provinz Hannover.

Hannover. Der Kaufmann Eugen Salomon, Inhaber eines größeren Geschäfts der Bekleidungsbranche, hat das Weite gesucht und hinterläßt zahlreiche Gläubiger.

Bramsche. Hier feuerte der 17jährige Lehrling Schach auf ein 18jähriges Mädchen, mit welchem er ein Verhältniß unterhielt, drei Revolverschüsse ab, glücklicher Weise ohne zu treffen. Sodann tödtete er sich selbst durch einen Schuß.

Geestemünde. Um der Gefahr einer allenfallsigen Pesteinschleppung vorzubeugen, ist hier die Polizeiverordnung über die Untersuchung und Ueberwachung der Seeschiffe jetzt auch auf die Fischdampfer ausgedehnt worden.

Provinz Hessen-Nassau.

Kassel. Der Maurerausstand zu Kassel ist nach nahezu dreimonatiger Dauer beendet worden. Letzter Tage wurde auf den Bauten die Arbeit zu den alten Lohnsätzen wieder aufgenommen.

Frankfurt. Die Stadtverordneten genehmigten den Ankauf des Bockenheimer Elektrizitätswerkes, der Eschersheimer Lokalbahn und der Straßenbahn Frankfurt-Oberursel-Homburg. Der Kaufpreis für das Elektrizitätswerk beträgt 1,972,000 Mark, für die Bahn nach Eschersheim 500,000 Mark. Die Fertigstellung der Homburger Bahn ist auf 200,000 Mark veranschlagt.

Homburg. Neulich stürzte sich der Briefträger Koch in Folge von langen Krankheiten aus dem Mansardenfenster seiner Wohnung auf die Straße und blieb sofort todt.

Idstein. Dahier erschoß der 18jährige Schriftsetzer Fritz Becker seine Geliebte, das 16jährige Dienstmädchen Johanna Baum aus Wörsdorf, und brachte sich dann selbst eine schwere Schußwunde bei.

"The boss of the repair department in a Massachusetts watch factory says: "I used to be a good deal of an athlete and was in the habit of taking lots of out of door exercise, but since I've been shut up in this shop I began to have terrible bilious headaches. I still did enjoy an occasional bout at boxing, but after a few lively rounds a tendency to get as sick as can be seemed to take possession of me. The exercise appeared to stir up the bile and the next day I would have a cracking good headache. My druggist recommended me to try Ripans Tabules as a possible cure. He said they seemed to be the latest cure-all for stomach troubles. Well, he just hit it. I have not used more than 25 cents' worth, but I exercise now as much as I please and don't know what a bilious headache means any more."

Plenty More Like This in Plainfield

Scores of Plainfield people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such endorsement?

Mr. F. D. Smith, of 686 West Front street, contractor for painting etc. says: "There was a distressing pain across the small of my back which clung to me all the time. When I got seated at times if I moved a sharp pain struck me in the back and loins and almost made me exclaim. Any change in the weather if I caught the least cold always aggravated the trouble and caused me to suffer severly. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me by one of my employees who had been cured of a long standing case of kidney complaint by their use. I commenced the treatment, derived benefit from it immediatly and before I had finished the first box I was cured."

AN OVER-BOUNTIFUL TABLE.

The Foolish Notion Still Prevalent That It Indicates a Generous Disposition.

There is a false and foolish fancy, still prevalent to some extent, that a table furnished to excess indicates a generous disposition. On the contrary it indicates nothing but the taste of the provider of bread. We have all known very selfish people who prided themselves upon their generous tables. Fortunately it is no longer considered elegant to load down a table with "all that the market affords." Modern science has taught us that it is dangerous to the health to overload the digestion. Modern good taste has also taught us that it is mere animalism to do so, says the New York Tribune.

The refined taste of to-day demands that the table be furnished with a liberal sufficiency of daintily cooked and daintily served food, never with a gross excess. The days when the table "groaned" with the abundance of fish, flesh, fowl and the fruits of the earth has gone by. Those were also the days of boisterous table manners, when eating and drinking in excess were not esteemed vices. These are days of "milder manners, kindlier laws." Over the vulgar luxuriance which characterized the tables of the rich in olden days rested a grim shadow. Hundreds of starving poor gathered to snatch the crumbs that fell from these wasteful feasts and supported a wretched existence on what is now thrown to the dogs alone.

If the days of the baronial feasts of a few have gone by, let us be thankful that the grim shadow of starving multitudes has also fled far from civilized lands, and is only found occasionally in remote corners of the earth. The table of the average day laborer in point of a regular supply of wholesome food properly cooked and properly served would compare favorably with that of the richest baron of a kingly realm in olden times. The much-lauded boar's head was a coarse meat, which would be considered uneatable to-day. Lamprey eels, which were esteemed such a luxury in the days of early England that King John, to limit the cupidity of fishermen, fixed a price on them, are so gross a food that they are sold in these modern days only to the poorest Italian peasants. An intelligent workingman of to-day would probably suffer for food rather than eat what was esteemed luxurious food in Chaucer's time. The grinding of grain into flour and the preparation of various grains into food has been so perfected that there is little left to be desired. The wheaten loaf, such as every man who "earns his bread by the sweat of his brow" expects to find on his table, was unknown to the laboring man of early England. His bread was made of beans, peas and inferior grains. Fine wheaten bread was found only on the tables of kings and nobles.

A BOY OF ENTERPRISE.

He Confidently Approached the Proposition, Got the Place, and Is Likely to Keep It.

He was a freckled-faced, foxy-looking boy of 13 or 14, and not more than about half as big as he ought to be, but he was wiry and his eyes were clear. The proprietor of the store was in his office when the boy entered, says the Washington Star.

"Do you want a boy here?" asked the youngster, with confidence.

"What do I want with a boy?" replied the proprietor, with an intent to have fun with his visitor.

"I don't know," was the unabashed response. "I guess they have boys around stores sometimes, and I thought you might want one."

"Well, since you have mentioned it, I do."

"What kind of a boy do you want?"

The proprietor looked him over with a more or less suspicious eye.

"I want a good boy," he said, slowly.

"Then I won't do," said the youngster.

"Why won't you? Are you a bad boy?"

"Um—um—er," hesitated the caller, "I'm just a boy, that's all. There's something wrong with 'em when they're good."

He started out, when the proprietor called him back.

"Hold on," he said. "Maybe you are what I want."

"If you want a good thing, I'm it," said the boy, "and you won't have to push me along, either."

"How much pay do you want?"

"I want a million, but I'll take three dollars a week."

"When can you begin?"

"This very minute, if you'll give me my supper. I haven't had anything to eat for three weeks."

"Nothing to eat for three weeks!" exclaimed the proprietor.

"Nothing fit. I've scraped along as I could, but I haven't had a square meal with pie on the side."

"All right; you shall have your supper. And where will you sleep?"

"Oh, I won't sleep at all. I'm going to stay awake of nights when I ain't busy, so's I can feel how good it is to have a job and got money in my clothes. Hully gee, there's a kid out there trying to get away with a piece of lead pipe. Let me crack him once." And the new employe dashed out after the offender.

Broiled Shoulder of Mutton.

Half-cook a moderately-sized shoulder of mutton in any way convenient, place it on a hot dish, score it on both sides to the bone, season it with fine salt, cayenne and black pepper and broil it on a gridiron over a clear fire. Keep the gravy that came from the mutton when scored in a hot dish over a pan of water; skim the fat off it. Stew some mushrooms, place the broiled shoulder on the dish with the mushrooms over and round it and send to table quickly.—Washington Star.

WHITE HOUSE FIRES.

Twice the Executive Mansion Was on the Verge of Destruction.

Saved by the Heroic Work of Gallant Firemen—President Johnson's Generosity to the Brave Boys.

[Special Washington Letter.]

"THERE are only two of us who draw the maximum pension of $50 per month," says Calhoun Clark, one of the retired veterans of our city fire department.

"This pension roll is kept up by the voluntary contributions of the firemen. For many years I gave up one dollar every month for the pension fund. The lowest pension paid is six dollars per month and the highest is $50, which amount I draw, and it gives me a competence."

The old gentleman will not discuss his career and his deeds of daring, but he is known as one of the bravest of the brave, a man whose career in the fire department of the national capital would fill a volume. He likes to talk about the fire department and its good work, but never about himself.

"It is not generally known nowadays that on two occasions the white house came near burning down," said Mr. Clark. "Both times the fires occurred during the administration of Andrew Johnson. In 1867 the white house stables took fire just before daybreak. Those stables were located on the ground just east of the white house and opposite the west entrance of the treasury department. They were brick stables, but the woodwork and the inflammable contents made a hot fire. We had a hard time that morning, for it was one of the coldest mornings I have ever known. I was driver of Hibernia Engine company, which was located three blocks west of the white house. The alarm was brought to us by a cavalryman, and we were very soon on the scene. In those days we did not have electric alarms, as they have now. Well, very soon after us came the Meigs and the Rucker engines with their firemen. All three engines worked hard that bitter cold morning. We prevented the conflagration from extending to the white house, but we could not save the stables.

"When our work was over we were all taken down into the basement of the white house and supplied liberally with coffee and other things to drink, and everything eatable that there was on the market was spread out for us and served to us in elegant style. We had an impromptu state dinner there that morning, and I never ate a meal that I enjoyed so much, because I was hungry and cold and in good condition to enjoy a meal. It was the greatest breakfast the firemen here ever had tendered to them, and, I guess, we were the only firemen in the world who were ever entertained at breakfast by the executive head of a nation.

"Col. William Dickson was chief engineer of the government fire department at that time. He is the man who was foreman of the star route jury, and who was for many years democratic national committeeman for the District of Columbia, and one of the most popular of our citizens. He was a brave man and a successful chief.

"The other time the white house was in danger was when the conservatory took fire. That, you know, is adjoining the west wall of the white house, and it was difficult to keep the fire from taking hold of the main building. But by hard work and careful attention to every detail of the work in hand we kept the white house from taking fire, and we saved a portion of the conservatory, too. But it was a close call for the white house.

A WHITE HOUSE BREAKFAST.
(President Johnson Entertaining the Fire Fighters.)

"We were in the federal government fire department then. It is not generally known that the city government and the federal government each maintained a fire department during and after the civil war. But when Grant became president, and Sherman commander of the army, there was a great cry about retrenchment and reform. As a result of this clamor Gen. Sherman abolished the federal government fire department, and we all returned to duty in the city fire department. There has been no federal fire department since that time. It is as a member of the city department that I am pensioned and on the retired list.

"The hottest fire I was ever engaged in fighting began at 10:40 a. m. September 18, 1877, in the patent office, in the model rooms on the Ninth and G street wing. That fire raged for two days and nights. Fire engines came here from Baltimore to help us, and they rendered good service. The fire lasted from Wednesday morning until Friday afternoon, and smoldered for some time after that. The heat was so intense and awful that firemen at the nozzle could only play on the flames for a couple of minutes at a time. Then they would retire almost roasted, and others would take their places. The steam engines kept puffing and blowing constantly and the water supply of the city was almost overtaxed.

"All along G street the houses were in great danger. The Baltimore engines were worked for their protection. There was a large stable on that street which was in danger all of the time, and, if it had caught fire, that whole section of the city would have been in danger. The Baltimore boys protected that stable and adjoining buildings, and kept them saturated with water. The flying cinders fell on roofs which were wet enough all the time to put them out. The fire was finally stopped at the corner of Seventh and G street, checked, headed off and driven back. But it was the most terrific work that I ever experienced. The model-room of the patent office was practically eaten out by fire before we could get there with our nozzles. It was a tremendous loss to the government. We could do nothing to save the model-room, and it was all that we could do to save the building which is the home of the interior department.

"The other government department buildings have been free from fires, excepting the old navy department building on Seventeenth street. That fire occurred so long ago that I have forgotten the date. Besides, it didn't amount to much, for we put it out in a very short time.

"Did you ever hear of the burning of the Smithsonian institution? That occurred about dinner time in February, 1866, or 1867. Talk about cold weather! That was a hummer! We worked in snow a foot deep and with a blizzard of wind sweeping around us. We poured icicles on the fire. The water seemed to almost freeze as it left the nozzles. We had an awful time with the hose, too, for it was almost frozen. And if the water hadn't been running through it very fast it would have frozen in the hose. We saved the walls, but that was all. It was impossible to save anything else. The wind helped the flames and completely baffled all of our efforts. If it hadn't been for the bitter cold and the terrible wind we might have done better. We certainly worked hard enough.

"There were three other notable fires in which cold weather prevailed against us and our work. Wall's opera house burned down. It was on the corner of Ninth and Louisiana avenue, close to Pennsylvania avenue. The site has since been occupied by Ford's theater, and is now the common vaudeville playhouse. That was an awful night of hard work in winter weather.

"Then there was the burning of Lincoln's hall, the home of the Y. M. C. A. That fire occurred in midwinter and kept us hard at work all night, but it went up in smoke. Some of the firemen succumbed to the cold and were obliged to give up. There were many frozen fingers and toes and ears, and some of the men never recovered from the effects of the work of that night.

"In the winter of 1886 the National theater burned. We were all praying that no fire would occur that night, for it was blustery and cold—a sort of damp cold that penetrates even to the bones. But just after midnight we were called out, and we worked all night to save adjoining property. The theater was doomed when we got there. But it was on Pennsylvania, in the heart of the city, near two prominent hotels, and surrounded by business houses. We saved all of that property. But it was a night of exhaustion and terror to all of us on account of the weather.

"Well, I'm glad it is all over. But, to tell the truth, I really enjoyed the work, the excitement of it and the feeling that we were heroically endeavoring to save life and property for our fellow men. There is a great deal of pride in the breast of a true fireman. He feels that he is a public benefactor all the time; and let me tell you that I have seen many a fireman do deeds which would give him a hero's crown if done in battle."

Then, turning from the subject of a fireman's life in the early days, Mr. Clark said: "Some evening I will tell you about my experience as a page boy in the house of representatives. I was there when some of the greatest men in the land were members. Ex-President John Quincy Adams was one of them. I was there when Morrill, of Vermont; Sumner, of Massachusetts; Breckenridge, of Kentucky, and Brooks, of South Carolina, came to congress. Brooks was the man who assaulted Sumner with a cane. All four of the men whom I have named were physical giants. Sumner was the handsomest of them all. He was a natural athlete. If he had taken a different course in life he could have whipped a regiment of Sullivans, Corbetts and Sharkeys. I'll tell you about those men some evening soon."

SPORTING.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

It was not the fault of the management of the Alis A. A. that the eleven of that club had no game to play last Saturday afternoon. Thursday Manager Edward J. Kline received a telegram from the manager of the Emanon A. C., of Harlem, that the latter team could not possibly come. An attempt was made at the last moment to get a game with the Elizabeth A. C., which had just had a game cancelled, but the attempt was not successful as the Elizabeth team had already made other arrangements. Although it would have been a sadly-crippled team which would have lined up against the visitors, the Alis boys were ready to stand by their agreement. Manager Kline greatly regrets that there was no game, but hopes to avoid those unfortunate happenings in the future.

Every effort is being made by the Alis A. A. to get a good team in the field for Saturday afternoon when the local eleven will line up against the Bayonne A. C., of Bayonne. There are several important places on the Alis team to be filled and Captain Roy T. Phillips has been greatly bothered in getting good material to fill up the vacancies. It is possible that Phillips will have to go in as quarter this Saturday as neither Dumont nor Houston can play and Woolston is apt to be laid out on the first play. Rapalje, who has done such good work at tackle, was to be moved behind the line but he will not be in town after Thursday and will be unable to play with the Alis team any more this season. Phillips has some new material in view which will, it is hoped, keep the team up to its usual stand of good play.

PARTIES AND PRANKS MARKED LAST NIGHT.

Kenney.

In conjunction with the observing of Hallowe'en, a birthday surprise was given to Adam C. Blair, at his home on East Fifth street, by about fifteen relatives and friends. After everyone had become thoroughly tired out playing appropriate games, all present partook of refreshments. Mr. Blair was pleasdly surprised by receiving the gift of a handsome silk bed quilt from his mother.

RAILROAD Y. M. C. A. WORK.

Mr. Hungerford Told of It at Trinity Reformed Church Last Night.

Mr. Hungerford, a railroad man in the employ of the Central Railroad, gave a very interesting talk at the prayer-meeting in Trinity Reformed church last evening, regarding the very excellent work of the Y. M. C. A. branch among railroads, and proved conclusively to all who heard him the necessity of encouraging the railroads and men engaged in Y. M. C. A. work, that still greater results might be accomplished and railroad men made better servants of the company they worked for and the traveling public they serve. He told of the number of buildings, 152, at present in use in the large cities where men can go and spend the idle time they have between "runs" and read wholesome literature and come in contact with Godly men and perhaps hear the Scripture read or quoted from. During the evening Mr. Hungerford also sang two solos, which were very much enjoyed.

G. Q. Dolliver, of Grandview avenue, introduced Mr. Hungerford to the meeting and also made a few remarks about the work.

PLEADED NOT GUILTY.

JOHN KING AND JOHN NEUMAN ARRAIGNED IN COUNTY COURT.

Appeared Before Judge Vail Who Set Down the Trial For December 5th, at Elizabeth.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, November 1.—John King and John Neuman, who were indicted by the last Grand Jury for assault and battery, were arraigned before Judge Vail, in the Court of Quarter Sessions, yesterday, and a plea of not guilty was entered in each case. Their trial was set down for December 5th.

Most Plainfielders will remember the circumstances of the case in which Neuman and King took part. There was a baseball game on the Plainfield avenue grounds, Plainfield, one Saturday afternoon, between the Pond Tool Works and the St. Mary's teams. William J. Dodd played shortstop on the Pond Tool Works nine. There was a dispute and Dodd and Manager Monihan, of the other team, were said to have been arguing, when King is alleged to have walked up and knocked Dodd down without any provocation.

Neuman is said to have kicked Dodd when he was down. Dodd was badly injured and confined to his home for some time. He is able to be around again, however. The case originally came up in Justice Huff's court but was taken out of the Justice's hands by the county authorities before there was a hearing in his court.

King has admitted knocking Dodd down but his claim is that he did it in self defence after Dodd had started to attack him. Counsellor Francis J. Blatz, of the firm of Murphy & Blatz, appeared for Neuman at the court yesterday while Lawyer William Newcorn appeared as counsel for the other defendant.

William S. Emery, former proprietor of the Scotch Plains Hotel, who was driven out of business by the Law and Order League of the place, which waged a vigorous crusade against him, pleaded guilty to selling on Sunday and was held in $500 bail to appear for sentence when notified. Bertram Glaser became his bondsman.

Emily C. Hill and Ada A. Hill, young women of New Providence, were indicted instead of their father, Vicent Hill, against whom they made a serious charge. They could not furnish $500 bail and were recommitted to the county jail.

ALLY OF INDIGESTION.

Wonderful Menu Served at the Sociable in the Seventh-Day Baptist Church.

There were no casualties reported at the Hallowe'en sociable in the parlors of the Seventh-Day Baptist church last evening, despite the dangers of the supper as suggestively portrayed on the menu. In fact, the opening social of the Endeavor Society of that church proved a complete and entire success.

Shocks of corn and sundry pumpkins were used to give a fitting decoration to the parlors. During the evening, a farmer boy, impersonated by Charles Titsworth, sold the pumpkins and some of the "jack 'o lanterns." The chief event of the affair was the supper which was served early in evening. The dangers which threatened the partakers thereof may be seen by noting the initial letters of the various names on the menu, which was as follows:

Indian meal bread. (corn bread.)
Not sweet. (pickles.)
Delicacy from Boston. (baked beans.)
Infant's delight. (milk.)
Greased rings. (crullers.)
Eaten with pie. (cheese.)
Sauce of love apples. (catsup)
Tom Piper's theft. (ham.)
Insomnia. (coffee.)
Oleo-margarine. (butter.)
New England breakfast food. (pumkin pie.)

During the evening a programme was given which included violin solos by Miss Zilpha Williams, vocal solos by Miss Mabelle Smith, and a reading by Miss Evelina DuB. Benton.

In charge of the affair there was the social committee of the Endeavor Society, composed of Miss Bessy Fitz-Randolph, chairman; Mrs. Frank J. Hubbard, Mrs. J. E. Kimball, Miss Ernestine C. Smith and Orra S. Rogers. Mrs. Hubbard had charge of the supper. The waitresses were the Misses Cornelia Miller, Bertha Mitchell, Ethel Titsworth, Mattie Maitland, Enfrieda Randolph, Mary St. John and Louise VanSickel.

Must Care For His Wife.

Henry Williams, colored, came up before City Judge Runyon this morning on the charge of non-support preferred by his wife. The Judge is waiting to give Williams a chance to provide for his wife if possible.

—E. B. Maynard, the genial and proficient tonsorial artist, North avenue, not only does first-class work in a thoroughly satisfactory manner, but he keeps a choice stock of cigars that are very popular with his many customers. While smoking one of these the time does not seem so long while waiting to be "next."

HOUSE-TO-HOUSE CANVASS.

Aim to Secure Information Concerning the Religious and Church-going Practices of People.

To the Editor of The Daily Press—The purpose of house-to-house visitation is like that which the church and Sabbath-school seek to accomplish, namely, the promotion of good morals and religion; and, on this account, it deserves at least candid consideration as to its merits. The movement is unsectarian and interdenominational; and believers of many names are fraternally united in it. Leading men, not only ministers and other religious workers, Protestant and Roman Catholic, but men prominent in the business world, give to the work their cordial support. And, most of all in importance, where the work has been performed, great good has been the result.

The object of the visitation, whether in Plainfield or elsewhere, is to obtain such information as will help those who desire to work unitedly, systematically, and effectively, for the religious, moral and physical well being of society. Baptists, Methodists, Episcopalians, Roman Catholics and other religious bodies, are co-operating, in the most friendly way, in this joint parish work. House-to house visitation has the indorsement of such men as Wm. T. Ellis and Dr. George W. Bailey, of Philadelphia; John H. Converse, of the Baldwin Locomotive Works; H. J. Heinz, of the well-known H. J. Heinz Company; William Hamilton, of the North American Life Assurance Co., Toronto, Can.; George H. Grone, of the Penn. R. R. Co.; John R. Pepper, Marion Lawrence and Prof. H. M. Hamill, of the International S. S. Association; many protestant pastors; Archbishops Ireland and Ryan, and other Roman Catholic clergymen in the United States and Canada.

Strong testimony as to the wisdom and usefulness of the work come from New York city, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Harrisburg, Allegheny, Memphis, Galena, Syracuse and Tronto; and from the States of Ohio, Iowa, Kentucky, Minnesota and Missouri. It is no wonder that the testimony is warm and strong when such results as these are reported; increased and helpful knowledge of existing social, physical and religious conditions; many new Sunday-school scholars, the attendance having been in some instances doubled; revivals of religion and new interest in church work; the organization of new Sunday-schools; the discovery of hundreds of families with church preferences, but before unknown; the bringing to light of unused church letters, and additions to church membership; new and open doors for pastoral, Christian and practical work; and a new consciousness of the presence and power of existing moral and religious forces.

One writer says that in an experience of over twenty five years he knows of no effort having been attempted on so large a scale, or so far-reaching in the excellence of its results. The superintendent of house-to-house visitation in Iowa, after studying its results in nearly every county in the State, says that he knows of no work that brings more benefits to the largest number of people. And Mr. Heinz says that in an experience of thirty years in Christian work no effort has paid him so large a dividend for time and means invested.

In a recent house-to-house visitation among about 50,000 people only fifty refused to give the information asked for, or one person out of each one thousand. The officers of the Plainfield Ministers' Association and Federation of Churches and Christian Workers confidently look for the co-operation of our people; and they who are to undertake the work of visitation may as confidently expect to see good fruit from their labors of patience and love.

A Califon Marriage.

A pretty home wedding took place yesterday at high-noon when Miss Essie May Force, daughter of Joseph A. Force, of Califon, and Birton A. Cratchley, of Brooklyn, were united in marriage by Rev. Dr. W. C. Nelson, of Summit avenue, who was the pastor of the bride when he was a pastor at Gladstone. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mamie A. Force. The flower girl was Linnet Force, a niece of the bride. The best man was William Philhower.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick V. Greene, Jr., returned last evening from their wedding trip and have taken up their residence at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Joseph, Willow avenue.

—Do not get scared if your heart troubles you. Most likely you suffer from indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and gives the worn out stomach perfect rest. It is the only preparation known that completely digests all classes of foods; that is why it cures the worst cases of indigestion and stomach trouble after everything else has failed. It may be taken in all conditions and cannot help but do you good. L. W. Randolph.

THE WEIGHING MACHINE.

It Has Become Almost as Essential a Piece of Bathroom Fixture as the Bathtub.

In every household to-day there are babies or banting women or dyspeptic members, and the modern, scientific physician draws his sage conclusions as much from his patients' pounds as from their temperature. In consequence the most wonderful machines have been developed to meet this need of determining human weight to the smallest fraction of an ounce.

Among the wedding presents of a summer bride was a remarkable-looking object that puzzled considerably those who were asked in to view the gifts, until the bride herself explained that it was a new and improved family weighing machine.

The frame of the affair was made of highly polished mahogany, and the top of the platform, supported by four graceful legs, was cushioned and covered with royal red leather. To one side of the cushion were notched and numbered bars of silver, and with this went a leather-bound book and a series of little numbered weights, made also of silver.

The whole thing was a puzzle till some intelligent person recognized the apparatus as an elegant family weighing machine, so exquisite in its adjustment that every fraction of a pound could be estimated, and in the book were printed, first, explanations as to the use of the appliance, and then carefully ruled blank pages were arranged for the registry of the avoirdupois.

NEW WEIGHING CHAIR.

Assuredly, the arrangement was luxurious, for to ascertain one's weight it was only necessary to sit on the fine leather cushion, adjust the balance, and slip into place the silver ounce and pound disks.

In a few moments the dial would register 133 pounds 5 3-16 of an ounce. It would then be necessary to register this, the date and the style of clothing in the book of weights, and in from three to five days another experience on the royal red cushion would show to a nicety whether a sixteenth of an ounce had been lost or gained.

The fore word in the book tells how to experiment to ascertain normal weight, how the weight of a healthy person fluctuates within the limits of the normal, and when loss of flesh is a danger signal, at what rate abnormal flesh should be lost and at what rate infants and growing children should gain it.

As a rule, the weighing machine is kept in the bathroom, and mothers are instructed to put their children on the scales every morning, keep a close record of the fluctuations, and once in three weeks turn the tables of weights over to the family doctor, who will draw precious inferences therefrom.

This is all in line with a new theory that it is flesh that tells whether one is well or ill more truthfully even than color or appetite or ill feelings, and the makers of scales have appreciated the bearing of this new gospel on their trade.

Some of the machines they make are in the form of graceful chairs, upholstered in blue or white leather to match the bathroom decorations, and some are artistic studies in walnut and tapestry for the ornamentation of the hallway, the machinery being concealed as far as possible or made so highly ornamental that the ugly iron scales of yore have been transformed into a valuable and effective piece of household furniture.—Boston Globe.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cts. Druggists or by mail. The liquid embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation. Cream Balm is quickly absorbed by the membrane and does not dry up the secretions but changes them to a natural and healthy character. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

CHALLENGE OF THE DEMOCRATS TAKEN UP.

William Newcorn Explains the Republican Claim That Plainfielders are Prosperous.

HE QUOTES SOME FIGURES.

SAYS WORKINGMEN HAVE MORE WORK AND GET MORE WAGES.

Large and Enthusiastic Audience in Music Hall—Congressman Braum Delivered the Principal Speech of the Evening.

With election five days away the Republicans held their final mass-meeting of the campaign last evening in Music Hall. Congressman Charles N. Braum, of Pennsylvania, fully realized the hopes of the city campaign committee by rousing his audience to a state of great enthusiasm. William Newcorn, secretary of the city campaign committee, also accepted the challenge of the Democratic Jeffersonian Club and brought forth proofs to substantiate his statement made a week ago that evidences of prosperity under Republican administration were to be found in Plainfield. A crowd of 1,500 people filled Music Hall to its utmost capacity and almost the entire audience remained until the conclusion of the meeting, despite the fact that it lasted for two hours and a half.

William Newcorn, secretary of the city campaign committee, called the meeting to order after a concert by LaVere's band. The U. S. Grant Club, of North Plainfield, had marched to the hall 150 strong and occupied seats in front. The delegation of 50 from the Scotch Plains Republican Club was somewhat late in arriving. The ladies were very much in evidence in the boxes and through the hall.

Before introducing the chairman, Mr. Newcorn asked for a few minutes to reply to the challenge of the Democrats. At a Fourth ward rally a week ago, he stated that in Plainfield today there were more people working and more wages paid in the aggregate than there were under Democratic administration. He talked for half an hour, giving many figures regarding the local situation to prove his previous statements and also to show that better wages were being paid today than four years ago which the Democratic challenge defied him to do.

His first statements were concerning the Pond Tool Works, Plainfield's largest industy. Four years ago 150 men were employed there. Today over 600 men are working full time, day and night. He had prepared a list of 94 workmen who were in the employ of the company in 1893 and are still employed there. During a week in October, 1893, they worked a total of 3,026 hours, the total earnings per hour being $16 76, or an average of slightly more than 17 cents per hour. Their total pay roll that week was $681.46. He then gave the same facts about the same men for a week in October, 1900. In the latter they worked 4,806 hours, earning a total of $20.76 an hour, or an average of more than 22 cents an hour, while their pay roll for the week was $1,328.

Similar statistics, he declared, could be shown at the Potter and Scott Press Works. For the four years ending Sept. 30, 1900, the total pay roll of these three concerns exceeded that of four years previous by $731,000.

At the Dime Savings Institution he told how the net gain of deposits in 1892-96 amounted to $89,248.29, and how in the last four years it amounted to $248,391. In the last four years 324 frame houses had been built in this city, and three-fourths of them were erected in the Third and Fourth wards and were small homes for the workingman. The record of mortgages showed that most of the mortgages in 1892 96 were on old property, while in the last four years the mortgages were on new houses.

Another significant sign, he pointed out, was to be found in the report of the treasurer of the Plainfield Relief Association. In the fiscal year 1893-4 $3,369.89 was expended for the aid and relief of the poor and suffering in this city. Since then it had been decreasing rapidly, until the last report showed that only $1,019 had been expended for the same cause.

Regarding the men employed in the building trades, he said that the rates of wages had not gone up but the men were working only eight hours instead of nine. While he gave the unions credit for securing the reduction of time, it was only in good times that the workmen can combine and secure better terms.

As to the price of necessities, he read a table comparing prices of four

GOURLEY FULL OF HOPE

DEMOCRATIC STATE CHAIRMAN SEES BRYAN CARRYING JERSEY.

Says That Forty Voters Will be Charged in Each District and That Will Mean Victory.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, Nov. 2.—The predictions published yesterday by Senator John Kean and Chairman Franklin Murphy, of the Republican State Committee, that the Republicans would carry this State by from 30,000 to 50,000 brought from William B. Gourley, chairman of the Democratic Committee, this statement:

"We are going to carry New Jersey for Bryan. We will elect four Congressmen and have a chance of carrying a fifth district." What four Congressmen the Democrats would elect Mr. Gourley refused to say. "The people who are figuring on New Jersey going Republican," he went on, "will receive a shock on election night which will surprise them. They are basing their calculations on the vote of 1896. They figure that if New Jersey in that contest delivered her electorial vote to the Republican candidate by 87,000, it is quite safe to figure on 45,000 or 50,000. They figure on a reduction of 2,000 in each county.

"This system of calculation might be safe if things were in the same condition now as then, but changes in public opinion are so marked that the conditions are very different. Every politician of consequence in the State must have noted that a great change has taken place. A change of 40 votes in each precinct on the vote of 1896 will carry the State for Bryan. Every Democratic captain whom I have met has assured me that a greater change than that will take place."

PASTOR'S RECEPTION.

Pleasant Social Time Enjoyed by the Members of the Park Avenue Baptist Church.

The congregation of the Park Avenue Baptist church thronged the chapel last night to greet the pastor and wife. This was the eighth annual reception, and royally was it observed. The ladies, by the liberal use of palms and flowers, together with furniture, had transformed the chapel into a veritable drawing room.

The pastor and wife received their guests until 8:45; at that time the usual musical features were announced. Professor McClymont rendered two piano solos which were heartily encored. Fred VanEps played on the banjo with rare skill and musical eloquence and the audience was captivated. Miss Lucky was at her best, and in "Saphronee Taber at the Opera" prodgced great laughter. Professor Conde rendered two violin solos in a most artistic fashion and which were enthusiastically encored. At the close of the programme refreshments in abundance were served by the ladies of the church.

Fell Down Stairs.

Mrs. William C. Smith, of Grandview avenue, is detained at home suffering from severe injuries received a few days ago when she fell down stairs. The accident occurred in the evening and Mrs. Smith was going down stairs to let a member of the family in. She was part way down stairs when she stumbled and fell the rest of the distance. Other members of the family were alarmed by her fall and they assisted Mrs. Smith to her room where she has been ever since.

Death of Somerville Man.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Nov. 2—C. C. Garretson, aged about 33, the senior member of the Garretson Cycle Company, of this place, died at his home on South street Wednesday night from typhoid fever, contracted by drinking well water. The deceased was the sole support of his mother and sister, and was a popular young man.

FARM HOUSE BURNED.

Defective Flue Started Fire at Home of Frederick Stengal, Near South Stirling.

The farm house of Frederick Stengal, near South Stirling, was utterly destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon, involving a loss of $2,500. The loss is practically covered by insurance. Mr and Mrs. Stengal were working in the cellar when a man who was passing by told them the roof was on fire. The flames are supposed to have started from a defective flue. They managed to save a small portion of the contents of the house. A bucket brigade rendered brave but ineffectual service.

CLOSED BY BREWERY.

Anheuser-Busch Company Stops the Business of the New Jersey Bottling Association.

On a charge of being insolvent the New Jersey Bottling Association's place on Somerset street was closed yesterday by the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Company, of St. Louis, and the case will be called in the Court of Chancery at Jersey City next Monday. It is also understood that the other places conducted by the company at Somerville, New Brunswick and Trenton have been closed. The New Jersey Bottling Association is composed of Jacob Klotz, of Somerville; Samuel Klotz, of Newark; a third party in Plainfield and the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Company. The latter company has a controlling interest, hence the power to close the place of business. No further details concerning the affairs of the association are obtainable at present.

THE SECRET IS OUT.

Lemuel W. Pope and Lulu M. Hartpence Married Sometime Ago.

Not a great while ago Lemuel W. Pope, a carpenter, built for himself a cozy little home at 39 Summit avenue, and after it was completed and furnished and ready for occupancy, he and Miss Lulu M. Hartpence, of Mountain avenue, called on Rev. Dr. W. C. Nelson, of Summit avenue, one evening and asked that he marry them. They both had many friends and to escape the serenading that was sure to follow, they also requested Dr. Nelson to keep the affair quiet. The doctor said that he would for a short time. In some way the secret got out through the bride and groom, and they are now receiving the congratulations of their friends. The happy event took place on the evening of October 20th. Both are popular in a large circle of friends and a long life of happiness and success is the wish of all.

Must Pay Full Amount of Claim.

The several cases of the receiver of the Citizen's Mutual Insurance Company, against various stockholders, came up in the Somerset court Monday and Tuesday. In the cases against J. H. Beekman, Gilbert A. VanDoren and Charles P. Davis, a verdict was rendered for the plaintiff, which means that the defendants will have to pay the full amount of the claims, amounting to $497.25. As Mr. Beekman had already paid a portion of his note, he will only have to pay about $275.

A Successful Operation.

Clarence Francisco, aged 12 years, of Pearl street, is covering from an operation for the removal of an abscess. The operation was performed by Dr. Pittis and was very successful. About a year ago the lad had a fall and sustained an injury to his leg. It was thought that this had something to do with the growth of the abcess, but Dr. Pittis is of the opinion that it did not.

Defendant Didn't Appear.

John Scott didn't appear before City Judge Runyon this morning although ordered to. He was charged by Health Inspector Addis with violating the health ordinance and carting garbage without a license. The prosecution presented its evidence and Scott's side will be heard as soon as he can be arrested and haled before the Judge.

"Do Not Worry."

Miss Cora Brokaw will lead the consecration meeting of the Park Avenue Baptist Christian Endeavor Society this evening. Topic: "Do Not Worry." Each committee will respond to the roll-call by reciting the verse of Scripture to be adopted as its motto for the coming year's work.

Cypress Commandery Drill.

The thirteenth annual exhibition drill of Cypress Commandery, Knights Templar, was given before several hundred people in Washington Hall, last night. An exhibition drill was also given by Ivanhoe Commandery, of New York city. Following the drills a dance was held which was kept up until a late hour.

HARVEST HOME AT METHODIST CHURCH.

Every Detail Essential to Such an Affair Was Carried Out in Typical Manner

PLEASING ENTERTAINMENT.

"THE MISTLETOE BOUGH" GIVEN IN A SERIES OF EIGHT SCENES.

Country Store Fixed Up in Connection With the Affair—Those Who Were in Charge of the Entertainment.

Under the most auspicious circumstances the harvest home at the First M E church was given last evening. Already the affair is an assured success, as a large number were in attendance, many of whom partook of the hot turkey supper served from 6 to 8 o'clock. There were other attractions besides the supper, all of which were patronized equally as well.

Among these was the typical country store, where groceries, home canned fruits, candies, useful household articles and a variety of goods could be purchased at reasonable prices. It is needless to say that there were plenty of buyers and that the ladies in charge made excellent storekeepers.

Then there was the entertainment part of the affair which began at 8 o'clock in Vincent chapel. It was in two parts, the first portraying the story of T. B. Aldrich's beautiful poem, "The Mistlebough Bough," by a series of eight tableaus. The scenes represent a pretty wedding, after which the guests and the bridal party indulge in games. During the progress of a game of hide-and-seek, the bride mysteriously disappears and despite a most diligent search is nowhere to be found, either on the wedding night or ever after. The bridegroom is left to mourn, thinking she has deserted him, until one day the children in romping about discover an old chest, which, on being opened, discloses a skeleton and the remnants of a bridal dress. In her eagerness to hide the bride had incautiously secreted herself in the chest, which had a spring lock, and being unable to get out was smothered to death.

The scenes were faithfully portrayed and were loudly applauded. Those who took part were the Misses Ella Crowther, Elsie Horne, Frances Rittenhouse, Edna French, Edith Dyer, Alma Dyer, Gertrude Snodgrass, Persis Snodgrass, and the Messrs. Donald McGee, Vaughn McGee, Irving Mills, Bert Steiner, Ralph Lane, Stephen Tingwell, Robert Whitney, Dr. French and Archie Derby. The story was read by James R. Joy, while Miss Whitney accompanied on the piano.

The second part of the entertainment was "A Country Singin' Skule" and it was all that the name implies. The costumes, songs and general makeup, together with the efforts of the teacher to bring out the class vocal powers, created much amusement. Charles L. Lewis made an excellent teacher while comical old fashioned songs were given by Miss Mabel Templin, Miss Etta Raybert, Mrs. Joseph Dunham and Wilson Derby. Mrs. Miller was the accompanist. This evening the programme will be changed.

The ladies in charge of the supper were Mrs. Snodgrass, chairman; Mrs. Clark, Mrs. McVoy, Mrs. Doane, Mrs. Templin, Mrs. Dyer, Mrs. Rittenhouse, Mrs. French, Mrs. Horne, Mrs. Mulford, Mrs. Burgess, Mrs. Pike, Mrs. Ruckman and the Misses Susie Jackson and Minnie Sharp. Sixteen little girls acted as waitresses and saw to it that no one was neglected. Altogether there were 125 suppers served. The country store was in charge of Mrs. Meredith, chairman; Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Tugwell, Mrs. Horne and Mrs. Stafford.

Gay Young Girls.

A Hallowe'en party of twenty Plainfield girls took possession of a trolley car Wednesday night and practically ran the car to Westfield. When Conductor Mathien went through the car to take up fares each girl paid her fare with five pennies. After a sidewalk parade up and down Broad street, Westfield, they all besieged Cashier Harden at the trolley office and changed nickels for pennies with which to pay their fare coming back.

Adjusting Insurance.

The work of adjusting the fire insurance on the fire at the chamois factory is progressing slowly. The adjusters from the various companies were in Plainfield this week and an account of the stock is being taken from the books and papers of the firm. It will be some time before the loss is settled.

BOLD THEFT.

Wheel Stolen from Closet to Vestibule of the Congregational Church.

Bolder than ever, the bicycle thief continued his operations last evening. He carefully appropriated a wheel belonging to Joseph Tinglof, of 967 Arlington avenue, which was left by its owner in a closet in the vestibule of the Congregational Church. Tinglof went to that church to play at the Swedish service and left his bicycle in the closet where the gas meter is located. It opens out of the vestibule. He went in at eight o'clock and came out at 9:15 o'clock. The wheel was gone. He reported his loss to the police at once.

MANY TO PARADE.

Plainfield Will be Well Represented in "Sound Money" Parade at New York Tomorrow.

Plainfield will be well represented in the big "sound money" parade at New York tomorrow. While there will be no organizations from this city in line, several Plainfielders are prominent in the work of arranging the parade and will hold prominent places in line. Then there are a host of others who will march with the organizations of their respective lines. There are several members from this city on the executive committee which will form the personal escort to Gov. Theodore Roosevelt and others who are members of the staff of the various division commanders.

EX-MAYOR STRONG DEAD.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, November 2.—William L. Strong, the last Mayor of old New York, died suddenly at 3 o'clock this morning at his home, 12 West Fifty-seventh street.

He suffered a sudden seizure of heart disease, the result of rheumatic gout.

Jersey Woman Suffragists to Meet.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Moorestown, Nov. 2.—The Woman's Equal Suffrage Association of New Jersey will hold its annual convention at this place Tuesday and Wednesday, November 13 and 14. The sessions will convene in the morning and afternoon, and on Tuesday evening Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National Equal Suffrage League; Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, State president of New Jersey; Mrs. Mary V. Grice, of Riverton; Mrs. Blankenburg, Mrs. Rachel Foster Avery, Miss Jane Campbell and other noted speakers are expected to be present and to address the meetings.

Former Plainfielders to Wed.

Invitations have just been issued for the approaching marriage of Miss Delilah Squires, formerly of this city, to John Patterson Hutchison, also formerly of this city, but now of Easton, Pa. The wedding will take place Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 14th, at Prattsburg, N. Y., at the residence of the prospective bride's cousin, Chas. A. Greene.

Masquers Dance in Barn.

A masquerade was given by Miss Alice Gilbert last evening at the barn of her uncle, Wilbur Price, of Sherman avenue. Thirty guests assembled in a great variety of costumes and a very pleasant evening was spent by the young people. There were many surprises when the masks were removed.

Will Wait Till After Election.

It was expected that the Somerset street commissioners would submit their report at the meeting of the Borough Council this evening, but it has since been thought best to let the matter rest till after election is over. The work will then be pushed vigorously.

Church Fair Continues.

The German Reformed church fair will continue this evening and tomorrow afternoon and evening, so that all the friends of the church may have an opportunity to call and assist in the worthy enterprise. Thus far the fair has been very successful.

Entertained the Speaker.

Congressman Charles N. Braum was entertained at dinner at the Hotel McVey, last evening, by the members of the sub-committee on mass-meetings of the Republican city campaign committee.

Opening of Industrial School.

The Industrial School of the Church of the Holy Cross will reopen tomorrow in the parish house at 2:30.

—Buy camb. corset covers at Van-Emburgh's at 23c, Children's E. Z. underwaist at 25c.

—Benjamin Fowler, an experienced candy-maker, will open a candy kitchen at 131 East Front street tomorrow and he invites the public to call and inspect the place and test the quality of the home made candy, made on the premises.

HARD TIME COMING HOME

TRINITY ENDEAVORERS MISSED TROLLEY THREE DIFFERENT TIMES.

Visit at New Brunswick Was a Pleasant One, But the Return Trip Was a Hard One.

Twenty-eight members of the Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church went to New Brunswick last evening where they were the guests of honor at a social and entertainment given by the Endeavor society of the Reformed church. They had a delightful time at New Brunswick, but the trip both ways, made by trolley cars, will long be remembered by all.

The Endeavorers left Plainfield about 7 o'clock and when they reached Dunellen they learned that they had missed the Bound Brook car by two minutes. This meant a wait of a half hour, but all were happy and they passed the time pleasantly. After that the trip to New Brunswick was made without any further trouble, arriving at the destination about 9 o'clock.

The return trip was a lively and exciting experience for all. The party missed the 10:30 o'clock car from New Brunswick and were obliged to wait until 11 o'clock. It was then learned that the trip had been made on the Bound Brook and Dunellen line, and the Endeavorers sought the trolley officials to see if they would have that last car meet them in Bound Brook. After an explanation of the circumstances, the officials telephoned to Bound Brook, and held the car for the party.

It was nearly 12 o'clock when the Endeavorers reached Bound Brook, but they were glad that a car was there waiting to take them to Dunellen. Upon arriving at the latter place they were obliged to telephone to the carhouse of the Plainfield Street Railway Company and ask them to send a car to Dunellen for them. This was about 12:30 o'clock and after a wait of a half hour the Plainfield car arrived and took the Endeavorers reached home a little after 1 o'clock and they were glad to get back. All are loud in their praise of the treatment accorded them by the Brunswick Traction Company and the Plainfield Street Railway Company who did everything possible for the Endeavorers.

The trip to New Brunswick was in return to the one made some weeks ago by the Endeavor Society of the First Reformed church of that place.

GEN. STRYKER'S SUCCESSOR.

Strong Probabilities of Col. Oliphant Being Named.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Nov. 2.—Already there is considerable speculation as to the probable successor to the late General William S. Stryker as Adjutant-General of the State of New Jersey.

There seems to be a very strong leaning to the belief that the berth will go to Colonel Alex. C. Oliphant, the Assistant Adjutant-General, and a man familiar with the duties of the office.

Colonel Oliphant is a personal friend of Governor Voorhees, and is a graduate of the Naval Academy at Annapolis. His wife is the daughter of Senator Stephen Elkins, of West Virginia.

Others spoken of for the place are Colonel Q. S. Gilmore, Col. Thomas S. Chambers and General Bird W. Spencer. The new Adjutant-General will receive the increased salary of $2,500 per annum, instead of $1,200, which has been the salary attached to the office in the past.

Birthday Anniversary.

Raymond Hodge, of Plainfield avenue, celebrated the anniversary of his birthday last Tuesday, and in the evening he entertained a number of his young friends in honor of the event. Games and a social time helped to pass an evening of pleasure to all, and before the young folks went home refreshments were served. The young celebrant received a number of gifts as pleasant reminders of the occasion.

Aunt Lucy Dead.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, November 2.—Lucy A. Rowby, a maiden lady, well-known as "Aunt Lucy," died at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Esther Cole, on Bridge street, yesterday. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and the remains wil be taken to Bound Brook for interment.

Luncheon at Hillside.

Mrs. John Gray Foster, of Mercer avenue, gave a most delightful luncheon yesterday at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Clubhouse in honor of her niece, Miss Jennie Foster, of New York. The table was beautifully decorated with smilax and carnations. Covers were laid for thirty-six guests.

DEMOCRATS PLEASED WITH THE OUTLOOK.

Canvass of the Election Districts Made to Learn Preferences of the Voters.

EVERYTHING SATISFACTORY.

THEY BELIEVE G. O. P. MAJORITY WILL NOT BE MUCH OVER 1,000.

Rev. E. E. Jackson Attacks the Republican City Committee for Not Recognizing the Southern League—Other Political Notes.

The Democratic City Executive Committee and representatives of the Democratic Jeffersonian Club have been working together in making a canvass of the various election districts of the city. The reports received as a result of this work is very encouraging to the Democratic leaders. In every district it is reported that there will be a big increase in the Democratic vote this year on the electorial ticket as compared with that received four years ago.

It is found that nearly all workingmen who are nominally Democrats, but who voted against their party candidates four years ago, are in line this year for Bryan, and that all but a small percentage of the Gold Democrats are also going to support the Kansas City nominees. It is also reported that there are many Republicans who will vote for Bryan and the Democratic Congressional candidate. In many instances, however, the canvassers say that voters in these three classes are reluctant to have their preferences known, or at least heralded about in a public manner, and that as a result the Republican leaders have them classed as supporters of McKinley. Election returns, it is confidently stated, will prove that the Democratic claims are well founded. The Democrats do not believe that the Republican majority in Plainfield will go much higher than that nominally accorded the G. O. P.—about 1,000.

Rev. E. E. Jackson, pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, sends the following letter to The Daily Press:

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—I saw yesterday in the issue of the News, also in The Daily Press, that the colored Republican club, under the leadership of James Babbitt, had been raided and several members, including Babbitt, arraigned before City Judge Runyon on the charge of gambling. Sir, this evil will always exist among our race as long as the white race permits the inferior class of colored people to predominate over the others of their color. This is the result of the refusal upon the part of the Republican City Committee to encourage the Southern League when it made application for recognition and support from the party. How can the white race expect us to measure arms with them if they allow the feeble worms morally of the sable sons to predominate over the better class of our people. E. E. Jackson,

Member of Southern League.

The Democrats of the borough will go to Martinville this evening and take part in a mass-meeting.

There will be a meeting of the borough Democrats tomorrow evening at the headquarters on Somerset street, when the final work of the campaign will be arranged.

There was an important meeting of the finance committee of the U. S. Grant Republican Club, of the borough, Wednesday evening. Everything was found to be in first-class condition with no deficit.

The Republicans of the borough are determined if possible to get the full vote out in their community next Tuesday, and for that purpose there will be at least a hundred workers from the U. S. Grant Club stationed all over the borough and it will be their duty to see that everyone votes.

The last Republican rally of the campaign in Elizabeth that will take place tonight at the Lyceum Theatre in that city. Rev. George F. Pentecost, of New York, and other speakers will address the meeting, Senator Joseph Cross will preside. The McKinley and Roosevelt Civil War Veterans' Association will occupy seats on the platform, and the other Republican clubs of the city will attend.

James E. Martine delivered a speech at Phillipsburg to a large and enthusiastic audience last night. He was accompanied by Frank M. Bacon, of West Fifth street.

Death Mrs. Overland.

The death of Mrs. Jacob Overland occurred last night at her home on Grove street. She was twenty-nine years of age and leaves a husband and a son and a daughter.

There is something intensely practical about H-O (Hornby's Steam Cooked Oatmeal), but it is an "ideal" food, too, in which the highest possible food perfection—nutriment and palatability considered—has been attained.

There is nothing visionary or delusive about it.

When you buy H-O you know as sure as you know your name that you have the best oatfood that can possibly be produced.

ONE BODY FOUND.

Workmen Still Searching In Fire Ruins—Investigation Begun.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Workmen at the ruins of the Warren street disaster yesterday afternoon recovered the body of August Schmidt, who perished under the falling mass of debris while trying to escape. The body, which is the first to be taken out that could be identified, was found beneath the wreckage of the Atlantic cafe at Washington and Greenwich streets.

Though the body was badly burned and dismembered, Medler was able to identify it, principally through warts on the face. The charred legs were alongside the human trunk, and the tan shoes on the feet also served as a means of identification.

Investigation into the cause of the fire and explosion in the Tarrant building began yesterday at fire headquarters. It is being conducted by Fire Marshal Peter D. Seery, assisted by Assistant District Attorney Walsh. Superintendent Murray of the bureau of combustibles will also take part in the investigation.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

General Daniel McClure, U. S. A., retired, died at Louisville.

Count Tolstoi was hurt by a fall and in consequence will not spend the winter in Moscow.

A big demonstration was held at Halifax in honor of the troops back from the South African war.

Subscriptions to a new Swiss loan of 40,000,000 francs will be received in New York city as well as in Europe.

Boers captured a British outpost of 90 men near Geneva and also looted and destroyed a Cape Town mail train.

Dr. Chase of the Yale observatory predicts that the meteor display which failed last year will appear this month.

The British steamer Orange Prince rescued at sea two sailors from an American schooner who had become lost in a fog and spent four days in an open boat.

The London Yachting World printed a letter from Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt to Captain Parker in which he assumes all responsibility for the extra ballast on the yacht Rainbow.

Roosevelt In Western New York.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Governor Roosevelt finished next to the final day of his New York state tour in this city last night after having traveled through five counties, making 15 speeches during the day. Leaving Buffalo in the morning, he passed out of Erie into Genesee, thence Cattaraugus and finally Chautauqua. The two stops where the most considerable time was spent were at the two cities on the route, Dunkirk and Jamestown, both in Chautauqua county. His speeches during the day and at both of these cities were flavored with vigorous attacks on Richard Croker and National Chairman Jones for their alleged attitude on the counting of the ballots, which Governor Roosevelt diagnosed as an incitement to violence.

Haiti Prosperous.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The Haitian minister, Mr. Legere, is just back from a visit to Haiti, where he found the business depression and unfavorable conditions of a year ago entirely removed. At that time the failure of the coffee crop and the high duties against it caused serious depression, and there was some delay in meeting the bonded debt. Now, however, a general state of prosperity has set in. Haiti has effected a reciprocity treaty with France under which Haitian coffee gets into France at a most favorable figure. The reciprocity treaty with France leads to the prospect that a similar arrangement may be effected between Haiti and the United States.

Jail and Inmate Burned.

GRAHAM, Ga., Nov. 2.—At Hazelhurst, six miles from here, the town jail was consumed by fire. In the jail at the time was a negro, who was burned to death. The negro was charged with robbery, and it is supposed that he himself set the jail afire, hoping to burn his way out. His shrieks were heard by some of the citizens who went to the scene, but arrived too late to be of any assistance. The negro's name is unknown.

Carlist Agitation Declining.

MADRID, Nov. 2.—The following statement has been issued by the Spanish ministry of the interior: "The revolutionary movement is on the decline. It is now limited to the band in the mountains near Berga, which is fleeing before several columns of government troops. The rest of the peninsula is calm. The troops have returned to Igualada. They encountered no revolutionaries."

Suspected Burglars Arrested.

HARTFORD, Nov. 2.—Walter Whiton of Kingston, R. I.; David G. Lawler of Providence and Frederick Taylor of Pawtucket have been arrested on suspicion of being connected with burglaries committed here Wednesday afternoon. When searched at the police station, six pawn tickets for jewelry, a loaded revolver, a big butcher knife and other articles were found in their pockets.

A Deadly Typhoon.

HONGKONG, Nov. 2.—Dispatches received here show that a fearful typhoon has caused havoc through Anam, the French protectorate south of China. The area of destruction is very large, and 1,600 persons are reported to have perished. Besides those killed 4,650 persons were rendered homeless.

Large Shipment of Apples.

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—A feature of the export business of the port last month was the unusually heavy shipment of apples abroad. The steamers sailing from here on the different lines took out 113,511 barrels, while last year the shipments amounted to 57,245 barrels for the same period.

National Debt Decreases.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The monthly statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business Oct. 31, 1900, the debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $1,104,102,329, a decrease as compared with last month of $1,754,351.

The Rhine Polluted.

BERLIN, Nov. 2.—Speyer, Worms and other Rhine cities have addressed a petition to the imperial chancellor, Count von Bulow, urging him to appoint a commission to examine into the question of the pollution of the Rhine through sewage.

NO QUARTER IS GIVEN

Grewsome Tales of German Cruelty In China.

ALL PRISONERS SHOT OR SABERED.

Correspondents of Social Democratic Papers Send Home Reports Reflecting on Kaiser's Soldiers. Gold Seizure Explained.

BERLIN, Nov. 2.—Considerable impatience at the meagerness of the news from China is finding expression here. The inference is that German censorship over such information is very strict.

Letters from privates in China begin to find their way into the Social Democratic papers showing that the German troops give no quarter. The Bremen Buerger Zeitung publishes a letter from a soldier in Peking, who stated he witnessed the following scene: "Sixty-eight captives, some of them not yet adults, were tied together by their pigtails, beaten bloody by the Germans, compelled to dig their own graves and then shot en masse."

The Halberstadter Volks Zeitung prints a communication from Peking in which the writer says:

"No prisoners are taken. All are shot or, preferably, sabered to save ammunition. On Sunday afternoon we had to bayonet 74 prisoners. They had killed one of our patrolmen. An entire battalion pursued them and captured 74 alive. It was cruel. It was indescribable."

A Hamburg dispatch says that the gold seized on board the Bundesrath at Cuxhaven on the arrival of that steamer there from Delagoa Bay was at the instance of an international syndicate of mine owners, whose product was taken by the Boers and Transvaal bonds of doubtful value given in exchange.

The Post of this city semiofficially makes the following announcement: "As the third clause of the Anglo-German agreement is intended to operate in the event of one power acting in opposition to the principles laid down, it ceases to be important, all the powers accepting it."

Anglo-German Agreement Accepted.

BERLIN, Nov. 2.—The evening papers printed a semiofficial statement that answers to the Anglo-German agreement had been received from all the powers, France and Russia making a reservation regarding article 3 similar to that made by the United States and Japan making no reservations whatever. This result causes much satisfaction in official circles in Germany, which emphasize the contention that article 3 is divested of all importance inasmuch as all the powers have accepted articles 1 and 2.

Troops Leave For Manila.

TIEN-TSIN, Nov. 2.—The Fourteenth United States infantry regiment has started for Manila.

Agent Short In Accounts.

CORTLAND, N. Y., Nov. 2.—David H. Gourley, for the past year agent for the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad at Cortland, was arrested yesterday on the chrge of grand larceny in the second degree for using the funds of the railroad. The complaint was lodged by W. Feller, Jr., representing the American Surety company, which company was on his bond. Gourley was arraigned, waived examination and was held to await the action of the grand jury. Bail was fixed at $800, but has not yet been secured. Experts who have been over the books for the past two days decline to state the exact amount of the shortage. They call it "several hundred dollars."

Lived 123 Years.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—George Washington Freeman Horner Green, a former negro slave, died in the almshouse at Hempstead, L. I., yesterday at the reputed age of 123 years. Green is said to have been born on a farm near Elizabethport, N. J., on Jan. 1, 1777. He was sold to a Virginia planter named Horner, by whom, it is said, he was sold to General Washington. In 1812 he was made a freeman and then came north and was employed by George Green, a Long Island farmer, with whom he remained for 40 years.

Counterfeiter Pleads Guilty.

TRENTON, Nov. 2.—Richard P. Ganzer pleaded guilty in the United States district court to counterfeiting. His home is at East Rutherford, N. J. When arrested, a full complement of counterfeiting equipment was found in his possession. The government had been after him for several years. Ganzer will be sentenced later. His partner in the counterfeiting, Paul Jansen, committed suicide in the Hudson County jail after his arrest.

Chinamen Arrested.

ALBANY, Nov. 2.—Four Chinamen who were trying to smuggle themselves to New York were captured in Rensselaer by railroad detectives. The four Celestials were concealed in a hay car and were discovered when they were knocking off a board in order to come out of the car. They were arraigned before United States Commissioner Cameron and committed to jail.

Large Printing House Burned.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 2.—The W. L. Raeder blankbook, lithographing and printing house, the largest establishment of its kind in northeastern Pennsylvania, was destroyed by fire last night. The fire started in the boiler room and made rapid progress through the elevator shaft until it enveloped five floors. Loss, $125,000.

Found Drowned In Lake.

DELHI, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Alfred Friedlund, for many years a trusted employee of Elbridge T. Gerry, was found drowned in a small lake at the Gerry summer home, near Delhi. It is supposed he went out on the lake for some purpose and capsized the boat, which was found near the body.

Postmasters Appointed.

Russian Crops Poor.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 2.—The ministry of agriculture estimates the Russian crops for 1900 as being considerably below the average. These estimates are based on the reports of 7,100 correspondents.

RICE WAS POISONED.

Valet Jones Confesses and Cuts His Throat.

MYSTERIOUS CASE CLEARING UP.

Old Man's Servant Says That Lawyer Patrick Made Away With the Millionaire and Relates the Circumstances.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Tragic developments are coming fast in the great Rice poisoning mystery.

Charles F. Jones, the old millionaire's valet, attempted suicide in his cell in the Tombs prison. He was discovered by a watchman with his throat cut from ear to ear.

A few hours before Jones had made a full confession to Assistant District Attorney Osborne and Chief of Detectives McClusky of all the details of the plot to murder Rice and get possession of his millions.

Jones confessed that Lawyer Albert T. Patrick killed the old man with poison, and they then forged his name to a fraudulent will and to checks on various banks for $350,000.

When he was led back from the district attorney's office to the Tombs, Jones was confronted by Lawyer Patrick.

"I told Patrick that I had confessed everything," Jones said later. "Patrick drew from his pocket a penknife and gave it to me. 'The best thing you can do is to take this and cut your throat,' he said. So I went to my cell and tried to kill myself."

Jones was removed to Bellevue hospital. The doctors say he will recover. He is closely guarded by policemen.

The inquest, which was to have begun yesterday, has been postponed for a week.

Millionaire William Marsh Rice, over 80 years of age, was found dead in bed in his apartments at 500 Madison avenue on Saturday evening, Sept. 23.

ALBERT T. PATRICK.

His valet, Charles F. Jones, sent for Dr. Curry, who had been the old man's physician. Rice had been dead 20 minutes, so the doctor said.

Undertaker Plowright embalmed the body that night to keep it for the funeral, although Rice had ordered that it be cremated.

On the Monday morning following Rice's sudden death a messenger from Rice's lawyer, Albert T. Patrick, presented checks for large amounts at Swenson & Son's banking house and the Fifth Avenue Trust company for certification. They were drawn against Mr. Rice's account and signed "W. M. Rice."

They aggregate over $200,000. All of these checks were drawn to the order of Albert T. Patrick. Swenson & Son refused to certify two of them, but the trust company passed two others as good.

The police learned that Rice's death was mysterious and ordered an autopsy performed after the funeral services on Tuesday. The stomach, kidneys, brain and other parts were removed and placed in the hands of Professor Witthaus for a chemical analysis. On Tuesday the body was cremated at Fresh Pond, on Long Island, Valet Jones following the remains.

The first incident which led up to yesterday's climax was the fact disclosed that Valet Jones had been taken to the district attorney's office and the subsequent rumor that he had made a confession to the authorities. Before the police had time to learn if the report of a confession was true came the more startling news that during the silent hours of the night Jones had in his cell in the Tombs attempted suicide by cutting his throat with a penknife given him, he says, by Attorney Patrick, also confined in the Tombs and for the purpose of getting rid of one witness to Patrick's alleged crime.

His crime, according to the confession of Jones, parts of which the district attorney's office gave out, was nothing less than the murder of the millionaire by Attorney Patrick and the purloining of valuable papers relating to the estate. The taking off of Mr. Rice, says Jones, was done by the internal administration of some poison, supposedly mercury, and the final application of a towel saturated with some anæsthetic, presumably chloroform. That portion of the confession which has to do with the last moments of the old man is the following given out by the authorities as coming from Jones, the scene taking place in the apartments of the millionaire as he lay sick in bed:

"Rice said: 'I am very nervous, Mr. Patrick. I wish you wouldn't trouble me. Please go away.'

"Patrick replied, 'I have some salts here, Mr. Rice, that will cure your nervousness.'

"He produced a bottle and uncorked it. The contents smelled to me like some very strong liniment.

"Then Patrick said to me, 'Get me a towel and a sponge.' I got him both. Then Patrick said:

"'Jones, you will have to leave.' I left. As I was leaving Patrick said, 'I'll remain here until Mr. Rice gets to sleep.' He closed the door behind me.

"I stood in the hall for a few minutes, and soon I heard Mr. Rice laugh. I thought this was queer, so I pushed open the door. I saw Mr. Rice lying on his back in bed.

"The towel that I had given Patrick was wrapped around the sponge in a cone shape. This cone was lying directly over Mr. Rice's eyes and nose.

"Patrick was pressing it down with his right hand. Patrick did not see me, and of course Mr. Rice could not. After seeing what I had seen I went and lay on my bed.

"Mr. Rice grew very sick. Patrick said to me, 'Go get a doctor.' I went for one. He pronounced Mr. Rice dead."

Attorney Patrick of course denies having furnished Jones the penknife, and he also denies the facts of the confession. Jones after his suicidal attempt was taken to Bellevue hospital, hastily summoned physicians having just been in time to save him from death through loss of blood. At 8 o'clock last night the hospital surgeons said he was slightly better, and the chances are that in a few days he will again be placed in the Tombs.

CENSUS FIGURES SURPRISE.

Director Merriam Says Figures Were Above His Estimate.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—William R. Merriam of Minnesota, the director of the census, spent several hours in Chicago while en route from Washington to his home at St. Paul, where he is going to vote. In discussing the census he said:

"The large figures shown by the recent census of this country are a big and pleasant surprise to me. None of us at the bureau had expected a larger total than 75,000,000; but, much to our surprise and gratification, it has exceeded that number by more than 1,000,000.

"We reckoned that the decreased immigration for the last decade must work a decrease in the percentage of gain for the decade as compared with the decade preceding. Between 1880 and 1890 a vast immigration flowed into our country. This was much diminished, it was supposed, during the last ten years.

"Congress, when it meets in December, will have the results at hand upon which to base the new apportionment of seats in the lower house. The whole result will not be published until January, and, indeed, I see a good year's work before us.

"The number of farms in the United States proves to be about 5,800,000. When complete, the census will show all about each farm.

"In 1890 there were some 355,000 manufacturing institutions in the United States. Now, in round numbers, there are about 600,000. The increase in number of plants will be shown to be very great in the west. The south also has added to its manufactures. Whether the increase in west and south is additional to or at the expense of the manufactories of the east I do not yet know."

Woolley in West Virginia.

CAMBRIDGE, O., Nov. 2.—The Prohibition special train arrived at Wheeling, W. Va., Wednesday night at 11:30 o'clock and remained on a siding until 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The first speaking of the day was held at the train from 7:30 until 9 to an audience of about 300 persons. Addresses were made by W. A. Brubaker, Colonel John Sobieska, T. R. Carskadon, John G. Woolley and Oliver W. Stewart. The second stop of the forenoon was at Bellaire, O., where 200 persons braved a brisk shower to hear a ten minute speech by Candidate Woolley. Quaker City was reached at 12 o'clock. Candidate Woolley made a ten minute speech from the rear platform to an enthusiastic crowd of 400 persons. At Cambridge an hour's stop was made, arriving at 1:30. One thousand persons attended the meeting, which was held at the public square, Woolley giving the opening address. Afternoon stops were made at New Concord, Zanesville and Delaware and at Fostoria a night meeting was held.

Elevated Roads Disturb Schools.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Suits for damage estimated at an aggregate of $750,000 to $1,000,000 have been filed in the circuit court by the school board against the elevated railway companies whose tracks and traffic are alleged to have damaged school property. It is claimed that aside from alleged injuries to the buildings, pupils are greatly hindered in their work by the noise made by the trains. The defendants in the suit are the Metropolitan, the West Side Railroad company, the Lake Street Elevated Railroad company, the Northwestern Elevated Railroad company and the South Side Rapid Transit company.

Another Mining Strike.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 2.—The laborers at the Conyngham mine of the Delaware and Hudson Canal company went on strike yesterday. The miners refused to pay the laborers 10 per cent increase in wages, claiming that the company had only advanced them 10 per cent and that they would not pay the laborers the whole increase. At this mine the company does not pay the laborers. They worked for the miners, and they pay them. At several other collieries operated by the Delaware and Hudson and Lehigh Valley companies the miners complained of the size of the cars they were compelled to load.

Saratoga Track Sold.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The World publishes the following: "The Saratoga race track, the oldest course of its kind in use in the state at the present time, was sold yesterday to a syndicate of men, of which W. C. Whitney, Arthur Featherstone, Philip J. Dwyer, J. H. Alexander, F. R. and T. Hitchcock, R. T. Wilson and John Sanford are the most prominent. The purchasing price was not made public, but it was close to $300,000. The transfer of the property takes place on the 7th inst."

Chile's Propositions to Bolivia.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 2.—It is officially declared that Chile's propositions to Bolivia are not of a threatening character, but suggest a basis of generous agreement, Chile constructing a railway from the coast to La Paz, capital of Bolivia, and discharging several millions of dollars which burden Bolivia provided Bolivia recognizes Chile's absolute dominion over the strip of territory occupied in the war of 1881 and retained as indemnity.

Ravages of Yellow Fever.

HAVANA, Nov. 2.—Colonel William L. Haskin of the Second United States artillery, stationed at El Vedado, is suffering, it is reported, from yellow fever in a light form. Two privates of the regiment have also been attacked. Senor J. F. Sagrario, who was appointed Spanish consul in Havana in June of last year, is dead of heart disease. He had just recovered, after an illness of six weeks, from a severe form of yellow fever.

Injured In an Electric Car.

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—A South Union station electric car while coming across the Federal street bridge last night ran off the track and went into a small pit. The passengers were shaken up, and four were severely hurt.

BRYAN IN CHICAGO.

Several Stops In Indiana—Leaves the Rambler For Good.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—William Jennings Bryan yesterday afternoon began his three days' itinerary of this city, addressing a vast concourse at Randolph street and Michigan avenue. The speakers' stand was at the side of the Public library, and so dense was the throng around it that the presidential candidate was literally dragged to the platform by a squad of policemen who acted under the personal supervision of Mayor Harrison, who had ridden with Colonel Bryan from the railway station. Colonel Bryan was escorted from the Dearborn Street station by the Cook county Democracy through Dearborn street, Jackson boulevard, Clark street, Madison, Lasalle and Randolph streets, which were lined with humanity. The hour was especially auspicious, as thousands of workingmen and office employees had just completed their day's tasks and awaited the coming of the Democratic champion.

Colonel Bryan was in excellent voice, and this he used to good effect in reducing the storm of cheering that greeted him when he was introduced by Michael Shields, vice president of the county committee. His speech was applauded almost incessantly, and at its conclusion he was driven to the Auditorium, where he took dinner, after which he proceeded on his tour of the northwest side of the city, where he made eight speeches, all of which were made to large crowds.

Mr. Bryan's itinerary covered a number of points between Indianapolis and this city, all of them being in the state of Indiana. His car was run out of Cincinnati early in the morning, and he arrived at Indianapolis at 7 o'clock. He made no speech at the state capital and was joined there by National Chairman Taggart and other prominent Indiana Democrats who composed his escort for the day. The stopping points were Jamestown, Crawfordsville, Darlington, Frankfor, Delphi, Monticello, Monon, Rensselaer, Lowell and Hammond.

Mr. Bryan left the private car Rambler for good upon his arrival here. He had occupied it for just five weeks and had traveled 7,000 or 8,000 miles in it.

Cuban Trade Figures.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The division of customs and insular affairs, war department, has made public a summary of its regular monthly bulletin, showing the commerce of the island of Cuba for the ten months ended April 30, 1900. The statement shows that the value of all merchandise imported during this period was $59,925,339 and of gold and silver $5,105,287, giving a total importation of $65,030,626. Of this amount $29,386,588 worth was sent from the United States and $1,447,456 worth came from Porto Rico. The total exportation of merchandise amounted to $35,404,421, of which agricultural products formed the greater part. The export of gold and silver was $3,299,553, making the total value of all exports from Cuba $38,703,974. The United States took $28,936,252 worth of these exports and $80,157 worth went to Porto Rico.

Stabbed on a Train.

ATLANTA, Nov. 2.—A special from Valdosta, Ga., says: "It has leaked out that a fight occurred on the special train bringing the Georgia legislature here to attend the state fair. There was a difficulty between some of the members, and it is understood that Mr. Hardin of Wilkes county was stabbed by Senator Hardaway. Mr. Hardin was put off the train at Forsyth for medical treatment. Several other members, including Mr. Cann of Chatham, received slight injuries in the effort to separate the belligerents. It is said that the men were the best of friends, and whisky is given as the cause of the trouble. The party very much regret the affair, and none of them can be induced to talk about it."

Company Ignores Strikers.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Nov. 2.—General Manager E. H. Fitzhugh, Superintendent Soule and Assistant Superintendent Stephens met the arbitration committee of citizens named by the striking freight handlers of the Central Vermont Railroad company yesterday noon by appointment and made a positive statement to the effect that the company would not treat in any way with the strikers, nor would the company take any of the men back. The main portion of the men are Poles and, growing desperate from being out of work for nearly a month, are inclined to violence, although their leaders are counseling prudence.

Fifty Miners Strike.

HAZLETON, Pa., Nov. 2.—The mine workers employed by the firm of Crawford & Dugan, numbering about 50 men, quit work at the Honey Brook strippings yesterday and say they will remain out until they get an increase of 10 per cent, which the firm declines to grant. The Cranberry engineers have been given positions elsewhere at the colliery by A. Pardee & Co., and all the union men who refused to work until the engineers were recognized reported today. The Stockton colliery also resumed, the difficulty pertaining to the wage increase having been settled.

Miss Boutelle to Name Monitor.

BATH, Me., Nov. 2.—Miss Grace Boutelle, daughter of Congressman Charles A. Boutelle, who is now nursing her father at McLean hospital, Waverly, Mass., will christen the monitor now building at the Bath Iron works when it is put overboard on Nov. 24. The craft is at present known as No. 8.

BEFORE ADAM LIVED

Wonderful Discoveries of Dr. Hilprecht at Nippur.

LIBRARY NINE THOUSAND YEARS OLD

Famous Archæologist Returns to This Country and Tells of Tablets Unearthed In Temple Erected 4000 B. C.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Professor Herman N. Hilprecht, who has been digging up the ruins of Nineveh for the University of Pennsylvania, arrived on the Friedrich der Grosse yesterday.

He said that as the result of his discoveries and translations of inscriptions on vases, tablets and utensils Bible history is shown to be quite recent. The tablets are histories of times before Adam and Eve are supposed to have lived in the Garden of Eden.

"We have found the first Babylonian temple library ever discovered," said he. "It was uncovered at Nippur. Some of the documents go back as far before Abraham as Abraham is before our time.

"Not a document discovered is less than 2,200 years before the Christian era. That is about the period at which Nippur's civilization was nipped in the blossom by the Elamites, and Babylon succeeded Nippur as the capital of Babylonia. Some of the documents are supposed to be at least 9,000 years old.

"Nearly 18,000 documents were rescued this year.

"The documents are clay tablets from two inches by one inch to a foot and a half in length by one foot in width. They cover every branch of literature known to the early Semitic peoples. There are lists of words written in both the Sumerian and Babylonian languages, exercises in grammar, dates, hymns, proverbs, astronomical works, astrological texts, inventories of the temple, lists of gods and cash books giving the income of the temple from all sources. They will increase our vocabulary of the two most ancient tongues.

"Nippur was built on successive platforms, generations constructing a platform upon the ruins of previous generations.

"The Nippur library was lost about the time Abraham went out of Ur. Many Hebrew customs find here their first explanation. One old historical character who, critics had decided, was a myth is found to have been a real character.

"Most of the Jewish exiles transported by Nebuchadnezzar after the destruction of Jerusalem were located at Nippur and along the canals near there."

The records from the Nippur library are on their way from Bassora to Philadelphia.

Military Prisoners Escape.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—Three prisoners have escaped from the United States military prison on Albatross island. One of the escaped prisoners was Frank Kinne, who was under a sentence of 15 years for desertion and treason. Kinne was brought here a few months ago in irons from Manila. He had deserted his command and accepted a commission from the Filipino army. He was caught leading a charge of the insurgents. In the number captured by the American troops at the time Kinne was taken were several American prisoners. Kinne claimed to be himself a prisoner of the Filipinos, but the Americans who were with the party declared this to be a falsehood and denounced the man as a traitor and a rebel. The others who escaped with Kinne were C. J. Huntington, under sentence of ten years, and J. M. Potts, serving five years.

Wreck on the Northern Pacific.

HINCKLEY, Minn., Nov. 2.—One of the worst wrecks that have occurred on this division of the Northern Pacific railway for a long time took place yesterday. The limited express ran into an open switch a mile and a half south of here. On the side track stood an extra freight. The engineer of the passenger train had only time to apply the airbrakes and with his fireman to jump when the crash came. The limited ran into the rear of the freight, demolishing the caboose and wrecking a number of cars, which caught fire and burned. The rear brakeman, William Rapp, of the freight was burned. None of the passengers was seriously injured.

Powers a Pauper.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 2.—In the court of appeals attorneys of ex-Secretary of State Caleb Powers were granted an order compelling the clerk of the Scott county court to furnish a copy of the record of Powers' trial to the lower court free of cost. The affidavit of Powers and several of his friends were filed showing that he had expended all of his fortune in his defense and is now a pauper. The time for filing Powers' appeal from the judgment sentencing him to life imprisonment was extended till Nov. 8.

A Sensational Case.

BERLIN, Nov. 2.—A sensational incident occurred here in the second trial of the rich banker Sternberg, who was sentenced last April to two years' imprisonment and a three years' loss of honorable citizenship for a crime against morality. Police Detective Stierstaedter testified that his superior officer, Thiel, offered him 200,000 marks if he would testify in such a way as to secure the acquittal of the accused and then leave the country.

Superintendent Maynard Dead.

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Frank Maynard, superintendent of poor for Herkimer county, died yesterday afternoon of typhoid fever. Mr. Maynard was the Republican nominee for the office he held. As the ballots are printed the name of the nominee who is to be selected by the executive committee of the Republican county committee will have to be printed on pasters and pasted over Maynard's name.

Severe Texas Storms.

DALLAS, Nov. 2.—Reports from northern and north central Texas show Tuesday's storm to have been very destructive. Houses were wrecked in Kaufman, Ellis, Hill, Collin and Grayson counties. Three persons were killed and several seriously hurt. Crops suffered severely.

Would Send Warships.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The United States government, according to a dispatch from Sydney, N. S. W., to The Daily Express, has intimated that it would be pleased to send warships to attend the inauguration of the commonwealth of Australia.

The State Monies.

State Comptroller Hancock has sent the usual message of congratulation to the Governor, showing that at the close of the fiscal year Wednesday there was a balance in the State fund of $2,005,222.16.

The balance will be rapidly decreased as the amounts appropriated by the last Legislature, and aggregating upward of $2,000,000, are made payable now, and as many of the bigger ones will be drawn at once, the actual treasury balance will be materially lowered.

The largest single item, going to make up this balance, is the monies received from the licensing of trusts and corporations during the year. The amount received in this way was a trifle short of $400,000, as against upwards of $700,000 last year.

During the year charters were granted by the State to 2,012. Upwards of 250 of the corporations chartered had each a capitalization of $1,000,000 or more, and fifty of the number had each a capitalization of $5,000,000. From this they ranged all the way up to $160,000,000 for a single corporation.

It is stated that in the two years, about 200 absolute trusts were granted charters by the State, and the amount of "watered" stock they unloaded on the market would run at least two figures in the billions columns.

The annual report of the Adjutant General of the army, for the fiscal year ending June 30th, last, shows that the desertions from the army were equal to almost 20 per cent. of the enlistments—there were 19,549 enlistments and 2,993 desertions. The report also shows that the number of rejections made by recruiting officers during the year, for legal, mental, moral, or physical reasons were 69,694, about 78 per cent. of those offering to enlist. The "army canteen," officially known as the "post exchange," also gets a boost from the Adjutant General, who says that reports from the Philippines, Cuba and Porto Rico "indicate that the post exchange has become an absolute necessity." The report shows that the post exchanges did a business amounting to $1,915,862, with a net profit of $464,504.

"The advertising feature of the American newspaper is interesting," says an observing English visitor. "Unlike the English advertisements, which are the same the year 'round, many of the business announcements here are changed every day and have a positive news character. One result is that the American public are far better informed about what is to be found in shops and other places than are English buyers, many of whom do not know of the best places to buy things. It is obvious that advertising is necessary to success in this country."

Christmas packages for soldiers in the Philippines should be sent, express paid, to the Assistant Quartermaster of the United States Army at New York, and they will then be forwarded, free of charge, to their destination. It will be necessary to express the packages without delay to insure their arrival before Christmas. As there are many Jerseymen in the army in the Phillippines, their relatives at home will do well to observe these directions.

There are only 134,158 Indians "not taxed" in the United States. How many taxed Indians there are will probably be disclosed in future census figures. Think of it; the original owners of the soil constitute an infinitesimal fraction of the population and must soon disappear as a race, comments the Newark Advertiser.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

The report of the impairment of the credit of the Dime Savings Institution of Plainfield, is announced by the bank officials to be untrue, and they have offered a reward of $500 for information which will lead to the conviction of the guilty parties. This institution, if one can judge by the recent report of the bank examiners, was never in better condition, and it is criminal on the part of any one to attempt to destroy the credit of a bank or the reputation of an individual.—Dunellen Call.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Among the many private camps scattered through the Adirondacks in the vicinity of Saranac Lake, there are few more pleasant ones than Camp Hohioken, owned by H. G. Runkle, of West Eighth street, this city. There Mr. Runkle and his family spend much of their summer vacation. It is out in the woods and there the chipmunks are particularly plentiful. So numerous are these little animal that it was from them that the camp takes its name. "Hohoiken" is from one of the Indian tongues and, being translated, means "chipmunk." Mr. Runkle was particularly desirous of securing a crest with a chipmunk in it for the camp stationary. Several New York firms attempted to make a design to suit him. One finally succeeded. Those who have received letters from Camp Hohoiken cannot have failed to notice the little brown chipmunk, standing on a stump and holding a nut in its fore paws, which is embossed on each sheet.

JERSEY KNIGHTS LOCATED

To Occupy Whole Houses in Louisville During Triennial Conclave Next Summer.

The State of New Jersey will have a splendid representation of Knights Templar at the thirty-eight triennial conclave to be held in Louisville, Ky., August 27-30th, 1901.

Hugh de Payens Commandary, No. 1, of Jersey City, has just closed a contract for the entire residence of Mrs. F. M. Walker, 927 Third street. The house is a palatial one in the finest residence district of the city.

The Louisville Templars are expecting to shortly be called upon to secure quarters for a number of other commanderies of New Jersey, including Palestine, of Trenton; Helena, of Burlington; Damascus, of Newark; Cyrene, of Camden; DeMolay, of Washington; St. John's, of Elizabeth; Olivet, of Millville; Ivanhoe, of Bordentown; Odo de St. Amand, of Morristown; Melita, of Paterson; St. Elmo, of Lambertville; Corson, of Asbury Park; Pilgrim, of Hoboken; Temple, of Metuchen, and Trinity, of Plainfield.

It is believed that 25,000 Knights and more than 100 bands will participate in the grand parade on the opening day of the conclave. One afternoon of the triennial a competitive drill will be given. This will be the first drill since 1883, at San Francisco. Five handsome sterling silver trophies, to cost several thousand dollars, are to be awarded the winning commanderies of the local committee.

One of the most unique exhibitions ever attempted will be the great pageant at night. About 50 floats are to be constructed to represent the history of Knight Templary from the time of the Crusades to the present. These will be built on trucks fitted to the street car tracks. They are to be drawn by 150 horses, collected from the most famous stock farms of the State. This feature alone will require the expenditure of $7,600.

—The best method of cleansing the liver is the use of the famous little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Easy to take. Never gripe. L. W. Randolph.

—During the past month the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company has installed twenty-eight new telephones in Plainfield, and a large number of orders have been received for others.

—There will be a public exhibition of the Wilson self-acting, reversible fire escape tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock at the Watchung Silk Mill, West Front street. If stormy no exhibit will be given.

—Pictures of the Galveston disaster were shown last evening by Wm. Schorb at the German Reformed church fair. There will be an entertainment this evening and other features to close the week's event.

Dear Sirs:—Some days since a package of your GRAIN-O preparation was left at my office. I took it home and gave it a trial, and I have to say I was very much pleased with it, as a substitute for coffee. We have always used the best Java and Mocha in our family, but I am free to say I like the GRAIN-O as well as the best coffee I ever drank.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Nov. 2—Walter G. Runyon went to Jersey City yesterday and returned with the body of John P. Hill, brother of Charles and Walter Hill, of the borough, and Mrs. Garretson, of New Market. The deceased met his death by falling from the mast of a boat of which he was captain and which plies between Jersey City and Boston. At the time of the accident it was moored at Communipaw. The body was removed to Spear's morgue from whence it was brought by Mr. Runyon. The funeral services will be held from the residence of Charles Hill tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The only Democratic mass-meeting to be held in the borough during the present campaign will take place in the Town Hall this evening. Addresses will be made by Assemblyman Leon Abbett, of Hoboken, and Hon. Eugene Leake, of Jersey City. Some of the Democratic candidates are expected to be present and make short addresses.

One of the east bound passenger trains was delayed at the station for some time last evening owing to the great amount of game being unloaded belonging to George Rhinehart and Matthew McGovern. They spent yesterday in the vicinity of Pittston and captured ? the game at that place.

The Misses Maud and Hazel Earle have secured an engagement with Sells Brothers' Circus, and have left to join them at Columbus, Miss.

Charles Williams has gone to Bloosbury on a few days hunting trip. His place is being taken by Charles Tilton.

George and John Huff and a friend from Newark left yesterday for a few days' hunting trip on Long Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Weidenhaupt are spending today with relatives at Tottenville, S. I.

James Block declares that the statement that he was married at Paterson is not true.

Miss May Apgar spent yesterday with her sister, Mrs. H. L. Terry, of Westfield.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, Oct. 2.—While W. B. Smith was in the act of harnessing his horse Wednesday night, the animal suddenly kicked him in the right side, knocking him to the ground unconscious. No one was in the vicinity but fortunately he recovered just in time to prevent himself from being seriously burned. The force oft he blow had ignited several matches in his pocket which set fire to his clothes. The pocket was burned away before he recovered sufficiently to put the blaze out and prevent further injury. Although able to be around he has not yet fully recovered from the effects of the kick.

Messrs. Mundy and Kischmer removed a large tree yesterday which has obstructed the sidewalk in front of Asa Bush's residence.

Dr. Clifford M. Stelle, of Cordova, Md., has returned home after a visit with his mother, Mrs. Sarah Stelle.

There are letters remaining in the postoffice for James Emory & Co. and Miss Lillie Widew.

Mrs. M. A. Ward has been on the sick list for the past few days.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Nov. 2.—The threatening weather of last evening did not stop the members of the Republican Club from coming out in force to attend the outing of the club to the mass meeting in Music Hall. A special trolley left the Park avenue crossing at 7:15. At the hall seats were reserved in the orchestra. The trip was enlivened by the usual campaign songs and cries from the start until the hall was reached. This is the last outing of the club this campaign. Several have been given and they have not only benefitted the party but have been a source of pleasure especially to the younger element.

The removal of Mrs. George Godbrod to New York places the Baptist Church once more without an organist for the large pipe organ. A committee from the Board of Trustees have the matter in charge and hope soon to be able to have the organ taking its accustomed place in the church services once more.

The football eleven will go to Newark tomorrow afternoon to meet the strong Orientals, of that city. The game will be played upon enclosed grounds. The local eleven have been practicing hard this past week and they expect to bring home the victory.

Louis E. Tuzo, who holds a lucrative position under the U. S. Government at Porto Rico, is enjoying a vacation and visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Tuzo, of Terrell Road.

The presence of special officers, Guernix and Haberly, upon the streets on Wednesday night did much to curb the usual Hallowe'en enthusiasm among the boys.

The constable's sale, to satisfy a judgement recently given in Judge Clark's court, in the case of Frech against Lamade, has been adjourned to Saturday.

A regular meeting of the Township Committee was held in the town rooms last night. A number of bills were paid and other routine business transacted.

Prof. and Mrs. John R. Morey have been entertaining Mrs. Morey's mother, Mrs. Stearns, of Brooklyn, for a few days.

Goodwill Lodge, K. of P., held an interesting meeting in their rooms last evening.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, Nov. 2—At the meeting of the Township Committee to be held this evening, it is said that a petition, signed by half of the taxpayers in the town, asking for an issue of bonds with which to puchase a new outfit for the fire department, will be presented. J. Alston Dennis, the chief of the department, has been at work for some time getting signers to the petition. It is proposed to raise $10,000 by taxation and purchase a new steamer, a chemical engine, a new truck and a new hose wagon.

The Westfield Club hall was packed to the doors last evening when the first rally of the Bryan and Stevenson Club took place. Hon. E. J. Whitehead presided, being the president of the club. The speakers were Dr. C.C. Hendricks, of Jersey City; Rev Montgomery Hunt Throop, of Jersey City, and Hon. Albert Gray, of Texas. The speakers were all well received and loudly applauded.

Frances, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Ganzell, of Union place, died yesterday afternoon after a short illness. The funeral services will be held from the Ganzel home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Wm. O. Jarvis, Jr., of St. Paul's church, will officiate.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

South Plainfield, Nov. 2.—The Ladies Aid Society will give an entertainment and oyster supper in the hall tonight.

Yesterday morning gates were to be seen almost everywhere except where they should be. No serious damage was done.

The tinners have the roof on the new school building and the carpenters are about ready for the lathers.

Mrs. Eckert went to New York today to attend the funeral of her father.

A Talented Reciter.

The recital of "The Merchant of Venice," at the Casino, last evening, by Marshall Darrach, of Newark, was indeed a rare treat for the large number of people present. Mr. Darrach recited entirely from memory and his work was given in a finished and thoroughly enjoyable manner. Frequently he received the hearty approbation of his appreciative audience as he would assume the different characters so perfectly. The recital in its entirety was delightful and from the beginning to the end there was not a thing to mar the pleasure of it. Those who heard Mr. Darrach last evening hope to be able to have him in Plainfield again at some future time.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Brinsley Shaw, who plays the role of Loris Ipanoff in Sardou's great play "Fedora," which will be seen at Music Hall next Monday night, has made a reputation of the success attained by two of America's most prominent stars, Robert Mantell and Melbourne MacDowell. Both of these actors were appearing in rather subordinate parts with Fanny Davenport in this play. They were at that time, started in their career of course, considered only clever artists but by no means great ones. They were both, at various times, given an opportunity to play this part of Loris, when acting as understudy for it. Mantell after playing the charactor for the first time was called into the office of Miss Davenport' managers and was told that his salary would be increased just one hundred dollars a week if he would play the role permanently. Fanny Davenport, who married MacDowell is said to have fallen in love with him, partly through his success in this role. It is understood that an ambition of Mr. Shaw has been to have a chance at this character. The reputation acquired by him may partly lay in the opportunity given for the display of talent by the wonderfully constructed role, but it is a source of much gratification to his friends to see that Mr. Shaw had the ability "to make good."

. . . . . .

"What Happened to Jones," Broadhurst's capital farce, which had a four months' run at the Bijou Theatre, New York, comes to Music Hall next Tuesday—Election Day—for matinee and night performance, is described by a well-known metropolitan writer as an "18 karat comedy without a flaw." Joseph Dailey handles the lines and actions of Jones with a humor and fineness that makes the part a delight. To be sure he has one of the fattest parts ever written for a comedian, but it isn't every man who can keep a person's jaws on the hinge with his drolleries as a playing card drummer masquerading as a bishop, and the next minute start one to gulping down a surprisingly hard lump in one's throat. Miss Bengie Harrison, who is a big favorite everywhere, is one of the hits of the female members of the company, in the character of Helma, the Swede servant. Reserved seats are on sale both for matinee and night performances.

Bob Fitzsimmons has scored another knockout with his new play, "The Honest Blacksmith," which will be seen on Thursday of next week at Music Hall. Those who have seen him in this play of home and sporting life declare that he has mastered the arts of the stage as readily as he did those of the fistic arena. Bob has the centre part of the play and is on the stage most of the time.

He has been surrounded by an excellent company, including his wife and son, Mrs. Fitzsimmons and Little Bobbie. The play is one of stirring heart interest and carries the interest of the audience from beginning to end.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

I. S. Randolph, of West Front street, is confined to his home by illness.

Mrs. K Rothberg, of West Third street, is slightly improved from her recent illness.

Mrs. Paul Symons, of East Third street, is somewhat improved from a severe illness.

Michael Connelly, of Basking Ridge, has been spending a short time with borough friends.

George Moore, of Elm place, has recovered from his recent illness and is able to be out once more.

Lloyd VanMiddlesworth, of Weston, returned home after a visit with his parents in Elmwood place.

Auguste Saltzman will leave next week for Hawley, Pa., where he will visit his daughter, Mrs. A. S. Fritts.

Gen. Eli Long and family, who have spent the summer at Penn Yan, N. Y., have returned to their home on Grove street.

Miss Mildred Tyrell, of Manning avenue, returned home from the hospital yesterday where she underwent an operation.

David T. Kenney, of the borough, has just returned from a delightful trip along the St. Lawrence river and St. Johns. He expects to return there a little later in the season.

—The Senior and Junior Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church will meet this evening and a member of the Junior society will lead. A social will follow the metting.

PROGRESSIVE CURE.
Mrs. Williams: "How is it, Doctor, that you who always object so strongly to patent medicines, make an exception of Ripans Tabules? Aren't you rather inconsistent?"
Doctor Brown: "Not in the least, Mrs. Williams. Every disease manifests itself in several different stages, one after another. When any one is suffering from digestive disorder he usually imagines it is a very simple matter indeed of a very complicated one, and makes the mistake of relying upon some single drug which only affects one stage of the complaint, leaving the others to take care of themselves or develop into something worse than the original trouble.
"An intelligent physician aims at a progressive course of treatment to meet the different phases of a case, step by step, each with its appropriate remedy, and beats the disease at each successive point of attack, so that when the final symptoms are overcome, the disease is thoroughly routed. Physicians recommend Ripans Tabules because they are compounded upon this very principle of overcoming disease progressively.
"In nervous indigestion or costiveness the Tabules act successively upon the different organs involved and overcome each symptom in turn. Headache, sour stomach and nervous depression are relieved almost immediately. The bowels are affected more gradually but surely and thoroughly; and what is of more account, the relief and benefit to the entire system is permanent. That is what physicians call scientific cure. That is why I recommend Ripans Tabules."
WANTED—A cure for all forms of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS Tabules are sold by druggists or by mail if desired. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

"TO LOOK AT THE BOOKS."

An Expression That Led a Dishonest Bookkeeper to Depart in Haste.

A prominent Louisville lawyer, who was in the city recently on business, told this curious little story one evening, while chatting with some friends in the Grunewald lobby, says the New Orleans Times-Democrat. "My pet fad for many years," he said, "has been what is called the 'extending' of books. I select some standard work, preferably a work of history, and begin to collect letters, autographs, pictures, maps, printed matter, documents and anything else obtainable connected with the subject treated. Eventually I have the original book taken apart and rebound with all my supplementary matter, and a single volume is sometimes extended to a dozen. It is a very fascinating hobby, and if I went into details I would never get to my story. What I started out to tell you was this: Five or six years ago I was on the train going to Toledo to attend to some legal matters, when I fell in with a very agreeable elderly gentleman, who turned out to be a furniture manufacturer living in middle Ohio. Something turned the conversation to books, and the old gentleman remarked casually that he was extending a copy of Irving's 'Life of Washington. By a remarkable coincidence I was just then engaged on exactly the same task myself, and, needless to say, we both became deeply interested. By the time we reached the manufacturer's home town he had persuaded me to stop over and take a look at his library, which, he said, contained several fine specimens of extended books. We arrived late in the afternoon, and before going to his house we dropped in at his down-town office. A very serious-looking, middle-aged Scotchman came forward to greet us, and was introduced by my friend as the manager of the furniture works. 'I'm going to keep Mr. A—— with us a day or so,' said the old gentleman, pleasantly. 'I want him to take a look at my books.' The Scotchman grunted some vague reply, and in a few moments we started for the house.

"I was most hospitably entertained," continued the lawyer, "and I found the library intensely interesting, but next day I had to go to Toledo, and the whole episode eventually faded from my mind. One day last summer however, it was unexpectedly recalled by a meeting with the old manufacturer himself, whom I bumped into in the corridor of the Planters' house in St. Louis. He recognized me at once, and the first thing he asked was whether I had finished with my copy of 'Washington.' Then he took me by the arm and drew me aside. 'I'm very glad I've met you,' he said, 'because I want to tell you of a remarkable affair in which you played unconsciously an important part. Do you remember the details of your little visit to my town?' 'Fairly well, I replied, in surprise. 'Then perhaps you recall meeting the manager at our office?' he continued. 'Certainly,' said I. 'A sour-looking Scotchman with reddish hair.' 'Exactly!' he exclaimed. 'Well, he decamped that night, and has never been seen since. We thought he was sick at home for a couple of days, so he got a good start. He was short a trifle over $20,000, but he covered up his tracks so neatly that I was at a loss to know why he ran away until I received a letter from him, posted in Mexico, and making a clean breast of the whole affair. It seems that he mistook you for an expert accountant and gathered from some remark I made about looking at my books that I had engaged you to examine the ledgers. Accordingly he took time by the forelock. It was a pretty serious loss,' he added, 'but I regard the incident as providential, because the rascal was then preparing for a big coup, which he would certainly have perfected inside a month. In that case he might have wrecked me.'

"It was a good joke on the Scotchman," said the lawyer, chuckling, "for I don't know any more about bookkeeping and accounts than a wild Hottentot."

Her Reasonable Request.

When the beautiful girl's mother called her into the library for a little confidential chat the fair damsel was instantly on the defensive. She felt that she knew what was coming.

"I do not wish to be unreasonable," said the mother, "but that young man who calls here three nights a week must—"

"Enough!" interposed the beautiful girl. "I know what you would say. Harold is not wealthy, but he has excellent prospects, and I will not give him up. I love him."

"Yes, of course," returned the mother. "And naturally you have reason to believe that he loves you."

"He has told me so," said the beautiful girl.

"Exactly," asserted the mother. "Then it's all plain sailing. If he really loves you, don't you think you could persuade him to stop using hair oil or else to pay the laundry bills for the tidies on the backs of the parlor chairs?"—Chicago Post.

Doomed to Destruction.

The village of Santa Foy de Tarentaise in eastern France seems doomed to be engulfed. The base of the hill on which it stands is being eaten away by the rapid waters of the Isere. The houses, some of them, show cracks rivaling those of our Cheshire Northwich. Some day there will be a "short, sharp shock," and Tarentaise will no longer exist.—Boston Globe.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Nov. 4—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Are you doing your best?—Math. xxv, 14-30.

THE PARABLE.

In the twenty-fourth chapter of Matthew Christ spoke of His second coming and the destruction of the world. In this chapter He illustrates by parables what His disciples are to do until He comes. First, they are to watch. This is taught by the parable of the wise and foolish virgins. In the second place, they are to work. This is taught by the parable of the talents, which forms our study. A man took a journey into a far country. Before doing so he called his servants unto him and delivered unto them his goods. To one he gave five talents, to another two, to another one, according to their several abilities. These were large sums of money. The man who received five talents used them to the best of his ability and made five talents more. The one who received two talents used them and made two more. But the man who received but one talent neglected it by simply burying it in the ground. After a long time the lord returned and called his servants to account. The two who had faithfully discharged their trusts were commended and rewarded. The slothful, neglectful servant, though he made excuses, was condemned and punished. His excuses were false. He had not even put the money out at usury. He was probably envious or had false ideas of human inability. Yet these things would not excuse him. Though he had but one talent, if he had made the best of it he, too, would have received commendation and reward.

THE INTERPRETATION.

This parable is not difficult of interpretation. Christ is represented by the man who went on the journey. The servants who received the talents are the disciples of Christ, to whom he intrusts his goods, in proportion to their ability to use them for him. The journey of the master represents Christ's present absence from the earth and his return Christ's second coming. The judgment, rewards and punishments represent the judgments, rewards and punishments to be meted out by Christ in the great day of judgment, when the Son of Man shall come and all His holy angels with Him to judge the earth.

THE APPLICATION.

The parable of the talents teaches plainly that Christ only expects us to do our best, in proportion to our opportunities and abilities. The men who received five and two talents were not rewarded because of the value of their talents, but because they used faithfully what they had. The man who had but one talent was not punished because he had but one talent, but because he failed to use what he had, though it may have been small and insignificant. The one talent man, had he been faithful, would have been as amply rewarded as the five talent man who was faithful. Christ only expects us to do our best, but He does expect us to do that. If we have but one talent, Christ will only require us to account for one talent, but He will require us to account for that. Because our opportunities and abilities may be but small, we cannot afford to neglect them. We will be held as strictly to account as if our talents were many. Let us do our best with what we have. This is all God asks of any man, but He does demand this much of us.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Have a question box meeting. Let questions be distributed at least one week before the meeting, covering all phases of doing our best.

Moving God's Way.

The world is moving God's way, slowly to human vision, but it is moving. It has been so moving from the beginning in some ways. In this century, in this generation, it is advancing in that direction in more ways and with greater rapidity than ever before. Why has the world progressed through the ages, and why is its progress accelerated in this century? Because there have ever been men and women who have meditated upon the vast creation and upon man's origin, who have studied the conditions of life, who have had faith in an infinite Creator and Father and who, feeling their need of being instructed and guided, have looked to Him for help. Such men were the chosen prophets and leaders of the olden time.—Universalist Leader.

The Secret of a Calm and Happy Life.

The secret of a calm and happy life and death is to have an habitual sense of God's presence and communion of your soul with Him, to walk with Him in the absorbing consciousness of His loving eye never removed, His loving arm never untwined. Christ dwells in the believer's heart, and He is always near. What we all need to learn is how to walk with Him, hour by hour, as a man with his friend—without effort thinking of Him, without hesitation obeying Him, without embarrassment speaking of Him; to have Him wherever we go, to make joy safe by asking Him to share it, to rob care of its carefulness by casting it on Him in prayer.—Episcopal Recorder.

God and the Future.

Why look into and worry about the future? You cannot, no matter how hard you try, see the things that are to be, and you could not understand them if you did. Meet today's responsibilities bravely and discharge its duties faithfully and for the future trust God. —Episcopal Recorder.

POPPING THE QUESTION.

Bashful Young Englishman Performs This Delicate Task in an Entirely New Way.

A young mechanic was desperately in love with a bonnie lass whom he had known from childhood, and towards whom a new and tenderer flame had kindled in his heart. Of this she seemed to remain so utterly unconscious that he felt helpless. He privately consulted a friend, who advised him to call at the house every night and always inquire if she was in. He faithfully did so, but with no better result. She was hearty and frank as ever, treating him as if he had been her brother. He became desperate. One night, when she had come out to the little gate in the lane with him, and was bidding him good night, he held her hand longer than usual, and said, tremblingly:

"Mary, isn't this—isn't this Friday?"

She said: "Yes."

"And you remember I was here last Friday, and I've been here every night since, and always asked for you, Mary?"

"Is that so?" she said, without apparently the least suspicion of what he meant by it.

"Oh, Mary, Mary," he exclaimed, in desperation, "do you no' begin to—to—to smell a rat?"—Tit-Bits.

Shoes Match Dress Material.

Shoes and stockings usually match the dress not only in color, but also in material as regards shoes. With black dresses we see black silk stockings, inserted with black lace, and black satin shoes with diamond buckles on the toes. Gold and silver shoes are not infrequently seen with evening dress, though satin is always more becoming to the foot.

Topic For the Week Beginning Nov. 4. "Are You Doing Your Best?" Text, Math. xxv, 14-30.

"After a long time the Lord of those servants cometh and reckoneth with them."

Trust funds for safe investment, not for speculation nor squandering nor to lie idle—such is the true view of the powers and opportunities which we hold as Christians. Every one should occasionally take account of stock which he has and reckon up his religious life to see if he is gaining or losing. There is less danger from overcautious self examination in spiritual matters than from neglect and carelessness. A person should know his condition as a Christian as accurately as he knows the state of his business, and the condition of his soul is vastly more important than the health of his body.

Think over the matter seriously and candidly. Ask yourself what ability you have in mind, in body, in soul, in cash, social influence, business position, church office, reputation and character. Then get an estimate of the total worth of your influence on the family, community, church and world for the cause of Jesus Christ.

It is not the easiest thing in the world to be strictly honest with oneself, but it is one of the foolishest things in the world to deceive yourself. Don't overvalue, neither undervalue, any power or influence or possession. Be fair in your estimates. Weigh and measure with the same scales and tapeline you use for other people. Find out how much or how little you do hold with which to do Christian service, remembering that all work of every kind, all thinking and feeling and every activity has or can have some moral character and influence for or against the truth of Christ.

To think that active service for God can safely be neglected or that a lower degree and amount than the utmost possible can be done without evil consequences is a common but a fatally serious delusion.

It is not a mark of modesty, but rather a sign of indolence, if not of dishonesty, to undervalue and underrate your own ability and responsibility. For a two talent man to pass himself off as a man with but one talent is to defraud the Lord, cheat his fellow men and injure himself. No plea of diffidence can cover such delinquency. Such diffidence is crime and sin.

What are you doing with yourself and your holdings? Are you gaining? If so, to what extent? Are you a better and worthier disciple, more helpful and trusty than a year since, than five years ago? If not, what reason can you give for the loss; what is the cause of the failure; how long before you will stop the leak, check the retreat, begin to gain instead of losing? All this and much more lies in the lesson of the week.

This is an opportune time to make this inquiry and self examination. We stand at the changing point of seasons. Winter's work and pleasure are close at hand. What do you purpose to do?

Better dig up that buried talent and get it invested quickly. Buried gold pays no debts, buys no inheritance, is worse than valueless. It is positively harmful, because it is just so much missing from current funds and is needed. Its loss cripples many enterprises. "Are you doing your best?" If not, why not? And will you begin to do better—now?

Our Work In Rome.

The assassination of King Humbert of Italy in August drew the attention of the civilized world to Italy and her affairs. The Boer war, changes in China, our own political matters and a presidential election could not prevent a lively concern being felt and plainly manifested in the future of that ancient land. The fact that the assassin had been a resident of the United States added to the interest.

This is an appropriate time to deepen our knowledge of what Methodism is doing in that country of the Cæsars.

Under the superintendency of Dr. William Burt our church has made steady advance. Our building in Rome stands on one of the finest corners in the city and is architecturally a credit to the denomination. It gives us a respectable standing and commands attention for our work. Not far away are the ruins of the most ancient Christian church, which was built before St. Paul came as a prisoner to the seven hilled city.

Study China.

The changes taking place in China are likely to be most important. This is an excellent chance to become better acquainted with the peculiar life of that ancient empire. Look up in your public library the best books and make these long winter evenings ahead pleasant with a trip in imagination.

"The devil," says Martin Luther, "cannot stand music." He (Martin Luther) did almost as much for the cause of religion by his hymns as by his translation of the Bible and preaching.

SPORTING.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

Another good football game is promised for tomorrow afternoon at Martine Common when the boys of the Alis A. A. will line up against the Bayonne A. C. The visitors are a heavier team than the Alis eleven and contain some of the players who used to line up with the old New Jersey Athletic Club. They have been playing all the season and are reputed to be putting up a strong game. That will mean that Alis will have to do some good work to win. As far as the crowd is concerned, however, a hard fought game, even if the visitors are victorious, is far more satisfactory than an overwhelmingly easy win for the home team. Manager Edward J. Kline has scheduled games with teams which have the reputation of being at least equal or better than the Alis team and so the fights on the local gridiron have been stirring and well worth witnessing.

A game was scheduled between the Plainfield High School and the High School team from Port Richmond, S. I., for tomorrow afternoon, but it was cancelled nearly a week ago. The last game the High School played against Leal's School resulted in the retirement of several of the best players from the High School team, and they were in no shape to buck against the very strong team of the Staten Island school. Every effort of the High School is devoted to getting a strong team together for Election Day afternoon, when the school eleven will again meet the Leal boys. Leals, it will be remembered, defeated the High School 18 to 0, and that defeat rankles deep in the breasts of the High School boys. They are going to win if they can by fair means Election Day. It will be a strictly school team that will represent the High School, and the Leal boys will do the same.

ROD AND GUN.

Proprietor Staats, of the Hotel Kensington, is enjoying a hunting trip in the upper part of Somerset county.

Bert Boe, of Chatham street, H. C Compton and William Klein, of East Second street, with a large number of friends, have gone to Whitehouse, where they will spend three days hunting game.

Bagging Game.

Scott Terry captured fourteen rabbits, seven squirrels and two quail, yesterday while out hunting near his home at Dog Corners. Marshal Frank Winn and his brothers went over the mountain and shot twenty-eight rabbits.

Charles Emmons, of the borough, succeeded in shooting fourteen rabbits, two woodcock and two partridge. All the hunters who have returned report rabbits in abundance.

Confirmed at St. Mary's.

A very large class of nearly 200 children and adults were in atttendance at the confirmation exercises which took place in St. Mary's church this morning. Rt. Rev. Bishop of the Diocese, M. W. Wigger, D. D., was the officiating clergyman. He was assisted by Rev. Chancellor of the Diocease, Father O'Neil, Rev. Father P. E. Smyth and Rev. Father J. A. McGeary. This afternoon the Bishop will visit St. Mary's cemetery and bless the newly-acquired ground.

Too Drunk to Be Tried.

A Scotch painter named Campbell was arrested this morning for being drunk. This is the second time in two weeks. He will have a hearing tomorrow, as he was too drunk this morning to appear before the Judge.

Mrs. Carrie Boice has removed from the corner of Jackson and Watchung avenues, in the borough, to Cranford, where she will reside with her son-in-law, Harry Potter and his family.

INJURIES WERE FATAL.

HARRY VAIL DIED IN THE MUHLENBERG HOSPITAL LAST NIGHT.

Struck by a Train at Cranford Yesterday—Leaves a Family in Dunellen.

Unable to survive the terrible injuries received at Cranford yesterday morning Harry Vail, of Dunellen, died at the hospital shortly before midnight last night. At the time he was taken to the institution it was known that he had but a short time to live, as his head was terribly mangled. Several immediate relatives were at his bedside, but he died without recognizing them. Vail was employed on the railroad as inspector of the electric signals. At the time he was struck, he was engaged in drilling a hole through a rail for the reception of a wire near the B. and O. junction. A westbound train was nearing him, and, fixing his attention on it, he failed to notice the eastbound express which crept upon him unawares. No one was in the immediate vicinity at the time and it was not known he had been struck until two hucksters, crossing the track, discovered his senseless form. He was thirty-one years old and leaves a wife and two small children. He leaves several other relatives in Dunellen, where he was well-known and popular. He was also a member of W. G. Holton Council, of that place.

The funeral services will be held from his late residence Sunday afternoon at 1:30, and from the Methodist church at 2 o'clock.

years ago with those of the present day. There was no increase in the price of potatoes, coffee and a number of other articles while a slight increase was noted in flour and sugar. The people, he said, were willing to allow the farmer to get his share of prosperity and that it was far better to have slightly higher prices for the necessities and have good wages rather than have cheap groceries and no wages at all.

Following his talk, the North Plainfield Glee Club sang twice and found much favor with the audience. Rev. Walter T. Griffin, United States Consul at Lamoges, France, was introduced as chairman and made a short but interesting speech. He dwelt particularly on the fact that America's standing abroad depended on the coming election and the results of it were being closely watched by the nations of the world.

He next introduced Congressman Charles N. Braum, of Pottsville, Pa., as the chief speaker of the evening. Congressman Braum thanked the committee for the compliment they had paid him in asking him to again address a Plainfield audience and asked the indulgence of those who heard him before if he should repeat anything he had said on that occasion. He referred to the challenge of the Democrats to Mr. Newcorn and said that it was a typical Bryanite saying, devoted to local issues instead of to national policy.

As an illustration of the prosperity for the workingmen under Republican administration he told how the coal miners of his district had now returned to work with an increase in wages of sixteen per cent. and many other grievances righted. That had been the greatest and most successful strike in the country. The workingmen were waking up to the realization that the true solution of the trust question was to get up one of their own.

He spoke further on trusts and argued that the Democratic claim that they were the result of protection was a fallacy and advanced arguments to prove his statement. He had much to say on the questions of militarism and imperialism and drew vivid pictures of the hard times of four years ago and the prosperity of today, taking many illustrations from in and near his home.

As soon as he warmed up to his discourse, the crowd began to grow more and more enthusiastic and laughed at his stories and applauded and cheered his bursts of eloquence. When he asked if it was time to stop, the audience shouted with one voice "No!" and so he continued. The enthusiasm at the meeting was the heartiest and most prolonged shown at any meeting held in this city during the present campaign.

The meeting closed at 10:35 with the singing of "America" by the audience, led by the glee club.

AN AFFLICTED FAMILY.

Three Members of a Poor Family Near Dugway Hill Avenue Ill with the Diphtheria.

A sad state of affairs exists in the family of Mr. Wersing, a farmer who lives near Dugway Hill. The family is in very moderate circumstances and cannot afford to be sick, but a few days ago three of their six children, ranging in age from 3 to 15 years, were taken down with diphtheria. They had no means of baffling the dread disease and in some way the matter was brought to the attention of Dr. Zeglio, of Somerset street. He visited the Wersing farm and there found an undesirable condition of affairs. With few of the necessaries of life the family was getting along as best it could. Dr. Zeglio prescribed for the sick children and did all that he could for them.

It was soon learned that the family could not stand any heavy expense for medicine and treatment, so Dr. Zeglio applied a generous supply of antitoxin and the sick children are now doing as well as can be expected. The physician hopes to bring them through all right unless a complication sets in. The family is very grateful to Dr. Zeglio for what he has done.

—The members of the Women's Relief Corps will hold a special meeting this afternoon to arrange for the annual inspection, which takes place soon.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To Durell Runyon, Edgar J. Runyon and Ida Gaston Runyon, his wife, Lillian R. Gillespie and George E. Gillespie, her husband:—

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein Henry S. Hollingsworth et al. Executors, &c., of Albert B. Darby, deceased, are complainants, and Frederick W. Hoppel et al. are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainants, on or before the Fourth day of December next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by Charles J. Noel and wife to Albert B. Darby, dated June 17th, A. D. 1886, on lands in the City of Plainfield, New Jersey; and you, Durell Runyon, are made defendant because you own an undivided one-half interest in that portion of the mortgaged premises of which John D. Runyon died seized; and you Edgar J. Runyon and Lillian R. Gillespie, are made defendants because you each own an undivided one-fourth interest in that portion of the mortgaged premises of which John D. Runyon died seized; and you, Ida Gaston Runyon, are made defendant because you have an inchoate right of dower in an undivided one-fourth interest in that portion of the mortgaged premises of which John D. Runyon died seized; and you, George E. Gillespie, are made defendant because you may claim a right in an undivided one-fourth interest in that portion of the mortgaged premises of which John D. Runyon died seized, as tenant by the curtesy initiate; the interest of each of the above named defendants, in said mortgaged premises, being subject to the dower right of Sarah R. Runyon, widow of said John D. Runyon, deceased, therein. Dated October 29th., A. D. 1900.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS BECOME POLITICIANS

Gave Reproduction of Republican National Convention and Nomination of Candidates.

IT WAS CLEVERLY DONE.

TOOK THE PLACE OF THE USUAL LITERARY EXERCISES YESTERDAY.

Senator Hanna and the Other Prominent Men of the G. O. P. Were Represented and Some Thrilling Speeches Made.

If Senator Mark Hanna and the other leaders of the Republican party had walked into the Plainfield High School yesterday noon, they might have had an opportunity of seeing how a Republican National Convention should be conducted. They might not have recognized themselves, however, in the bevy of young women who figured in this session of the convention which nominated McKinley and Roosevelt. It was a novel but very successful attempt of the young women of the High School to vary their literary exercises, which usually occupy the last period of the school session on Fridays. It was well conceived and cleverly carried out. The few spectators, who had the privilege of witnessing it, found this convention nearly as exciting as the original one.

The convention was held in Assembly Hall. As there wasn't room nor delegates enough to have all the States represented, twelve of the most important ones were chosen and the rest were left to the imagination. The State banners were ranged along the aisles. As soon as the fair delegates, who included the young women of all the High School classes, were seated, a slim, dark-haired young maid, who is known among her associates as Miss Madeline Evans, but who had temporarily assumed the responsibilities of chairman of the Republican National committee, called the meeting to order. A huge placard, worn on the front of her gown, proclaimed her to be "Senator Hanna, of Ohio." Similar placards served to identify the other distinguished Republicans.

"Col. Dick," Miss Beulah Cline, secretary of the National committee, read the call for the convention. Then "Senator Hanna" made a speech. There wasn't a sound of applause henw the name of McKinley was first mentioned but by the time "Senator Wolcott, of Colorado," Miss Ethel Titsworth, had been introduced as temporary chairman the growing enthusiasm of the delegates found vent in loud applause.

"Senator Walcott's" speech was quite a rousing one and was delivered in ringing tones. A toy gold bug was prominently displayed on the "Senator's" label. The other members of the temporary organization were then appointed. They were "Charles Johnson, of Minnesota," Miss Grace Burke, temporary secretary; "Dennis D. Alward, of Michigan," Miss Martha Anthony, reading clerk; "J. H. Potts, of New York," Miss Margaret Abbott, tally clerk.

"Congressman Payne, of New York," Miss Elsie Hoyt, moved the adoption of the rules of the last convention and the chairman appointed committees after "Mr. Payne's" motion had been carried. The first day's session ended to give the committees a chance to get together.

Reports from the committees was first in order when the second day's session began, the sun having very kindly stood still and obviated the necessity of an intervening night. "Mr. Payne, of New York," had the report of the committee on credentials which was accepted on the motion of "General Sewell, of New Jersey," Miss Charlotte Johnson. The venerable Ohio Congressman, "General Grosnevor," Miss Evelyn Lock, reported for the committee on organization and "Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts," Miss Elsie Smith, was presented as permanent chairman. "Gov. Theodore Roosevelt, of New York," Miss Marguerite Van Deventer, and "Governor Shaw, of Iowa," Miss Helen Moodey, escorted the famous New England statesman to the platform while the convention went properly wild with enthusiasm.

The other permanent officers were "Frank Black, of New York," Miss Alice Brick, permanent secretary; "H. A. Garfield, of Ohio," Miss Nellie Apgar, reading clerk; "W. S. Baker, of Virginia," Miss Daisy M. Brouard, tally clerk.

An inspiring speech by "Senator Lodge" was followed by the report of "Gov. Charles Bingham, of Pennsylvania," Miss Edna Burr, chairman of BAN ON BARNSTORMERS.

MANAGER EDWARDS CANCELS COMPANIES THAT ARE NOT GOOD.

That is the Reason Why There Has Been No Attraction at Music Hall This Week.

There were no dramatic performances at Music Hall this week although two had been booked by Manager Maze Edwards. The musical comedy, "A Spring Chicken," was to have been presented Tuesday night but financial difficulties of many natures prevented the coming of the company. "Hogan's Alley," another musical comedy, was to have been performed last night, but having heard of inferior performances elsewhere, with a greatly reduced cast of characters, absence of many features that marked its success when played here two years ago, and change of company management, Manager Edwards refused to allow it to come, believing his actions in such a course would meet with unqualified approval of his clientle. There are too many "Fly by Night" companies "barnstorming" the country and he is determined if possible to avoid them.

Undoubtedly the most pleasing anticipation of the immediate future in store for local play goers is the coming appearance of "Fedora" Monday night of next week. This play is recognized by all followers of dramatic literature and eminent critics, as the masterpiece of the world's most famous playwright, Sardou. It has been hitherto played only by the two greatest actresses of two continents, Sarah Bernhardt, in Europe, for whom the play was written, and Fanny Davenport, who alone secured the American rights to present "Fedora." The success won by them in this great role, has in a measure recently been rivalled, by another young actress of American production, Eleanor Franklin, who was selected as Fanny Davenport's successor to this role, over the heads of a hundred ambitious applicants, many of whom were much older, more experienced and renowned, than this young and beautiful woman upon whose shoulders, responsibility and comparison with the former delineators of the part sits so light and pleasantly. Miss Franklin is ably assisted in her portrayal of the life, passions and emotions of the character by a selected company of New York actors, headed by Brinsley Shaw, who as Loris Ipanoff shares the plaudits with her.

Geo. H. Broadhurst's farce "What Happened to Jones" is the attraction for Tuesday—election day—at both afternoon and night performances. It is a catchy title and one calculated to arouse curiosity. The lines are unusually bright and witty, and the humor flows in a steady stream during the entire progress of the play. The play is interpreted by a first class company of comedians, under the immediate supervision of the author, and election returns will be read from the stage durning the performances.

A prettily told story of the home and sporting life of Bob Fitzsimmons is "The Honest Blacksmith," the play written for Robert Fitzsimmons, to be seen Thursday night, in which, with his wife and son, Bobbie, Jr., he is making a tour. It is a comedy melodrama, is this healthy piece which Manager Percy Williams has arranged for the world's greatest fighter. The Honest Blacksmith begins in the blacksmith shop of Fitz, and it is one of the prettiest scenes produced this season. Fitz is given the opportunity to show himself a fighter as well as the happy husband and father, and in all three roles he has proved himself a success. He has plenty to say in the piece, and he says it well. He does not ape the tragic, but confines himself to the natural way in which one situation follows another, and he has surprised his friends with the graceful way in which he does it all. The author has succeeded in placing so many thrilling scenes that the interest is maintained throughout the entire evening, though there is none of the nerve-destroying and impossible sensations which so many of our melodramas are filled with. Fitz is seen shoeing a horse after making the shoe at his forge and anvil, as well as in his training quarters, where he takes part in a sparring bout with his trainer. In the last act the moving pictures of the Fitz-Ruhlin fight at Madison Square Garden are nicely worked in, as part of a vision of Mrs. Fitz, who has fainted after being told by the villian that her husband had lost the fight.

Tuesday, 13th inst. the well-known "Jolly Nellie McHenry" will be seen as "M'liss," in the play of that name, that was rendered famous by the late Annie Pixley. Josephine Sabel will follow in a new musical comedy entitled "The Soldier Queen" and then will come Amy Stone's Tots, a juvenile company entirely, who will be seen in a new verson of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

COUNTY BOULEVARD AWARDS APPROVED.

Judge Swayze Gives Notice of Confirmation of the Report of the Commission.

TOTAL AMOUNT IS $73,000.

SENATOR KEAN OFFERED $75,000 FOR TROLLEY FRANCHISE.

There Can be no Objection to the Policy of Assessing Benefits Only on the North Side of the Avenue.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Nov. 3.—County Clerk Howard was yesterday notified that Circuit Court Judge Swayze, of Newark, has decided to confirm the report of the commissioners on the widening of Westfield avenue, from the Elizabeth city line to the Cranford township line. The county will take forty feet of land from the property owners on the north side of the avenue, so as to enlarge that thoroughfare to a boulevard 100 feet wide. For this land the commission has awarded the property owners $73,000.

Senator Kean offered the county $75,000 for the privilege of constructing and operating a double-track trolley line on Westfield avenue, from Elizabeth to Cranford, and his proposition was accepted. It is not likely, however, that Senator Kean will be asked to pay any more than the award of the commissioners.

The decree by Judge Swayze relates that the Judge has taken each case by itself and examined it upon the facts before the court. In some of the cases the amounts awarded were smaller than, in his judgment, the evidence required. In none is the difference very great. In most of the cases his judgment agrees with that of the commissioners. In cases in which he differs the difference is no greater than is always to be expected. The commissioners saw the property, are familiar with the locality and doubtless with the character and standing of the expert witnesses. The decree concludes that it would be manifestly improper under those circumstances for the Judge to set aside the report, because of a different opinion as to the amount of the damages.

Among the legal questions to be disposed of was the objection that only land on the north side of the avenue was assessed for benefits, and that the land on the south side escaped. This question has already been decided by the Supreme Court adversely to the land owners.

To the objection that the commissioners did not take testimony under oath, the decree states that the petitioners appear to have raised no objection at the time of the hearing, and that the commissioners were within their rights.

To the objection that the commissioners made an allowance for general benefits as distinguished from special benefits likely to arise from the construction of a proposed electric railway way, the decree says that such is not proved to be the fact in the case of the present award.

TO SEE THE BIG PARADE.

Many Plainfielders Go to New York Today to Participate in and Witness the Demonstration.

Today is being generally observed as a holiday in New York on account of the "sound money" parade and the usual throngs of commuters who daily leave Plainfield for their work in New York did not appear this morning. The early morning trains were crowded, however, with those who are to participate in the parade. The crowd would have been much larger if the prophesies of the weather bureau had not failed and there had been fair weather. There were a number, however, who went in to see the parade which will take place rain or shine. The later trains of the morning, which are usually crowded with commuters did not carry more than a quarter of their usual load of passengers.

Will Hold A Social.

At the business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the East Third Street chapel Thursday evening, eight new members were elected and it was decided, after a somewhat lengthy discussion, to hold a sociable some evening this month.

Told of China.

Rev. Daniel Rapalje, of this city, a returned missionary from China, addressed the Plainfield High School yesterday morning. He told something of the life and happenings in China, as they came under his personal observation.

LAST EFFORTS OF THE POLITICIANS.

Republicans and Democrats Arrange for Work to Be Done Election Day.

TO GET OUT THE PARTY VOTE.

BOROUGH DEMOCRATS MET WITH AN ACCIDENT LAST NIGHT.

Chairman Murphy, of the Republican State Committee, Predicts That Jersey Will Give Big Republican Majority.

Both parties are now quietly preparing for the election in this city Tuesday. The Democrats have a better organization than they have had for many years and will make an effort, particularly in the Fourth ward, to get their complete vote out. The Republican organization is more complete all over the city than in previous campaigns. The day will probably be a very quiet one and a heavy vote is expected. Most of the vote will be polled in the morning. There will be a corps of workers around the polls.

A meeting of the Republican city campaign committee will be held this evening in Republican headquarters. The final details for election day will be arranged.

A meeting of the Republican Union county committee will be held at Elizabeth Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock

The Union County Board of Elections will hold a session today at the Courthouse in Elizabeth from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. for the purpose of issuing affidavits to any persons in the county who are citizens and who have failed to register.

Franklin Murphy, Chairman of the New Jersey Republican State Committee, made last night the following statement: "We have made a very thorough canvass of New Jersey, and have carefully investigated the conditions in all sections of the State that are considered any way doubtful and the result of the canvass assures us of a plurality for McKinley of from 40,000 to 50,000. The Republican majority in the Legislature on joint ballot will probably be about forty-five, which, of course, will secure the re election of Senator Sewell in the United States Senate. As for our representatives in the National House, the State delegation now stands six Republicans and two Democrats. We expect to gain one district, and very likely two In the Hudson County District, now held by the Democrats, there is a strong Republican tide running and the friends of sound money and honest government are very active and hopeful of success"

The thirty Democrats from the borough who went to Martinville last evening in a stage to attend a mass-meeting, had an experience that was not relished. When within three miles of their destination the rear axle broke and down went the stage. There was nothing left for the party to do but to walk to Martinville, and the distance was covered on foot. The crowd was a happy one and all enjoyed the experience very much. They reached their destination, took part in a rousing mass-meeting, and returned home in good shape. They left the broken down stage in the mountains and came home in a stage secured at Martinville.

TROLLEY POLE BROKE.

As a Result Street Railway Schedule was Completely Upset.

By the breaking of a trolley pole in one of the large new street cars this morning the schedule was tied up for nearly an hour. Car No. 68 was passing under the Watchung avenue bridge when the trolley pole slipped off Before the conductor could replace it the car slid down the incline despite the efforts of the motorman to set the brakes. The pole became entangled in the bridge work and was bent double, rendering the car useless. Before it could be towed away a blockade of cars followed, extending from Second street to beyond Fourth street and for some time afterward cars were meeting all along the line.

A Lodge Honor.

Mrs. William J. Ford, of this city, has just received from Sir John Fine, supreme commander of the Shepherds of Bethlehem, the honor of appointment as prelate. This order has grown extensively during the past few years, now having ninety-three lodges with a total membership of 9,000.

All members are requested to be present at the next meeting of the local lodge as matters of importance will be considered and a social time will follow.

NEW BRUNSWICK MAN SHOT "SUE" NEWMAN

Richard Roach, Drunk and Jealous, Made the Murderous Assault Last Night

TOOK PLACE IN A SALOON

NEWMAN SAVED HIS LIFE BY GRASPING ROACH'S HAND.

The Plainfielder Had No Warning of the Assault, as Roach Whipped Out the Revolver and Fired at Him.

With every intention of killing, Richard Roach, a notorious character from New Brunswick, emptied the contents of a 32-calibre revolver at John Newman, alias "Sue," in Galbraith's saloon on West Third street last evening. That Newman was not killed was due only to his quickness in grasping Roach's arm and forcing it downwards. As it was, two of the bullets took effect in his left knee.

The ambulance was called and Newman was taken to the hospital, but, after an examination, he refused to stay at the institution. He was then taken to his home on West Third where he will be confined for some time, but no serious results are anticipated. Both bullets are still in the knee and will probably be extracted today.

Ill feeling between the two men over a mutual female acquaintance is the cause which is said to have led to the shooting. Roach, in company with Tunis McCauley, also of New Brunswick, appeared at the saloon shortly before 6 o'clock. They were in a jovial mood and after treating all hands looked about the room, when Roach recognized Newman. According to the witnesses, there were no words between the men, but Roach whipped out a revolver and exclaiming, "I'll shoot you," aiming at Newman. The latter sprang forward, but before the weapon could be taken from the man, six shots were fired. As soon as the bystanders could collect their scattered senses, Roach was seized and forced into a corner until the arrival of Roundsman Mattox and Patrolman Watson who were in the near vicinity. McCauley was also taken into custody, as it is alleged he had previously handed Roach the revolver and had also threatened to shoot a colored man on the street before entering the saloon.

Upon the arrival of the ambulance, the report spread for blocks that Newman had been killed and in a short time the entire boulevard was blocked with people. Feeling against Roach ran high and he would have fared badly had the crowd got their hands on him.

Both men were arraigned before Justice Nash in the city court this morning Roach demanded an examination and was held in $500 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury. McCauley was committed in $150 bail to appear as a witness. Neither was able to furnish the amount.

Roach is said to be a tough character. Newman is the man who is implicated in the assault committed on William Dodd a few weeks ago.

MRS. CARLTON'S ADDRESS.

Famous Ballad Writer's Wife Told of Her Experiences as a Mission Worker in Burma.

The Primary Class room of the First Baptist Church was filled yesterday afternoon with members of the Young Ladies Missionary Society and their friends who listened with great pleasure to an address by Mrs. Will. Carlton, of Brooklyn. Mrs. Carlton was a missionary to Burma before her marriage to Mr. Carlton, the famous ballad writer, and her words have the added force of experience. She told much of her happy life among the Kauns and their desire to receive the gospel. She made a strong plea for more missionaries that those who go down into the gold mines, as Fuller called the mission fields of India, may come to their own country for rest and refreshment. The work of young girls she considered most important as brothers and husbands would receive their aspirations from them. Prayer was the key that would open to them illimitable possibilities.

Mrs. Carlton was the organizer of Father Lights Society in the Baptist churches and is at the head of a large branch of it in Brooklyn.

GAGHANITES FEAR FIRE.

THE ASSOCIATION MAKES PROVISION FOR PROPER PROTECTION.

Fire Patrol Organized to Man the Trolley Snow Plough Which Will be Utilized.

Alarmed by the mysterious fire at the chamois factory Sunday, the members of the Gaghanite Association were informed by the president last evening that immediate steps should be taken to prevent a similar occurrence to the association hall. He had been informed, he said, by disinterested friends, that there were several parties jealous of the association who would not stop at destroying its property. To prevent the incendiaries from getting near the hall he decided to establish a fire patrol. He had already communicated his intentions to Dave Adelmann and the latter had donated the use of the old snow plough, which has been a monument of street railway enterprise in the West End for several years. The members of the association agreed with their respected president in establishing the patrol and accepting the plough, but they differed with him in his selection of the crew to man it. They objected to the selection of Winzenreid as captain, on the ground that they would be unable to translate the dialect he is in the habit of using when excited, consequently his orders would be misunderstood.

After considerable discussion it was decided to give John the more befitting place of tillerman, as he has been accustomed to piloting belated wayfarers to a safe spot The coveted honor of being chief was bestowed upon Conroy on condition that he should designate who he meant when he shouted "Hey you!" For assistants he was given Aleck Martin, Mike Nevins and Howard Manning. A call box was also ordered placed in the residence of Bert Littell, that he might be informed of a serious conflagration and be ready to take the chief's place in case of accident. But in the hurry to appoint the crew the members had overlooked the fact that the plough was devoid of all means for locomotion. They were informed of this fact by Brother Feiring, who at the same time stated that he knew a way out of the difficulty. An uncle of his over the mountains is the possessor of a fine pair of mules, which Feiring declared could be had at a small cost. He also offered to break the animals in, free gratis. There were several members present who intimated that Feiring would not lose anything by the deal, but in the discussion which followed his offer their intimations were lost. Some wished the plough to be propelled by compressed air, while Mark Hipp insisted that an underground cable was the only thing. The argument grew so warm that Frank Hart, who had gone down stairs, thought a fire had really broken out, and informing Brother Mehl of the fact climbed through the trap door with an extinguisher and emptied the contents on Billy Mitchell's head. Mehl seized an axe and was busily engaged ripping out a wall when the sergeant appeared and appropriated the lamp globes, plunging the room into darkness. The members quickly dispersed leaving the question to be decided later.

CLOSE OF HARVEST HOME.

Attendance at the Second Night was Greater Than the First at the First Methodist Church.

With a much larger attendance than was present on the previous evening, the Harvest Home at the First M. E. church came to a close last night. The serving of supper began early in the afternoon and when the last hungry ones had been waited upon late in the evening, a total of 250 persons had partaken of the good things served.

It was intended to vary the entertainment last evening, substituting "A Cuban Tea" in place of the "Singin Skule," but owing to the success of the latter, it was repeated. The tableaux were also repeated, being if possible, much better than on the preceding evening.

At the conclusion of the entertainment everyone adjourned to the supper room, where all that remained of the country store's various assortment of goods, was disposed of at auction. There is no doubt but what the affair was the most successful of the many previously given in the church and the Ladies Aid Society deserves great credit for its labors and for the thorough manner in which every detail was carried out. The proceeds, which will amount to a neat sum, are to be devoted to home church work.

BOROUGH TO PAY FOR PASTEUR TREATMENT

Councilmen Agree That Bill for $200 for Doctoring John Kennedy be Paid by Borough.

IT WAS A NEW PROPOSITION.

MAYOR SMALLEY ADVOCATED INCREASE OF DOG TAX TO PAY IT.

It Was Finally Decided to Make the Payment Through the Overseer of the Poor—Other Business Transacted by Council.

The November meeting of the Mayor and Borough Council was held last evening with all the members present except Mr. Swackhamer. The report of Collector Brown, including that of Clerk Rowley, is as follows: Taxes and interest, $8,829 26; Board of Health, $131.97; special school, $4,009 07; bills payable by note, $2 500; clerk, license, $15; fines, $38.78; dog tag, 20 cents; cash, October. 1st, $2,111.36; total receipts, $17,635 64; disbursements, $5,704 75; cash, Nov. 1st, $11,930 89; borough fund, $11,602.-64; Watchung avenue account, $328 25.

Mr. Clark, chairman of the street committee, reported the expenditure of $78 15 on the streets during the past month. This includes $4 45 paid to W. L. Sharkey for some repair work.

Mr. Valiant offered two resolutions. One that $2,000 be borrowed for one month and another that a warrant be drawn to meet a $2,500 note with interest due Nov. 6th.

Mr. Lee, chairman of the marshal committee, reported eight arrests during the month of October and the collection of $26 in fines. A bill of $10 50 was received from P. M. French, for the killing of his chickens by dogs. The loss was appraised by Harrison Codington and Edward Sebring. The bill was ordered returned to Mr. French with the explanation that the borough is not liable.

Mr. Rogers offered a resolution to the effect that G. Peterson, H. Graceley, D. Bagley, L. Bodine, F. C. Kesselring, Louis Feiring and W. A. Wilson, be released from penalties for the non-performance of less than 50 per cent. fire duty during the year. A resolution offered by Mr. Lee provided for the expenditure of $30 for winter clothing for the regular marshals.

At this time it was moved that when the Council adjourn it be to meet next Friday night, when matters pertaining to the repair and macadamizing of the Duer street extension to the new bridge will be considered.

Mayor Smalley introduced the subject of the burning of leaves and a short discussion followed with no definite results. At the request of the Mayor a report was received from Collector Brown showing that $817 is due on property, affected by the improvement of Watchung avenue, which has been sold for taxes, and that there is property upon which $1,200 will soon be due is yet to be sold. The property owned by J. B. Coward was cited as now being delinquent.

The balance of the evening was then taken up with a further discussion of the dog question. Mayor Smalley stated that when the mad dog visited the borough recently and caused so much trouble, a boy named John Kennedy was bitten, and it was necessary to send him to Pasteur Institute, New York. He wrote a letter to the ones in charge telling them that the boy's father was poor and could not well afford to pay for treatment. He suggested that the boy be treated and no doubt payment would be made by the father on the installment plan. In reply the physician in charge of the institute stated the plan adopted by other places where persons were too poor to pay. Cities, towns, counties, etc., often arranged to pay the expenses for such treatment and he suggested that similar measures be adopted by the borough. In the case of John Kennedy the bill was $200 and this was forwarded with the letter.

Mayor Smalley's idea was to increase the dog tax for next year and pay the bill out of the increase but Mr. Valiant opposed this plan stronly on the ground that it would be a bad precedent to establish.

Corporation Counsel Reed gave his opinion in the matter which was that the theory held by law is that the owner of an animal is liable, but where this cannot be established a community is duty bound to take care of its residents who, by reason of being poor, cannot do so themselves. It is a case of where it is up to society. He believed that Mr. Kennedy has a right to be assisted, as he is a resident of the borough and clearly unable to pay the —Dr. W. H. Lewis, Lawrenceville, Va., writes: "I am using Kodol Dyspepsia Cure in my practice among severe cases of indigestion and find it an admirable remedy." Many hundreds of physicians depend upon the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure in stomach troubles. It digests what you eat, and allows you to eat all the good food you need, providing you do not overload your stomach. Gives instant relief and a permanent cure. L. W. Randolph.

Politics in the Forum.

In the November Forum Charles Dick, of Ohio, who is considered by many people to be Senator Hanna's right-hand man, writes very strongly upon the right of the Republican party to be endorsed by the people at the impending election. He relates the achievements of the Republican party in every branch of government, foreign and domestic, and contrasts them most forcefully with what he terms the vacillating course of the Democratic administrations.

Charles A. Towne, who was the nominee of the Populists for the Vice-Presidency, advances in the November Forum some reasons for Democratic success at the coming election. He bases his arguments upon the course of the Republicans in regard to the three questions of Silver, Trusts and Imperialism, and makes a very strong argument for the addition to the Democratic ranks of many who voted for Mr. McKinley in 1896.

—The fair that has been in progress at the German Reformed Church this week will close this evening.

—An important meeting of the U.S. Grant Republican Club, of the borough, will be held Monday evening.

Spread Like Wildfire.

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham Hare, a leading druggist, of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years. You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, rundown man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by L. W. Randolph, Druggist.

—The auction sale of personal property belonging to the late Miss Eleanor Roome will take place next Wednesday, at 33 Sycamore avenue. It is a valuable collection and will be sold to the highest bidder.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern which is not afraid to be generous. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles and have the satisfaction of knowing it has cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, LaGrippe and all Throat, Chest and Lung diseases are surely cured by it. Call on L. W. Randolph, Druggist, and get a free trail bottle. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle gauranteed.

—The funeral services of the late Mrs. Jacob Overland will be held tomorrow afternoon from the house at 222 Grove street at 1 o'clock.

—B. Frank Butts, musical director in Bethany Presbyterian church, writes: "No song we use in the great Sunday-school, Hon. John Wannamaker, superintendent, of 3,500 members and over, is as singable as your "Count Your Blessings,'" Mrs. Samuel P. Case will sing this piece at the Y. M. C. BRYAN IN CHICAGO.

Twelve Speeches to Large Audiences In Various Parts of the City.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—William Jennings Bryan's programme in Chicago yesterday comprehended 12 speeches. The crowds that greeted him were greater than those of Thursday. The candidate began his itinerary at Handel hall, in the down town business district, going from there to the public library, where he spoke to an outdoor gathering of workingmen. After luncheon he made two addresses in "Old Vienna" pavilion at Sixtieth street and Cottage Grove avenue, one to the crowd in the building and the other to the throng that was unable to get in.

Here was the only semblance of disturbance manifested during the day. Two men in the audience asked, almost simultaneously, "How about North Carolina?" and Mr. Bryan was replying when one of the questioners insisted on asking a question concerning trusts, whereupon the crowd demanded that he be thrown out and threatened to lynch him. Mr. Bryan insisted upon answering, however, but could not do so for some time owing to the uproar made by the crowd in expressing its resentment toward the inquisitor. The latter was saved from violence only by police interference.

Mr. Bryan's night meetings were held on the north, west, southwest and south sides of the city, the closing speech being made at midnight at State and Thirty-first streets.

A Honolulu Decision.

HONOLULU, via San Francisco, Nov. 3.—United States District Judge Estee has rendered a decision to the effect that the constitution does not follow the flag in an important libel case that has been before the courts here for some time. William H. Marshall was sentenced to six months' imprisonment for criminal libel on account of publications he made about the late Chief Justice Judd. He made an appeal to the supreme court of Hawaii based upon technical grounds alleging that the methods pursued during his trial were not in accordance with American procedure. The lower court was sustained and Marshall returned to Judge Estee with a writ of habeas corpus.

The President Busy.

CANTON, O., Nov. 3.—President and Mrs. McKinley joined a party of friends and neighbors at a dinner party last evening at the home of Miss Buckingham, a daughter of the minister who married them, with whom they have kept up an intimacy since their young days. Judge and Mrs. Day were among the guests. There was the usual number of callers at the McKinley home yesterday, but there was nothing of special significance in the day's doings, so far as the public is concerned. There was a heavy volume of official business to engage the attention of the president as well as of the clerks and secretary.

Laughter Changed to Terror.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The audience in Judge Harkalow's court in Paterson, N. J., yesterday broke into a fit of laughter at the review of the evidence against Joseph Johnson, on trial for criminal assault. The prisoner joined in, when suddenly the judge ordered him to stand up. He then in a few brief words sentenced Johnson to ten years in the state prison. Johnson almost fainted, and his wife screamed with terror as he was led away. Johnson was foreman in a silk mill, and his victim was 16 years old.

Disliked In Rome.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—The Courrier du Soir, which is often inspired, announces that M. Waldeck-Rousseau's speech at Toulouse last Sunday, in the course of which he alluded to measures contemplated by the government against religious congregations, has made a bad impression at the Vatican and that the pope has instructed the papal nuncio in Paris to modify his conciliatory attitude toward the French government.

Preparing For the Convention.

HAVANA, Nov. 3.—General Leonard Wood, commander of the department of Cuba, who arrived here early yesterday morning on the Kanawha, has appointed Senors Llorente, Castro, Rivera and Quesada as a commission to arrange the opening ceremony at the constitutional convention next Monday. The board of canvassers has not yet reported with reference to contested seats, and the question will be decided by the convention.

Australia's New Capital.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 3.—Australian advices indicate the probable selection of Albury, N. S. W., as the capital of federated Australia. Lord Hopetoun, the first governor general, will arrive in Sydney Dec. 1. The federated colonies are making strong objection to the proposed incorporation of the Fiji islands by New Zealand.

British Bark Aground.

ST. THOMAS, D. W. I., Nov. 3.—The British steamer Orinoco, Captain Laing, which sailed from Halifax Oct. 8 via Bermuda for West Indian ports, struck a reef on a bar at Grenada, one of the British West Indian islands, and remains aground. The vessel is reported to be seriously damaged. The passengers have been landed.

Asylum Officers Sued.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Andrew Forsythe, who was released from the insane asylum by Judge Dunne, has brought suit for $250,000 damages against the superintendent and other officers of the asylum. He alleges that he was illegally detained.

SITUATION IMPROVED

Lord Roberts Preparing to Leave South Africa.

BOER ACTIVITY HAS NOT CEASED.

British Garrison at Reddersburg Captured—Trains Attacked by Boers Daily—Heavy British Casualties.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The South African situation is improving, and Lord Roberts will shortly return to England with a majority of his staff. Arrangements are being made in Cape Town to send the first batch of refugees back to Johannesburg, and accommodation is being provided at Bloemfontein for a garrison of 7,000.

Nevertheless, the activity of the Boers continues. On Oct. 26 a commando of 300 captured a garrison of 30 men at Reddersburg, but afterward released them. Trains from the south to Pretoria are attacked by the Boers almost daily. On Oct. 24 the burghers occupied Koffyfontein.

On the other hand, General Knox has inflicted a reverse on General De Wet's forces near Pary's, capturing two guns, one of them a weapon lost by the British in the Sannas post affair.

The daily tale of British casualties is heavy. During the month of October the British lost 167 killed in action, including 15 officers; 71 who died of wounds, 367 who died of disease, 22 who died of accidents and 97 captured or missing, a total almost equal to the monthly average for the duration of the war.

The Daily Express publishes statements that the Boer revival is more serious than has hitherto been believed and that in consequence Lord Roberts' return is likely to be still further postponed. It says also that no considerable party of troops will return before January or February, while the regimental drafts from England will continue and 5,000 horses will be sent out.

The paper definitely declares that the Boers are well armed and abundantly supplied with ammunition and that the campaign is likely to last another six months.

In the best informed quarters, however, it is asserted that there is no ground for the pessimism of The Daily Express.

Probable Fatal Shooting.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Robert Elkins, a shipping clerk, was probably fatally wounded by John Sweet, a salesman. Elkins was in front of the store where he works, engaged in marking a case of goods, when Sweet passed him. Elkins was kneeling at the time. He turned his head without seeing Sweet and spat upon him. Sweet became enraged and before Elkins could arise to explain drew a revolver and shot him in the neck. A large number of truck drivers and others who witnessed the affair started in pursuit of Sweet, who ran down the street and, turning, fired a shot at the pursuers, which luckily missed. His flight took him to the Mercer street police station, into which he ran for refuge. He was promptly locked up and Elkins taken to the hospital.

A Youthful Murderer.

ROCKVILLE, Md., Nov. 3.—Edward Parker, 9 years old, is locked up here for the shooting of Bernard Washington, alias Lee, colored, 18 years old, about four miles above this place. Evidence at the coroner's inquest was to the effect that the negro had teased young Parker and his younger brother and sister during the absence from home of their mother by throwing stones through a stove-pipe hole in the wall. The negro was within range, and the top of his head was blown off. Neighbors say that the negro had stolen small articles from the house and that Mrs. Parker had instructed the boy to shoot him if he attempted to enter during her absence.

Hunting Fatalities.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.—While a party of young men from Clearfield were hunting on the mountain near that place yesterday Paul McCoole was accidentally shot and killed by Jerry Heckman. The body was brought here, and Heckman was placed in custody, pending the coroner's inquiry, which will be held today. Near Reading, Pa., while four Polish boys were gunning Stanislaus Strezzlecki, aged 13 years, discharged a gun full in the face of Rudolph Franckowiak, aged 14 years, killing him instantly. The other boys say that Strezzlecki seemed annoyed because his companion talked too much while they were chasing game.

Standard Oil Employee Killed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Lytle Wiggim, superintendent of the barrel works of the Standard Oil company at Bayonne, N. J., was struck and killed by a railroad train in the yard of the works. Mr. Wiggim was 70 years of age and was one of the oldest employees of the Standard Oil company. The Standard's officers some time ago offered him a retiring pension, but he refused, saying he was young enough to work for a long time to come.

Aid For Lehigh Students.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Nov. 3.—The will of Frank Williams, late of Johnstown, makes a bequest of $300,000 to the Lehigh university at South Bethlehem for the benefit of worthy students. The will provides that the income be loaned to students at the university who are unable to pay their way through college. Their notes are to be taken for the amount borrowed, and the money, when returned, is to again be placed in the fund.

Rise In Price of Milk.

GENEVA, N. Y., Nov. 3.—The milk dealers have formed a combine in which 22 out of the 24 dealers have entered. The price of milk has been raised from 5 to 6 cents a quart. People generally have risen against the combine and are protesting against the increase in the price. The dealers claim that they are obliged to raise the price owing to the long drought the past summer and fall.

More Companies Advance Wages.

HAZLETON, Pa., Nov. 3.—Coyle Bros., stripping contractors, have granted their men a voluntary increase of 10 per cent in wages. All the stripping contractors and operators of washeries and collieries, with but one exception, have now complied with the demands of the Scranton miners' convention.

A Million of Nome Gold.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 3.—The steamship St. Paul has arrived in port from Nome with 132 passengers and $100,000 in treasure. The steamer left Nome Oct. 20.

W. L. STRONG DEAD.

Former Mayor of New York Passes Away Suddenly.

A SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS CAREER.

Was Last Executive Head of the Old City and Only Republican Incumbent of the Office For Many Years.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The death of former Mayor William L. Strong, which occurred early yesterday morning after a few hours' illness at his home, 12 West Fifty-seventh street, was entirely unexpected and came as a great shock to his family and friends. Mr. Strong had been ill for several months.

At the bedside when the former mayor passed away as quietly as he had sunk into a sleeplike stupor a short time before were his wife, his son, Major Putnam Bradlee Strong; his daughter, Mrs Albert R. Shattuck; two nurses and three old family servants.

Mr. Strong appeared as well the previous night as he had been at any time since his old ailment, gout, attacked him six weeks ago and dined with the family in the evening. He retired at 11 o'clock and apparently went quietly to sleep.

Mr. Strong, who enjoyed the distinction of being the first Republican mayor of New York for many years and the last executive head of the old city, was 72 years old.

It was Mayor Strong who appointed Theodore Roosevelt police commissioner, and the two were personal friends for many years.

Mr. Strong's son, Major Bradle Strong, served in the Spanish-American war in Cuba and later in the Philippines. He had previously been a captain in the Sixty-ninth regiment, national guard, in this city.

After Mr. Strong succeeded Lemuel Eli Quigg as chairman of the finance committee of the Republican county committee his first act was to send Chairman Francis V. Greene his check for $10,000 to make up for the debts incurred by his predecessor.

His last public appearance was on June 21 last, when he had the distinction of unfurling the first McKinley and Roosevelt banner of the campaign in this city. It was put across the street in front of the former mayor's place of business, 72 Worth street.

Mayor Van Wyck ordered the flag on the city hall to be set at half mast when he heard of the death of his predecessor in office.

William L. Strong was born in Richland county, O., on March 22, 1827. The greater part of his boyhood was passed in his native place. When he was 13 years old, his father died. He was thus thrown, in great measure, upon his own resources. He attended the common schools of the county. But the opportunity for a college education was by circumstances withheld from him. When he was 16 years old, he left home to enter a retail dry goods house in Wooster, O., where he served an apprenticeship of two years. Thence he removed to Mansfield, in the same state, where, continuing in the dry goods trade, his prospects were better. In 1853 he came to this city to enter the employ of the then large and influential dry goods establishment of L. O. Wilson & Co.

The firm suspended in the panic of 1857. Mr. Strong in the following year entered the employ of Farnham, Dale & Co., which was succeeded by Farnham, Sutton & Co. and in turn by Sutton, Smith & Co. In December, 1869, this last named firm was dissolved, and in January of 1870 it was succeeded by W. L. Strong & Co., which firm has continued to the present time.

Stamping Out Carlism.

MADRID, Nov. 3.—The queen regent presided at yesterday's cabinet council General Azcarraga, the premier, explained the steps that had been taken against the Carlists and announced that their club in Madrid had been closed. Marquis Villadarias, the principal representative of Don Carlos in Spain, has been arrested here. Baron Iangarrea has arrived at Bilbao. The Official Gazette contains a circular instructing prefects to enforce rigorous measures for stamping out Carlism. They are directed to arrest all agitators, to search the domiciles of suspects, to close Carlist clubs and to suspend papers publishing false or alarming news.

Pensions For Railway Employees.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 3.—Official notices have been posted of the inauguration of a pension system for the employees of the Pennsylvania lines. The new system will go into effect on Jan. 1, 1901. Employees aged 70 years or more will be given option of retiring from service on half pay. Another provision also stipulates that if an employee has been crippled in the service of the road he can retire at the age of 65 years. The system has been in vogue on the Pennsylvania railroad for some time, and as it has met with the approval of the employees it has been decided to extend it over the entire Pennsylvania lines.

Smuggled Chinese In Hay.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—On a charge of having smuggled five Chinamen into the United States from Canada William Gratton of Bangor, N. Y., was held for trial in $1,000 bail by United States Commissioner Shields. One of the Chinamen got thirsty and when the train stopped near Albany got out to get some water and was detected. All the Chinamen were detained there, and Gratton, to whom the hay was consigned, was arrested on his arrival here.

Moderates Control London.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Of London's 28 new borough councils 22 will be controlled by the Moderates and six by the Progressives. Among the prominent councilors are the Duke of Norfolk, Viscount Doneraile, Lord Onslow, Lord Robert Cecil, Sir William Blake Richmond, the painter, and George Bonnard Shaw the well known socialist agitator, dramatist and novelist.

A Famine Threatened.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—"In spite of official denials," says the St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Mail, "there is no doubt that the inadequate harvest will produce a famine in the governments of Kherson and Bessarabia."

Child Fatally Burned.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Nov. 3.—Michael Stradiski, three years of age, of 7 Madison street, was terribly burned while playing about a bonfire. He will die.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Month's Failures Show Decreasing Liabilities—Iron Picking Up.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Commercial failures in October were 782 in number and $9,072,791 in amount. Manufacturing defaults numbered 200 for $2,195,362, trading 541 for $5,351,188, and other commercial 41 for $526,241. There were only two financial disasters, with liabilities of $550,000. As was explained in detail last month, the unparalleled conditions existing a year ago make comparison with 1899 unfair, but October, 1896, was also the month just preceding a presidential election, and failures then were 1,254 in number and $14,880,266 in amount, although the number of concerns in business has increased more than 125,000 in four years. October shows much improvement over September returns, liabilities decreasing nearly $1,000,000.

In manufacturing the October figures are particularly encouraging. Prior to last year but five months out of 63 showed smaller liabilities, and even in 1899 five out of the 14 branches showed heavier losses. Trading failures were generally small, but if we exclude a few large defaults for over $100,000 each the total is smaller than in any previous October since these records were commenced, except 1899 and 1898.

Encouraging signs multiply in the iron industry. Strength in bessemer and gray forge at Pittsburg shows that the recent increase in activity of finished forms has at last affected the market for raw material.

Full forces are employed at New England shoeshops, and heavy orders insure brisk work for the rest of the year. Prices have not advanced for the finished articles with leather and hides. Textile operations are more vigorous, sales of wool at the three chief eastern markets exceeding all recent records, with a total of 7,804,500 pounds.

Cotton has recovered a little of the recent sharp decline attributed to reports that frost would surely do serious damage. Corn did not join the advance to any extent, and provisions were generally quiet, except for a corner in October pork, which compelled traders on the short side to cover contracts at $20 when the month ended. Small concessions are made by importers of raw sugar.

Failures for the week were 198 in the United States against 183 last year and 23 in Canada against 25 last year.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Every colliery in the Hazleton region is in operation.

A football injury paralyzed a substitute on the University of California eleven.

Arthur Harris, the negro who stabbed Policeman Thorpe in New York, was sentenced for life.

Constitutional guarantees have been suspended throughout Spain as a result of the Carlist disorders.

Three hundred thousand dollars have been left to Lehigh university to provide a fund to lend money to needy students.

Exports of manufactures amounted to more than $1,000,000 a day during the nine months ended with September, 1900.

Stockholders of the Stickney Warehouse company of St. Paul have petitioned court to terminate its corporate existence.

Twenty-four students have been enrolled in the American School of Classical Studies at Rome, representing ten colleges and universities.

The Cost of Postal Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The annual report of W. S. Shallenburger, second assistant postmaster general, has been made public. It shows that on June 30 last the annual rate of expenditure for inland mail service was $55,146,060, for foreign service $2,014,538; total expenditures, $57,160,598. There were 22,834 star routes, with a total mileage of 269,858, involving an annual rate of expenditure of $5,133,378; 1,943 special office routes, 182 steamboat routes, 2,668 railroad routes (annual expense $33,424,782), 228 railway postoffice car routes (annual expense $4,369,000).

Miners Return to Work.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 3.—The officials of the Lehigh Valley Coal company and the laborers employed at their Dorrance and Prospect mines who went out on strike Thursday reached an amicable agreement yesterday, and all the men returned to work. The striking laborers employed at the Delaware colliery of the Delaware and Hudson company also returned to work, the company compromising with them. It is said that some of the operators in this section will pay semimonthly in the future.

Bank Thief In Federal Hands.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Cornelius L. Alvord, Jr., who embezzled $700,000 from the First National bank, was discharged from custody by Magistrate Flammer in the Center street police court, immediately rearrested on a federal warrant and held in $150,000 bail by United States Commissioner Shields for examination next Wednesday. Bail was not furnished, and the defaulter was committed to the Ludlow street jail.

Accidentally Kills His Sister.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—An accident resulting in the death of a 9-year-old girl occurred in this city. Olive Newton, the victim, was playing with her brother, who unintentionally struck his sister in the eye with a stick. The point penetrated the eye socket and pierced the brain. The child screamed with pain and sank unconscious. A doctor was summoned and did everything possible for the girl, but without avail.

Moose Killed In Adirondacks.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Nov. 3.—Charles Martin, an Adirondack guide, brought to Saranac Lake yesterday a bull moose shot at Grasspond. The animal weighed about 800 pounds. This is the first moose killed in the Adirondack mountains, outside of private parks, in 25 years.

Deaths In Empire State.

ALBANY, Nov. 3.—The health bulletin for September issued by the state board shows that 10,251 deaths occurred, representing a death rate per 1,000 population of 16.5. Of this number 245 died of typhoid fever and 980 of consumption.

Senator Davis Improved.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 3.—United States Senator Davis, who has been laid up for some time with blood poisoning, is reported much improved.

ROOSEVELT COMPLETES TOUR.

Has Spoken 673 Times In Twenty-four States During Eight Weeks.

OWEGO, N. Y., Nov. 3.—Theodore Roosevelt, Republican candidate for vice president, completed last night at this point one of the most remarkable campaigns ever made by a candidate of any party in the United States. In eight weeks he has visited 24 states of the Union, made 673 speeches, traveled 21,209 miles, visited 567 towns and cities and talked to what is estimated to be 3,000,000 people.

This record includes more speeches, more miles traveled and more territory covered than that of all the other candidates for president or vice president of the United States of all parties for the last 100 years, with the exception of the record made by William J. Bryan in 1896, and it exceeds Mr. Bryan's record, which was 599 speeches made and 19,000 miles covered. This wonderful campaign was finished by a two weeks' tour of the state of New York, during which the candidate traveled 2,253 miles through 37 counties and made 120 speeches, the majority of them from the rear platform of the train. Mr. Roosevelt finished this tour in excellent health and good spirits, and, as he said last night, "with a slightly weakened voice, but able to go on with the campaign a couple of weeks more."

The last day of this campaign included eight stops between Jamestown, in Chautauqua county, and inclusive of Owego, in Tioga county. The stops varied from two hours in duration at Olean to ten minutes at other points.

New York's Big Parade.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The long talked of business men's parade for McKinley and sound money is on today. The weather is all that could be desired by the most ardent Republican, and it is claimed that before 9 p. m. 140,000 men will have passed in review before Governor Roosevelt at the grand stand in front of the Fifth Avenue hotel. Governor Roosevelt was met by General McCook and his staff and escort at Bowling Green at half past 9 o'clock. He then proceeded up Broadway to Worth street, where at 10 o'clock the paraders fell in behind and began the march up Broadway to Waverley place, thence west to Fifth avenue and up that thoroughfare to Fortieth street, where the parade disbands. The line of march is lavishly decorated with flags and bunting.

Opera House Burned.

PATERSON, N. J., Nov. 3.—The opera house on Main street was destroyed by fire which started at 3 o'clock yesterday morning in the boiler room. A high wind was blowing, and the firemen had great difficulty in saving adjoining property. At one time it looked as if the whole block would be destroyed. After the fire had been blazing half an hour a portion of the south wall fell and crushed in part of the roof of an adjoining building occupied by Joseph Donahue as a saloon and billiard room. The men of two of the engine companies had narrow escapes. The total loss will be about $70,000.

Naval Movements.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The navy department has ordered Admiral Farquhar, commanding the north Atlantic squadron, to commission the Ericsson, Cushing and Dupont. This is part of the torpedo boat flotilla which will accompany the squadron on its winter cruise. The Atlanta probably will sail tomorrow for South America. She takes the place of the Machias in Admiral Schley's south Atlantic squadron. The Manila has arrived at Cavite. The Philadelphia and the Iowa have arrived at San Pedro.

Mr. Cleveland's Plans.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Ex-President Cleveland was in the city yesterday morning and called at the office of E. C. Benedict, where he remained only a short time. He declined to say anything regarding the political outlook. He left the office with Mr. Benedict. A representative of the firm of E. C. Benedict & Co. said that Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Benedict were going out of town for a few days. He did not know whether they would be at their respective homes on election day.

Mitchell Takes His Leave.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 3.—President Mitchell made his last speech to the United Mine Workers of the anthracite region at Nanticoke last night previous to his departure for national headquarters at Indianapolis. Two thousand persons packed the opera house in which the meeting was held, and 5,000 thronged the streets in the vicinity of the hotel, where an overflow meeting was held later. A parade of members of various trade unions was also held.

A Texas Airship.

AUSTIN, Nov. 3.—The Custard Airship company, which has a capital stock of $100,000, will complete its first flying machine at its factory at Elm Mott in a few days. The ship weighs 250 pounds and has a carrying capacity of from three to five men. Its maximum speed is 100 miles per hour. The initial trip will be from Elm Mott to Waco, a distance of 20 miles. It is proposed to make a journey to New York in the ship about Nov. 20.

Another Fight For McGovern.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 3.—"Terry" McGovern, the featherweight champion fighter of the world, knocked out Joe Bernstein of New York in the seventh round of what was to have been a 20 round bout here last night. McGovern weighed 122 pounds, and Bernstein's weight was announced at 125 pounds.

Took Rough on Rats.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Nov. 3.—John Higgins of this city, a traveling salesman for the Beck cigar factory of Deposit, committed suicide in the Mansion House by eating two ounces of rough on rats. Despondency caused by family troubles and ill health is given as the reason. He leaves a wife and four children.

Diamond Match Company Moves.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Reports that the Diamond Match company of Chicago is to move to this city have been confirmed, and it is now stated that the firm has rented large offices in the Lords Court building, William street and Exchange place, which will be occupied about the middle of the month.

Costly Warehouse Blaze.

PARIS, Ky., Nov. 3.—R. B. Hutchcraft's Blue Grass establishment caught fire and destroyed his large warehouse and other buildings and 50,000 bushels of wheat, 20,000 bushels of grass seed and 20,000 pounds of wool. Loss, $75,000, insurance, $40,000.

GERMANS IN CHINA.

Kaiser's Troops Distributed at Various Strategic Points.

EMPEROR'S FAVORITE WIFE DROWNED

One Hundred Other Members of the Imperial Harem in Hands of the Allies—Communication With Peking Established.

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—Official telegrams from Count von Waldersee show that all the German troops have now arrived in China and been distributed. The First and Second marines, the First infantry brigade and a small force of cavalry and artillery are stationed at Peking. The Second infantry brigade, with a corresponding force of artillery, engineers and cavalry, is at Pao-ting-fu. One battalion is at Shan-hai-kwan. The Third infantry brigade, with a company of sharpshooters, two squadrons of cavalry and several batteries, is at Tien-tsin. One battery and several howitzers are at Taku, and there is a force of troops distributed along the railway from Peking to Yangtsun, superintending the work of construction.

A special dispatch to the Hamburg Correspondent says:

"In a well situated in the imperial palace precincts in Peking was found the body of Emperor Kwang Su's favorite wife, Shen Ti, whom the empress dowager caused to be drowned before the flight of the court from the capital. The second favorite, Shing Fi, and 100 ladies belonging to the imperial harem are prisoners in the hands of the allies."

A dispatch from Pao-ting-fu, dated yesterday, says:

"Telegraphic connection has been completed with Peking entirely by the Germans. The railway from Pao-ting-fu to the capital is nearly completed. French detachments are guarding the line. The health of the German troops is steadily improving."

Another batch of letters from German soldiers in China appears today in a number of papers, among them the Hanover Courier, which editorially demands official statements with reference to the details given by the writers of the cruelties alleged to have been committed by German troops in China. This demand is warmly supported by the Freisinnige Zeitung.

Count von Bulow, the imperial chancellor, has received a telegram from the German merchants in Tien-tsin congratulating him upon the conclusion of the Anglo-German agreement.

DISCUSSING PEACE PLANS.

Foreign Ministers Busy In Peking. French Troops Active.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—A dispatch to the Havas agency in Paris from Peking dated Oct. 31 says:

"The foreign ministers today continued the discussion of the peace propositions to be presented to the Chinese. The French proposals were accepted. Additional specifications will be discussed Monday. On account of the necessity for thorough accord between the different cabinets the final note will not be presented for several weeks.

"General Voyron, commander in chief of the French troops in China, with the allies under his command, is purging the villages around Tien-tsin and Peking. Many villages infested with Boxers have been destroyed and their inhabitants punished. A French column sent to Tuen rescued the missionaries there. Another French column met with resistance at Siet-chung. The enemy's losses were considerable. The village was burned.

"News received from Pao-ting-fu indicates a movement of French and German troops upon Si-ling, where the imperial tombs are situated. It is rumored that the army of Yang-Yu-Kante has resolved to defend the place."

German Shipbuilders Busy.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Shipbuilding in Germany has become a great industry in the last decade, and according to a communication from United States Consul Winter at Annaberg to the department of state the present capacity of all the wharfs does not meet the demands of the German merchant marine. This establishment now numbers 1,209 steamers, and seemingly this number cannot be increased in the empire proper as fast as is desired. Many orders are being placed in foreign countries, and for the port of Hamburg alone 22 ships are being built in England. Old wharfs are being torn away and new ones of larger proportions are taking their places. A million dollar wharf at Stralsun is planned, and many other new enterprises give evidence of the rapid growth of the German marine.

Prohibs In Michigan.

GRAND RAPIDS, Nov. 3.—The Prohibition special train arrived here at 7:45 last night, having made a total of 20 stops in the run across Michigan. Presidential Candidate John G. Woolley made his twenty-first speech before an audience of 3,000 persons at the Auditorium last evening. He was introduced by Rev. F. B. Arthur, chairman, and was given an ovation. He made a characteristic address of 30 minutes and was loudly cheered at its conclusion. He was followed by F. S. Goodrich, candidate for governor, and Oliver W. Stewart, national chairman of the Prohibition committee.

To Create Four New Cardinals.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—It is understood that at the next consistory, to be held in Romo this month, Mgr. Della Volpe, maggior domo of the Vatican at Rome; Mgr. Tripepi, the assistant secretary of state of the church at Rome; Mgr. Generi, assessor of the holy office at Rome, and Mgr. Delloleo, an archbishop in southern Italy, will be made cardinals. This information has been received in Washington from an authoritative source. Mgr. Della Volpe, who is 53 years old, is the youngest of the four and has held his present office for many years.

Will Erect a Monument to Parnell.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Mr. John Redmond says that as the trustees of the Parnellite fund cannot purchase Avondale, the estate of the late Charles Stewart Parnell, which was purchased by Mr. Boylan the other day when sold at auction by the land judges' court, they will devote the fund to the erection of a monument to Parnell in Dublin.

Golden Out on Bail.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 3.—Green Golden, held as a Goebel assassination suspect, has been admitted to bail in the sum of $5,000 and was released.

Factors in New Jersey's Growth. Discussing the factors that have caused the increase in New Jersey's population, as shown by the census returns, the Newark News notes that the growth of this State is exceeded by few of the commonwealths of the country. The increase is 438,536, or about 30 per cent., which is 9 per cent. greater than the increase in the country as a whole. Some of the things that have contributed to make this favorable showing are summed up by the News in the following manner:

It may be admitted that its location has been the most potent factor in fostering New Jersey's growth. With New York and Philadelphia, the first and third cities of the country, situate just across its borders, it is inevitable that New Jersey should profit by what may be termed the overflow of those cities. Home life in a big city is distasteful to those thousands who are compelled to spend their business hours in the noisy haunts of trade, and who prefer to spend their leisure moments and rear up their families amid more quiet and wholesome surroundings. The matter of cost of living, too, is not an unimportant influence in building up the suburbs of a great city, while others are attracted to particular sections of New Jersey because they are thus enabled to enjoy the advantages of the metropolis without the discomforts and annoyances incidental to life within its borders.

The vast increase in New Jersey's manufacturing industries has been another important element in the growth of population. And here, too, the advantages of location have played their part. Excellence of railway and waterway facilities and proximity to coal fields and marktes have made New Jersey a favored field for the establishment of new industrial enterprises.

The State Board of Assessors filed with the State Comptroller yesterday a report of the assessments made on railroad and canal properties. The total assessed valuation of all such properties in the State is $223,384,249, as against $222,216,534 a year ago. The total tax to be paid upon the assessments just filed is $1,534 011, of which $1,118,921 will go to the State and the balance will be distributed among municipalities in which the railroad and canal properties are located. The valuation placed on the Central Railroad of New Jersey is $46,512,690, and the tax is $398,934.

Referring to an advance of 50 per cent. in the price of anthracite coal, to take effect all over the country, the Newark Advertiser says that, adding this comment, was not by any means unexpected. The consumer is to pay the cost to the operators of the great coal miners' strike. The miners will pocket their losses. The strike fund is their wage pittance. The operators' strike fund is always to be had in the pockets of the consumers.

On the same day and at about the same time in the day that ex Governor Pattison publicly declared that Bryan would carry New York by a plurality of 100,000, Postmaster General Smith in a speech at Cumberland, Md., assured his hearers that McKinley would carry New York by 100,000 plurality. Take your choice.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The citizens of New Brunswick are watching with keen delight the demolition of the unsightly ruins of the burned thertre that stood on the most prominent corner of that city. The fire occurred several years ago, and the blackened walls have remained there ever since, an eyesore and source of mortification to every public spirited citizen. They are now being taken down to make way for the handsome new postoffice that is to be erected by the Government on the site. New Brunswick is making several promising strides in the building line. The most important is a large addition to one of the principal manufacturing establishments of the city, that will give employment to a considerable number of additional hands. It would not be at all surprising to see New Brunswick take a sudden start and begin to grow like a mushroom, says a correspondent.

* * * * * *

Life insurance actuaries have an old problem presented to them by some recent statistics from the register-general of Scotland, Dr. Stark, who has gleaned everything available during the last thirty years for an answer to the question: "Do married men live longer than single men?" His answer is the following summary of yearly mortality per thousand:

Ages.	Husbands and widowers.	Unmarried
25-30	8.23	14.94
30-35	8.65	15.94
35-40	11 67	16.01
40-45	14.07	18.35
45-50	17.04	21.18
50-55	19.54	26.34
55-60	26 14	28.54
60-65	35.63	44.54
65-70	52.93	60.21
70-75	81.56	102.71
75-80	117.85	143.94
80-85	173.88	195.40

Apropos to the above the following pun comes in nicely:

Gay Bachelor—"Do you think there is anything in the theory that married men live longer than unmarried ones?"

Henpecked Friend, [wearily]—"Oh, I don't know; seems longer."

committee on rules. This report was adopted on the motion of "Senator Quay, of Pennsylvania," Miss Helen Lee. Judging from "Senator Quay's" appearance it was hard to believe all the charges made against the Senator from the Keystone State.

"Senator Fairbanks," Miss Elizabeth Bowen, as chairman of the committee on resolutions, read a much abbreviated Republican platform. The convention then adjourned for the second day.

After another extremely rapid night the convention reconvened and the call by States for nominations for President began, Alabama yielded the floor to Ohio and "Senator Foraker," Miss Ella Lounsbury, made his nominating speech and presented the name of William McKinley. The mention of the name was the signal for wild applause and waving of flags.

New Jersey chief executive, "Governor Voorhees," Miss Florence Martin, seconded the nomination with a few remarks, as did "Senator Yerkes, of Kentucky," Miss Dorothy Waldo, and "Governor Mount, of Indiana," Miss Mildred Greene. After the call for the vote by States "Senator Lodge" declared McKinley unanimously the party choice and again the convention vented its enthusiasm with no light hand.

In the call for nominations for vice-presidents, Alabama gave the floor to "Col. Young, of Iowa," Miss Edna Moore, who named Gov. Roosevelt. Even the vigorous use of the gavel by "Senator Lodge" failed to quell the burst of enthusiasm which followed and "Gov. Roosevelt" himself was properly embarrassed. This candidate, by the way, did not greatly resemble his pictures but was tall, slim and fair to look upon.

"W. J. Murray, of Massachusetts," Miss Elsie Goddard, and "Senator Depew, of New York," Miss Lulu Fuller, seconded the nomination. "Senator Depew" told of the thrilling charge of the Rough Riders up San Juan Hill and told how the gallant Teddy had told his soldiers to "give them blankety-blank." The speech was decidedly effective, and the chairman again pounded in vain for order.

The roll-call for votes followed and Roosevelt was declared the choice of the party. One of the more enthusiastic delegates climbed on one of the desks and led the three cheers for the candidates which marked the end of a wonderful convention.

The chaiamen of the various State delegations were as follows: Alabama, Miss Ella Serrell; California, Miss Mary St. John; Colorado, Miss Edyth Vermeulen; Connecticut, Miss Mabel Rogers; Kentucky, Miss Lillian Maclay; Massachusetts, Miss Antoinnette Moodey; New Jersey, Miss Winifred Haven; New York, Miss Marguerite VanDeventer; Ohio, Miss Bertha Mitchell; Pennsylvania, Miss Jeanne Dunham; Virginia, Miss Mabel Jenkins; Alaska, Miss Louise Whitney.

Gentlemen:—My mamma has been a great coffee drinker and has found it very injurious. Having used several packages of your GRAIN-O, the drink that takes the place of coffee, she finds it much better for herself and for us children to drink. She has given up coffee drinking entirely. We use a package of Grain-O every week. I am ten years old.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Oct. 3.—The members of the W. G. Holton Council held a special meeting last evening and completed arrangements for attending the funeral of Harry Vail in a body. The services will be held from his late residence tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and from the Methodist church at 2. Interment will be made in Hillside Cemetery, Plainfield.

Under the auspices of the local Democrats, the first meeting in the borough, espousing the cause of Bryanism, was held in the town hall last night. A large crowd listened for two hours to addresses made by Assemblyman Leon Abbet, of Hoboken, and Hon. Eugene Leak, of Jersey City. While from a Democratic view the meeting may be said to have been a success, it is not likely that the estimated Republican majority will be lessened to any extent.

Rev. Henry Ketcham, of Westfield, who occupies the Presbyterian pulpit tomorrow, will probably preach for the remainder of the year until Rev. N. J. Sproull begins his pastoral duties.

While hunting in the woods near Dewey Park yesterday, Thomas Kelley started up a small fox. He pursued the animal to Lincoln where it was shot by an unknown hunter.

The football game which was to have been played on the Lincoln avenue grounds this afternoon, has been called off, the Rahway team not being able to come.

The meeting of the Literary Society will be held this evening at the residence of Mrs. L. T. Titsworth. Shakespeare's tragedy of Julius Caesar will be read.

Mrs. William Potter, of Chicago, who has been visiting Mrs. O. B. Evans, left yesterday for Connecticut where she will remain for some time.

Although it has been reported that Mrs. Cottrelly had taken up her residence in Plainfield, such is not the fact, as she still resides in the borough.

A love feast will be held at the Methodist church tomorrow and the Lord's Supper will also be administered.

The Willing Workers of Holy Innocents church met at the residence of Mrs. W. G. Vance yesterday.

Ernest Peters is playing halfback with the Scotch Plains team in their game with the Orients, of Newark, at the latter place this afternoon.

Augustus Runyon, of Plainfield, was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Runyon, yesterday.

Harry Zimmerman, of Elizabeth, spent yesterday with friends in the borough.

Mrs. Charles Ross spent yesterday with friends in Elizabeth.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, Nov. 3.—While playing "snap the whip," at the Maple Grove school Thursday morning, Leslie Lord, of Samptown, was thrown forcibly to the ground and quite badly hurt. A hurried examination on the part of the teacher failed to show any serious result but on going home at noon he was unable to lift his right arm. Dr. Irekson was called and found the boy's collar bone to be broken. It was fully four hours after the accident before the fracture was reduced. Wilbur Torell, another player in the game, was also thrown and received painful but not serious injuries.

Picking raspberries from his garden is getting to be quite a common occurence with Stanley Day of late, hardly a day passing but what he secures a pint.

Nathan Blackford suffered a slight paralytic stroke Thursday, but under the care of Dr. Nelson is rapidly regaining his old strength.

The ladies of Holy Innocents church are arranging for a bazaar to be given in Friendship Hall early this month.

Miss Florence Tappen, of Oak Tree, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Casterline, yesterday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Nov. 3—Mr. and Mrs. William H. Lee celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary last evening in a very pleasant manner, by tendering a social evening to a number of their friends. The evening was given up to playing games and dancing. At midnight a bountiful collation was served by the hostess, after which dancing was again resumed and continued until a late hour. Mr. and Mrs. Lee received a number of very pretty presents in honor of the happy occasion. Guests were present from Raritan, Plainfield and the village.

Charles Loomis, a well known author, who has recently rented the Sykes house on Front street, gave an interesting reading of two stories before the teachers and scholars in the public school yesterday afternoon. Mr. Loomis' kindness was thoroughly appreciated by all who had the pleasure of listening to him.

John B. Anderson, who recently bought W. S. Emery's hotel business, will have a grand opening on Monday night. Mr. Anderson expects to have a large crowd. A number of his friends from New York are expected and a very pleasant time is anticipated.

Joseph Schmidt, who was quite badly injured several days ago by falling from the roof of Seeley's barn while at work shingling it, was able to be out for the first yesterday.

It is said that no indictment was found by the October Grand Jury against the Italian Donat Bonavogli, of Hunter avenue, who shot George Shay several weeks ago.

The subject of Rev. G. M. Shott's sermon Sunday morning will be, "Church Fundamentals." In the evening, "Drinking by the Wayside."

Charles Cooper, a former resident of this place, but now of New York, has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Hand.

A number of the committees from the village and Fanwood are taking part in the big parade in New York city today.

The local football eleven are meeting the Orientals on the latter's grounds at Newark this afternoon.

Twilight Council held their regular weekly meeting in their rooms last evening.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, Oct. 3 —Farmers in this vicinity have about finished husking corn. The yield was fair in spite of the dry weather.

Morris Higgins has arrangements completed for showing the election returns by stereopticon Tuesday night.

Miss Bessie and May Tappin are visiting at Mrs. Wm. Mannings. They attended the oyster supper last night.

Hunters are meeting with good success around here and rabbits are reported plentiful.

Mrs. H C. Weaver is still very ill.

Doesn't Live Up to His Name.

George Washington, a colored man who makes his home in this city, is somewhat handicapped by being expected to live up to the name his parents gave him. Yesterday afternoon he carried the name of the Father of His Country into the police court where he was arraigned before City Judge Runyon on the charge of being drunk. The Judge fined him $3.

Miss Gertrude Harrison, of New Haven, is the guest of Miss Lowe, of Park avenue.

Mrs. Wynn, of West Front street, has gone to Philadelphia to join her husband, Captain Wynn, who has come into that port after a voyage of more than a year's length.

Miss Bessie Austin, daughter of Justice Austin, of Warrenville, and Oscar Kline, of Philadelphia, will be married next week Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vermeule, Jackson avenue —Justice Mattison has issued a summons in the case of Charles Hyde against John Motley, in tort, which is returnable November 8th. J. B. Coward represents Mr. Hyde.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Sachsen.

Dresden. Von 290 sächsischen Orten mit über 2000 Einwohnern besaßen im Jahre 1899 171 Orte Apotheken, nämlich Leipzig 33, Dresden 28, Chemnitz 12, Zwickau 5, Plauen 4, Freiberg, Zittau und Glauchau je 3, Reichenbach, Bautzen, Krimmitschau, Meerane, Werdau, Hohenstein-Ernstthal und Borna je 2 Apotheken, sowie 156 Orte je 1 Apotheke. Außer den erwähnten Orten hatten noch 18 Städte mit weniger als 2000 Einwohnern je 1 Apothele aufzuweisen.—Es hat sich herausgestellt, daß das Defizit des hier im letzten Sommer abgehaltenen Deutschen Bundesschießens 150,000 Mark beträgt. Die hier abgehaltene Deutsche Bauausstellung hat 100,000 Mark Defizit.—Der Soldat Wagner, Oekonomiehandwerker von der hiesigen Garnison, hat sich durch einen Eisenbahnzug überfahren und tödten lassen.

Leipzig. Achtzehn Taschendiebstähle hatte sich die 24 Jahre alte Photographensehefrau Martha Anna Frommhold in der Zeit vom März bis zum 18. August zu Schulden kommen lassen. Sie erhielt hierfür letzthin 3 Jahre 6 Monate Zuchthaus zuerkannt.

Radeburg. In einer Nacht ist der 73jährige Gutsauszügler Christian Friedrich Geißler in Seifersdorf erdrosselt und beraubt worden. Der muthmaßliche Thäter, ein 18jähriger junger Mensch aus Lotzdorf, ist verhaftet.

Schönheide. Durch den König und in Gegenwart der Königin erfolgte jüngst anhier die Eröffnung der zweiten Sächsischen Volksheilstätte für Lungenkranke.

Siebenheln. Ein Bergwerk nach dem anderen stellt in hiesiger Gegend den Betrieb ein. Viele Arbeiter werden dadurch brodlos und verlassen ihre alte Heimath. So wurde jüngsthin zum letzten Male von der Grube „Kurprinz" Erz nach dem Halsbrücker Hüttenwerke geliefert. Diese Grube lieferte seit dem Jahre 1711 Erz.

Zittau. Der 40jährige Tischler Kirschberg verübte unter Androhung des Erschießens einen Raubversuch an seinem eigenen Vater und verletzte die herbeieilende Tochter durch zwei Revolverschüsse lebensgefährlich. Der Thäter wurde festgenommen.

Thüringische Staaten.

Eisenach. Auf der Göpelskuppe haben die Fundirungsarbeiten zum deutschen Burschenschaftsdenkmal begonnen.

Frankenhausen. Den Bemühungen des Obergendarmen Beck gelang es, die Brandstifterin der drei Brände im Wilhelmsstift zu ermitteln. Es ist dies die seit drei Jahren im Stift untergebrachte 14jährige Minna Haacke aus Neuhaus am Rennsteig. Dieselbe glaubte, auf diese Weise aus der Anstalt herauszukommen.

Probstzella. Auf dem hiesigen Bahnhofe wurde der Lokomotivführer Hohle von einer Rangirmaschine getödtet.

Sondershausen. Die durch das Gesetz vom 30. Juli 1899 errichtete öffentliche Schlachtvieh-Versicherungsanstalt für das Fürstenthum Schwarzburg-Sondershausen hat vor Kurzem ihre Thätigkeit aufgenommen. So viel bekannt, besteht in keinem anderen deutschen Staate bereits eine solche Anstalt.

Freie Städte.

Hamburg. An Seeschiffen kamen in den Monaten Januar bis September im hiesigen Hafen an: in 1898 9704 Schiffe, darunter 6219 Dampfer, in 1899 10,186 Schiffe, darunter 6375 Dampfer, in 1900 10,121 Schiffe, darunter 6794 Dampfer.—Als Platz für das dahier zu errichtende Bismarckdenkmal wurde endgiltig der Fontenay gewählt.—Das Landgericht verurtheilte den Reichstagsabgeordneten, Redakteur Molkenbuhr vom sozialdemokratischen „Hamburger Echo," wegen Beleidigung eines Offiziers, begangen durch einen Artikel mit der Ueberschrift: „Bei mir wird nicht gebrüsewitzelt," zu 200 Mark Geldstrafe.—Die Polizei nahm bei der Ausreise des Dampfers „Patrizia" den böhmischen Kaufmann Karl Melkar wegen Mädchenhandels fest. Drei böhmische junge Mädchen, die ihn begleiteten, sollten durch Melkar in Südamerika abgeliefert werden. Dieselben wurden in Polizeihaft behalten.

Bremen. Die Bremer Handelskammer und die Baumwollbörse spendeten zum Hilfsfonds für Galveston, Tex., als erste Rate 27,000 Mark. Die Gesammtsammlung überschritt 6,000,000 Mark.—Auf der Werft von Workmom, Clark u. Co. in Belfast, Irland, lief der auf Rechnung des Norddeutschen Lloyd erbaute neue Dampfer „Paknam" vom Stapel. Das Schiff ist für die Linie Singapore-Bangkok bestimmt. Ein zweiter Dampfer befindet sich auf derselben Werft für den Lloyd noch im Bau. Ferner sind für den Norddeutschen Lloyd beim „Vulkan" in Stettin zwei Schnelldampfer in Bau, „Kronprinz Wilhelm" und „Kaiser Wilhelm 2.," von denen der letztere dazu bestimmt ist, das größte und schnellste Schiff der Gegenwart zu werden. „Kaiser Wilhelm 2." mißt 707 Fuß Länge, 72 Fuß Breite und erhält Maschinen von 38,000 Pferdekräften, welche dem Schiff eine Geschwindigkeit von 24 Seemeilen in der Stunde verleihen.

It is the habit of ambitious young women singers, artists, actresses and newspaper writers the country over to long with all their souls to come to New York and live. To them it is the kingdom come of their hopes and aspirations. They cannot be blamed for this, because New York is the heart of hustling America. Life in the large is there in all its varieties. But the girls outside picture to themselves an existence in New York made up of excitement and pleasure, going to theater, enjoying little suppers where wit and merriment abound, sitting up late nights and having time to lie abed correspondingly of mornings. Now, this is a gorgeous and picturesque mistake. Not a country schoolmistress in the land leads a simpler, more regular life than the really working woman artist or journalist in New York. She is obliged to devote all her energies to business. If the newspaper woman works in the daytime, she spends her evenings at home, goes to bed early and gets up early. She must take the best possible care of her health that she may be in condition for her task. Illness and headaches mean losing her place. If she writes at night, she finishes her office labors and steals home in the small hours to rest. I have known several newspaper women who practically hid themselves away and did not tell their friends where they lived that they might not be hindered by social demands. To them visitors were like vampires. There was one girl—a brilliant soul she was, artist and writer both—who tried to accomplish her work and have a gay social existence too. She burned life's candle at both ends, and it was snuffed out. Death stepped in and snapped off one of the most promising careers in America. The gay, pleasuresome life of the real actresses, artists and newspaper women of New York is to be found only in the imagination of people who do not know them. They lead the most humdrum, laborious existence imaginable.

The poor girl who must work for her living believes she would have nothing left to wish for if she were a rich girl and had only to dress in the mode and pursue fashionable amusements. The rich girl on her part, particularly if she has much sense, pines for the independence and larger life which earning her own living would give her. And who is happy?

Here is a good story of frail, weak woman: Miss Lottie Pollion of New York was walking in an unfrequented part of Central park recently. Suddenly two rowdies sprang up in front of her. One of them told her she was too pretty to be walking alone, and he seized her arm. Next minute he lay sprawling upon the walk. It was not the fist of a chivalrous man stranger who appeared at the exact moment and knocked him there. It was Miss Pollion's own fist that did it. The other fellow, seeing his comrade fall, was mad as a hornet and rushed upon her with uplifted arm. She dodged him and landed a blow in his solar plexus. He turned and ran, bellowing, from the scene. By that time rowdy No. 1 had picked himself up. He could not believe he had been thrashed and came at the girl again. This time she made him know it for sure, and he, too, ran as if the fiends pursued him. Then Miss Pollion went home. The explanation was that she had taken boxing lessons and was the woman champion in that field.

Fifteen years ago an impecunious dressmaker in Salt Lake invested her little savings in some mining properties. They turned out rich, and the dressmaker became wealthy enough to give her sister a $100,000 wedding when that young lady was married recently. That is not all of the tale. The rest of it is that where one person is lucky in mining investments a hundred come to grief.

New York city, so far as the woman question is concerned, is probably the most conservative town north of Mason and Dixon's line, yet within and around it today are actively practicing women lawyers enough to form a thriving and lively club of their own.

Two enterprising young New Jersey women, Miss Frances L. Campbell and Miss Elizabeth Schneider, have started a poultry farm to furnish fresh eggs regularly to people who can pay for them. The girls have wisely chosen the White Leghorn breed for their egg stock. Women can do well in the neighborhood of any good market in the chicken and egg business if they manage carefully and learn as they go. The average hen yields a profit of $1.50 a year. There is many a girl who is not worth that much.

Many women build their characters as people do their houses, with a strict view to its appearance on the outside.

Miss Grace Kennedy, commissioner of the court of claims in Santa Fe, is studying law. There is a real boom in young women law students. They are thronging into the legal profession much the same as women did into the medical field a generation ago after Elizabeth Blackwell showed them how it could be done. The girls are not, however, much attracted toward theology.

HEALTH AND PRAYER

Theories Suggested by a Visit to St. Anne de Beaupre.

Faithful Believe Cures Effected There to Be the Result of Mediation, Scoffers Call Them Mental Hysterics.

[Special Quebec (Can.) Letter.]

THAT everybody is more or less interested in "miracles"—in seemingly incomprehensible manifestations of a superhuman power—has been made evident to the writer during the past week or two. An article from his pen, published in these columns, on the shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre and the wonderful cures wrought there have brought to him a number of communications from faithful believers in the doctrine of mediation by the saints as well as from scoffers and doubters.

MIRACULOUS STATUE OF ST. ANNE.

The writer is not prepared to make dogmatic assertions, yet it would be puerile to deny that strange things occur at the shrine of St. Anne. The lame, the halt and the blind who approach the place filled with an abundance of faith seem to arise from their knees well and cured. It is equally true that hundreds of others, whose faith is weak, leave with their ailments still thick upon them. "Many are called, but few are chosen" can be applied to the worshipers at St. Anne's as it was to the searchers after truth in the earliest days of the church. The priests of the basilica lay great stress upon the fact that the least element of doubt in the minds of petitioners renders mediation by the saint questionable and a cure impossible. For this reason critics who profess to view everything impartially and fairly are inclined to pronounce the peculiar manifestations at the famous Canadian shrine faith cures, effected by the power of mind over body, and class them roughly with the more modern Christian science and suggestive therapeutics. This is an easy way of disposing of the subject, and while it may seem plain to some there are thousands who will not be satisfied with it.

The Catholic church teaches that fervent adoration of the saints in Heaven insures the petitioner their intercession with the very fountain of life; and there are very few Catholics who do not profess to have had frequent opportunities to test the truth of this dogma. At St. Anne de Beaupre all the surroundings are calculated to inspire the visitor with awe and veneration. The handsome church, magnificent altars, gorgeous chapels and rare statuary combine to prepare the mind for some visible demonstration of Divine power; and the thousand and one evidences of cures wrought in the past add to the fervor and faith of devout pilgrims, which is still further strengthened by the eloquence of priests who appear to be filled with fervent devotion and speak with the conviction of apostles.

As a usual thing cures are not sudden. The pilgrims who seek relief from bodily ills make a novena—a nine days' devotion to "La Bonne St. Anne"—in the course of which they attend masses and mortify the mind as well as the body. They pray regularly before the statue of the saint, confess their sins and engage in other acts of worship. They drink of the water of the "holy spring," which is said to have cured many sick and infirm, and ascend the Scala Sancta.

The water from this holy spring runs summer and winter with sufficient abundance to satisfy the devotion of hundreds of thousands of pilgrims, who are permitted to draw as much as they wish, and enough is left to feed all the fountains on the extensive grounds of the church. The Scala Sancta is a religious structure without a duplicate on the American continent. Its principal feature is a large flight of steps which the worshipers ascend kneeling. It contains relics from the Holy Land and was built in imitation of the steps mounted by the Saviour during His passion in the palace of Pontius Pilate at Jerusalem, and now preserved in Rome. All the frescoes and panels of this remarkable monument are scenes from Palestine. They are from the brush of a redemptorist brother who spent several years in painting them; and are really worth seeing, something that cannot be said for many church paintings in Canada. The relics in the steps, enclosed in glass, are venerated by the faithful as they ascend the stairs on their knees.

Observances such as these are calculated to promote the faith of believers, and the exhortations of the priests, supported by prayers and fasting, soon produce an enthusiasm before which minor ills must give way.

The basilica of St. Anne de Beaupre is in charge of the Redemptorist order, an organization noted for the intellectuality and faithfulness of its members. Man for man the priests at St. Anne's will compare favorably with the best educated clergymen of other churches and other lands; and in denouncing fraud and charlatanism they are as industrious as other religious teachers. Yet, without exception, they believe in the miracles performed through the intercession of St. Anne and lend their consent to the publication of the details of scores of wonderful cures which have come under their personal observation.

Notable among these officially recognized cases is that of Miss Matilda Powell, of Laconia, N. H., who arrived at St. Anne de Beaupre on Sunday, October 9. She was 23 years of age and had been a cripple for nearly four years. The medical men of Laconia, Boston and Montreal were all agreed as to the existence of dislocation of the spinal column, and for two years there had been a partial paralysis of the left leg. Several pronounced her incurable. Her weakness was so great that she could not even drag herself a few steps on two crutches, unless she was assisted by some one, and she could only stand up when supported by a sort of stays made of plaster or iron. Miss Powell was brought to St. Anne in an armchair. Some time before she had promised to visit the sanctuary at Beaupre and make a novena, and from that moment conceived the greatest confidence that she would be cured by St. Anne. On each day of the novena she prayed fervently before the statue of the saint. On Sunday, October 16, she received holy communion, venerated the relics and soon perceived that her petition had been granted. She had neither pain nor infirmity; the spinal column had straightened and returned to its normal state. The paralysis of the left leg had disappeared, and although it had been shortened by suffering, it was now of its natural length. A month later Miss Powell made another pilgrimage to St. Anne's in thanksgiving, and was then enjoying perfect health. At Laconia Miss Powell's friends had several high masses sung in honor of St. Anne to thank her for having worked a cure which, in their eyes, was as miraculous as raising the dead to life.

Another case vouched for by the church authorities is that of Mme. Genevieve Mailloux, a resident of Ile-aux-Coudres, Quebec, who had been subject to violent attacks of epilepsy for several years. Each time these attacks brought on painful convulsions, causing paralysis of the arms and lower extremities. From year to year her infirmity grew more pronounced, and at length the lameness became permanent. It had lasted for five months, when the sufferer had herself conveyed to St. Anne, hoping there to obtain a cure. Her entreaties were heard. She went home completely cured and never, after this pilgrimage, did she experience the slightest return of the disease. These statements, extravagant as they may seem, have been attested by the parish priest, the physician and several other responsible residents of St. Louis, Ile-aux-Coudres.

Among the curios in St. Anne's church are thousands of crutches, plaster casts and stays which were left by pilgrims whose diseases were taken away as in the twinkling of an eye. Whether the cures were permanent I am not prepared to say. The people in charge of the sanctuary say they were. Personally I have not met any invalid who claimed to have been permanently benefited, but I know of several who received immediate relief from acute pain. Whether the cessation of suffering was due, as some would say, to an abnormal state of the mind and religious enthusiasm, or whether it was the result of celestial intercession, each reader must decide for himself.

WATER ROBBERS IN CHINA.

Wholesale Depredations Are Prevented by the Severity of Li Hung Chang.

During the recent startling events in China a good deal has been heard of piracy on the West river and the ruthless severity with which Li Hung Chang dealt with the freebooters when they fell into his hands. Consul Scott, of Canton, thinks that these river thieves should not be dignified by the title of pirates, and that it is necessary to protest against the sensational accounts of their exploits which find their way into print. In his report on the trade of Canton for 1899, says the London Telegraph, he describes the water robber and the manner in which he conducts his business in the following words:

"I can hardly hope, in view of the asserted dire results of piracy on British trade, to be credited when I assert that during the year not one single bale of British goods has been lost in the far too numerous cases of armed robbery recorded, but such is nevertheless the fact. The 'piracies' are gang robberies with arms, but without, for the most part, actual violence, the ordinary Chinaman lending himself very kindly to the coercion of a leveled revolver. The usual modus operandi is as follows: A Chinese passenger boat, capable of holding some 200 passengers and their personal effects, starts on her trip in tow of a steam launch. Either at the point of departure or at some calling station en route a gang of men armed with revolvers go on board in the guise of passengers. If they suspect any supervision is kept, or that any examination for arms will be made they conceal their revolvers in sealed jars supposed to contain pickles or preserved fruits, some times addressed to an official or some prominent person further up or down the river, or in some other innocent package; and then, when they arrive at some place where they have arranged to be met by confederates, they simply 'hold up' all the passengers. The launch temporarily clears out and the highway men 'go through' the boat, taking all money, jewelry and valuables, not as a rule goods, and then take their departure—the launch returns to the boat and continues her voyage.

"When it is the launch itself which carries passengers the same course is pursued, but the gang then takes possession of the launch itself, compelling the engineers to continue to attend to the engines and either run the launch up some creek where their confederates are waiting for them, or use her to make other robberies of launches or passenger boats or junks. But they never hold a launch for more than a few hours, and never dream of making off with her as a prize. She would be utterly useless to them, and would lead to their certain arrest and decapitation. Dick Turpin might as well have stolen a stage coach. When the gang have finished with a launch the men usually take a polite farewell of the master and crew, and sometimes even, if they have given no trouble, give them a few dollars.

"Since his excellency Li Hung Chang's arrival here as viceroy matters have assumed a different complexion. Robberies committed on launches and passenger boats have at the present time, temporarily at any rate, almost ceased in Chinese waters and there can be no doubt that in time, should his excellency remain in Canton, the stringent and energetic measures employed by him will restore order throughout the district. But the mischief is deep seated, and the evils caused by years of maladministration cannot be eradicated in a day."

WHIST

There is general rejoicing among the whist players of the Park Club at the victory of the Park Club four in tournament for the challenge trophy of the New Jersey Whist Association. This is only the second year that the local team of young men has played for the State championship and now the State trophy has been won. The four young men are Arthur A. Freeman, Fred H. Freeman, Albert E. Woltmann and Ralph T. Willis. In Tuesday night's game with Jersey City, the score by rounds was as follows:

	1st Round	2d Round	3rd Round	Total
Park Club	3	3	4	10
Jersey City Club	6	1	0	7

GOLF

A scratch championship golf tournament is scheduled to take place on the golf course at Finderne Election Day for a cup to be offered by S. D. Lounsbury.

The qualifying round for Champion Cup on the Hillside links has been postponed from this afternoon until Tuesday, Nov. 6, at 10 a. m. Scores made in this competition will also count for Class A and B cups, which will be played for at the same time.

This afternoon on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course the preliminary round for the Chapman cup will be played. The first round and semi-finals will be played on Election Day, in addition to the contests for the golf club cups for classes "A" and "B." The finals for the Chapman cup will be played on Saturday afternoon, November 10th.

ROD AND GUN.

None of the local Nimrods have been more successful during the last three days than J. A. Statts and S. C. Wheeler, who returned last night from a two days' hunting expedition on the farm of Dr. Zeglio, near Warrenville. The game that they captured were as follows: Thirty-six rabbits, 22 woodcock, 16 quail, 8 pheasant and 15 squirrels. Mr. Statts also took the pains to shot one big black crow, which he calculates to cook and serve to some of his Republican friends the day after election.

BOROUGH TO PAY FOR PASTEUR TREATMENT.

bill for his son's treatment.

Mr. Clark looked at the matter from a humanitarian standpoint, and while he did not favor the establishing of any such precedent, he was in favor of paying the bill in this case. He offered a resolution that the matter be referred to the Mayor, he to arrange for the payment of the bill by the borough. This motion was amended by Mr. Valiant to the effect that the matter be referred to the overseer of the poor with recomendations that the bill be paid. This was adopted unanimously.

The case will have to be treated through the overseer of the poor and Mr. Kennedy will get assistance in that way. After the circumstances were fully explained there were no dissenting opinions or votes. Mr. Rogers favored the payment of the bill in full and so stated. Mr. Valiant's point was well taken, for if a precedant is established it might cause the borough lots of trouble. However, there are so few cases of a similar nature that his vote was easily obtained in favor of the payment of the bill on those grounds.

Bed Bugs and Cock Roaches.

For destruction and complete riddance of Cock Roaches, Beetles, Wood and Water Bugs, Bed Bugs, Ants, Rats, Mice, etc., "Rough on Rats," though poisonous, if used with care is most effective. In fact it is the only thing that will permanently annihilate Bed Bugs and Cock Roaches. As an exterminator of Rats and Mice, "Rough on Rats" is the old reliable that never fails nor disappoints. They "don't die in the house." Is sold all around the world. Is used by all civilized nations of the earth. Is the most extensively advertised, the best know and has the largest sale of any article of its kind on the face of the globe. It gives satisfaction every time. Beware of imitations. I employ no peddlers. Have a suspicion of any dealer offering substitutes said to be as good. 15c. and 25c.

Old Maid's Convention.

Return of the "Old Maids" from the Klondike, sequel to the Old Maid's Convention, will be given in Y. M. C. A. Hall Thursday evening, November 8th, at 8 o'clock. Admission 35 cents, reserved seats 50 cents, at L. W. Randolph's pharmacy. Those who attended the performance of the Old Maids will surely want to see this later edition, which promises to excell all previous efforts.

A Pleasant Affair.

A Hallowe'en party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel D. Conway, of East Second street, Wednesday evening. A large number of young people were present and enjoyed a programme of vocal and instrumental music and the playing of all kinds of games. Late in the evening refreshments were served. Miss Conway, Miss Quill and Mrs. Kane won the cake prizes.

Trollet Hit Horses.

A team of horses attached to a hay wagon belonging to the Baldwin Brothers, of West Fourth street, was struck by a trolley car as they were being driven in the yard Thursday night. Both horses were thrown to the ground and one of them was severely injured. The driver and motorman claim each was to blame.

Scott Fined $4.

John Scott, who failed to appear yesterday morning in city court to answer the charge of violating the health ordinance, was picked up by the police yesterday afternoon and haled before City Judge Runyon to tell his side of the story. The Judge decided that he was guilty and fined him $4 and costs.

MISSION WORK IN JAPAN.

Miss Anna Thompson Gives an Interesting Description of Her Work in Yokohoma.

The members and friends of The Young Women's Mission Band spent a most interesting and profitable hour in the lecture room of Trinity Reformed church last evening, listening to an address by Miss Anna Thompson, a teacher from Ferris Seminary, Yokohoma, Japan.

Miss Thompson has been in this particular line of missionary work for the past thirteen years, that of educating the mind and body and so preparing the way for receiving Christ's message. The Japanese are desirous for their children to receive English teaching, and many come to the seminary for that reason, and so the work of the missionary is not so hard as it otherwise would be. Many of the Japanese teachers in the seminary are graduates, and Miss Thompson said they make excellent instructors. She mentioned one who was about to marry a Christian Japanese, that was employed by an American at a salary of 150 yen per month, who gave up this lucrative position and became a teacher at the Seminary for 65 yen a month, because he could not continue to work for the American who conducted his business on such unchristian like principles.

Miss Thompson gave an idea of how a day was spent at Ferris Seminary. The pupils arise at 5 in the morning. The first hour is devoted to physical culture and then chapel exercises, alternately conducted in English and Japanese, are held, after which usual classes in arithmetic, geography, music, etc., come. Many remained after the close of the meeting to meet Miss Thompson and learn more about this branch of missionary work, in which she is interested.

ANDREW COX DEAD.

Temperance Worker Passed Away—Death Due to Heart Failure

Andred Cox, aged 62 years, died last evening at his home corner of East Third and Washington streets. Death was due to heart failue. Dr. Clawson had been treating Mr. Cox, but his trouble was of long standing and would not yield to the best of treatment.

Mr. Cox formerly lived in the Crescent Rink building, where he was janitor of the building. During the past year he was employed by M. Armstrong, the plumber, as a driver. He was a good Christian and temperance worker. The funeral services will be held from the residence of his daughter, Mrs. C. J. Curry, 99 Troupe street, New Brunswick, tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Friends and relatives, also members of Howell Division, No. 97, S. of T., are invited to attend.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the propreitors prepare Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cts. Druggists or by mail. The liquid embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation. Cream Balm is quickly absorbed by the membrane and does not dry up the secretions but changes them to a natural and healthy character. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

Monday Afternoon Club Lecture.

Henry VanDyke, D. D., L. L. D., of Princeton University, will deliver a lecture on "The Relation of the Nineteenth Century Literature to the Life of the Times," next Monday afternoon at All Souls' church, under the auspices of the Monday Afternoon Club.

Trolley Car Jumped the Track.

A trolley car running west on Front street last evening about 9:30 o'clock, jumped the track and reached the sidewalk before it was brought to a standstill. It required some time to place the car on the tracks again, but fortunately there was no damage.

Rev. Mr. Rapalye to Speak.

Rev. Daniel Rapalye, of Watchung avenue, who was for many years a missionary in China, will address the Volunteer League at the Y. M. C. A. on Monday evening. The subject will be "China." All men, whether members of the league or not, are invited.

Funeral of Miss Saums.

The funeral services of Miss Sophia Saums, of Clinton avenue, who died at Muhlenberg Hospital Thursday morning, will be held from the Monroe Avenue church tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. John McMurray, pastor of the church, will officiate.

Work Resumed.

—Do not get scared if your heart troubles you. Most likely you suffer from indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and gives the worn out stomach perfect rest. It is the only preparation known that completely digests all classes of foods; that is why it cures the worst cases of indigestion and stomach trouble after everything else has failed. It may be taken in all conditions and cannot help but do you good. L. W. Randolph.

LITERARY

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly has a large subscription list, but it should be larger. Its management is more energetic, its plans better than ever before. As an added stimulus toward an increase, the Monthly offers no less than two hundred and sixty four (264) prizes in cash to the men and women, boys and girls who show most energy in securing new subscribers. This offer means that time and energy will be well paid for.

The price of the magazine is one dollar a year. Its contents appeal directly to people who care for good and timely literature. A few spare hours a week will add to your income substantially. If you want work that will pay you, write for terms to Frank Leslie Publishing House, 141-147 Fifth avenue, New York. 11 3 4 oaw

The November number of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly is timely, varied and interesting. The opening article, "Election Day," written by L. J. Lang, who has been a political reporter for twenty years and more, draws a remarkable picture of the revolution wrought by the laws of ballot reform, and tells a number of stories of political methods under the old regime, which to the voter of today seem simply incredible. The contribution of the greatest present interest in the number is undoubtedly the remarkably fair-minded and intelligent article on the great coal strike in Pennsylvania by Earl W. Mayo. Mr. Mayo's information is so recent that the magazine has evidently been printed with a speed altogether uncommon, when we consider the excellence of both letter-press and illustrations. The article shows a spirit of enterprise which the public will, we believe, fully appreciate.

Trolley Matter Not Taken Up.

The street committee from the Borough Council expected to have something to say last evening relative to the condition of Somerset street as left by the Plainfield Street Railway Company, but the matter was laid over for the present owing to some improvements which the company proposes to make very soon. In connection with opening a street or making excavations of any kind, the company must bear in mind that unless the proper permit to do this work is obtained from the officials, they will be held liable under an ordinance providing for the issuance of such permits.

Arranging for Election Returns.

Linemen in the employ of the Postal Telegraph Company have been about town today placing special wires for use on election night. Connections have already been made with the Park Club, U. S. Grant Club, Hotel Kensington and J. M. Hillman Association, where returns will be received and read by operators.

Much Political Mail.

The letter-carriers are very busy just now owing to the great amount of political mail matter that is going through the local office. These servants of Uncle Sam will rejoice with many others when election is over.

THE PYTHON AND THE PIG.

Serpent Was to Have Eaten Porker. But There Was a Vice Versa Ending.

The trading ship St. Regulus arrived at New York a few days ago and an extraordinary incident in connection with her voyage from Hong-Kong is thus related by the New York Sun poet:

It was the ship St. Regulus from far across the sea brought into port on Tuesday night a pig and pythons three. The manifest with which she steamed away from Singapore originally specified one pig and pythons four. According to the well-laid plans the pig was doomed to make a meal of pork and bacon to expand the largest snake. But best laid plans oft go awry and best made schemes oft fail; the pig it was that ate the snake. Whereof the bo'sn's tale:

"'Twas out in latitude 18 and longitude 61; or p'rhaps the other way around, but that don't matter none. At any rate, 'twas out upon Atlantic's heavin' breast. The wind, I think, was nothe-nothe-east, and maybe sou-sou-west. Well, anyhow, we had aboard four pythons of a breed that gets along for months without a single bite of feed. The biggest one, I understand, he hadn't et this year, and so we thought he might get keen before we landed here. That's why we shipped the pig, d'ye see, to furnish him a meal. We chucked him in the python's cage; he never made a squeal, but just perked up an' worked his nose an' kinder sniffed the air as if to say: 'If feedin's on, why I could do my share.'

"'Give him some grub,' the old man says. I fed him up on duff an' in a day or two I seen that pig was gettin' tough. You might a' thought the snake'd take an' scoff him right away, but pythons is almighty slow, an' this one, he jus' lay an' smiled upon that growin' pig an' licked his wicked chops, an' watched the pig a-waltzin' 'roun' the cage in jerky hops. He went so quick it seemed to make the python dizzylike; he couldn't get a chance to aim, an' didn't want to strike an' miss; an' so he waited for the pig to get wore out. That's where he fooled his bloomin' self. The pig kept gettin' stout an' tough and stronger every day, an' blast my twinklin' stars 'f I didn't catch him sharpenin' his teeth agin the bars.

"Well, on the mornin' of that day his snakelets got awake, an' looked around for breakfast of a kind to suit a snake. The pig, he stood as firm an' still as if he had been tied; he didn't care to wander from his blessed own fireside. The crew was all a-crowdin' 'roun' to see the comin' show. We seen the python wag his head, grim, murderous an' slow. 'Good-by, my pig,' the captain says, 'I guess it's up to you to do a lingr'in' disappearance act from public view.' Just as he spoke the python made a galley-smashin' lunge. If it had ever caught that pig he'd crumpled like a sponge. It didn't, though. The pig he dodged, and didn't do a thin' but board that snake amidships and stave his port side in. Then there was ructions! Smash an' bang all roun' the little cage. The pig was full of grit an' fight; the snake was mad with rage. Now, a python's a constrictor, an' he wanted to constrict, but we seen he couldn't do it an' we knowed that he was licked. Try as he would to get a hold he mighty sudden found he hadn't got no center to constrict himself around. The pig had gouged his center out as clean as with a knife. You bet that snake was leadin' what they call the strenuous life, but twasn't long before he took a deep an' hissin' breath, an' done the couchee-couchee to a still more strenuous death. We hove the remnants overboard an' then the captain moans: 'Two hundred dollars wuth of snake gone down to Davy Jones.' Next day we let the pig go loose, an' split my garboard strake 'f we didn't catch him rootin' for the second biggest snake! From that time on we kept him in a double-ironed sty. So that's the endin' of my yarn. Say, mate, I'm bleedin' dry!"

CUT IN TROLLEY WAGES.

Conductors and Motormen Now Get the Same Pay.

It was learned yesteday that beginning with last Monday the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company fixed the scale of wages for all motormen and conductors at 18 cents per hour. The motorment formerly got $2 a day and the conductors $1 75 for ten hours. The cut is not a big one.

NINETY-ONE INSTANCES IN WHICH APPLICATIONS WERE GRANTED.

Thirty-Nine Were Refused—Valuation of Real Estate Was Reduced in Fifty Cases—Total Number of Applications Were 130.

The work of the Commissioners of Appeal of this city has been completed for this year and last Saturday their report was filed. The report shows that the total number of applications to reduce valuation on real estate were eighty, of which fifty were granted, making a reduction of $19,475 on the assessments as made by the Board of Assessors. The amount of tax that will be remitted by this action is $479.11. The next highest sum involving reductions is in the applications to correct errors in the personal valuations. There were eight such cases, the Commissioners scaling down the figures of the Assessors to the amount of $13,300, making $327.18 the tax remitted.

The synopsis of the work done by the Commissioners is as follows:

NEWMAN IN THE HOSPITAL.

Victim of the New Brunswick Tough's Jealousy Accepted Dr. Van-Horn's Advice.

Acting upon the advice of Dr. Van-Horn, John Newman, of West Third street, who was shot in the knee Friday night, returned to the hospital Saturday. One of the bullets is still imbedded in the knee but will probably be removed today. The wounds have swollen considerably and will confine the man to the hospital for some time.

Richard Roach, who did the shooting, has been committed to Elizabeth in default of $500 bail. Tunis McCauley who was held as a witness secured a bondsman and was released. He was to re-appear in the city court this morning and answer a charge of carrying concealed weapons but he failed to show up.

PLAY IS ENDED FOR PRESIDENT'S TROPHY.

Edgar I. Serrell Won the Cup at the Park Golf Club for This Season.

COMPETITION SATURDAY.

ELABORATE PROGRAMME OF EVENTS AT THE LINKS ELECTION DAY.

Only Two Players Competed for President's Cup Saturday—Play for Charles Hyde Holiday Cup Tomorrow—Other Competitions in the Afternoon.

Play for the President's cup ended for this season on the links of the Park Golf Club Saturday. It was a foregone conclusion, however, a week ago as to who would hold the cup for the next twelve months. Edgar I. Serrell has scored fourteen points during the season which is three and a half points better than anybody else's total. As was stated in the Press a week ago, the trophy, which has been played for every Saturday afternoon all summer, will now pass into the possession of Serrell to be played for again next year. Victory for two successive years gives the cup as permanent property. It was offered by Charles W. McCutchen, president of the club.

Only two golfers braved the rain and mist of Saturday afternoon and turned in scores for the president's cup. The course was very soft and slow so the scores were much higher than the average. Senator Charles A. Reed was first and S St. John McCutchen second. Senator Reed, by his victory of Saturday, finishes sixth for the trophy and Mr. McCutchen eighth.

An error was made last week in announcing the scores. First honors were then divided between W. de la R Anderson and George T. Rogers, instead of J. H. Howell. Mr. Rogers ends the season in fourth place

Serrell took up golf last spring and he has made wonderful progress, now being classed as a scratch man. For over half the year he has played for the president's cup with little or no handicap, and during that time has scored his points for the trophy.

The standing for the president's cup is as follows:

Edgar I. Serrell	14
Allan B. Laing	10½
Morgan T. Townsend	10½
George T. Rogers	9
Wm. R. Faber	8½
Charles A. Reed	8½
Meredith Dryden	8
S. St. J. McCutchen	7 5-6
W. de la R. Anderson	6½
H. D. Hibbard	6
W. J. R. Thiers	5
Gustavus W. Faber	4½
Wm. M. McCutchen	4
Samuel Townsend	3
George C. Worth	3
Herbert S. Rogers	3
J. H. Simpson	3

Scattering—Henry C. Wells, Gustavus W Faber, Donald A. McGee, Charles B. Morse, J. D. Sandford, Townsend Bushmore, Charles Dupee, Frank Rogers, Roger F. Murray, Wm. A. Townsend and J. H. Howell.

The standing for the green committee challenge trophy is as follows:

W. J. R. Thiers	10
Morgan T. Townsend	7
Gustavus W. Faber	2
W. de la R. Anderson	1
Fred P. Taylor	1
Edgar I. Serrell	1

The weekly match for the green committee challenge trophy between Morgan T. Townsend, holder, and H. T. Hibbard, challenger, was deferred until tomorrow morning by the mutual consent of the interestad ones.

An elaborate programme of events are announced for Election Day at the links of the Park Golf Club. In the morning, the third and last preliminary round of medal play for the Charles Hyde holiday cup will be played. The four players, who compete in at least two out of three preliminary rounds and whose average net scores are the lowest, will qualify for the semi-finals, match play, which are scheduled for Thanksgiving Day.

In the afternoon there will be a mixed foursome handicap, nine holes, medal play, starting at 2 o'clock; a men's driving contest, starting at 2:30 o'clock, and a mixed approaching and putting contest, starting at 3:30 o'clock.

CHAIRMAN MURPHY SMILES

SAYS THAT DEMOCRATS ARE SURE OF ONLY ONE CONGRESSMAN.

That is in the Seventh District—Declares That the Undercurrent of the Vote Will be Favorable to the G. O. P.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, Nov. 5—The work of the Republican State committee is done, and Chairman Franklin Murphy is wearing a yard-wide smile of satisfaction. Reports from all the counties at the last meeting were the most satisfactory ever received before an election.

"I do not often agree with Colonel Price in his political opinions,' said Mr. Murphy, "but this is one of the times that his opinion and mine coincide. The Colonel says there is an undercurrent in this campaign that will surprise the Democrats themselves. He also anticipates a political landslide in the campaign, but it is settling towards us and not in the direction the Colonel thinks. And it is an undercurrent that will, as the Colonel says, surprise the Democrats themselves. The landslide has a tendency in our direction, too.

"From the reports submitted by the State Committeemen and the chairmen of the various County Committees," continued the State chairman, "I see no reason to change my opinion of the result of the fight at the polls next Tuesday. The indications still point to a majority for President McKinley of 40,000 to 50,000.

"The reports show that the Republicans will elect Congressmen in the First district, composed of Camden, Cape May, Cumberland, Gloucester and Salem counties; in the Second district, Atlantic, Mercer, Burlington and Ocean counties; in the Third, Somerset, Middlesex and Monmouth; the Fifth, Passaic and Bergen; the Sixth, Newark and East Orange; the Eighth, Union county, Bayonne and the municipalities of Essex outside of Newark and East Orange. The Fourth is a fight which we view hopefully, and which we hope to win. We do not claim the Seventh, but no one can tell what may happen when the people are aroused, as they are in this campaign."

ENGINEER DUNHAM'S JOB.

Supervised Improvement of the Main Business Street of the City of Wellsville, N. Y.

Civil Engineer Dunham has just completed the engineering and supervision of paving and improving the main business street of the city of Wellsville, N. Y.

The kind of material used was vitrified brick made at Hornellsville, N. Y. All the sewer, water and gas connections were put in and given time to thoroughly consolidate before the paving proper began. The foundation for the brick is concrete, six inches in depth upon which a cushion of sand, one and one-half inches in depth was laid, upon which the brick was laid on edge at right angles to the curb. Between the joints a liquid grout, consisting of part sand and part Portland cement, was run in. At certain intervals and along the gutter a pitch filler was run in to allow for expansion and contraction.

The work was under the personal supervision of E. M. Vail, of this city. Mr. Dunham, on account of his other engagements, only being able to be on the ground a small part of the time. The property owners in general are delighted with the job, and intend to improve other streets next year.

Receivership for Lincoln.

The Chancery Court was to have heard on Monday last week the arguments of the New Jersey Mutual Realty Company why a receiver should not be appointed for that concern, which is the owner of the town of Lincoln, but the procedings were adjourned for one week. P. G. Polhemus of Bound Brook and Silas Dewey Drake and John McIntyre, of Plainfield, the applicants for the writ, consented to the delay of a week. The hearing will come up before the Chancery Court at Jersey City today.

Elizabeth Theatre Sold.

The Lyceum Theatre, at Elizabeth, has been sold to counsel for Theodore K. Pembrook to satisfy a mortgage of $41,000. Mr. Pembrook pays $20,000 for the property. It is stated that a syndicate is being formed to purchase the theatre from its new owner.

Local Leaders Differ as to the Majority Plainfield Will Give the Republican Ticket.

G. O. P. MEN CLAIM 1,700.

DEMOCRATS THINK THEY WILL KEEP IT DOWN TO 1,000 OR 1,200.

Republicans Have Had Plenty of Money to Work With—Democrats Have Done Much More Work This Year Than Four Years Ago.

Tomorrow the 15,000,000 voters of the United States will choose their next President and Vice-President and incidentally select sundry Congressmen and county officials. Plainfield will, with the rest of the country, observe this National election as a holiday, and the 4,000 odd voters of this city will gather at the polls to cast their ballots for their respective candidates.

Each citizen of Plainfield will have the choice of six tickets when he goes to the polling places tomorrow. Of those six only two, the Republican and Democratic tickets, will cut any figure here. Plainfield is naturally so overwhelmingly Republican that the Republican candidates are certain to receive a large plurality of the votes cast here. The only subject on which the leaders of the rival parties disagree is the size of that plurality.

Four years ago the city gave McKinley a plurality of 1,665. At that time the Republicans were very enthusiastic and had a very strong organization. The Democratic forces were disrupted and made no concerted effort to get out the vote.

This year the Republicans are just as enthusiastic and have equally efficient organization. The Democrats are in the field, however, and, as far as their means permit, have been waging a lively campaign. The local Democratic organization has received no help from either county or State committee but has depended on the voluntary contributions of the local workers to meet its necessarily limited expenses. The Republican party has had liberal subscriptions from local Republicans and the so called "sound money" Democrats. The four ward organizations have had charge of the collecting. It is understood that a considerable sum of money will also be sent out today by the G. O. P. county committee.

It is known that some Plainfielders who voted for McKinley four years ago although they were Democrats, will cast their ballots for Bryan this year. How large this return to the Democratic party will be, no one will be able to tell until the ballots are counted tomorrow evening. The vote four years ago in Plainfield was the heaviest on record. The vote tomorrow will undoubtedly surpass it. The local Republican leaders are confident that they will hold their own and even do better than they did four years ago. Republican estimates of the city plurality run from 1,600 to 2,000. The general opinion of the majority of the members of the city campaign committee is that McKinley's vote will be greater than Bryan's by 1,700.

Four years ago New Jersey went Republican by over 80,000. There are nearly 2,000 election districts in the State and the Democratic managers calculate that if they can gain forty votes in each district, they can win the State for Bryan. The local Democratic leaders believe that they will be able to reduce the Republican plurality by at least 40 votes in each election district of the city. They say that if the rest of the State does as well as they expect to do, New Jersey will surely go for Bryan. The Democrats admit that the normal plurality of 800 will be increased by the Republicans but they do not believe that the figures of four years ago will be reached. They estimate the city plurality for McKinley at from 1,000 to 1,200.

The morning mail delivery was greatly increared today by the several thousand circulars and tickets sent out by the Republican ward associations. The Democrats made no effort to reach the voters by mail. Both parties will try, however, to induce their voters to go to the polls as early as possible.

Chairman Gourley, of the Democratic State Committee, Fairly Glows With Hope.

COUNTS STATE FOR BRYAN.

PREDICTS NEW JERSEY WILL GIVE 5,000 DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY.

Also Says Democrats Will Elect Four of the Eight Congressmen and Six of the Eight Senators to be Balloted for in This State.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, Nov. 5—The Democratic State Committee Saturday afternoon held its last session prior to election, and the committee arranged the final plans for election day.

Chairman Gourley issued this statement: "Every committeeman reports his county in splendid condition, and that they never saw the people so stirred as they are in this campaign. Every indication the political managers would look for is present, and means Democratic success. I am aware that the Republicans have a large campaign fund, but they can't debauch the State. At the present hour the State is for Bryan, and will be so on Election day. Special word has been sent to each precinct leader to watch the polls closely and see that the count is honest. The attempted Republican intimidation of employes by employers has not been so beneficial to the Republican party as it had hoped. At every Republican parade in the State employes have been forced by employers to parade to save their jobs. These men will vote for Bryan although wearing McKinley buttons.

"Bryan and Stevenson will carry the State by from 5,000 to 10,000 majority; we will elect four of eight Congressmen, and six of eight State Senators. As to the Assembly, I cannot give out my estimate just yet."

General Heppenheimer stated for Hudson county that he was not a rainbow chaser, and he figured that there was 6,000 majority for Bryan in Hudson. He said the local ticket would win easily. Colonel E. L. Price declared that McKinley's majority in Essex would be held down to 2,000. He said that Essex's Republican county ticket would run behind that. Senator Keys, Senator Cornish and other committeemen reported most encouragingly upon the majorities their counties will give Bryan.

DEATH OF YOUNG MAN.

Parker Mason, a Bright Young Fellow Succumbs to an Attack of the Typhoid Fever.

The death of Parker W. Mason, which occurred at his home on Stelle avenue early Sunday morning from an attack of typhoid fever lasting some weeks, has caused deep sorrow among a large circle of friends. He was taking a special course in Mr. Leal's school where he had endeared himself to both teachers and fellow pupils by many lovable traits. He was a favorite in the younger set of Plainfield society and an active member of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. In each of these he will be greatly missed. But it was his home life that he showed the sweetness and tenderness of his character.

Ever since the sudden death two years ago of his father, he has been a devoted and thoughtful son and the constant companion of his mother's. Deep sympathy is felt by every one for Mrs. Mason in her bereavement. Funeral services will be held at his late residence tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

APPEAL TO DEMOCRATS.

James E. Martine Urges Voters to Record Their Convictions Through the Ballot Box.

To the Democrats of the City of Plainfield:—

The crisis is at hand! This is a contest of greed against need. The people are in this fight for liberty and justice against the tyranny of trusts and the oligarchy of the money power. Democrats, stand firm. Be not intimidated by threats, but vote your convictions. I appeal to you—vote for your convictions. Vote for Bryan and Stevenson. J. E. Martine.

DEATH CAME SUDDEN TO DR C H. CLARK

His Lifeless Body Found in His Office This Morning by W. A. Woodruff.

DIED DURING THE NIGHT.

COUNTY PHYSICIAN SAYS END WAS DUE TO NATURAL CAUSES.

His Family Alarmed This Morning When It Was Found That He Had Not Been Home During the Night—Well Known.

Dr. Charles H. Clark, the well-known dentist, residing on Grove street, was found dead in his office on West Front street, over H. E. Gayle's hardware store, about 9 o'clock this morning. There was every indication that death occurred some time during the early part of last evening. County Physician Westcott, after an examination, stated that he believed it was due to apoplexy.

The last time Dr. Clark was seen alive was about 8 o'clock last evening. He was home to dinner, but failed to go home at supper time. About 8 o'clock his son-in-law, Charles Grannatt, stopped at the office and Dr. Clark appeared to be busy. He was not disturbed and nothing unusual was noticed about his condition or actions. He frequently remained at his office during the evening as patrons would often choose that time to be treated.

The doctor's family thought that he had come home during the evening, and it was not known otherwise until this morning when he failed to come down to breakfast. Members of the family then went to his room and learned that he had not been home during the night. They then became worried. Mrs. Grannatt hastened to her father's office, where she found the door locked. She called W. A. Woodruff, the insurance agent, whose office is across the hallway. She told him that her father had not been home and foul play was suspected. She asked him to open her father's office and see if he was there.

Mr. Woodruff was obliged to get into Mr. Clark's office through a front window, as the door was fastened. He climbed along the ledge and as soon as he entered the dentist's office he saw the body lying on the floor. Beside it was a Sunday newspaper. There was every appearance that he had been reading the paper and while doing so was stricken with apoplexy. The body was partially doubled up and when Undertaker Runyon was called in later it was decided that death had occurred early last evening. It was rigid and considerable blood had rushed to the head, discoloring the face. On a desk nearby was a number of papers and a dictionary which Dr. Clark had evidently been using.

As soon as Mr. Woodruff entered the room and learned the facts he opened the door and informed Mrs. Grannatt as to what had happened. The daughter was so prostrated with grief that she almost fainted away. She became hysterical and stimulants from Shaw's drug store were obtained at once. In the meantime Dr. Frederick Straughn, of Park avenue, was summoned and he prescribed for Mrs. Grannatt. Dr. Westcott, the county physician, was also summoned and he gave a permit to remove the body for burial. In his opinion death was due entirely to natural causes, as there were no evidences of foul play or suicide.

Dr. Clark had been a resident of Plainfield for many years. His office was originally in the Stillman building in West Front street. He afterward opened an office corner of Park avenue and Front street, and later he established an office at his home corner of East Front street and Bank place. He remained there but a short time when he moved to Bound Brook and opened an office. Business was not good at that place and he soon returned to this city and opened an office over H. E. Gayle's hardware store in West Front street, where he was having good success.

Dr. Clark was esteemed by all who knew him. He was a man of sterling character and highly regarded. During the many years he lived in Plainfield he won the confidence and respect of a great many people. His death is not only a severe blow to his family, but to many friends who had learned to admire him.

The deceased leaves a wife and three daughters. The daughters are Mrs. Charles Grannatt, Mrs. Adolphus Fryer and Miss Edith Clark.

Dr. Clark was sixty years of age. He was born in Greenwich, N. Y., where he has a mother living.

O'NEIL, THOUGHT TO BE DEAD, TURNS UP.

Railroad Victim Was Identified Positively as the Man Who Now Appears in Life.

STRANGE TALE UNFOLDED.

DEAD MAN'S REMAINS WERE CLAIMED BY O'NEIL'S RELATIVES.

Now the Question Propounds Itself, Who is the Dead Man?—Live Man Under Arrest as a Deserter From Marine Corps.

After having been positively identified by a score of acquaintances, including his brother-in-law and former sweetheart, John O'Neil's supposed body was buried in the family plot last Tuesday and he had been mourned as one dead. To the intense amazement of his family and friends, O'Neil appeared Thursday night, as he expressed it, to investigate his death. He was arrested in Philadelphia by Detectives McCracken and Rhody as a deserter from the U. S. Marine corps.

He stoutly denied the charge, declaring that on account of physical disability he could not enter the corps. Some one else, he said, must have enlisted under his name. He declared that he had been living in Chester, Pa., and hearing that a man supposed to have been him had been killed in Plainfield, he had come home to inform his family that they had the wrong man. The latter, however, had buried the body and all funeral expenses had been paid.

There was no doubt though that a mistake was made, and the question now arises, Who was the man killed at Clinton avenue ten days ago? That he strongly resembled O'Neil is certain, but the appearance of the latter leaves the mystery as deep as ever.

The body when found was taken to Cole's undertaking establishment. O'Neil's former fellow employes at the Pond Tool Works declared it was him. His former sweetheart from High Bridge and his brother-in law came to this city and also identified the remains. The latter had them taken to Philadelphia and interred after an impressive church service. They will undoubtedly be allowed to remain, but the identity of the man will never be learned.

STRUCK BY TROLLEY CAR.

Milk Wagon of Charles Peterson was Wrecked—He was Quite Badly Shaken Up.

While going at full speed along West Fourth street early yesterday morning, car No. 1, of the street railway, struck and completely demolished a milk wagon at the corner of Central avenue. The vehicle belonged to Charles Peterson, of Greenbrook road, who, with his little daughter, were seated inside. Before the car could be stopped the wagon, together with the horse, was carried over 100 feet when the latter broke from the harness and ran away. Peterson was badly shaken up and cut considerably about the head and face. The girl escaped injury.

The accident seems to have been caused by Peterson's turning from the side of the road on to the track directly in front of the car which he had not seen. Motorman Glenn made every effort to avoid the accident but without success. The force of the collision stove in the front of the car and wrecked the vestibule. It was taken to the car house for repairs. Peterson was attended to by Dr. Fritts and was afterward assisted home.

Election Day Football Games.

Two exciting football games are scheduled to take place on the gridiron at Martine Common tomorrow. In the morning, beginning at ten o'clock, the elevens of the Plainfield High School and Leal's School will meet for the second time this season. The Bedford A. C., one of the strongest amateur elevens of Brooklyn, will play the Alis A. A. at 2:30 o'clock. The Alis team has been considerably strengthened for the game.

MR. BRYAN AT HOME.

Reaches Lincoln After an Absence of Over Five Weeks.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 5.—Colonel W. J. Bryan and Mrs. Bryan arrived at their home in this city at 6 o'clock last evening, coming direct from Chicago. They were driven to their residence on D street, where Mr. Bryan remained until this morning, when he started upon a flying trip through Nebraska, devoting the last day of the campaign to his own state.

When Mr. and Mrs. Bryan arrived in Lincoln, they found a large number of their friends at the depot, and some of the more zealous of them gave loud cheers upon the appearance of the Democratic candidate on the train platform. Many of them escorted him to his residence, and still others were found there awaiting his arrival. The trip from Chicago was comparatively quiet. Mr. Bryan has been absent from his home for about five and a half weeks, having left this city on the 27th of last September. Since the campaign began he has traveled 16,000 miles and delivered 600 speeches. The greater part of the tour just concluded was made on the special car Rambler, which for the most part was attached to special trains. During the tour speeches have been made in succession in Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, New York, West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey. Incidental visits were also made to the states of Kentucky, Virginia, Pennsylvania and Connecticut.

Mr. Bryan's health has improved from the beginning of his tour, and he has never been under the necessity of resorting to a physician for advice or assistance. For the most part the weather has been excellent, and no engagement to speak has been broken.

BRITISH APPOINTMENTS.

Irish Secretaryship Goes to Mr. Wyndham.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The Times announces this morning that Mr. George Wyndham, who was parliamentary undersecretary of state for war in the late cabinet, will probably be appointed chief secretary for Ireland. It says it is also likely that Mr. Walter Hume Long, who was president of the board of agriculture, will become president of the local government board and that Mr. Robert William Hanbury, who was financial secretary to the treasury, will be given the postmaster generalship, with a seat in the cabinet.

According to the same authority the Marquis of Londonderry will be appointed president of the board of agriculture, and Mr. Austin Chamberlain will be removed from the post of civil lord of the admiralty to that of financial secretary to the treasury. For minor posts Mr. Hugh Oakeley Arnold-Forster, Lord Stanley and Lord Cranborne, eldest son of the premier, are named.

It is probable that Earl Cadogan, lord lieutenant of Ireland, will defer his resignation for some months.

The seals of office will be exchanged at a council to be held at Windsor castle Nov. 12.

Last Sunday In Canton.

CANTON, O., Nov. 5.—President McKinley's last Sunday in Canton for some time to come was very similar to other Sundays of the summer vacation spent here. He took Mrs. McKinley for her usual morning drive and then went to the First Methodist church, where he usually worships. During the afternoon they took another drive. There was a number of callers during the day. Preparations for receiving the election news at the house are completed. Telegraph and telephone wires have been strung in numbers sufficient to quickly handle all of the returns. Today will be largely devoted to packing up and preparing for the return to Washington on Wednesday.

First Sailing of New Steamship Line.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The new steamer Waccamaw, in command of Captain Miller, has sailed from this port for Georgetown, S. C. This is the first sailing from this port of a steamer of the new Atlantic Coast Steamship company, which proposes to operate a fleet of six steamers between Georgetown, S. C., and northern seaboard cities as far as Boston. The vessels, two of which are completed and the others building, are designed especially for the purpose of carrying lumber.

Two Liners Aground.

HAMBURG, Nov. 5.—The Hamburg-American line twin screw steamers Furst Bismarck, Captain Barends, bound from this port for New York via Southampton and Cherbourg, and the Pretoria, Captain Karlowa, from here bound to New York by way of Boulogne and Plymouth, both went aground while passing down the Elbe at Schulau, about 13 miles from here. Assistance has been sent from here to help the stranded vessels off.

Lieutenant Peary's Mother Dead.

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 5.—Mrs. Mary Peary, mother of Lieutenant Peary, the explorer, now in the arctic regions, is dead at her home in South Portland. Mrs. Peary, who was 73 years old, suffered a stroke of paralysis Wednesday night and had been steadily sinking since. Besides two nieces and her only son, of whom she was very proud, Mrs. Peary is survived by a sister and a brother.

Eruption of Kilauea Feared.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—A schooner from Hilo, Hawaii, has brought news of four severe shocks of earthquake on Oct. 11. These were so heavy and were accompanied by such loud rumblings that residents are expecting another eruption of the great volcano of Kilauea.

Electric Cars Collide.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 5.—Two electric cars on the Cincinnati, Lawrenceburg and Aurora Electric railway collided near Cleves, O., owing to a misunderstanding of orders. The cars were wrecked and 11 persons injured, some seriously, none fatally.

Goebel Prisoners Removed.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 5.—James Howard, under sentence of death, and Henry Youtsey, sentenced to life imprisonment, in connection with the shooting of Governor Goebel, have been removed to the Louisville jail for safe keeping.

Two Women Burned to Death.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Nov. 5.—While W. H. Burnham, postmaster of Greg[illegible], was attending a [illegible] meeting in the new opera house [illegible] last night, outside the village, was destroyed by fire and his wife and her sister were burned to death.

SITUATION AT NOME.

Department Commander Randall's Interesting Report.

ARRIVAL OF TROOPS WAS TIMELY.

The Beach Practically Worked Out Last Year—Alaska Natives Perishing For Want of Food—Government Relief Recommended.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Brigadier General George M. Randall, commanding the department of Alaska, under date of Sept. 20, at St. Michael, has submitted his annual report. A great deal of the report is devoted to conditions at Nome, which he found upon his arrival at a critical stage. It was difficult to obtain convictions by jury trial in the United States commissioner's court, which emboldened the lawless. Labor organizations prevented men from working for less than $1 an hour and were the cause of much destitution and want and destruction of property.

Fully 18,000 people arrived at Nome in June. Claim jumping was the order of the day. Nearly every one seemed to think he had a divine right to take possession of a claim or town lot wherever found. Many property owners were disposed to defend their rights by taking the law in their own hands. The arrival of troops prevented bloodshed and serious disorder.

On the request of the chamber of commerce the military took charge, thoroughly examined into all complaints and where the rights of property could be determined placed it in the possession of the lawful owner. Captain W. A. Bethel, who acted as judge advocate in these cases, is highly praised by General Randall.

The sanitary conditions were placed under the charge of Major Charles E. Eber, surgeon, who has heretofore reported upon conditions. The energetic efforts of the military improved these conditions during the summer.

There were about 500 men working on the beach at Nome with machinery at one time, and many declined to give answers concerning the prospects for gold, while others admitted they were taking out only from $4 to $6 a day. The beach was practically worked out last year. The tundra is believed to be rich, but it would require large capital to produce results. There is a large area of country which has not been prospected where gold can yet be found, but it requires men of experience to develop such a country. General Randall discusses the various points where mining operations have been in progress, which have come to the knowledge of the public in reports from Alaska. He says it has been decided to establish a permanent military post on the island of St. Michael.

General Randall devotes considerable space to the natives of Alaska and says that the Eskimo has been unnoticed by those he has befriended and has been allowed to die for the lack of proper care and food. For years he has extended his hospitality to adventurous white men, and his hut has been the shelter for shipwrecked sailor and frostbitten miner. From all points, Cape York, Port Clarence, Topek, Golofin bay, Yukon river and elsewhere, reports have been received of sickness, starvation and mortality so great that it promised to wipe out almost the entire race. Lieutenant T. H. Jarvis of the United States revenue service reported these facts to General Randall, and the tug Meteor was placed at his disposal for relief work and about 100 destitute natives cared for at Nome. The revenue cutter Bear has been distributing supplies to the destitute natives, while others in the vicinity of Fort St. Michael have been cared for by the commanding officer of that post. The work of Lieutenant Jarvis is highly commended by General Randall.

In closing this particular feature of his report General Randall says:

"In many parts of the United States provision has been made for the Indian. Reservations have been set apart for him and food and clothing supplied. In Alaska it was not necessary heretofore to do much, but the great rush of white men that followed the discoveries of gold has completely changed everything. The game and fur bearing animals have about disappeared, and the natives' means of sustenance are gone.

"I therefore recommend that the government afford some relief to the natives until such time as they can take care of themselves."

Portugal's Queen Saves a Life.

LISBON, Nov. 5.—On Tuesday last Queen Marie Amelie saved a fisherman named Catalao from drowning at Cascaes, 15 miles west of Lisbon, where the royal family is staying. The fisherman had just landed the queen from a rowboat and was turning around when the boat capsized, and he was thrown into the water. Her majesty, who is a good swimmer, plunged into the sea and reached Catalao, who was sinking. With the help of two other fishermen she brought him to shore, when it was found that one of his legs was broken. He was taken to the royal residence, where the queen is superintending his care.

Explosion and Fire.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—An explosion and fire yesterday afternoon completely wrecked the five story building at 498 Broome street, partly occupied by Alfred Bleyer & Co., wholesale dealers in paper and twine. The origin of the fire is unknown, and mystery is attached to the explosion. The police and firemen advanced a theory that the explosion had been caused by the hot air from the fire, which found no means of egress from the building, which was closed. They believed, too, that escaping gas may have been responsible for the explosion. The loss is estimated at $75,000.

Marconi's Repeated Success.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Successful experiments with Marconi's system of wireless telegraphy were made on Saturday night from the mail boat Princess Clementine while she was steaming from Ostend to Dover. The first demonstration was made while the steamer was actually passing the mast erected on the land at La Panne, between Ostend and Dunkirk. Constant messages were sent to and fro at the rate of 20 words a minute until Dover, which is 61 miles distant, was reached.

Killed by a Fall.

ROME, N. Y., Nov. 5.—James F. McKee, aged 69, of Faberg, a veteran of the civil war, fell from a wagon here, striking on his head, breaking his neck and dying instantly.

TASK FOR KITCHENER

Lord Roberts Leaves Him In Supreme Command.

BOERS CONTINUE HARASSING TACTICS

Plans of the New Leader For Subduing the Enemy—Imposing Ceremonies at Prince Christian Victor's Funeral.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Lord Roberts, according to dispatches from Cape Town, has taken his sick daughter to Johannesburg, and Lord Kitchener is left in command. It seems likely that he will have plenty of work. General De Wet is reported to have made his appearance near Frankfort, in the northeastern corner of Orange River Colony, and small bodies of Boers continue harassing tactics.

It is asserted that Lord Kitchener intends to stop the pursuit of commandoes and to try to settle the colonies by garrisoning and organizing the towns for rapid raids with mounted troops.

"Prince Christian Victor's end," says a Pretoria dispatch, dated Nov. 1, "was sudden and unexpected, although he had been unconscious for three days. The body was embalmed, and preparations were being made to take it to England when the telegram arrived announcing the queen's desire that the prince be buried in a soldier's grave. This ceremony was performed today.

"An imposing array of troops lined the route for two miles to the cemetery. The cortege included the Royal Canadians, who are about to start for home. The pallbearers were Generals Kelly-Kenny, Brabazon, Wood, Marshall, Maxwell and Baden-Powell. The chief mourners were Lord Roberts, Prince Francis of Teck, Lord Kitchener and Colonel Campbell. Crowds of the townspeople attended."

Lord Rosslyn has brought his dispute with Mr. Winston Spencer Churchill before the Prince of Wales, who is colonel in chief of the regiments concerned. The earl has written the prince to deny that he imputed dishonorable conduct to the regiment, offering to apologize should an official inquiry prove that he has been misinformed.

Governor Roosevelt at Home.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Governor Roosevelt spent a quiet Sunday at his Oyster Bay home. In the morning he attended the services at the Episcopal church. After dinner he took a long walk through the woods, reaching home again about 6 o'clock. There were no callers during the day. The governor said he had received no messages of any kind. He says he feels no ill effect of his long campaigning trip. He was not even hoarse. Tonight he will speak at the Republican demonstration at Oyster Bay and close the campaign. Special trains will be run from all the principal points of the island. On Tuesday the governor will vote early and will probably devote the rest of the day to his family until the returns begin to arrive in the evening. He has made no arrangements to have detailed returns arrive at the house and will depend upon the reports that are received in the village.

Cubans Mourn Spanish Consul.

HAVANA, Nov. 5.—The funeral of Senor Sagrario, former Spanish consul general, which took place yesterday, was the occasion of a general manifestation of sorrow. The remains were taken from the Spanish Casino, where they had lain in state for two days, at 9 o'clock yesterday morning and escorted to Colon cemetery by a procession headed by the Spanish consul and Cuban officials. Senor Sagrario came to Cuba as Spain's representative at a time when the feeling between Spaniards and Cubans was very bitter. To his efforts the present better feeling is in a great measure due, and the Cuban press throughout the island has referred without exception in terms of regret to his death.

Railroad Construction Abandoned.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The Nicaraguan government has temporarily abandoned the construction of the proposed railroad from San Ubaldo, on Lake Nicaragua, to Rama, near Bluefields, on the Rama river, according to United States Consul Sorsby at San Juan del Norte in a communication to the department of state. He says it now appears that the purpose of the government is to build a line from Managua to La Paz, about 37 miles in length, forming a connecting link between the two divisions of the present government railway system and obviating the present costly and vexatious system of transferring by steamer across Lake Managua.

Repairs For Galveston Harbor.

GALVESTON, Nov. 5.—It is learned from an unofficial source that the board of army engineers which recently sat here will recommend the rehabilitation of all the Galveston fortifications and the repairing and raising of the jetties. The jetties cost about $7,000,000 and the fortifications about $500,000. The total damage by the storm was about $1,750,000. The work which the engineers will recommend will cost about $3,500,000.

Crew of the Mosquito Brought In.

QUEENSTOWN, Nov. 5.—The Cunard liner Saxonia, Captain Pritchard, from Boston Oct. 27, which has arrived here, brought 15 members of the crew of the fishing schooner Mary Mosquito, which the Saxonia sank off Gloucester on the day of her departure from Boston. One member of the crew was drowned. The Cunarder was not damaged.

Chile's Crisis Ends.

VALPARAISO, Chile, Nov. 5.—The cabinet crisis has been terminated by the formation of a coalition ministry made up in part as follows: Premier and minister of the interior, Marsano Sanchez Fontocilla; minister of foreign affairs, Alberto Gonzales Errazuriz; minister of finance, Manuel Covarrubias; minister of war, Arturo Besa.

Russia Should Act Alone.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 5.—The Rossitya, a newspaper of wide circulation, again emphasizes the importance of Russia's separate interests in China and demands that she should definitely abandon the concert of powers and negotiate a separate peace.

BERN, Nov. 5.—The referendum on the proposals to elect the standerath, or state council, by popular suffrage and the nationalrath, or national council, by proportional representation has resulted in the rejection of both by large majorities.

FATAL MINE EXPLOSION.

Accident In a West Virginia Colliery Causes Heavy Loss of Life.

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., Nov. 5.—From the best sources of information it is believed there are 20 victims of Saturday's mine disaster. The work of rescue is being pushed as rapidly as possible, but only 11 bodies have as yet been recovered. Four were alive when found. Ollie Marks, the boss, and his brother are dying. Thirty-two men were reported to have been in the mine, but the exact number of missing will not be known until there is a roll call. Several hundred dollars have been raised for relief.

At 1:30 o'clock Saturday morning a terrific explosion occurred at the Southern Coal and Transportation company's mines at Berrysburg, six miles from Philippi. The explosion was plainly heard in Philippi. The mine owners refuse to discuss it, saying it was caused by too heavy a charge of powder being used. The miners say it was caused by firedamp.

The disaster is one of the most horrible that ever occurred in this region. It is the first accident in the coal field which is being operated by the Southern Coal and Transportation company, and the mines have been running but a few months. Firedamp had been noticed for several days, and the attention of the mine foreman, it is said, had been called to the fact, but no attention was paid to it apparently, and the men continued to work. Buildings were shaken, and many thought it was an earthquake. Men and women rushed to the street in great excitement.

Explosion Caused by Dynamite.

PHILIPPI, W. Va., Nov. 5.—The work of clearing the mine at Berrysburg progressed so well that operations will be resumed today. It has been ascertained now that there were only 14 men in the mine and that the explosion was caused by dynamite and not by gas. The 14 men on the repair gang were all white, and they were working during the night. The list of victims as given Saturday night is correct.

A MONUMENT TO CARNOT.

President Loubet Attends the Unveiling at Lyons.

LYONS, France, Nov. 5.—No disorders marred the ceremony of unveiling the monument to the late President Carnot here or the luncheon tendered President Loubet by the Chamber of Commerce which followed the unveiling, although the Socialist committee had posted bills calling upon their followers to make the demonstration in protest against the Chamber of Commerce, which is regarded by them as Clerical and Reactionary.

M. Loubet was greeted with overwhelming acclamations, although occasionally along the route cries of "Vive la Sociale revolution" were heard, mingled with denunciations of the Clerical party. A few groups were dispersed by the police, but nothing in the nature of an organized demonstration developed.

There was an imposing mobilization of troops along the route to the monument. Cavalry, infantry and artillery were massed at the crossroads and in the squares, rendering another Carnot assassination impossible. The president's carriage was surrounded by cuirassiers. The entire city was hung with flags, and the crowd was immense.

German Corvette In a Fight.

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 5.—The German corvette Moewe, according to advices just received, has reached Sydney and reports that she was called on to quell a tribal war on one of the Admiralty islands. Word was received by her commander that a section of fighters armed with rifles from a pirate had butchered 150 natives, and the Moewe went to the scene. Arriving off the village, a landing party consisting of 120 Germans put off under four officers and opened fire on the rebellious natives. The latter made a stubborn stand and returned the fire of the landing party. Fortunately their aim was bad, and only three casualties resulted, six of the natives being shot down. Eventually the expedition returned to the warship, which steamed close into the beach and shelled the village with destructive results.

Moorehouse Thought to Be Dead.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The family of Benjamin Moorehouse, shipping clerk of Tarrant & Co., still mourn him as dead. He lived at Montclair, N. J. Mrs. Margaret Littell, a sister of Moorehouse, came to this city to learn if any news had been received as to the fate of her brother. Mrs. Littell is the widow of John Littell, the former proprietor of the Tarrant drug business, and is now one of the principal stockholders of the firm of Tarrant & Co. Charles W. Inglis, a Montclair lumber dealer, says that he has investigated the stories that Mr. Moorehouse is alive and is being kept out of the city by the drug firm and is convinced of their falsity. He says that he is sure the shipping clerk perished in the catastrophe and that his body or some portion of it will be found in the ruins.

Her Body Found In the Woods.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Nov. 5.—Mrs. Mollie McLeod of this place disappeared from her home on Friday, Oct. 26, and yesterday she was found dead in the woods on the crest of the Orange mountains. A bottle which is supposed to have contained poison lay near the body, and it is supposed she committed suicide. Mrs. McLeod's disappearance from home created considerable stir. It was thought she had wandered away while suffering from temporary mental trouble, and search for her was made in every direction. The police all over the country were asked to aid in finding her, and a watch was kept upon all the hospitals and morgues.

Playing Baseball In Cuba.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Nov. 5.—An international game of baseball played here between Cubans and Americans resulted in a victory for the Americans by a score of 8 to 4. The Americans, whose team included two former members of the National league and several collegians, were greatly surprised by the stiff game played by the Cubans, who had been practicing daily for some time. The Cuban team included several graduates of American universities.

Large Tannery Burned.

CITY OF MEXICO, Nov. 5.—A large tannery at Rancho del Chopo, near this city, was burned, with a loss estimated at $500,000. It was owned by a stock company in which were American, Mexican and German shareholders.

PROTECT THE INDIANS.

Agent Shoenfell Claims Unlawful Occupation of Their Lands.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—United States Indian Agent Shoenfell, in charge of the Union agency, whose jurisdiction comprises the five civilized tribes, protests in his annual report against unlawful occupation of the Indian lands and urges rigid congressional legislation to protect the Indian citizen against the encroachment of aggressive and grasping whites.

Of 2,000 complaints filed against noncitizens by Indians in the past fiscal year a large majority were against white men who in the past had intruded themselves upon the Indians and had gained their confidence to a sufficient degree to secure possession of their prospective allotments and after having secured possession refused either to pay rent or to vacate, thus preventing the Indians from receiving any rents or profits therefrom. Many of the Indians are too poor to institute suit for possession and therefore are left helpless.

The total population of the five civilized tribes is estimated at 84,750, comprising 20,250 Choctaws and freedmen, 10,500 Chickasaws and freedmen, 16,000 Creeks and freedmen, 35,000 Cherokees and freedmen and 3,000 Seminoles, and their lands comprise a total of 19,776,286 acres. The agent says there is now every reason to believe that the Indian depredations and disturbances in the five tribes' region are at an end. A few full blooded Creeks are strenuously opposing the allotments of lands and have banded together and refused to appear to select their allotments. A large majority of the Creeks, however, have actually made their selections. The report recommends that congress appropriate out of the Cherokee funds a sufficient amount to pay the indebtedness of the nation, that a law be passed compelling the five tribes to adopt a uniform system of taxing noncitizens residing and doing business in the limits of their nation and that a workhouse or reformatory be established.

The St. Paul Limps Into Port.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The American line steamer St. Paul limped into port yesterday under the port engine after having incurred the most serious experience of her career. On Oct. 31 at 8:06 p. m., in latitude 46.13, longitude 48.03, the St. Paul struck a supposed submerged wreck, carried away the starboard propeller, causing the engines to race so fiercely that the shaft broke, and all connections snapped. The starboard engines were so severely wrecked that they are useless, and it will take six months to replace them with a new set. The after outboard shaft tubing was carried away. The ship is leaking considerably. When the accident occurred, the cabin passengers were quite excited, but they were soon restored to quiet by the prompt report that the steamer was in no danger. The wind was blowing heavily from the northeast, with a high cross sea. The engineers examined the breaks and disconnected the starboard engines, and the St. Paul proceeded on her voyage under the port engine at a reduced speed.

Senator Davis Much Worse.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 5.—The condition of Senator C. K. Davis is reported as decidedly worse last night, and grave fears are entertained that if his life shall be saved it may be at the cost of his foot or possibly his right leg. The pus which had formed in the fore part of his foot and for the removal of which two surgical operations were performed has now gathered farther back toward the heel, and indications are that it is permeating the entire limb. The fever with which the patient was suffering on Friday has returned and does not yield as readily to treatment as formerly. The surgeons in attendance held a consultation, and it was decided to send at once to Chicago for the best specialist to be had. The senator is very restless and suffers much pain.

Killed at a Crossing.

NORTHFIELD, Mass., Nov. 4.—Sanford W. Weatherhead and his wife, both between 60 and 65 years of age, were almost instantly killed last evening by being struck by an engine on the New London and Northern railroad at Ware's crossing, in this town. Mr. and Mrs. Weatherhead were returning home about 6 o'clock from a visit to friends, when a freight train passed in front of them in a southerly direction. They evidently thought no other train was near, but as they drove on the track they were struck by an engine attached to two cars, which killed the horse and completely demolished the carriage. The occupants were thrown down the track over 250 feet.

Pearls In the Mississippi.

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis., Nov. 5.—Discovery of pearls in the upper Mississippi river has caused a tremendous rush to the clam beds. Houseboats are crowding the river, and more than 1,000 persons are encamped along the river bank. The finding of a few thousand dollars' worth of pearls by the diggers has started a raid on the river. One of the pearls recently found, the Allen pearl, weighed 100 grains and is said to be the largest perfect pearl yet taken from the river. It was purchased by William Moore of Comanche, Ia., who paid $3,000 for it.

Killed by Hazing.

CHARLESTON, Nov. 5.—Thomas Finley Brown, 12 years old, is dead from injuries received while being hazed at the Porter Military academy last Monday. Brown was new at the academy, and the older boys, following their former custom, dropped him into a cemented swimming basin 12 feet deep. The basin was dry at the time, and the lad received internal injuries from the fall. Before he died he did not give the names of the cadets who had ill treated him, and it is said that no action will be taken in the matter.

Debs Will Not Retire.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 5.—Eugene V. Debs will not withdraw as a candidate for president on the Social Democratic ticket in favor of Bryan or any one else. He communicates this information in a telegram sent from Toledo, O., to Victor L. Berger, a leading Social Democrat of this city, as follows: "Sooner will McKinley retire in favor of Bryan or Bryan retire in favor of McKinley than that I will retire in favor of either. I am in this fight until the end of my life."

Runaway Husband Found.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Mrs. Margaret McGowan of New York, after a year's search, has caused the arrest in this city of her husband, who, she claims, disappeared nearly two years ago with $5,000 of her money. She will endeavor to recover the money by aid of the courts.

OUR TROOPS ACTIVE.

Repeated Failure of Filipinos Causes a Reaction.

AMERICAN PRISONERS RECAPTURED.

Former Insurgents Send Expressions of Loyalty to Washington—Excitement Over Presidential Election.

MANILA, Nov. 5.—Last week was devoted to active scouting. The insurgents, having failed to crush a single garrison, are now experiencing a reaction.

Lieutenants Wilson and Dority of the Forty-fifth volunteer infantry destroyed large stores of rice, four granaries and a barracks near Bato.

Captain Atkinson, with 34 men of the Thirty-seventh volunteer infantry, attacked 190 insurgents under Colonel Valencia, recovering two American prisoners and capturing a considerable quantity of ammunition and supplies.

A native orchestra lured the United States troops from their quarters near Dagupan while the insurgents attacked the rear, killing two Americans and wounding three.

Yesterday Senor Buencamino, representing the principal ex-insurgents in Manila, requested Judge Taft to forward to Washington a signed expression of their loyalty.

There is considerable excitement over the approaching presidential election, with a good deal of betting on the result.

Aguinaldo Really Shot.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 5.—James C. Hussey of National City has received a letter from James Thompson, a private of Company C, Twenty-seventh United States infantry, written while he was in the hospital at Manila and dated Sept. 1, in which the writer says that a young Filipino occupying a bed next to him at the hospital stated that Aguinaldo was really shot dead as reported some time ago, but that it was to be kept quiet for political reasons.

Serious Trolley Accident.

MONTREAL, Nov. 5.—Fully a score of people were injured more or less seriously, some of them sustaining broken arms and legs, in a trolley accident which occurred yesterday afternoon on a suburban line four or five miles outside of this city on Cote des Neiges hill. There was a pilgrimage yesterday afternoon from the archbishop's church to Cote des Neiges cemetery, attended by several thousand people. While a street car loaded to its capacity was ascending the steep Cote des Neiges hill the trolley slipped off. The motorman applied the brakes, but the car slid backward slowly. There was a panic among the people inside the car, and they made a rush for the front vestibule. So many crowded in that the motorman was rendered powerless to do anything further. People broke the vestibule windows, the windows of the car and jumped from the rear platform. Fully a score were more or less injured, several receiving broken arms and legs. The car gathering speed dashed into a car following, and that one crashed into another before all were finally brought to a standstill.

Woolley In Illinois.

PEORIA, Ills., Nov. 5.—John G. Woolley, Prohibition nominee for president, spent Sunday quietly resting aboard his special train in preparation for his last day's work of the campaign. The special left Peoria this morning at 7:50 o'clock for a run through northern Illinois, finishing at Rockford with the evening rally. Stops will be made throughout the day at Tremont, Mackinaw, Bloomington, El Paso, Lasalle, Mendota, Dixon, Polo and Freeport. Mr. Woolley issued the following statement: "We Prohibitionists do not divide our work into campaigns. It goes right on. I go east immediately to New York and Baltimore to make the same kind of speeches I have been delivering for 13 years."

To Investigate Bankrupt Order.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—One hundred persons, representing 30 lodges of the bankrupt Home Forum benefit order, met here and perfected an organization of former members of the fraternal insurance society to contest the merging of this society with the Safety Fund Insurance company of Syracuse. A committee was appointed to investigate the action of the officers of the society and State Insurance Commissioner Van Cleve which resulted in the appointment of a receiver for the society a few days ago and later the merging of this society with the New York insurance company. A committee was also appointed to investigate the books of the society.

Carlist Chief Has Fled.

MADRID, Nov. 5.—An official dispatch announces that the chief of the Carlist band which has been operating in the Berga district has taken refuge in France and that the band in the province of Alicante has been dispersed. Arrests of Carlists, particularly priests, continue throughout the country. The arrest of a vicar of a church in Madrid has led to the discovery of additional compromising documents. An entire band of Carlists has been captured in the neighborhood of Jaen, capital of the province of the same name, north of Granada.

Silk Industry Injured.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The disturbances in China have struck a severe blow to the silk industry in Europe, and, according to Consul Hughes at Coburg in a communication to the state department on this subject, this industry is suffering greatly in Germany, Italy, France and Switzerland. A large falling off in the yield as compared with last year is shown, and it is feared that deliveries may be suspended. The situation is made more serious by the fact that China silk is the essential material for cheap fabrics.

Shot by a Thief.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Charles Book, a farmer living near Aqueduct, a suburb of this city, was shot and badly wounded by an unknown man whom he discovered among his herd of cows. He attempted to pursue the would be cattle thief, but, weak from loss of blood, was unable to go far. Book was taken to the Ellis hospital, and the police were notified. Mounted men are searching for the stranger.

Half a Million More From Nome.

SEATTLE, Nov. 5.—The steamer Senator has arrived from Nome, bringing down 333 passengers and $500,000 in treasure. She left Nome Oct. 21.

Guard Well Your Ballot.

Hundreds of ballots cast in good faith are rejected and not counted by the local election boards at each election on account of being marked in some way that distinguishes them from other ballots.

In view of this fact the voter should exercise the greatest possible care in the preparation of his ballot. He should inspect it closely before enclosing it in the official envelope to see that there are absolutely no distinguishing marks upon it. The decisions of the last Justice Lippincott in the Union Hill election contest of last spring furnish the only authoritative statements of what practically constitute marked ballots within the meaning of our election law.

One of the most important of these is that a paster containing the title of the office as well as the candidate's name, placed on a ballot invalidate it and it cannot be counted.

Another decision was that a blank white paper over the name of a candidate did not make the ballot a marked one, nor does the use of a blanket paster containing the names of several condidates running on the one ticket for similar offices nullify the intention of the voter.

Colored lead, indelible, pencil, or ink marks on a ballot marks it, and only distinctly black lead or ink should be used where a voter desires to scratch a candidate and has no legal paster handy.

When a ballot had an appropriation to be voted on indicated by a pencil mark, Justice Lippincott decided that it could not be properly classed as a "marked" ballot.

An X mark on any part of a ballot distinguishes it according to the court's ruling.

A finger mark, made by the unclean hands of a voter, is sufficient to nullify a ballot, according to the court's ruling, but a "set-off" caused by the imperfect printing of the ballot does not invalidate it.

A cross marked in black over a part of the ticket the citizen does not desire to vote will cause the rejection of the ballot.

Another important ruling by the court was that a ticket bearing the heading of a different district than the one in which it should have been voted constituted a marked ballot.

These cover a few of the cases where a vote can innocently destroy the value of his ballot, and should serve as a warning to every voter Tuesday.

The Daily Press will not be issued tomorrow. Wednesday there will be no afternoon edition as the paper will be issued Wednesday morning as early as the election results are known. Complete returns from Nation, State, County and City will be printed. Elaborate arrangements have been made for the gathering and the presentation of these returns.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Two of Plainfield's fair maidens, just out of their teens, are strong rivals in an effort to capture a certain promising young man, who has wealth, social prominence and, in fact, everything that goes to make up a most desirable husband. The question of settling this young man's affections has for some time past been the perplexing one in the minds of the young women. The young man is not unconscious of the attentions being paid to him, but of course, neither one of his admirers would have him think for a minute that they were anxious to capture him. Still, he has standing invitations to call at both homes and it is often a puzzling question in his mind which ones to accept. Of late, affairs have been growing interesting, and the outcome will be watched closely by a number of knowing ones.

* * * * *

It is not always among the wealthy class that you find the most money. This was evidenced recently at a society affair in this city. A well-known Plainfielder, who has money to burn, if it is necessary, appeared at the door and presented a $5 bill. The tickets were $1 each, but strangely everyone presented a ticket except the one in question. The young man at the door could not change the bill and finally the ushers endeavored to find some one who would change it. One and another was asked but the same reply in the negative came from each. In the meantime the gentleman, who was so fortunate as to have nothing but fives, was kept standing outside. He became a little weary at the delay and decided to walk in, telling the doorkeeper that when he found the change he would pay for his admission. At least a dozen men were inquired of for change before the bill could be broken. Finally, one unsuspecting fellow was sought, and contrary to expectation, he had the change.

MANY MOURNERS.

Funeral of the Late Harry Vail One of the Largest Ever Held in Dunellen.

The funeral services of Harry Vail, who received injuries at Cranford last Thursday which resulted in his death, were held from the Dunellen Methodist church yesterday afternoon. They were witnessed by one of the largest attendances ever seen at that place, the church being crowded to the doors long before the hour of commencement. Large delegations were present from W. G. Holton Council, Rockview Council, D. of L., Defender Fire Company and the Signalmen's Order, all of which he was a member. Rev. S. K. Doolittle, pastor of the church, spoke very feelingly to the bereaved wife and parents, and referred in various ways to the generous character and home-life of the deceased. The pallbearers were J. Newton Apgar, Eugene Thompson, John Kinney and Edward Milligan. Interment was made in Hillside cemetery to which place the majority of the mourners proceeded by special trolley cars. The floral tributes were very numerous, including large set pieces from the various orders, together with scores of smaller pieces from individuals.

PRESS MEDAL PRESENTED.

High School Athletic Association Received the Prize This Morning.

The Daily Press medal, for the all-round championship of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association, was presented at the High School this morning, together with the prizes for the various events at the school field day, held at the Gentlemen's Driving Park last month. The presentation was postponed until this morning on account of delay in the arrival of the medal.

Principal Ira W. Travell made a a short speech on the value of physical exercise and then awarded the prizes. He also presented the football team with a set of lines-men's stakes, surmounted by red and blue silk pennants. They were given by the girls of the High School.

.. PEOPLE'S STORE ..

The Store never appeared to better advantage than at present. Quantities of Seasonable Merchandise in every department give evidence of heavy purchases, and styles and qualities suggest careful selection. Good storekeeping is plainly manifested throughout our entire establishment and the throngs of intelligent buyers who visit us daily attest the popularity of the "People's Store." Winter goods are clamoring for recognition and we can but make mention of some that must be needed in the near future.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Nov. 5.—The funeral services of John Hill, brother of Charles Hill, were held from the latter's residence Saturday afternoon. Rev. S.K. Doolittle, pastor of the First M. E. church, was the officiating clergyman. The pall bearers were four sea captains, former friends of the deceased. Interment was made in the cemetery at South Bound Brook.

The only event of any importance in the borough tomorrow, beside voting, will be the football game between the local team and one from the North Plainfield High School. The game will take place in the morning on the Lincoln avenue grounds and promises to be an exciting one.

Ellis Benward returned home Saturday with seventeen rabbits. Ellis claimed to have been hunting near Asbury but there are several boroughites who are anxious for him to explain his reason for visiting various Bound Brook butcher shops.

It is hoped that every voter whose name is on the registry list will not fail to visit the polls tomorrow and cast his vote. The polls will open at 6 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. A special wire has been placed in the Town Hall where the full returns will be received and read.

The Literary Society met Saturday night with Mrs. L. L. Titsworth and Miss May O. Fulper at the former's home. Julius Caesar was read after which a sociable hour was passed.

Two football elevens from the Whittier and Lincoln schools played a game on the Lincoln avenue grounds Saturday. The former won by a score of 10 to 7.

On account of election being held tomorrow the regular meeting of the Board of Education has been postponed until Tuesday, November 13th.

John Peters, Jr., of Somerville, was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. L. Peters, yesterday.

Defender Engine Company has partially draped the Town Hall in memory of Harry Vail.

Mrs. Emily Apgar and daughter May spent Saturday with relatives in Newark.

The regular monthly meeting of the borough council will be held this evening.

Joseph Higel has returned after a visit with New York friends.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, Nov. 5.—In order to get the election returns tomorrow night the residents in town will have to rely on their own resources. It is to be regretted that the telephone company has been unable to get their line completed as the returns could be received accurately and without cost. The nearest point where they will be received, will be at Dunellen.

A horse attached to Jenner's delivery wagon, and driven by David Ward, slipped and fell on the Lehigh tracks at the crossing Saturday afternoon. Fortunately no train was due as it took some time to get the animal to its feet. The only damage done was a slight break in the harness.

The christening of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Mitze took place at their home yesterday. Rev. Mr. Hauser, of Plainfield, officiated. The name given was Philip George. A large number of relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony.

Rev. Frank Fletcher, pastor of the First Baptist church, exchanged pulpits yesterday with Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph D., of Trinity Reformed church, Plainfield.

Postmaster Charles Day and David Lawson were among those who witnessed the demonstration of the Republicans at New York Saturday.

Frank Havens, of New York, has returned after a stay with friends in town.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Nov. 5—Election Day in town gives promise of passing very quietly. Both parties have worked hard to get their full votes out and if the weather is pleasant there is no doubt but what a large vote will be polled.

A balky horse belonging to an Italian created a great deal of amusement in town Sunday afternoon. The horse decided to stop and all efforts of its owner, together with the suggestions of the bystanders, failed to move the animal until sometime had passed.

The rain of Saturday failed to dampen the enthusiasm of those in town who had arranged to parade in the business men's sound money parade in New York. Scotch Plains and Fanwood was well represented.

Mrs. Stearns, who has been spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. John R. Morey, has returned to her home in Syracuse, N. Y.

The constable's sale in the case of Frech against Lamadi, which was to have been held Saturday afternoon, was postponed for one week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bulky and child, of New York, were the guests yesterday of Mrs. Bulkly's sister, Mrs. George W. Marsh.

Owing to the storm Saturday the local football eleven did not go to Newark to play the Orient eleven of that city.

Wm. VanValkenburg led an interesting meeting of the B. Y. P. U. Society in the Baptist church, last evening.

John Anderson, the new proprietor of Emery's Hotel, will give a grand opening tonight.

Miss Bella Mericeir was the guest of her sister in Plainfield, Sunday.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, Nov. 5—The public-spirited citizens of this place will receive election returns tomorrow evening, and Charles Vail and Harry Coward, of Plainfield, have been engaged to display them on a canvas to be suspended in front of Higgins' Hotel. They will also display a number of beautiful pictures taken in various parts of the country.

The water company had the new pump taken out of the pumping station Saturday and loaded to be shipped back to the factory. It did not give satisfaction as it took too much steam for the amount of water it threw. Wm. Hand & Son did the moving.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Braunstin spent Sunday in town the guests of Mrs. Eickert.

THE "REFORMATION."

Able Sermon Preached by Rev. Wm. Trebert at the Lutheran Church Last Evening.

Since Rev. Wm. Trebert became pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran church an increased attendance has been the result of the new pastor's earnset efforts to build up that church society, which is gratifying to the many friends of that denomination. At the services last evening Mr. Trebert preached an able discourse to a good-sized congregation, his subject being the "Reformation" or the life of Martin Luther. The sermon was preached in honor of the celebration of the festival of the founding of the Evangelical or Lutheran church, when Dr. Luther renounced Catholicism in 1517. Mr. Trebert's discourse was replete with interesting statistics and facts to elucidate the presentation of the historical data of that early period in Protestantism. The subject was ably handled and proved as instructive as it was entertaining.

IN THE BIG PARADE.

Several Hundred Plainfielders Participated in the Demonstration in New York Saturday.

Just how many Plainfielders took part in Saturday's big "sound money" parade in New York it would be impossible to say but there were several hundred of them and they returned to town that night, wet, tired and bedraggled but full of enthusiasm over the wonderful display. E. T. Barrows, of West Eighth street, R. B. Waldo, of East Sixth street, and E R. Ackerman, of West Eighth street, were members of the executive committee of the Business Men's Sound Money Association, which acted as an escort to Governor Roosevelt. J. M. Titsworth, of Madison avenue, was appointed a staff officer in the oils and paints division of the parade. Willard M. Miner, of East Sixth street, was a vice president in the electrical workers division. Other Plainfielders acted as officials in the parade.

—The Yale University Glee and Banjo Club commences its holiday concert tour in this city Wednesday, December 19th. The club will make a trip to the Pacific coast before returning to New Haven.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

It is seldom a play comes to Plainfield so highly recommended by the critics in cities, where it has already appeared, as does the elaborate scenic production of Fanny Davenport's "Fedora," written by the famous playwright Sardou, and which is at Music Hall tonight. The play, as a dramatic creation, has received the plaudits and approbation of two continents. It is considered by all eminent critics the best of the repertoire of either Bernhardt or Davenport, and is the medium through which these two great actresses won fame and fortune. Sardou, as a creator of scenic effects and gorgeous displays, is without a peer. It is even said he builds his scenes first and then writes his plays to fit them. Charles H. Clarke, manager of "Fedora," has devoted his life to staging plays, and is the inventor of the "Clarke patent" for the adjusting of scenery to fit various size stages. He is said to use in "Fedora" the scenery and accessory utilized by Davenport, augmented by the addition of effects after his own ideas The company headed by Eleanor Franklin and Brinsley Shaw and containing several members of the original New York cast is said to be exceptionally strong.

* * * * * *

A humorous play is a safer investment than any other style of drama. People will laugh first and think afterwards, and laughter being in a sense a tangible entity, there is no going back on the verdict it renders. Again the fate of a farce is quickly determined. If there is no merriment the first night there is no money in the thing and no temptation to throw good money after bad in the hope that sometimes buoys up the projectors of burlesques and extravaganzas of whipping a failure into shape. "In "What Happened to Jones," which comes to Music Hall tomorrow afternoon and night—Election Day—George H. Broadhurst has given the public a legitimate successor to "Charley's Aunt." The amusing situations of the farce never pall on one and people in New York who saw it the second and third time enjoyed it as much as on the first occasion. The management announce that during its four months' stay in the metropolis fully 150,000 people saw and laughed at the misfortunes that befell "Jones." It comes with a good cast, and the clever people are reheared by the author. Reserved seats are on sale for the matinee.

Robert Fitzsimmons will be the attraction at Music Hall Thursday night when he will appear in the title role of "The Honest Blacksmith," a comedy drama of home and sporting life. Mr. Fitzsimmons has been surrounded by an exceedingly strong company, and to make complete the claim that the play is a story of the popular fighter's home life, Mrs. Fitzsimmons and Little Bobbie Fitzsimmons also take leading parts. "The Honest Blacksmith," according to those who have witnessed its presentation, is one of the most wholesome plays that have been seen this season. There is nothing about it of the objectionable pugilistic order.

Das Gemeindekollegium gab einem Beschluß des Magistrates statt, wonach in Anbetracht des herrschenden Kohlenmangels und mit Rücksicht auf etwa im Winter ausbrechende Strikes für Kohlenankäufe über den im Etat genehmigten Betrag von 1,331,380 Mark hinaus noch weitere 1,000,000 Mark verwendet werden können.—Hofrath Dr. med. Cordes, ein Mann von 70 Jahren, und seine im Alter von 66 Jahren stehende Frau wurden vergiftet in ihrer Wohnung aufgefunden. Das Motiv des gemeinschaftlichen Selbstmordes waren schwere körperliche Leiden.—Gestorben sind anhier der Generallieutenant z. D. Eugen Abel, der Kaufmann Eduard Rau und der Hauptmann a. D. Adalbert Reichsedler v. Sauer.

Augsburg. Dahier fand die feierliche Eröffnung des neuen Schlacht- und Viehhofes statt.

Bamberg. Der Verein zur Erhaltung und Verschönerung der Altenburg hat beschlossen, von den beiden Neubauprojekten der Architekten Häberle, Bamberg, und Robert Schmidt, München, das Erstere zu wählen und auch zugleich dem Architekten Häberle die Bauleitung zu übertragen. Der Neubau wird etwa 72,000 Mark erfordern, wovon bereits 35,000 Mark zur Verfügung stehen.

Burghausen. Der in München verstorbene Rentier Mathias Pschorr hat der Gemeinde Wald in Form einer Stiftung die Summe von 10,000 Mark testamentarisch vermacht.

Kaisheim. Auf gerichtliche Anordnung wurde die Leiche der Söldnersfrau Roßmann wieder ausgegraben und geöffnet, wobei sich herausstellte, daß der Frau vier Rippen gebrochen waren. Diese Rippenbrüche sollen von Mißhandlungen, welche die Frau durch ihre eigene 19jährige Tochter zu erdulden hatte, herrühren. Die Tochter wurde verhaftet.

Nürnberg. In einem hiesigen Gasthofe vergiftete sich der österreichisch-ungarische Oberstlieutenant a. D. Graf Karl Normann aus Budapest; nach hinterlassenen Papieren war das Motiv Mittellosigkeit.

Stockheim. Dieser Tage gelangte die neue Bahnstrecke Stockheim-Köppelsdorf zur Eröffnung.

MAKING AN OMELET.

A Culinary Art That Should Be Acquired by Every Woman Who Pretends to Be a Cook.

It is an art every woman should know to make an omelet properly. The eggs should be broken on a dish and the whites and yolks stirred, not beaten, together and lightly seasoned with salt and white pepper, with a few bits of butter if you wish. Let the French frying pan of sheet iron be bright and polished. Melt a large tablespoonful of butter in it for an omelet of five eggs. Turn the omelet in as soon as the butter melts and flows over the bottom of the pan. The fire must be hot and the omelet must not be allowed to stick to the pan for a moment. Use a knife to prevent this. As soon as the eggs are creamy, though still soft at the top, but firm at the bottom, add any cooked meat, mince of herbs or cooked herbs intended to give the omelet distinctive flavor, or serve it as it is, "natural" as the French would call it, and roll it. Put it at once on the table; an instant's delay now will make it heavy. It must come on the table light, creamy and hot. Do not take time to garnish it. It is better to serve it without any delay. Mushrooms, cooked peas, asparagus, chopped herbs, tomatoes, stewed corn and almost any delicate or well-seasoned meat may be served in an omelet. Nothing is better than fried or boiled ham or a mince of well seasoned veal in a brown gravy. A few tablespoonfuls of any such addition is enough for a four or five egg omelet. Where milk or cream is added it makes a variety in this dish, which is probably at its best made with eggs alone, properly seasoned and cooked.—N. Y. Tribune.

LOVE THEIR CHILDREN.

A Chat with a Chinese Mother in New York Proves the Universality of Natural Love.

There are about 40 Chinese women in New York. They are sweet, gentle creatures, often highly intelligent. It is difficult to get their confidence, but once gained they display great affection and docility. A day or two ago I dropped in unexpectedly upon a charming little woman of the orient, and thereby had a peep at a pair of very, very long, old fashioned corsets. The dear little thing blushed and hid them quickly.

Then she took her baby—lord of the house—upon her knee, gave him a pear, entirely too large for his little mouth to manage, and chatted away gayly.

Her hands were extremely pretty. Her upper lip was a little short, showing a row of glistening white teeth. Her smile was intelligent and infinitely sweet, like a little child's. Her glossy, heavy black hair was arranged in the true Chinese fashion, which happens to be the very European fashion of the day!

"Too bad, tlouble in China!" she said. But soon that black-eyed baby of hers demanded all her attention, for, putting the little fellow's face against hers, he cried, "A ma! A ma!" which is Chinese for "mamma." So, seeing baby sleepy, and "A ma" busy, the visit ended.

The Chinese women in New York have in several instances come here to be married, after corresponding for years with their husbands.

They take their queer Chinese babies to Central park for fresh air, and in summer make occasional visits to Coney island. Here the little "chinks" dabble in the sand like other children and scream when taken into the waves. The young ones pick up English quite readily.

The Chinese women here all know each other. They make frequent calls upon each other, taking their babies along, and, while drinking delicious tea, discuss the care of children, and even the great servant question.

The husbands of several of New York's Chinese women are men of wealth, and they enjoy no little luxury in their homes, which are furnished in characteristic oriental fashion.—N. Y. Herald.

CLEVER MINING MAIDS.

They Went to Dawson as Actresses, Then Became Gold Seekers and Now Are Capitalists.

Two San Francisco girls, who went to the Klondike two years ago, have returned to their native city with a bag of gold and are preparing to make a European voyage.

Misses Dottie and Gracie Browning, after being graduated from the public schools, studied for the stage. Both were possessed of fine voices, and grand opera was the goal of their ambition. Gracie Browning secured a position with the Bostonians, but just after the contract a death occurred in the family, and she gave up the position. About a year later the two sisters went together in vaudeville, touring eastern circuits under different managers.

While playing with a company in Davenport, Ia., the manager took the funds of the company and decamped, leaving the performers stranded. The plucky girls returned to their homes in California, and, after a few days' rest, determined to try their fortunes in the gold region of the far north. Their reputation as vaudeville artists had preceded them to Dawson City, and they found the managers of theaters more than ready to give them engagements.

The Misses Browning say they made very good terms with the managers, but believed that fortune would come quicker by mining. Consequently they saved what they could from their salaries, started a few claims and prospected on their own account. The two girls worked with pick and shovel, and, as the claims turned out well, they soon hired men to do the rougher part of the work.

"It was hard work at first," say the fair miners, "but we did the best we could and came out all right. We have two claims, Nos. 9 and 10 on Bonanza creek. We have another claim on El Dorado creek, from which we scarcely ever got less than 20 cents to the pan, and last New Year's day we picked a big, shining nugget out of the frozen ground. We have another good claim on Sulphur creek, and just before we left Dawson we sold a quarter interest in a claim on Dominion creek for a snug little sum.

"Two years in Dawson City is an awfully long, lonesome time, and after we had washed out the dumps from our claims and banked the clean-ups we thought it best to take a trip back to civilization. Before we left we sent two men down into the Tanana country prospecting. Good reports have come from that district, and we have a chance of striking something profitable there.

"We came out by way of St. Michael and went over to Nome. That camp is a disgrace. About all we could hear of was murder, suicide and disease, and we were glad to get away from it. While there, however, we took up a claim on Anvil creek, in the Golovin bay district, and staked some Dawson friends to take care of it for us.

"After all that I think we have earned a holiday. We came to San Francisco to return some kindnesses to our friends in the city, who cared for us before we started in the world for ourselves. As soon as that is done to the satisfaction of all, and the money we have brought out is safely invested, we will start out to see the country on the other side of the Atlantic."

To Destroy Uppleasant Odors.

In order to free a room from unpleasant odors boil mixed spices in vinegar 20 minutes or longer. If enough are used they will destroy all unpleasant scents, even such as fried fish, onions, etc., and the room will have a delightful and invigorating fragrance.

Butter and Apple Sauce.

Apple sauce is much improved by the addition of a tablespoonful of butter, and requires less sugar.

Sugar for Basting Meats.

A little sugar added to the water for basting meat improves its flavor.

THE USES OF MONEY.

Census Office to Issue a Volume on This Subject.

Many There Are Who Consider Indebtedness a Source of Prosperity, in Spite of Mr. Micawber's Eloquent Warning.

[Special Washington Letter.]

"I AM over $500 in debt and that fact worries me a great deal." The remark was made by a government clerk in reply to an inquiry as to how he was getting on. Senator Pettigrew, of South Dakota, smiled as he said: "That would worry me, too. I am never happy unless I am upwards of $50,000 in debt. The man who can't get in debt $10,000 or more can't do business. Credit is necessary in all large business transactions, and it is also necessary in small business enterprises. Fortunes are made only by those who have large credit."

"How do you ever pay your creditors when you borrow such large sums? It staggers me to think of being $50,000 in debt."

"I pay back by making the borrowed money earn more money. There are very few people who realize that money will make money faster than any other thing on earth. It is because money is such a money maker that money occupies such a conspicuous position in the political, commercial and international procedures of the world. You get out of money once; be absolutely without a dollar, and you will find that this is a cold, cruel and selfish world."

Unfortunately, this latter statement is known to be true by all who have experienced contact with the world under adverse circumstances. It is also unfortunately true that a majority of the young men of this country do not know the value of money; and they learn its value sometimes all too late in life.

"Is there no secret place on the face of the earth,
Where Charity dwelleth, where virtue hath birth?
Is there no place where a knock from the poor
Will bring a kind angel to open the door?
You may search the wide world wherever you can,
But find no door open to a moneyless man."

Senator Pettigrew is not a rich man and never will be, because with the money-making faculty he also has the prodigality of youth. Although he may not be properly charged with being like unto Daniel Webster in every other respect, he certainly is somewhat like unto that great statesman in his ability to accumulate indebtedness; with this difference: Pettigrew pays, Webster didn't.

And, by the way, the census office is trying to find out why people borrow money. The officials of that bureau ask all sorts of questions. They want to know whether we own property, and, if so, if it is mortgaged. And, if so, why the mortgage was incurred. All sorts of replies have been received to these inquiries. One of them is from William McKinley, who states that he "is a citizen of Ohio, residing temporarily in Washington;" and he states that the house in which he lives "is not mortgaged."

All of the inquiries of the census office supervisors are being cheerfully answered, even those which pry into the affairs of men who borrow money. Very many thousands of ladies, however, decline to give their ages. In all of these cases it is presumed that they are more than 25 years of age, and they are being tabulated accordingly.

People, as a rule, have been perfectly willing to tell whether they own the houses in which they live, or whether they are tenants, or burdened with mortgages. This information when obtained enables the census office statisticians to ascertain how many people own and occupy their houses and farms; how many are in debt for their homes, and to what amount. Just why this sort of information is collected does not appear on the surface, but it may prove to be of general interest and of national value.

Some writers on social economy claim that indebtedness on home or farm property is due to the poverty of the people, and that in spite of rich soil, and apparent prosperity, people are growing poorer instead of richer. On the other hand, it is claimed by eminent people, like Senator Pettigrew, that debt is an indication of prosperity and that people borrow in order to enlarge their business. In the absence of detailed facts one of these arguments is as good as another. In the countries of the old world no effort has been made to ascertain the causes of indebtedness.

Inasmuch as this collection of facts is somewhat novel, the method may prove to be interesting. A large force of special agents is engaged in taking the records of counties and cities, showing the mortgages of citizens and corporations. The names and addresses of mortgagers are obtained by special inquiries, and then letters are sent to those persons, asking the following questions: "Was this mortgage fully paid January 1, 1900? If not, how much was due at that date? Was this mortgage made to secure part of purchase money, to make improvements, or for other purposes; or, if made to renew a previous mortgage, what was the debt originally created for?"

Some of these letters are not promptly answered, and some of them are not answered at all. In such cases special agents are sent to obtain the desired information by personally calling upon the individuals or corporations. In some instances, in order to save expenses, postmasters are asked to supply the desired information, and they do so cheerfully because they have been informed that the post office department desires that every aid shall be given to the census office in its tremendous work.

Answers which have been received are usually perfunctory, but some of them are unique. One man states that his friend shot a negro, and the mortgage was incurred for the purpose of raising money to bail him out of jail, and to pay the fees of lawyers.

MISERY LOVES COMPANY.

A Kansas man frankly writes: "I borrowed this money for general household uses on account of failure of crops, and I reckon that you'll think I am a deuced bad manager, but there are plenty more in the same fix. Misery loves company."

One farmer who undoubtedly mixes in political affairs and likes to talk politics to his neighbors says: "My debt was contracted for the purpose of enabling me to pay the tariff on things I have to buy, and to make up for the losses I have sustained by reason of the nonexportation of the things I have to sell." That is not quite so bad as a 'Frisco Chinaman who borrowed $200 from one of his countrymen and agreed to pay interest at 60 per cent.

But for the fact that they do not come from the same state the two following might go together as explanatory of dramatic local conditions: One man says: "Domestic infelicity ran me into debt, as I had to raise the money to pay the expenses of a divorce suit, by which I got rid of an unfaithful wife." The other fellow writes: "I was obliged to raise the money in order to pay the damages in a suit for alienating the affections of the wife of a neighbor." And then he adds: "Alas, I have her."

Ultimately, when all replies have been received and the craft has been flailed from the wheat, the census office will prepare and publish a bulletin concerning the uses and abuses of money by our people. It will then be seen that now, as formerly, the value of money is as expressed by Carlyle: "Whoever has sixpence is sovereign over all men—to the extent of that sixpence; commands cooks to feed him, philosophers to teach him, kings to mount guard over him—to the extent of that sixpence."

Almost 2,000 years ago Cicero knew, and wrote, that "economy is of itself a great revenue." But until this day there be few who realize that no man can be rich whose expenditures exceed his means, and no man is poor whose incomings exceed his outgoings. Even that wonderful humanitarian philosopher, Wilkins Micawber, understood this precept of political economy.

The value of money was tersely and sagely as well as concisely expressed by Shakespeare: "The learned pate ducks to the golden fool." Money will buy everything—except love. That is unpurchaseable, incomparable, valuable beyond the wealth of India, and not all the accumulations of Croesus or of the modern money kings, nor all the accidental holdings of Monte Cristo, nor all the treasures of this world which the most unchecked imagination can conceive can purchase the love of one pure true heart and soul. Money can do everything in this world but that.

The provident man is always a thoughtful man, living as he does for the future rather than for the present, and he necessarily practices self-denial, that virtue which is the crowning element in a strong and well-formed character. Money is character, and it is therefore power. Wealth gives standing, and the dullest jest from a rich man evokes plaudits. Money opens the gates of imperial palaces. The heraldry of America is based on greenbacks. Social standing is indicated by a vulgar bank book.

The walls of the holy city are of jasper, but its streets are paved with pure gold. Therefore we may conclude that gold is good, and that all sorts of money are desirable, even to all mortals who hope some day to tread the golden streets. How to get it? Ah, there's the rub. No poor newspaper writer would dare to offer a suggestion. SMITH D. FRY.

Mrs. M. A. Hall of 219 Prescott place says: "For several years I had a dull aching pain across my back at times extending to my hips. I was compelled to lie in just one position all night and stooping, lifting or bending forward aggravated the pains. A kidney weakness which was very distressing and inconvenient also existed and though I used different remedies that were recommended to me I obtained little if any relief. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly endorsed in our daily papers and procured a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store. It was not long before I felt great relief and I was surprised how quickly the pain in my back disappeared.

HAVE YOUR . . . Lace Curtains and Blankets Cleaned by the Largest Laundry in the State.

Is a delicate piece of work—it requires skill and carefulness to get them daintily white without injuring a thread. Few can do this—but we can, because we have made a specialty of it. We have thought about it and experimented until we have found the only perfect method. Let us send for your curtains. They will be returned to you white—not a design or a thread will be out of place. Price 50c per pair. Called for and delivered free of charge. Orders received by postal card.

GOLF

J. H. Wharton, of Plainfield, is one of the committee selected to arrange for the first annual championship of the East Jersey Golf League to be held Friday and Saturday, Dec. 7th and 8th, on some central course selected by the committee.

The preliminary round for the Chapman cup will be played tomorrow morning at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club grounds. The other events for the day will be the first round for the Chapman cup and the golf club cups, classes "A" and "B."

The unusual occurrence of an amateur golf record holding better figures than that of professionals is seen in the case of W. L. Glenny, of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. Some weeks ago he made the circuit on the eighteen hole course of the Newark Athletic Club in a match against Frank Croker in 79. The professionals who have tried to beat that record have only succeeded in getting down as low as 82.

PRIZE WINNERS

Those Who Were Rewarded at the German Reformed Chair Fair.

The fair that was held last week at the German Reformed church was concluded Saturday evening, when the several contests were announced. In the contest for the gold bracelet, Miss Anna Martin secured first prize and Miss Amelia Sutterlein the second prize. Miss Anna Bach and Miss Carrie Bender won first and second prizes for the gold ring. In the contest for the buffet, Mrs. Wm. Chamberlain won the first prize and Mrs. O'Reilly was second. Mrs. Fred Bach was awarded the lemonade and custard sets. Miss Carrie Bender and Miss Amelia Bender were awarded cakes, while Mrs. Sherwood and Mrs. Jacob Blimm were presented with the pillows for which they were contesting. Mrs. Schorb was given the doll for guessing the right name, "Emma." William Schorb guessed the number of seeds in a pumpkin.

Prize Choristers.

The prize choristers of Grace church for October were A. Yaeger, R. Bingamam, R. Sherwin, F. Kanen and the Misses J. Little, M. Yaeger, B. Miner, A. Clark, C. Miller. Ralph Bingamam received the Grace church cross and Albert Yaeger the prayer book and hymnal, which are awarded after the cross.

Funeral of Sophia Saums.

Before a large number of her young friends and classmates, the funeral services of Miss Sophia Saums were held in the Monroe Avenue church yesterday afternoon. Rev. John McMurray was the officiating clergyman and preached a very touching discourse. Six young friends acted as pall bearers.

Chief Doane Made an Investigation as to Explosives Stored in Local Establishments.

In view of the terrible disaster which occurred in New York last week caused by the explosion of chemicals in a wholesale drug house, Chief T. O. Doane, of the fire department, made a careful investigation of all the drug and hardware stores in the city this morning to see the amount of explosives and dangerous chemicals kept on hand.

According to the terms of insurance policies, only a barrel (32 gallons) of naptha or benzine can be kept in a building. None of the local pharmacists had over ten gallons in their store and that was kept in iron cans. Other dealers kept their barrel of the volatile liquid some distance from their establishment. Chief Doane's investigation showed that the law regarding explosives and dangerous chemicals was being carefully obeyed.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Press want ads bring results.

—Miss Mary Adelaide Luckey will give a recital in Y. M. C. A. Hall Tuesday evening December 4th.

—A very important meeting of the U. S. Grant Republican Club will be held this evening at headquarters on Somerset street. Every member is urged to attend.

—Townsend is offering special inducements to persons desiring monuments, etc. Call at his yard, Watchung avenue corner of Front street, and get his prices.

—A meeting of the Volunteer League will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. building. Rev. Daniel Rapalje will give a talk on China. All men are invited whether members of the league or not.

—The annual meeting of the Needle Work Guild which was to have been held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. C. E. Ryder, 615 East Front street, is postponed until Monday, November 12th, at the same place and hour.

—The members of the Junior Christian Endeavor Society of Warren chapel are reminded that they will hold their regular meeting tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Members are asked to bring their friends as Miss Mair will give a talk on "Africa."

—You can't afford to risk your life by allowing a cough or a cold to develop into pneumonia or consumption. One Minute Cough Cure will cure throat and lung troubles quicker than any other preparation known. Many doctors use it as a specific for grippe. It is an infallible remedy for croup. Children like it and mothers endorse it. L. W. Randolph.

Election Returns.

It is expected that several thousand people will gather on North avenue tomorrow night to witness the election returns that will be thrown by stereopticon on a big canvass that will be hung opposite the Hotel Kensington and McVey's Hotel.

Cut His Knee.

W. J. Tobin, employed in the carpentering department of the Pond Machine Tool Company's shops, cut his knee quite badly this morning by the slipping of an ax which he was using. He was taken to his home on West Fourth street.

Won't be Able to Vote.

F. A. Dunham, civil engineer, who is now in Cleveland, Tenn., looking after the construction of roads, expects to return home next week. He regrets that he will be unable to reach home in time to vote.

Library Hours.

The circulating department of the Public Library will be closed tomorrow, it being a legal holiday. The reading room will be open from 2 until 6 p. m., and the art gallery from 2 until 4 p. m.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Willard Force, of Brooklyn, formerly a resident of Plainfield, has been visiting friends in town.

Evolution of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Sir George Williams, Founder of the Society, Talks About Its Social, Educational and Spiritual Advantages.

Writing of the evolution of the Y. M. C. A., Sir George Williams, its founder, says in the Chicago Tribune that the association began in a small way—in fact, with only 12 men; that was 56 years ago, now it is represented by more than half a million members, divided into some 7,000 different centers, scattered all over the world. These are organized into national unions, and these again into one comprehensive international union. Its inception may be said to date from June 6, 1844, when some of my fellow workers met together at the close of one of our weekly prayer meetings to consider the importance and practicability of establishing a society for improving the spiritual condition of young men engaged in the drapery and other trades. Our first headquarters consisted of a small room in a coffee-house, for which we paid half a crown a week rent. Soon, when this accommodation was found too small for the increasing number of members, we removed to Radley's hotel, Blackfriars, where we had the use of a good room. Two years after its foundation branch associations were established in Piccadilly, Islington, Pimlico, Southwark and Whitechapel, and at Manchester, Liverpool, Taunton, Exeter and Leeds. In 1848 we were obliged to make another move, this time to rooms in Gresham street, where we were able to found a library. The association gradually increased its influence year by year, and in 1880 we were in a position to purchase the freehold of Exeter hall (for £25,000).

The first social departure of the association may be said to have begun at the end of 1845, when the committee adopted a new form of popularizing instruction and information by giving a course of weekly lectures on useful and entertaining subjects.

At the present time the social and

SIR GEORGE WILLIAMS.
(Founder of the Young Men's Christian Association.)

educational advantages to be obtained from the association at its various branches are many, and besides lectures and libraries may be mentioned debating societies, language classes, chess clubs, restaurants, gymnasia and all sorts of athletic clubs.

Some idea of the vastness of the association may be gathered from the following figures, which are taken from the last annual report. In Great and Greater Britain there are 1,654 centers and 1,585 auxiliary associations, with something like 130,000 members, while in foreign countries (not British possessions) there are over 5,000 centers, and nearly as many auxiliary associations, with a membership of close on half a million; nor must one forget that had it not been for the Young Men's Christian association that excellent sister society, the Young Women's Christian association, would probably never have come into existence.

In America the movement has taken even stronger foothold, and since 1851, both in Canada and the United States, systematic effort has resulted in a large organization. Amongst the many agencies which have had their origin in American association, may be mentioned the now well-known Society for the Suppression of Vice. Needless to say, the American association, like its prototype in England, has for its main object the improvement of the spiritual, mental, social and physical condition of young men.

"The youth of a nation are the trustees of its posterity," and the incalculable services the association has rendered to young men in teaching them to keep their minds and bodies pure and healthy, and helping them to lead higher, nobler lives, earn for it the gratitude of all right-thinking men and women.

Slaves Dined on Terrapin.

Judge Page, of Maryland, commenting on a paragraph in the New York Press to the effect that in colonial times lessees of slaves were obliged by law to feed the negroes on terrapin at last twice a week, states that this was no studied compliment to the black men, for in those days the finest diamond backs were regarded as food fit only for slaves and hogs. In feeding them to the latter the terrapins were chopped up with a spade and served raw.

CITY AND COUNTY GIVE BIG G. O. P. MAJORITIES

The Overwhelming Vote of 1896 Almost Duplicated in Every District to Surprise of All.

THE DEMOCRATS POLLED MORE VOTES, THOUGH,

NO EXCITING INCIDENTS HAPPENED IN THE GREAT CONTEST FOR BALLOTS.

Heavy Vote Polled in Every District—Republican Majority in the City is 1,555—Republicans Highly Jubilant and Celebrated in Impromptu Manner.

IN NEW JERSEY.

New Jersey stays in the Republican column in 1900 by majorities that are but slightly reduced from the unprecedented ones given in the landslide for the G. O. P. four years ago. The reduction is made by the Democratic gains made in Hudson, Sussex and Warren counties, which, with old rock-ribbed Democratic Hunterdon, are the only New Jersey counties to line up in the Democratic column. The majority given in the whole State for the Republican ticket is, as nearly as could be estimated at an early hour this morning, 53 409. The majorities rolled up in Republican counties is 64,059, which is offset to the extent of the 10,650 given the Democrats in the four counties that gave their majority to the party of Bryan.

The Congressional delegation from New Jersey will remain the same as for the last two years—six Republicans and two Democrats, the latter electing Allan McDermott in the Seventh and J. S. Salmon in the Fourth districts. The Republican Congressmen elected are: First district, Loundenslager; Second district, Gardner; Third district, Howell; Fifth district, Stewart; Sixth district, Parker; Eighth district, Fowler.

The Republicans elected State Senators in Cape May, Burlington, Bergen, Middlesex and Passaic. Hudson, Hunterdon and Sussex elected Democratic Senators.

The Republicans will have forty four members of the House of the Assembly, and the Democrats sixteen, the same as in the last session of the Legislature.

The Senate will be composed of seventeen Republicans and four Democrats.

On joint ballot the Republicans will have forty-one votes over the Democrats. This insures the re-election of General Sewell to the United States for another term of six years without a contest.

Republican plurality, 53,409.

IN THE CITY.

While Plainfield did not give McKinley quite as great a plurality as it did four years ago, the vote for the Republican candidates in this city was far above the usual figures. The city gave the Republican ticket a plurality of 1,555, while the presidental electors received a plurality of 1,525 Four years ago McKinley's plurality was 1,665.

The Democrats made their hardest fight in the Fourth ward. The balloting there was very heavy but the Republicans managed to get fair pluralities in each of the three districts which go to make up that ward.

The Republicans in the Second ward gained the greatest plurality, 425, of any of the wards. The Third ward was close behind with a Republican plurality of 22.

Republicans had been very confident that they would equal the figures of four years ago. They failed by a trifle over a thousand votes. The Democrats expected to keep the Republican plurality at least as low as 1,200. They failed. The total Democratic vote was 942, as compared with 654 four years ago. The Republicans also gained.

The county ticket was of comparatively little importance, but Charles S Foote received a somewhat larger vote than the rest of his colleagues. Lammerding made the best run of any of the Democratic candidates for the Assembly.

A comparison of the vote for the tickets and the electors shows that the districts was cut thirty times, while the Democratic tickets and vote for electors was even.

The other four tickets, beside the Republican and Democratic, cut very little figure. The Social Democratic ticket polled 57 votes, the Prohibition ticket 44, the Social Labor 36 and the People's 1.

IN UNION COUNTY.

Union county went Republican with a plurality of 4,859 and the entire Republican county ticket, including three Assemblymen and a coroner, was elected by pluralities ranging from 4 800 to 4,200.

Four years ago the Republican plurality in the county was 5,600 The Republican losses were chiefly in the cities of Rahway and Elizabeth. Rahway's plurality was reduced from 500 to 300 and Elizabeth gave McKinley 1,475 plurality, a loss of 300.

Republican gains were largest in several of the wards of Plainfield and Elizabeth. Congressman Fowler received a plurality of 4,724 in the county.

Of the Assemblymen, Charles S. Foote, of Plainfield, made the best run, C. M. Smith, of Westfield, was next, Ellis N. Meeker ran considerably behind his ticket and his plurality over Lammerding, the strongest Democratic candidate, was 4,200. Clark and Park were about even.

It is impossible to give exact figures in the county as no reports were received from Rahway and several of the minor townships. A table on this page gives the exact figures where they were secured.

Chairman C. N. Codding, of the county committee, predicted that the Republicans would carry every city, township and borough in the county. New Providence township failed to carry out the programme and gave Bryan a plurality of 3.

IN MIDDLESEX.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Nov. 7.—An overwhelming majority was given to the Republican ticket throughout Middlesex county, greatly to the surprise of the Democrats, who confidently expected to re-elect James H. Van Cleef for the Senate. The total Republican majorities were as follows: Presidential, 2,235; Howell, 2 390; Strong, 2,130; Lyon Grives and Montgomery for the assembly, an average majority of 2,000 each or better.

Want Trolley Extended.

W G. Peckham is engineering a public meeting to be held in Westfield this week to agitate the building of the trolley road between Westfield and Springfield.

PISCATAWAY.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, November 7.—Piscataway township's majority for the Republican ticket was almost exactly as predicted. McKinley received a majority of 116 over Bryan. The total vote was as follows: Republican; Presidential, 333; for Congress, Howell, 336; for Senate, Strong, 328; for Assembly, Lyon, 331; Montgomery, 332; Groves, 334.

Democratic, Presidential, 217; for Congress, Bergen, 217; for Senate, VanCleef, 224; for Assembly, Loblein, O'Hara and Riva, about 220 each.

IN SOMERSET COUNTY.

Somerset county elected a Republican county clerk, a Republican Assemblyman and gave McKinley a plurality of 1220 in the county. The vote was remarkably heavy. The Republicans won by even a greater plurality than they predicted.

M'KINLEY WILL STAY IN THE WHITE HOUSE

The President Receives a Powerful Popular Approval of His Administration for the Past Four Years.

GAINS SOME STATES THAT WENT FOR BRYAN.

MAJORITY IN ELECTORAL COLLEGE WILL BE ALMOST AS LARGE AS BEFORE.

Bryan it is Claimed, Has Lost the Vote in Kentucky—Loses in Other Places, Too—Majorities Reduced but Still are Very Large.

The Democrats have met with a greater defeat in 1900 than they did in 1896.

McKinley and Roosevelt will receive the electoral vote of 29 States, numbering 302.

Bryan and Stevenson were victorious in 16 States, giving them 145 votes,

This gives the Republican candidate a plurality of 157 in the electoral college. McKinley carries the States of Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, Utah and Wyoming, all of which were carried by Bryan four years ago.

McKinley held all the States that he carried in 1896.

Although condsiderably reduced in the pivotal States, Mr. McKinley's majorities are still enormous and, leaving out the vote of 1896, exceed anything of the kind ever before recorded in this country.

With the re-election of McKinley Congress will also be Republican and that party will be in absolute control of national affairs for another four years.

ELECTION INCIDENTS.

The election in this city was conducted in an orderly manner. There were no scenes of disorder and not an arrest was made in either city or borough for illegal voting. The polls opened at 6 o'clock a. m. and until 7 o'clock last night there was steady voting.

And it was a large vote, too. Each party did its utmost to bring out the full vote and the efforts of the leaders were not in vain. It was the largest vote ever cast in this city or the borough. Before 10 o'clock more than half the vote had been cast in the various districts and by 4 o'clock there remained but few delinquent voters to be looked up. With the approach of the closing hour extra efforts were made by Republicans and Democrats to secure every voter and with good success.

The police under command of Chief Kiely in this city and Chief Campbell's men in the borough were stationed at the various polls to preserve order and check any overt act. But they had nothing to do, and were satisfied to pose as the law's minions with what dignity they possessed. There was not the least disorder or disturbance at any of the districts, and few men were noticed the worse for too much familiarity with the amber fluid. But few challengers were made by either party.

The city wore a holiday look the entire day, the stores, shops and places of business being closed and employer and employed availed themselves of the opportunity to enjoy the beautiful weather, which was all that the most fastidious could desire.

With the setting of the sun the quiet day passed into a noisy night. Young America broke loooose in all his youthful enthusiasm. The din

JOTTINGS OF THE DAY

ENTERPRISINGLY GATHERED AND CONCISELY TOLD BY REPORTERS.

Newsy Notes of More or Less Importance Bunched Together for the Ready Reference of Press Readers

—Unity Lodge, Knights of Pythias, will hold a regular meeting this evening.

—DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the best liver pills ever made. Easy to take and never gripe. L. W. Randolph.

—An important meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of Hope chapel will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

—The burr from a wheel on a wagon, which was found on Park avenue, can be had by the owner calling at The Press office.

—Both makers and circulators of counterfeits commit fraud. Honest men will not deceive you into buying worthless counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. The original is infallible for curing piles, sores, eczema and all skin diseases. L. W. Randolph.

Mrs. J. Knez, of Passaic, formerly of Plainfield, who has just returned from a visit to Boston and suburbs, has been in town visiting friends.

—Many people worry because they believe they have heart disease. The chances are that their hearts are all right but their stomachs are unable to digest food. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and prevents the formation of gas which makes the stomach press against the heart. It will cure every form of indigestion. L. W. Randolph.

Miss Julia Carman, of Franklin place, has been visiting friends on Staten Island.

Spread Like Wildfire.

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham Hare, a leading druggist, of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years. You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, rundown man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by L. W. Randolph, Druggist.

Raymond A. McGee, of Orchard avenue, has accepted a position in Troy and is now making his home in that city.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern which is not afraid to be generous. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles and have the satisfaction of knowing it has cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, LaGrippe and all Throat, Chest and Lung diseases are surely cured by it. Call on L. W. Randolph, Druggist, and get a free trail bottle. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle gauranteed.

Well Pleased at Peck's.

As an evidence of the popularity of the lace and embroidery to be found at Peck's store on West Front street, Mr. Peck is constantly in receipt of letters from women in various parts of the country who order these goods from his select stock. Only recently a woman living in Boston wrote to Mr. Peck asking him to send her a particular kind of embroidery, such as she purchased when in Plainfield some time ago. She adds: "I have been unable to find in all Boston such goods." Another woman writes from Syracuse for lace goods and she also says that she has seen nothing in her city to equal those purchased at Peck's store. Other letters similar have been received from Harrisburg, Pittsburg, Pa., Chicago and Denver, and they all speak for themselves. The quality and design of goods to be found at Peck's is hard to find anywhere else, even in large cities.

Everett J. Peck, of Myrtle avenue, returned from Lehigh University to spend Election Day at home.

J. Vincent Rittenhouse, of Cornell University, returned to his home on Sanford avenue for Election Day.

Miss Saidie Mae Howell, of Myrtle avenue, has been ill at her home for several weeks. She is now somewhat improved.

Mrs. Daniel Polhemus, of Somerville, has returned home after visiting her daughter, Mrs. Peter B. Hodge, of Plainfield avenue.

Miss Wadsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wadsworth, of New York, has been visiting at the home of J. Evarts Tracy, of West Eighth street.

What Shall We Have for Dessert?

This question arises in the family every day. Let us answer it today. Try Jell-O, a delicious and healthful dessert. Prepared in two minutes. No boiling! no baking! simply add boiling water and set to cool. Flavors:—Lemon, Orange, Raspberry and Strawberry. Get a package at your grocers today. 10 cts.

PARTICULAR MENTION

PERSONAL GOSSIP OF INTEREST TO CITY AND BOROUGH.

In Brief are Told the Daily Doings of Many Residents and Visitors Who Go and Come in a Social and Business Way

Henry B. Drake, of Duer street, returned to his studies at Philadelphia, last evening.

Miss Lincoln, of New York, is visiting at the home of Col. Mason W. Tyler, of West Seventh street.

Night Watchman Jerry Cash, of Liberty street, has returned from a two weeks' visit on Long Island.

J. Vincent Rittenhouse, of Sandford avenue, returned to Cornell University this morning after spending Election Day at home.

William Packer, of West Fifth street, has resumed work after being confined to the house for the past week with an injured knee.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver B. Leonard and their two sons, of Perth Amboy, spent Sunday with Mrs. Leonard's sisters, the Misses Marsh, of Madison avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton T. Coon, who have been boarding on West Fifth street, started housekeeping yesterday in their new home on Somerset street.

George A. Horne, of Willow avenue, returned to his duties at the plant of the Catskill Cement Co., Smith's Landing, N. Y., last evening, after spending a few days at home.

Mr. and Mrs. John V. Beekman, Jr., who have been stopping at the home of Mr. Beekman's father on West Eighth street, have gone to Glen Ridge, where they will take up their residence.

Great Luck Of An Editor

"For two years all efforts to cure Eczema in the palms of my hands failed", writes Editor H. N. Lester, of Syracuse, Kan., "then I was wholly cured by Bucklen's Arnica Salve." It's the world's best for Eruptions, Sores and all skin diseases. Only 25 cents at L. W. Randolph's.

—Summons have been issued by Justice Nash in the landlord and tenant case of Guttman against Vilars. They are returnable November 10th.

—The cases on contract of John and William Schorb against William Trust has been adjourned to November 15th in Justice Mattison's court.

—If you have ever seen a child in the agony of croup you can realize how grateful mothers are for One Minute Cough Cure which gives relief as soon as it is administered. It quickly cures coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles. L. W. Randolph.

Miss Meriel Brokaw, of Madison avenue, has been visiting at Raritan.

Mrs. Horne, of Boston, is a guest at the home of John D. Titsworth, of Madison avenue.

That Throbbing Headache

Would quickly leave you, if you used Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for Sick and Nervous Headaches. They make pure blood and build up your health. Only 25c. Money back if not cured. Sold by L. W. Randolph, Druggist.

—There was no session of the Plainfield public schools yesterday as Election Day was observed as a National holiday.

—There is no pleasure in life if you dread going to the table to eat and can't rest at night on account of indigestion. Henry Williams, of Boonville, Ind., says he suffered that way for years, till he commenced the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, and adds, "Now I can eat anything I like and all I want and sleep soundly every night." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will digest what you eat. L W. Randolph.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Robert Fitzsimmons and his new play—"The Honest Blacksmith," is the announcement for Music Hall tomorrow night. The play is really such a story of heart interest that it appeals to all ages and classes. It tells a story that will benefit those that see and hear it. Fitz is seen in his blacksmith shop, where he shoes a horse after making the horse shoe; in his training quarters, where, with Ed Dunkhorst he goes through a system of exercise that is usually interesting, as well as in his own home with Mrs. Fitzsimmons and Bobbie, Jr. In this scene the audience sees the moving pictures of the Fitz Ruhlin fight at Madison Square Garden, New York. During the action of the play Bob sings a song and some of the most widely known specialty artists of the two hemispheres are introduced.

Two Rollers to be Used.

Contractor C. M. Meeker expects his steam roller to arrive in a few days and will put it to work immediately rolling down the electric light trenches on Second street, North and Watchung avenues. As soon as this is completed it will probably be rented by the city for use on West Front street.

BOER LAAGER SURPRISED.

Two British Officers Killed In a Fierce Fight.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The war office has the following from Lord Roberts, dated Johannesburg, Nov. 3:

"On Nov. 1 Smith-Dorrien surprised a Boer laager at Witkop, but was prevented from following up his success by the inclement weather. While he was retiring he was attacked by the Boers, who were repulsed with heavy loss. Captain Charmens and one of the Canadian Mounted rifles were killed, and Major Saunders was wounded."

The queen has decorated and promoted 20 naval officers serving in South Africa. Rear Admiral Sir Robert Hastings Harris has been made a Knight Commander of the Bath.

To Welcome Kruger.

PARIS, Nov. 6.—The municipal council has adopted a resolution expressing warm sympathy and admiration for the Boers "in their heroic defense of their independence" and resolving that the president and other officers of the council shall welcome Mr. Kruger at the station upon his arrival in Paris.

Roberts Not Sure to Return.

DURBAN, Nov. 6.—According to a dispatch from Pietermaritzburg The Times of Natal says that the return of Lord Roberts to England may still be delayed for several weeks.

Senator Davis Doing Well.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 6.—Dr. A. J. Stone, the physician in charge of United States Senator Davis, states that the slight operation on the senator's foot yesterday afternoon showed it to be in much better condition than either he or Dr. Murphy had expected to find it and that only the simplest kind of an operation had been necessary in order to clear a passage for the pus that had collected under the foot. The former operation had been over the top of the foot, and this was under the foot in the same manner as the first. The senator had revived from the slight operation in good shape. He insisted there had been no question of amputation and that Senator Davis was getting along very well in every way.

Jail Delivery Foiled.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—That a jail delivery had been planned by prisoners in the Cook county jail was discovered by Jailer Whitman yesterday. Two .38 caliber pistols and ammunition were found in one of the cells occupied by F. D. Rich, Thomas Jones and Frank Rutlidge, held here awaiting extradition to Canada, where they are charged with robbing a bank. The three men are known to have been in a plot to escape, probably today, as some of the guards would have been away on election business. It is believed others were in the conspiracy. The revolvers were smuggled into the cells concealed in lunches, one in a pan of baked beans and the other in a package of grapes.

Horse Thief Arrested.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 6.—George Klinger, a white haired man of about 60 years, was arrested here charged with the larceny of a handsome bay horse and stylish buggy which, it is believed, he stole at Newport News, Va. From information received by the detective department Klinger is believed to be the individual who has been stealing horses throughout Virginia for the past two months, and he is said to have operated in Richmond, Norfolk and a number of small towns by representing himself as a patent medicine agent, hiring horses and vehicles at livery stables and then failing to return them.

Canadians Vote Tomorrow.

HALIFAX, Nov. 6.—Sir Charles Tupper, who is at present in Cape Breton, has issued a manifesto on behalf of the Conservative party, in which among other points of criticism of the Laurier government he condemns the manner in which the Canadian case was conducted in the deliberations of the joint high commission. Excitement regarding the elections tomorrow has reached fever heat in the provinces. Conservatives and Liberals both claim a victory on polling day.

Mr. Bryan's Final Day.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 6.—With seven speeches made at Omaha last night Hon. William Jennings Bryan completed his presidential campaign tour of this state. He delivered a speech in this, his home city, at 6 o'clock in the evening. He returned here at that time from a 12 hour tour of the interior of the state and spoke for about 30 minutes to his townspeople. Mr. Bryan seemed entirely satisfied with the audiences that greeted him at the various points.

D. and H. Hands Share Advance.

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 6.—Without solicitation the Delaware and Hudson Canal company has advanced the wages of its shopmen in Green Ridge 10 per cent. These hands turn out most of the carpenter work of the mines, and while hardly in the category of mine workers the company deemed it just that they should share in the advance given the other men of the mining department.

Gifts From Soldiers Free.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The president has issued an executive order admitting free of duty Christmas presents and souvenirs sent by soldiers in China to friends in the United States. The privilege is the same as was extended to soldiers in the Philippines one year ago.

HONORED BY QUEEN.

Lord Roberts Appointed Chief Commander of British Army.

Will Relieve Lord Wolseley as Soon as He Can Return from South Africa — His Promotion Pleases the Public.

Queen Victoria's present to Field Marshal Lord Roberts on his sixty-ninth birthday was his appointment as commander in chief of the British army.

Lord Roberts' career has been a brilliant one. Born at Cawnpore September 30, 1832, the son of Gen. Sir Abraham Roberts, he was educated at Clifton, Eton, Sandhurst and Addiscombe, and at the age of 19 received his first commission as second lieutenant in the Bengal artillery. He served with distinction in the Indian mutiny campaign and received the Victoria cross for personal bravery in the field in 1858. He was at the siege of Delhi and took active part in the subsequent operations down to the relief of Lucknow.

Throughout the Abyssinian campaign of 1868 Roberts held the office of assistant quartermaster general. He superintended the reembarkation of the whole army and was selected by Sir Robert Napier as the bearer of the latter's final dispatches. He also acted as assistant quartermaster general with the Cachar column in the Looshai expeditionary force (1871-72).

At the beginning of the Afghan campaign he was appointed commander of the Kuram field force and subsequently had the chief command of the army in Afghanistan, where he achieved the most brilliant triumphs. After the massacre of the British embassy Roberts reoccupied Cabul at the close of 1870. Toward the end of July, 1880, a terrible defeat was inflicted by the troops of Ayoob Khan at Malwand on Gen. Burrows, the remnant of whose force with difficulty joined Gen. Primrose's garrison at Candahar.

Roberts, gathering a force of over 9,000 picked men, marched to the relief of Candahar, allowing Abdurrahman Khan to occupy Cabul. Cut off from direct communication with his countrymen, Roberts disappeared for three weeks, during which time the national anxiety was extreme. At last he emerged victorious from the trackless region between Cabul and Candahar. Immediately he grappled with Ayoob Khan, and inflicted on that pretender a crushing defeat.

FIELD MARSHAL ROBERTS.
(The New Commander in Chief of the British Army.)

On the return of Roberts to England he was loaded with honors; he was presented with the freedom of the city of London, received the thanks of parliament, and was created a baronet.

In February, 1881, he was appointed to succeed Sir George Colley in the command of the troops in Natal and the Transvaal, but peace was concluded with the Boers before his arrival in the colony. He was afterward appointed a member of the council of Madras, and commanded the troops in that presidency from 1881-85.

Son afterward Lord Roberts successfully commanded an expedition to Burmah. He was later appointed commander in chief in India, and left that post to become commander in chief in Ireland, from which post he was called in December, 1899, to command British forces in the Transvaal.

Commander in Chief Roberts was created Lord Roberts of Kandahar and Waterford in 1892 and he became field marshal in 1895.

The Times, in an editorial reference to the appointment of Lord Roberts as commander in chief, hints that Lord Kitchener will come home to assist him at his new post. Lord Wolseley, of course, does not step down in disgrace, but is released from command solely because his age entitles him to cease active duties and to rest upon the laurels of a long, honorable and brilliant public and military career.

Seasick Missouri Mules.

Edward Makins, Jr., a young veterinary surgeon of Abilene, Kan., returned this week from an interesting voyage to South Africa in charge of a shipload of mules for the British government. "It is a curious thing," he said, "that the Missouri mule, which it is popularly supposed can stand anything, is as susceptible to seasickness as most people. When the ship had passed through the jetties and was out on the swell of the gulf and ocean, this showed itself. It was really pitiful to see the big, strong creatures suffer with all the pangs of seasickness and exhibit all the symptoms of wishing that they were dead. Doses of medicine and showers of cold water relieved them, and before we had been out long all the animals were on their sea legs and standing the voyage like accomplished sailors."

FOR A CONSTITUTION

Cubans Meet to Frame Governmental Foundation.

GOVERNOR WOOD'S OPENING ADDRESS

Senor Llorente Chosen to Preside. Resolutions of Praise For General Wood and Gratitude to President of the United States.

HAVANA, Nov. 6.—The Cuban constitutional convention met in the Marti theater yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Long before that hour the theater was crowded. Many thousands were unable to gain admittance, and the streets in the neighborhood were blocked with people.

General Wood and his staff, accompanied by General Fitz-Hugh Lee and his staff, received an ovation on entering, the band playing "America." Senor Cisneros and General Rivera escorted General Wood to the platform, and he almost immediately opened the convention.

"As the military governor of the island of Cuba and representing the president of the United States," he said, "I call this convention to order. It will be your duty first of all to frame and adopt a constitution for Cuba and when that has been done to formulate what, in your opinion, ought to be the relations between Cuba and the United States.

"The constitution must be adequate to secure stable, orderly and free government. When you have formulated the relations which, in your opinion, ought to exist between Cuba and the United States, the government of the United States will doubtless take such action on its part as shall lead to a final and authoritative agreement between the people of the two countries to the promotion of their common interests.

"All friends of Cuba will follow your deliberations with the deepest interest, earnestly desiring that you shall reach just conclusions and that by the dignity, individual self restraint and wise conservatism which shall characterize your proceedings the capacity of the Cuban people for representative government may be signally illustrated.

"The fundamental distinction between true representative government and a dictatorship is that in the former every representative of the people in whatever office confines himself strictly within the limits of his defined powers. Without such restraint there cannot be free constitutional government.

"Under the order pursuant to which you have been elected and convened you have no duty and no authority to take part in the present government of the island. Your powers are strictly limited by the terms of that order."

Before withdrawing General Wood wished the delegates a speedy and successful conclusion of their work. He said that Chief Justice Perez would administer the form of oath which the delegates might select, and he concluded by appointing Senor Figuereo, undersecretary of state and government, as temporary chairman.

The convention organized with Senor Llorente, justice of the supreme court, as president and Senor Villuendo as secretary. The following oath was then administered:

"We, delegates elected by the people of Cuba to the national constitutional convention, swear faithfully to fulfill the duties of our office. We publicly and solemnly renounce allegiance to or compact made with any state or nation, whether made directly or indirectly, swearing to the sovereignty of the free and independent people of Cuba and swearing to respect the solution this convention may adopt as well as the government established by the constitution."

All of the 31 delegates were present.

Senor Aleman, who said that the convention was "only a continuation of the fight for independence," moved that the regulations governing the old Cuban assembly at Yaya in 1896 be adopted. As nobody seemed familiar with them the convention adjourned until tomorrow at 2 p. m., when copies will be furnished to the delegates.

The following resolutions were presented to the president of the convention just before adjournment and will probably be adopted today:

"The undersigned delegates propose that the constitutional assembly adopt the following resolutions:

"First.—That a committee of the assembly proceed immediately to call on General Wood and to manifest the satisfaction with which the delegates have seen him carry out the difficult mission intrusted to him.

"Second.—That the committee request General Wood to cable to the president of the United States as follows:

"'The delegates elected to the constitutional convention, assembled at their inaugural meeting, greet with profound gratitude and affection the president of the United States of North America, and they are satisfied with the honesty demonstrated in the fulfillment of the declarations made in favor of liberty and the independence of the Cuban people.'"

New Theory For Galveston's Ruin.

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Nov. 6.—It is believed by the engineers who are repairing the Galveston-Mexico cable, which was broken by the Galveston hurricane, that the storm was accompanied by a submarine eruption. The evidence of this eruption is found in the twisted condition of the cable. The sheathing is found to have been reversed and the wires binding it to the core turned the wrong way.

Indiana's Growth.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The official returns as announced by the census bureau give the state of Indiana a total population of 2,516,462 against 2,192,404 in 1890. These figures show an increase in the population of the state since 1890 of 324,058, or 14.7 per cent.

Philippine Revenue.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The war department has made public the following cablegram from Judge Taft, president of the Philippine commission: "October customs, $1,088,000 Mexican; increase over previous month, $150,000; total revenue, $2,200,000; breaks record."

Butter and Cheese Plant Burned.

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 6.—The large butter and cheese plant of the Empire Cheese company at South Edmeston was destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of $40,000; insurance, $21,000. The factory was receiving 26,000 pounds of milk daily and [illegible] 25 hands.

STAGE SNOWSTORMS.

How a Pathetic Scene in Which One Figured Was Completely Spoiled.

The stage snowstorm, as a rule, lacks variety and realism. It is as palpably unreal as the soap box ice cakes on which hunted Eliza skips uncertainly in her frenzied flight across a make-believe Ohio river in one-night stand portrayals of Harriet Beecher Stowe's exposition of bygone slave days, says the St. Louis Republic.

There is nothing convincing in a spasmodic downfall of paper snowflakes, sifted from a perforated box in the flies and enveloping the heroine in distress, while the stage to right and left and in front and behind her is as bare as a San Francisco pavement in winter.

Joseph R. Grismer, actor, playwright and stage director, has reformed all this. He thought out and perfected an ingenious device by which the snowstorm in "Way Down East" is made to look real. The snow seems to have set in to last all winter, and the wild, whirling flakes drive past the windows of the old farmhouse and drift furiously through the opened door as if blown upon the wings of a howling gale.

Mr. Grismer, skillful as he has proved himself in working up the storm in "Way Down East," was not always so successful in this sort of stage illusion. His first attempt was at Glens Falls, a one-night stand in New York, years ago, when he was playing leads to the emotional heroines of Annie Ward Tiffany. "East Lynne" was the play and Miss Tiffany conceived the idea that it would add a spice of novelty to recite "Beautiful Snow" in one of the scenes where she had the entire stage to herself. Mr. Grismer warmly approved the idea and suggested that the effect would be greatly enhanced by the introduction of an incidental snowstorm. Miss Tiffany thought the suggestion a good one, and as no reliance could be placed upon country stage hands Mr. Grismer volunteered to be responsible for the snow effects.

Providing himself with a bucketful of fine-cut paper, he mounted a tall stepladder and proceeded to sift the snow down by hand just outside the window in front of which the star was declaiming with impassioned fervor. Mr. Grismer was congratulating himself upon the superb effect he was creating when a local stage hand looked up with a grin and sarcastically remarked:

"You gosh-blamed idiot! That window ain't transparent. It's solid and painted on canvas, and the audience can't see nothing."

This fact had also dawned on Miss Tiffany, who had taken furtive peeps over her shoulder to see how hard it was snowing. She was rapidly reaching the pathetic climax of the poem In a frenzied aside she whispered to Mr. Grismer: "I'll throw open the door; let the snow come down there!"

Grismer frantically shifted the ladder so it would be nearer the door, but Miss Tiffany an instant later flung the door open with such violence the ladder was upset, and down came Grismer, snow, bucket and all, in full sight of the audience. There was a yell of derision as the fallen leading man picked himself up and the curtain was hastily rung down amid a tumult of laughter.

TRIPLE WINDOW OPENINGS.

A Good Arrangement for the Admission of Light and Air.

Some of the decorators' ideas in the use of windows are very effective. They may be adopted in old houses without the expense of throwing out a bay window, all that is required for a series of windows being the insertion of a row of openings along one side of the room, narrow frames alone separating the different sashes. The triple window may be made by grouping two extra ones beside one already in the room. If the room is in a corner a very effective arrangement is secured by putting windows on each side of the corner. A seat may then be run across the angle and cushioned and upholstered with cretonne or some other handsome fabric, says the Washington Star.

A very effective use of windows was recently made in a small house whose little parlor was hopelessly cheerless, with an unattractive outlook on a busy city street. It happened to be a corner room, with a window narrow and modern at each side of the corner. The shadows of the houses on either side kept the room gloomy even at midday. It happened that the tenant was of some years' standing and the landlord was willing to humor the lady of the house when the suggestion was made to let more light into the room. The housewife obtained an idea of what she wanted from the decorator and succeeded in inducing the landlord to let him put the design into execution. This is what was done: The side windows were widened toward the corner, at which point two wide windows were put in, leaving space for a broad wooden panel between. A shelf and panels were put under the windows. Tiny diamond-shaped panes of tinted glass were set in the frames, which were so fixed that either the upper or lower sash could be swung back on a hinge. This in summer admitted a great deal more fresh air than would have been possible with an ordinary window. Above the windows was stretched a rich portiere that fell in long, graceful folds to the floor. Ruffled Swiss curtains were draped on one side of each window. Opposite the center of the windows stood a small table, on which was set a fancy china lamp, covered with a tinted shade.

REFUSED MEDICAL AID.

Christian Scientists' Efforts Unavailing to Cure Mrs. Hubbell.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Mrs. Augusta Hubbell of 116 Kingston avenue, Brooklyn, died yesterday after an illness of several weeks' duration without medical care, although a Christian Scientist was in constant attendance upon her. She was the wife of P. Hubbell, a manufacturer and a man of considerable means.

Mrs. Hubbell had been suffering from a stomach complaint and had refused all her husband's requests that she permit a physician to visit her. Instead she sent for a Christian Scientist.

Mr. Hubbell became alarmed on Saturday and sent for Dr. Street of Brooklyn. When Dr. Street reached the house Mrs. Hubbell at first refused to see him but finally consented. He prescribed for her, but she frankly admitted that she would not take his medicine. Mr. Hubbell sent the prescription to be filled, but Mrs. Hubbell could not be induced to take it.

Dr. Street reported Mrs. Hubbell's death as "without medical attendance," a death certificate was refused, and the coroner will investigate the case.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

A case of the plague has apparently developed at Bremen.

Soldiers of the South African contingent returned to Toronto and were received with tremendous enthusiasm.

Adjutant General Corbin will take a month's leave of absence from his work in Washington to recuperate his health.

The funeral of former Mayor William L. Strong was attended in New York by an unusual gathering of men prominent in all walks of life.

Judge Vail of the Illinois state circuit court decided that Chicago board of trade quotations must be given to the public without discrimination.

Motion at meeting of Dublin city corporation to confer freedom of city on former President Kruger was ruled out of order by the lord mayor.

Shocking Gunning Accident.

TRENTON, Nov. 6.—The Rev. Stephen Reed, a young Baptist minister, was accidentally killed yesterday afternoon by being shot by John Bahrenberg, with whom he was gunning. The accident happened near Lawrenceville, which is the home of the minister's father. The two men were close friends and were returning from their gunning trip, when the gun in Bahrenberg's hands went off, shooting the minister in the stomach and instantly killing him. Bahrenberg was frantic with grief and is hardly able to explain how the accident happened. Coroner Nutt visited the scene and has not yet decided whether to hold an inquest. The minister was but recently ordained and at the time of his death was taking a post graduate at the Westchester seminary. He was married some months ago to Miss Mary Studder, a Trenton young lady.

A Mother Hubbard Parade.

WHEELING, Nov. 6.—Wheeling's "Mother Hubbard" parade the evening before presidential elections, when the members of the marching clubs of all parties come together and join in a great demonstration in honor of the woman's suffrage candidate for president, is unique and original with this city. Last night's affair in honor of Mrs. Catt was the largest on record, fully 2,000 marchers being in line. The real woman's suffragists, however, have on this occasion entered an emphatic protest against the demonstration, but the opposition seemed to add to the fervor with which the public looked at it. Over 30,000 people lined the streets and laughed at the queer and ridiculous costumes the marchers wore.

Roosevelt Winds Up the Campaign.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Governor Roosevelt wound up the Republican national campaign last night by delivering an address at Oyster Bay, N. Y., before one of the largest gatherings that ever assembled at that place. Prior to the meeting there was a parade led by five bands. William Howard, president of the McKinley and Roosevelt club of Oyster Bay, presided over the meeting. William J. Youngs, William W. Cocks and Wilbur Doughty, the two latter being candidates for the senate and assembly from the district, were the other speakers at the meeting in addition to Governor Roosevelt.

Subscriptions For St. Louis Fair.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 6.—Late yesterday $250,000, the largest subscription yet made to the World's fair local fund of $5,000,000, was handed to William H. Thompson, chairman of the finance committee. It came from the St. Louis Transit company and the Suburban railroad, the two companies controlling the street railways of St. Louis. This was the sum originally proportioned to the street railway interests, and this subscription will make the closing of the local fund a comparatively easy matter.

Thirteen Miners Dead.

PHILIPPI, W. Va., Nov. 6.—The latest reports from the ill fated mine at Berrysburg show that 13 are dead, eight of whom have been recognized, and three are so seriously injured that they cannot recover. A dozen theories are advanced as to the cause of the explosion. Two men were found dead in a part of the mine which had been abandoned. The door at the mouth of the mine was shut, and two men were blown 250 feet from the mouth.

Drank Poison by Mistake.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 6.—Mrs. Mary Harris Stuart, wife of Rev. D. E. Stuart, pastor of the Baptist church at Wyoming, this county, drank carbolic acid and died in agony. She was confined to bed with sickness and in the dark grasped the bottle of carbolic acid instead of a bottle containing other medicine. Coroner McKee investigated and found that death was accidental.

Killed by the Cars.

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Louis Rapp, aged 75, formerly engaged in the liquor business at Boonville many years, walked on the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg track near that place yesterday and was instantly killed. He had been demented some time and did not hear the warning signal.

Pittsburg Plumbers Resume Work.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 6.—The journeymen plumbers who have been on a strike since Oct. 1 returned to work yesterday. The strike was compromised, both sides making concessions.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair, with moderate temperature; light to fresh northerly winds.

ENVOYS MEET DAILY.

Trying to Agree Upon a Basis For Action.

SEPARATE NEGOTIATIONS IMPOSSIBLE

Severe Judgments Against Pao-ting-fu Officials Generally Approved In Germany—Another War Loan Is Likely.

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—Regarding the present status of affairs in Peking an official of the German foreign office makes the following statement:

"Conferences are occurring daily between the different ministers representing the powers in Peking, with a view of gaining a basis upon which they can proceed jointly and harmoniously. For this purpose lively telegraphic communications are just now passing between Peking and the different home governments.

"As yet the complete accord has not been obtained which is required to take away from Li Hung Chang every vestige of hope that he can achieve successes by negotiating separately with any particular power. Only after such a thorough accord has been obtained will the representatives of the powers be ready to enter into actual peace negotiations with the Chinese plenipotentiaries.

"Whether the note of the powers to China will be a joint one or whether each power will hand in a note identical in form has not yet been decided."

The press dispatches from China regarding the various antiforeign appointments have been corroborated by official advices from the German minister to China, Dr. Mumm von Schwartzonstein. The severe punishments adjudged against the Pao-ting-fu officials responsible for the massacres are unanimously approved by Germany.

It is ascertained from a source apparently reliable that another and even larger imperial loan is forthcoming. Leading financiers in Berlin and Frankfort corroborate this statement. The cost of the China expedition, which is much more considerable already than has hitherto been admitted, must be covered by such a loan.

Moreover, the expenses of the empire in various departments are much larger than than was anticipated when the budget was passed.

Vice Admiral Alexioff has addressed a communication to Li Hung Chang asking China's intentions regarding Manchuria and inviting her to resume the government of that territory under Russian protection, which, he says, will be of mutual advantage to China and Russia.

CHINESE STARTLED.

Death Sentence Upon Native Officers Causes a Sensation.

PEKING, Nov. 3, via Shanghai, Nov. 6.—The confirmation by Field Marshal Count von Waldersee of the death sentence passed on the Chinese officials of Pao-ting-fu who were responsible for the murder of missionaries and other Christians has created a sensation among the Chinese here. It is believed that the Chinese peace plenipotentiaries will ask the ministers to urge General von Waldersee not to carry the sentences out, but it is not believed that the ministers will interfere.

The question of securing guarantees for the safety of missionaries in the future may cause a disagreement between the ministers, as some of the powers do not think these persons are entitled to special protection.

There is further complaint about the cruelty of the Germans toward the Chinese and the unnecessary shooting of numerous harmless coolies. It is believed the attention of the commander in chief will be called to the matter. From present indications it is not likely that the members of the court will leave Singan-fu for Peking for some months.

Envoys Have Agreed.

PEKING, Nov. 6.—The foreign envoys met again yesterday morning and virtually agreed as to the points of chief importance. It was decided to leave minor differences for future discussion.

New Railroad Syndicate.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 6.—According to a story which has come out here a new railroad syndicate has been formed by the Goulds, E. H. Harriman and John W. Gates. The new syndicate has now under its control the Chicago and Alton and its allied interests, the Kansas City Southern, the Wabash, the Missouri Pacific and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas and other properties in the southwest country. Under the new arrangement these roads are to be put into the pool. The object is to lessen the competition and to make possible a new through service to the Texas territory which has not been obtainable out of Chicago hitherto. The combination of the Texas railroads which has been impossible hitherto may be accomplished, virtually if not in reality, through this agreement.

Cecil Rhodes' Brother Arrives.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Cecil Rhodes' younger brother, F. J. M. Rhodes of China, has just arrived in New York. He is stopping at the Hotel Victoria. "I left China seven or eight weeks ago after being hurt," said Mr. Rhodes. "Things there were far from satisfactory at that time. I shall leave this city on Thursday for California, where I intend to remain until something like order is restored in the Celestial Empire. This will probably be accomplished by spring, and then I shall return to China and resume prospecting."

Crushed In an Elevator.

BOSTON, Nov. 6.—Major George D. Allen of Malden died as the result of an elevator accident at 7 Exchange place here yesterday afternoon. Major Allen and several others were riding in the elevator when it became unmanageable. At the fourth floor the passengers jumped out, and all escaped injury except Major Allen, who was caught by the car and terribly crushed.

No Socks For Four Years.

WICHITA, Kan., Nov. 6.—Jerry Simpson has made a bet with a friend here by which, if McKinley is elected, he is to go without socks, winter and summer, for four years. If Bryan is elected, the friend will do the same.

Snow In Michigan.

MACKINAW CITY, Mich., Nov. 6.—The first snowstorm of the season came yesterday with a northwest gale, which has been steadily increasing in force.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., NOV. 7, 1900

COMING EVENTS.

November 10—Meeting of Literary Society of the Y. M. C. A.

November 11 to 18—Thomas F. Graham, of Sing Sing, N. Y., will speak and sing at the Y. M. C. A. Special music. All men invited.

Under the new census New Jersey will be allowed an additional Congressman, so that there will be nine districts altogether. Then, on the basis of population, it is probable that Essex, Hudson, Camden and Passaic will each be given an additional Assemblyman, while Warren, Hunterdon, Middlesex and Cumberland will likely lose one each. There cannot be more than sixty Assemblymen altogether, according to the Constitution of the State. Each county is entitled to one, no matter how small its population may be. While Essex, Hudson, Passaic and Camden have increased largely in population, Warren, Hunterdon, Cumberland and Middlesex have made but slow progress in that connection.

The population of Nevada has dwindled until now it is only 42,354. It will probably be still less ten years later. Yet, says the Philadelphia Record, this handful of people has two votes in the United States Senate to balance or nullify the weight of the greatest State in the Union and one vote in the House of Representatives, though having only one-fourth of a quota. On a close vote in the electoral college the voice of Nevada might be decisive of the Presidency. The sovereignty of the citizen means something in this abandoned mining camp.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

It would be to the advantage of the city if the Common Council grants the request of C. Chapot & Co., and other concerns in the western part of the city, who ask for an extension of the water mains through Second street to Rock avenue. C. Chapot & Co., will rebuild their chamois factory, providing their request is granted so that they can have proper and ample fire protection. If the request is refused the factory will not be built. The company is willing to pay for the maintenance of two hydrants in their yards if the mains are extended, and it would seem only just and fair to grant their request.

* * * * *

Freak election bets are again attracting attention. The latest eminates from Oak Tree, a suburb of Plainfield, where two women, becoming enthusiastic regarding their preferences for the leading candidates decided to stake their opinions in a ludicrous manner. Mrs. Grimes, a diminutative specimen of the female persuasion, a few days ago bet Mrs. Grundy that if the Republican ticket was defeated she would willingly wheel her neighbor for half a mile up a steep hill and back again. The only remarkable thing about this wager is that Mrs. Grimes is quite delicate and weighs but ninety-seven and a half pounds, while Mrs. Grundy is of the "fair, fat and forty" variety and tips the beam at 283¾ pounds. Although Mrs. Grimes is small, she is nevertheless plucky and claims to be equal to emergency should Mr. McKinley suffer defeat. In the event of Mr. Bryan's election Mrs. Grundy has agreed to treat Mrs. Grimes to a supper at a Newark hotel.

An Excellent Report.

At the regular business meeting of the Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church on Monday evening, Miss May Sheppard, who was sent to the State Convention as a delegate, read a very excellent report which gave evidence of careful and prayful preparation. By a vote of the society the recording secretary was instructed to send a vote of thanks to the Brunswick Traction Company and the Plainfield Street Railway Company for sending out a special car to bring home a delegation of Endeavorers from New Brunswick late Thursday evening last after the car had left.

John Duffy, of New York, has been spending several days with borough friends.

PLAY AT HILLSIDE.

Morris J. Dumont and J. A. Machado Won Cups—Qualifying Round for Chapman Cup.

The perfect weather of yesterday attracted a very large crowd of golfers to the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course, where there were several events of interest. The course was in fine condition and allowed excellent playing. The play for the golf club cups was watched with great interest. Morris J. Dumont won the class "A" cup with a net score of 84. The scores are as follows:

Morris J. Dumont, 90-6, 84; Townsend Rushmore, 103-18, 85; J. W. Baker, 87-2, 85; L. H. VanBuren, 100-15, 85; F. C. Ard, 93-8, 85; F. A. Clark, 104-18, 86; I. H. Carman, 105-18, 87; N. P. Rogers, Jr., 97-10, 87; W. Murray, 103-16, 87; H. R. Stockton, 97-10, 87; R. M. Shepard, 98-10, 88; H. C. Murger, 106-18, 88; J. P. Murray, 104-15, 89; W. L. Glenney, 90-0, 90; Walter Peterson, 106-15, 91; B. VanD. Hedges, 99-8, 91; W. E. Lowe, 110-15, 95; D. H. Rowland, 111-15, 96; Clifford Wharton, Jr., 113-16, 97.

J. A. Machado won the class "B" cup with a net score of 70. The scores: J. A. Machado, 97-27, 70; C. C. Burke, 106-27, 79; W. L. C. Glenney, 114-27, 87; Mrs. N. P. Rogers, 110-20, 90; C. A. Stover, 119-27, 92; F. W. Yates, 119-27, 92; A. D. Beers, 113-20, 93; E. R. Ackerman, 121-27, 94; Howard Tracy, 122-27, 95; N. P. Rogers, 121-25, 96.

The following qualified for the Chapman cup: Morris J. Dumont, B. VanD. Hedges, H. R. Stockton, J. W. Baker, W. Murray, Townsend Rushmore, W. L. Glenney and J. A. Machado. The first round match play for this cup will be played next Saturday.

HIS MOTHER WAS DEAD.

Frank Lascall Has Not Seen Her in Ten Years and Thought She Was Living.

Frank Lascall, a young man who lived with his mother in this city about ten years ago, came to Plainfield yesterday in search of his mother whom he has not seen in ten years. When he left town he was sent by a New York society to Missouri, where he has been employed on a farm. A few days ago he went to New York and thought he would try and find his mother, whom he had lost track of. When he reached Plainfield and began to inquire for his mother he could learn nothing about her. He called on Mrs. Kimball, of Park avenue, and she informed him that his mother left the city about eight years ago and she had no idea where his mother is at present.

Further inquiry brought the young man the news that his mother had recently been married, but this could not be verified. The young man is now in Plainfield and he is without money, home or many friends. Any information regarding his mother will be gratefully received by him.

NEW COPPER VEIN IN JERSEY.

Rich Find Being Investigated by Trenton Capitalists.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Pennington, Nov. 7.—Notwithstanding the opinion of experts that New Jersey's supply of copper has been exhausted, a large deposit of high-grade ore has been discovered on the Clifford farm, about three miles west of this village and about eight miles from Trenton. While the boundaries of the deposit have not yet been fully defined, the vein is supposed to be about thirty feet wide at the place of development on that farm, and is shown by actual operations to be fully a mile long, while surface indications lead to the belief that it is not less than eleven miles in length. How much longer it may be is as yet unknown.

Eight assays have been made by high authorities. The leanest ore, taken from the top of the vein, carries 2.70 per cent. of copper, while the richest, taken from greater depth, and assayed by Professor J. B. Woodworth, of Harvard, assistant geologist of the State of New York, bears 54.58 per cent. The general average of the eight assays is 13.54 per cent., and this is thought to be a fair average of the ore.

The operations are being conducted by Charles W Clifford, who has charge of the metal department of the American Lamp and Brass Company of Trenton. Associated with him are William R. Whitehead, the president of the company, and other practical business men of Trenton

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Short Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Nov. 7.—At a straw ballot taken in the Whittier school Monday, McKinley and Roosevelt received a majority of forty votes. The total vote cast was 102.

With the exception of a few matters of importance only routine business was transacted at the Borough Council meeting Monday night. The resignations of John Rinehart, as marshal, and Peter Apgar, as janitor of the town hall, were received. Several applications were made for the former position but no one was appointed. Charles Wyhusky was appointed in Apgar's place. Contrary to expectation no report was received in regard to Madison avenue. A note of $450 for stone was ordered paid and $350 for general purposes was ordered borrowed.

After an absence of several months the genial face of Thomas Costello is again to be seen at the Washington avenue crossing, Charles Tilton having returned to his old post at the cross over switches.

Assessor William R. Larkin, returned home from Chicago Monday where he has been under the care of his brother, Dr. Larkin, for some time.

W. R. Hollingshead has returned home from Chicago bringing Mrs. Hollingshead with him, having been married there some time ago.

The sum of $88.05 was contributed Sunday by the various societies connected with the Presbyterian church, to be used for missionary work.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church will meet this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Silas Naylor.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Sproull, of Jersey City, are spending a few days with the latter's sister, Mrs. A. N. Randolph.

Dr. Brakeley attended a meeting of the Republican executive committee held in New Brunswick Monday.

F. T. Dickerson and family have returned from a visit with relatives at Flemington.

Mrs. Maurice Barick has been entertaining her brother, Mr. Barkiow, of Freehold.

Alvah Gray spent Monday hunting in the vicinity of Bound Brook and secured six rabbits.

Miss Annie Fenner, of Plainfield, was the guest of Miss Virgie Tunison, Sunday.

Mrs. Josephine Dunham has returned from a visit with Westfield relatives.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, November 7.—A valuable cow belonging to Calvin Blue was killed in the barn Saturday night by some unknown person. The animal was cut and slashed in a most fiendish manner. It was found by Mr. Blue on going to the barn Sunday morning. Mr. Blue is at a loss to account for the deed as he was not aware that he had an enemy in the world.

A number of Dr. W. J. Nelson's friends have been wondering for the past few days whether they know the taste of wild duck or not. At a dinner party given by the doctor last Saturday they partook heartily of what they thought was that species of fowl. Their surprise and amazement can be better imagined than described when the doctor informed them that they had been eating the large snapping turtle which he had captured in the pond some time ago. When it is explained that some of those present are not exactly fond of turtle, the joke is explained.

Chicken thieves are still making visits to the roosts in the neighborhood, thirty fowls being stolen from William Lienan Saturday night.

Mrs. Charles Fair, of San Francisco, has returned after a visit with her mother, Mrs. Hannah Nelson.

Miss May Bennett and Arthur Brown, of Rahway, were the guests of Miss Alice Pierce Sunday.

The reception to be given by the dancing class will be held in Friendship Hall this evening.

Miss Lillian Waglow has returned from a visit with her aunt, Mrs. Whitney, of New York.

Miss Florence Tappen, of Metuchen, is the guest of her uncle, M. W. Casterline.

The G. E. Club was entertained Monday evening by Miss Mamie Garretson.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, November 7.—Morris Powers was arraigned before Judge Clark on Monday morning upon the charge of being disorderly on Sunday at his home near Glenside. The charge was sworn to by his stepmother, who said that the young man came home on Sunday morning, after serving their customers with their usual supply of milk, in an ugly frame of mind which was not softened much when she asked him for the day's receipts. She said he became very much excited and called her everything, this did not seem to satisfy him so he procured a revolver and fired this off several times a little too close to her for comfort. This scared her and she made up her mind to ask the aid of the Judge in settling the family troubles. Powers had nothing to say in his own defense so the Judge imposed a fine of $5 and costs to help pay for his amusement. Powers paid the fine and said he would at once leave home as he was unable to live with his stepmother.

Election Day passed very quietly in Scotch Plains, although both parties worked hard at the polls. The Democratic workers worked to cut down the large Republican majority of four years ago, when Scotch Plains gave the Republican ticket 102, while the Republican workers worked just as hard to keep up the prestige of their party. An unusually large vote was cast, 290 out of a registry of 317, were tallied when the hour of closing arrived. The Democrats made a gain of 12.

A large number from New York, Plainfield and the village attended the grand opening Monday evening of the Scotch Plains Hotel under the management of John Anderson. An informal programme of music and a dance was given in the large pavilion in the rear of the hotel after which a supper was served, and it was a late hour before the festivities were brought to a close.

Anthony Schwalbach imbibed a little too freely while enjoying Election Day, and by noon he was in such a condition that Constable Allen landed him in the lockup. A hearing will be given him before Judge Clark Saturday.

No election returns were received in town last night. Many of those interested in the results journeyed to Plainfield or New York, and in this way were able to known before morning.

The Board of Trustees of the Baptist church, held their regular monthly meeting in the church parlors last evening.

Mrs. J. C. VanNatta, of Plainfield, has been visiting at the home of friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Buckley and family have removed to Plainfield, their former place of residence.

The teachers and scholars in the public school enjoyed election day as a holiday.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, Nov. 7.—At the meeting of the Foresters Monday night two candidates were initiated.

Al Manning is at work on the Jones place remodeling the barn and fixing up the buildings.

The men at the coal storage had a holiday yesterday so they could go to the election.

A gang of workmen has been trimming the trees along the telegraph line.

Dan Laing made a trip to Plainfield Monday.

Ready for Manual Training.

The work of equipping the borough manual training school will be started in a short time, and at the next meeting of the Board of Education arrangements will be completed for a teacher for that department. Fully ninety per cent. of the scholars want to take the instructions in this department.

Will Make $200 Profit.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church are rejoicing over the liberal public patronage at their fair last week and expect to realize nearly $200 as the result of their labors.

GOLF AT PARK CLUB

ELECTION DAY OBSERVED AT LINKS ON MOUNTAIN SIDE.

Last Preliminary Round For Hyde Holiday Cup—Other Competitions During the Day.

A variety of events and beautiful weather for golfing marked Election Day at the links of the Park Golf Club. There was a good attenance while the course was in first class condition.

In the morning the third preliminary round for the Charles Hyde holiday cup was played. The four players who have competed in at least two of the preliminary rounds and who made the lowest average net scores, qualified for the semi finals to be played Thadksgiving Day. The four players who qualified, with their handicaps, are as follows: Frank Rogers, 20; Charles B. Morse, 18; W. de la R. Anderson, 5; Meredith Dryden, 12. Only two scores were turned in by the dozen competitors who started. They were as follows:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
W. de la R. Anderson....	100	4	96
Meredith Dryden.....	108	12	96

Out of the forty players who have taken part in this event this season, ten have turned in at least two scores. They are as follows, the first four qualifying for the semi finals:

	May 30.	Sept. 3.	Nov. 6.	Average
Frank Rogers...	89	86	—	87.5
Chas. B. Morse.	99	91	—	95
W. R. Anderson	99	91	96	95.3
Mer'th Dryden.	95	—	96	95.5
W. J. R. Thiers.	97	98	—	97.5
M. T. Townsend	95	104	—	99.5
H. D. Hibbard..	111	95	—	103
Jos. L. Myers..	109	98	—	103.5
Phil S. Suffrea..	118	110	—	114

In the afternoon there were three competitions. The scores in the mixed foursome handicap, medal play, nine holes, were as follows:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
Miss Frances Phillips W. de la R. Anderson.....	67	19	57
Miss van Herwerden M. T. Townsend.....	59	0	59
Miss Adelaide G. Ball Allan B. Laing.....	71	8	63
Miss Daisy Elsberg W. J. R. Thiers.....	68	4	64
Miss Edith Tracy C. E. Faber.....	73	8	65

In the driving contest the averages for the three drives of the competitors were as follows: M.T. Townsend, 173 yards, 2 feet; W. J. R. Thiers, 136 yards; W. de la R. Anderson, 133 yards. The others who competed were J. H. Simpson, W. A. Townsend, Liet. Murray, H. D. Hibbard and Meredith Dryden.

On the mixed approaching and putting contest Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Dryden won after playing off a tie with Miss Saidee Mae Howell and Morgan T. Townsend, and Miss Daisy Elsberg and Allan B. Laing.

Dr. VanDyke's Fine Lecture.

All Souls' church was filled with a cultured and appreciative audience who listened Monday afternoon to a lecture of intense interest given by Dr. Henry VanDyke, of Princeton University. The lecture was given under the auspices of the Monday Afternoon Club, the subject being "Relation of Nineteenth Century Literature to the Life of the Times." Dr. VanDyke prefaced his lecture with some pleasant remarks about his dread of addressing so formidable a body but he comforted himself with the thought that they would not harm a prospective voter the day before election. Limiting his consideration of nineteenth century literature to that of the English language written either in England or America, he claimed that the works of Chaucer, Spencer, Milton and Shakespeare were a common inheritance of both nations. The results of this century's literature was a deeper sympathy between England and America, and a mutual comprehension of their relations to each other.

Flower Thieves in Cemetery.

Great indignation has been expressed by a number of plot owners in Hillside by the discovery that flower thieves have been operating in that cemetery. Within the past few weeks several newly made graves have been entirely stripped of flowers placed on them by loving hands. One case in particular took place during last Sunday night. A large number of handsome floral pieces placed on a new grave Sunday afternoon were found to be gone when a member of the family visited the cemetery Monday morning. There are other recent instances and it promises to go hard with the culprit if caught.

Interesting for Temperance Workers.

The members of the Loyal Temperance Legion held a very interesting meeting yesterday afternoon which was in charge of Mrs Case. There was a large attendance and the many features were enjoyed by those in attendance.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Joseph Randolph, of Elmwood place, has improved the appearance of his property by removing his front fence.

—John Ammon was fined $3 and costs in the City Court Monday morning for being drunk and blaspheming on the public streets Sunday morning.

—The members of Warren Engine Company of the borough met last evening and discussed plans for holding a fair in the near future. No definite time was set.

CAN GO ON BOOMING.

Injunction Secured by Silas D. Drake Dissolved by the Court of Chancery.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, November 7.—Vice-Chancellor Pitney, in Chancery chambers Monday afternoon, vacated the order restraining the directors of the New Jersey Realty Company from disposing of the realty held by the company, contracting debts and otherwise conducting the business of the company. The restraining order was granted two weeks ago upon the application of Silas D Drake, president of the company, who also applied for a receiver.

It is alleged that Drake's application was a move toward getting possession of the company. It was not shown to the vice-chancellor that the company is insolvent, and he declared that it is no business of the Court of Chancery to wreck business enterprises. He will examine the books of the company on November 19th to ascertain what there is to Mr. Drake's claim. In the meantime the directors may continue the business of the corporation.

The New Jersey Realty Company was organized some years ago to boom towns along the line of the Central Railroad of New Jersey west of Plainfield.

Dealers in Fine Confection.

Attention is called to the advertisement of Campbell, the confectioner, in today's issue of The Daily Press. Mr. Campbell's place is at 112 West Front street, and he announces an improved grade of candies that are made on the premises. Everything from fig jellies to the best dark chocolates, purest of the pure, is on sale; also American mixed candies, and in fact everything to be found at a first class confectionery. A perusal of the advertisement will give prices.

LOTUS CLUB DANCED.

Sixty Couples Enjoyed Themselves at the First Informal Affair Monday Night.

With nearly sixty couples in attendance, the first informal dance of the Lotus Club, was given in the Camera Club rooms Monday evening. Prof. O'Reilly had arranged a most excellent programme of all the lateet waltzes and two steps and the dancing was kept up until late yesterday morning. At midnight the dancers adjourned to Hotel McVey where all partook of a sumptuous repast. At its conclusion an informal programme of vocal and piano solos was rendered in the hotel parlors. Besides the club members and friends from this city many were present from Elizabeth, Morristown, Somerville, Glenside Park and other places. The committee who arranged the affair and made it such a success consisted of Joseph A. Connors, William B. Connelly, David A. Mack, Edward A. Flynn and Garret P. Kiely.

Speyer. Eine Anordnung, die im Interesse der Geschichtsforschung und Erhaltung wichtigen historischen Materials sehr zu begrüßen ist, hat die Regierung der von den Schrecken des Krieges und der Zerstörung schwer heimgesuchten Pfalz erlassen. Nach angestellten Erhebungen befinden sich viele pfälzische Gemeinden im Besitze von alten Urkunden von theilweise sehr hohen archivalischem Werth, für deren Sicherung und Aufbewahrung nicht allerorts die nöthige Fürsorge getroffen ist. Die Bürgermeisterämter sind deshalb angewiesen worden, binnen angemessener Frist ein genaues und vollständiges Verzeichniß aller im Besitze der Gemeinde, des Standesamtes und der örtlichen Stiftungen befindlichen Akten, Urkunden u. s. w. anzufertigen.

Bergzabern. In Dierbach rief der irrsinnig gewordene Landwirth Heinrich Klein in der Nacht „Feuer!" und als der Wagnermeister Fleckstein auf die Straße eilte, um zu sehen, wo es brenne, schoß Klein ihn mit einem Jagdgewehr nieder.

Waldfischbach. Die neue normalspurige Bahnlinie Biebermühle-Waldfischbach ist nunmehr abgesteckt. Mit dem Bahnbau wird im nächsten Frühjahr begonnen.

Württemberg.

Stuttgart. Im hiesigen städtischen Arbeitsamte wurde im September d. J. um 2267 männliche und 837 weibliche Arbeiter nachgefragt, während sich nur 2087 und 419 anboten.—Dr. Kapp, einer unserer hervorragendsten Rechtsanwälte, Mitglied des Staatsgerichtshofes, ist plötzlich gestorben.—Angesichts des herrschenden Kohlenmangels hat die württembergische Regierung im Interesse der ärmeren Bevölkerung durch einen Erlaß die Forst- und Revierämter angewiesen, minderwerthiges Brennholz, soweit Bedürfniß vorliegt, in größerer Menge zum Verkauf zu bringen.

Kannstatt. Hier erschoß sich der von seiner Frau getrennt lebende Klaviermacher Hämmerle in deren Wohnung, während die Frau abwesend war, um Einkäufe zu machen.

Ravensburg. In dem benachbarten Weisenau wurde eine Falschmünzerwerkstätte aufgefunden. Der Falschmünzer, ein Schuhmacher Namens Wettig, aus Hattenheim gebürtig, wurde verhaftet. Wettig ist wegen Falschmünzerei schon vorbestraft.

Ulm. Die Regierung hat den Kaufvertrag genehmigt, nach welchem die Stadt an das Deutsche Reich einen Platz zur Erbauung einer neuen katholischen Garnisonskirche an der unteren Olgastraße um den Preis von 140,000 Mark abgibt.

Baden.

Karlsruhe. Domänendirektor Lewald wurde zum Präsidenten des Verwaltungsgerichtshofes und Landeskommissär Reinhard-Freiburg zum Domänendirektor ernannt.

Freiburg. Domkapitular Dr. Josef Gutmann ist im Alter von 59 Jahren gestorben.

Heidelberg. Letzthin stieß ein Eisenbahn-Passagierzug, von Neckargemünd kommend, auf einen vor der Station Karlsthor haltenden, dicht besetzten Lokalzug, von dem die letzten Wagen zertrümmert wurden. Es wurden dabei 71 Personen verletzt. Getödtet wurden Fräulein Busch-Heidelberg, Hassel junior-Heidelberg, Frau Apotheker Karlstein-Neuenheim, Wagenwärter Werner-Heidelberg, Fräulein Mina Frey-Heidelberg. Eisenbahnassistent Weibert, der irrthümlich die Bahn freigegeben hatte, wurde verhaftet.

Mannheim. Das hiesige neuvollendete Krematorium soll in das Eigenthum der Stadtgemeinde übergehen. Die Stadt übernimmt auch den Betrieb und berechnet außer den Gebühren für die Verbrennung jeweils noch einen Zuschlag von 20 Mark, der zur Heimzahlung der Antheilscheine der Mitglieder des Vereins verwendet werden soll.

Niefern. In einer Nacht wurde in der Papierfabrik der Firma Bohnenberger u. Co. der Papierarbeiter Jakob Wallinger von der Transmission erfaßt und derart herumgeschleudert, daß er sofort todt war. Als die Ehefrau des Verunglückten von dem schrecklichen Unfall erfuhr, bekam sie einen Blutsturz, der bald darauf auch ihren Tod herbeiführte.

"Almost with the regularity of clock-work," said the editor of a New York trade paper, when relating his experience with

Ripans·Tabules

"I used to feel at about 11 o'clock that something had gone wrong with my breakfast. Especially was this true if I had had a restless night, as you know is not an uncommon thing with head-workers. My stomach," continued he, "is under the standard as to strength and it used to seem at those times to actonly indifferently and sometimes to even stop work. Clouds would come before my vision and then a slight nausea would be felt. Yes of that sort of thing had made me know the symptoms as well as I know my name, but since I learned about Ripans Tabules I have practically overcome the difficulty and it is not often that any one gets as enthusiastic over anything as I do over them. Now always, whenever I recognize the old familiar symptom, DOWN GOES ONE OF THE BLESSED LITTLE CONCENTRATED BOONS.

And in a few minutes the visual clouds lift, discomfort passes away, my stomach apparently resumes its operations and at half past 12 or 1 o'clock I go out for my usual rather heavy luncheon, all in delightful contrast with my former practically ruined afternoons when I used to have to seek to escape in fasting and various doses."

Interesting FASHION Gossip of New York City

New Designs in the Separate Waist—A New Material for Tailor Gowns That Is Popular.

THE separate waists are to reign another season

BRIGHT, fancy waists are to reign throughout another season, and they will be even brighter and more elaborate than before. The fancy waist fashion stands out prominently by itself; it is a distinctive feature of the winter styles, and one that is worthy the prominence which is given it. It is not taken up as a novelty but as a necessity, and so long have we luxuriated in it that we could never again do without it.

While these waists are by no means a luxury, yet they come to us this year in such varied design and such charming new combinations that they seem almost entirely new. The evolution of these separate waists has occupied a considerable space of time, so long as to be measured by years, but with each returning season they have been welcomed because of a new excellence until this year it would almost seem that absolute perfection had been reached, that after this season they must begin to wane, if not to drop out all at once.

The predominating feature of these waists this season are tucks; the tiniest little tucks extending all over them. Wide draped belts are another feature that is noticeable, and the bolero shapes, always daintily tucked, are the rule rather than the exception.

Of the waist materials crepe de chine seems easily to have the lead, but there are also many plain silks, pannes, laces and for the more simply made ones, though the more extravagant in price, the velvet embossed satins are in vogue. The colors run to the brightest; reds, bright blues, black and white combinations and all the various and charming shades in the season's browns are favorites.

A new material for use in tailor made gowns

A NEW fabric called the lawrus, on the order of tweed or cheviot, is quite the popular material for the tailor gowns of early winter. It is seen in all the delightful tones permissible for street wear, and makes up charmingly, and as it is pirle finished it is proof against rain spots, and so unusually serviceable for the time of year for which it is intended.

Another of the materials for winter tailor-mades is the herringbone cloth, on much the same order as the other. It is seen in the soft shades of green, fawn, blue, gray and the now popular browns, and some have neat stripes in dark and light shades of olive green with thin yellow stripes, or a deep brown crossed with light green, and a black crossed with white stripes.

A very attractive tailor gown of the lawrus cloth on the tweed order was in a deep brown with thin stripes of orange, forming a small check. The skirt is plain, having a wide flare at the bottom, and pipings at each seam of brown velvet. The coat is cut after the style of a man's morning coat, having the effect of three turn-over collars, two of the brown velvet and the upper one of orange velvet. Plain sleeves with deep cuffs of brown velvet piping with the orange.

A tailor gown of egg-shell cheviot is among the handsome street or afternoon costumes of the season. The skirt has a full plaited back with a plain front, and three strappings of white broadcloth at each side. A nobby jacket just below the waist line, with a green velvet turn-over collar over a deep shoulder collar and revers of white broadcloth. Applique of green velvet on the broadcloth, with strappings of the white cloth down the front and finishing the bottom.

One of the new gowns in the herringbone cloth has seven rows of stitching around the bottom of the skirt and a Grecian border just above the knees in machine stitching. A double-breasted Prince Albert coat with rows of machine stitching to finish. The collar and square revers of black brocaded velvet, with silk tassels to finish the revers.

FASHION'S dictates as to correct stationery

HERE are a few points for your guidance when next you order stationery. If you want to be in with the elite in this very important matter of your note and letter paper you will pass by the old popular tints of cadet gray, French blue, Yale blue, gray green, the banknote, the cream laid, kid and linen finishes, for they have all given way before the fashion for the pastel tints of the autumn shades with their cartridge and burlap finish.

Then again do not buy large sheets,

OF GRAY HERRING BONE CLOTH.

even for letter use. To-day it is necessary to write both notes and letters upon the tiniest little sheets that one can imagine. For the engraving very small script or the daintiest of old English is used, and the monogram and crest have given place to a plain address stamped across the upper corner of the sheets to the left side. The dating must always be given at the bottom of the missive.

Then, again, if you wish to be classed among the very select, the thing to use is stationery decorated with water color sketches. This class of paper comes in neat little boxes for which the modest price of $10 to $15 is asked. To match these the flap of the envelope is garnished with an irregular design of trailing green vines along its edges, the flap itself being irregular and folds down and fastens at the bottom of the envelope.

Crests may be used with propriety on wedding, reception and other forms of invitations, and on these the crest is stamped at the top with the invitation following in old English lettering.

The new paper is not conducive to fine chirography, for nothing less than a very blunt pen and very black ink will make an impression on the rough finish. But then one must be in the fashion, whatever the price.

Demons as Debt Collectors.

HORSE COULD COUNT.

Understood the Meaning of a Fire Alarm as Well as Any Member of the Department.

"If there is any animal that knows more than a horse," remarked a member of the fire department the other day, "I'd like to see it. I mean one that knows more than a smart horse, for there are fool horses as well as fool people, and once in awhile we get one of these fool horses in the fire department. But I will say that our horses as a rule are pretty smart and knowing.

"I remember one we had in this company some years ago that actually could count. George was his name, if I remember rightly, and George was one of those horses that never did any more work than they were obliged to. Not that he couldn't, but just because, like some people you run across, he was opposed to looking for work. Well, every company in the fire department has a certain district to cover on first alarms. Well, sir, we didn't have George many months before that horse came to know our district just as well as any of the men. He knew the boxes we went out to on the first alarm, and it is a fact that that horse got so that he'd wait and count the first round before he'd budge out of his stall. If the box was not in our district George would walk leisurely to his place, but if it was one we were due at on the first alarm he would rush down to his place. In those days we had to hitch up on every alarm that came in, whether it was in our district or not, and stand hitched for 15 or 20 minutes. George knew this, of course, and that was why he'd always take his time going to his place when the box wasn't in our district. And it is a fact that if he was eating when an outside box came in he'd just keep on eating until the foreman yelled out to bring him down to his place.

"Of course, now and then George would miscount the box and rush to his place on a box not in our district. But when he did make a mistake like that, which was precious seldom, that horse would get so mad and feel so bad about it that he wouldn't get over it in a day or so."—Washington Star.

THE BUSY MUD WASP.

How He Builds His Pot-Like Home and Takes Care of Madam and Her Little Ones.

Here is one of the oldest and most curious potters in the world—the mud wasp. Just at this season he is very busy making tiny jugs in the corner of rooms and on the rafters of barns and outhouses. He is a very busy fellow and carries many loads of his pottery material in a day, preparing after a recipe of his own, and adding to it his little juglike nest.

This is but one of his curious trades, though. He is also a butcher. As the construction of the nest goes on he hunts spiders—brown and green, yellow and black, spiders of all sizes—and stings them to death. Then his wife, Mrs. Potter, lays an egg upon the fat body of each stark little fly-catcher, and Mr. Potter seals him up in his jug. By and by, after the sun has dried the gray nest, a family of young mud wasps hatch out and fall to eating their first meal, each devouring the spider provided for him by his farsighted parents. Possibly baby quarrels take place in the little jug then, for some of the spiders are smaller than others, and one can easily fancy a hungry little Potter seizing a leg of spider that does not belong to him.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Potter have formidable stings, but they are a good-natured, tolerant couple, and do not resent visits from sightseers provided they themselves are not molested. They gather earth from the edges of puddles and ponds, molding the moist building material very rapidly.

The nest from which our drawing was made hung in a country boy's bedroom. The potter had nearly finished it, working briskly for several days, carrying loads of earth in through an open window. The country boy watched the operation with great interest, and Mr. Potter seemed to like the supervision, flying close to the boy's head and even lighting upon his jacket, never stinging him. One morning he flew away for another load and never returned. Possibly some boy who knew nothing of wasps killed him. The little jug was taken down and after our artist had made the picture it was broken open. Inside the little walls were the dead bodies of 23 spiders!—Chicago Record.

An Instance of Heredity.

Mabel, aged five, while visiting her aunt in a low, marshy part of the country, contracted malaria, and was quite ill on reaching home. Not long afterward her mother had a chill. "I can't understand why you should have symptoms of malaria, living on such high ground," said the doctor. "Oh," spoke up Mabel, "I guess mamma must have inherited it from me!"

BABY'S FINGER NAILS.

Mothers Should Take Care of Them If They Would Preserve the Beauty of Darling's Hands.

If the mother would preserve the beautiful contour and texture of her baby's soft little hands she cannot begin too early to care for them. As it is, however, few girls ever own a manicure set until they are young women. By that time, as often as not, the hand is beyond reclaim. Baby's finger nails should be trimmed neatly and carefully from very birth. During the first year this will be sufficient, but from that time on the mother will give them a five minutes' treatment at least once a week.

Any little detached cuticle about the base of the nails must be trimmed off from day to day with the tiniest and brightest manicure scissors obtainable, and the flesh about the nail pressed away from it with a soft, old piece of linen. In this way the tender, delicate flesh about the finger tips will become firm and hard, and the child will not suffer from that painful affliction known as hang nails. This, while commonly regarded as a most trivial thing, is, nevertheless, often the cause of much graver troubles, ending in nervous diseases and blood poisoning.

Where a baby's nails have been properly trimmed from birth the habit of nail biting is never contracted. Where it has already been formed, however, the mother can overcome it immediately by putting the child through a careful course of treatment. If the nails are tough enough to stand the operation they will be filed instead of cut with scissors, and at first they will be kept very short.

Something will be done every day, even if it is only to rub them gently. As biting the nails is a purely nervous affection, it is imperative, in aggravated cases, to put the child under a physician's care. If baby should suddenly display a voracious appetite for its finger nails, as is often the case even in infants, you can depend upon it that something is not right, and the physician will probably tell you that the food is not agreeing with it.

Children should be taught from babyhood how to hold the hands gracefully and naturally while in repose, and when using them to do so daintily.

Each time after the hands are washed a good plan is for the mother or nurse to not only press back the flesh about the base of the nail as already described, but to also press the tips of the fingers very firmly on either side of the nail, and the result in a few years will be the beautiful tapering finger tips so rare and so much coveted by everybody, especially every woman. —N. Y. Herald.

SUPPORTS HIS MOTHER.

Tiny Boy Baby Poses Before the Camera and Is Paid Ten Dollars an Hour for the Work.

Just a tiny baby and yet the main support of his mother! Jersey City is the home of this unusual youngster, and the neighbors of tiny Max Fairchild watch him every day with a great deal of interest.

Little Max is as beautiful and as bright as it is possible for a child to be, and because nature has endowed him with such rare charms he is able to earn ten dollars an hour as a model for a New York photographer, whose special line of work is furnishing artistic baby pictures for advertisements. Baby Max's pictures are scattered all over the world by this time. Look at the boxes of powder in the druggists' show case and you are almost certain to see the dear little form and face of Baby Max.

When the tiny model was but a few months old his mother received a great shock. The father of little Max was a traveling salesman and was killed in a train wreck. The young mother and her infant son were left with but meager means of support. One day Mrs. Fairchild learned that a New York photographer wanted a pretty baby for a model and so she took her little son to his studio. The man with the camera was immediately pleased and said that the youngster was just the one he had been looking for. The baby was undressed as for his bath and sat on a table merrily cooing and expecting his splash in the water. The bright little face and perfect form was all that any artist could wish. After an hour's posing there was a set of the prettiest baby pictures that ever came from a studio. The advertisers who had given orders to the photographer were decidedly pleased, and this is how dimpled Max Fairchild became a model, earning enough to support himself and his widowed young mother.

SPORTING.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

There was no football game on Martine Common yesterday afternoon. At the last moment, Manager Edward J. Kline, of the Alis team, received a telegram saying that the Bedford A. C., of Brooklyn, could not play. A large crowd went home disappointed.

The North Plainfield High School foot ball team journeyed to Dunellen yesterday and met a second defeat at the hands of the local team. The first half of the game was uninteresting, the Dunellen boys making two touchdowns. In the second half the Plainfielders played much better and succeeded in making one touch-down but failed to kick a goal. The score was 11 to 5 in favor of Dunellen.

GOLF

RECEIVER AGREED UPON.

Liabilities of New Jersey Bottling Association are $37,000 and Assets Between $25,000 and $30,000.

Referring to the suspension of business of the New Jersey Bottling Association, Samuel Klotz, of 26 State street, Newark, the treasurer of the association, said that the arrangements for a receiver was agreed upon by all parties, both stockholders and creditors. The business had been run at a loss for some time, and will now be reorganized. Mr. Klotz owns about one-sixth of the stock. His brother Jacob, of Somerville, is president and manager, and owns one-sixth of the stock. The liabilities are $37 000, and the assets are between $25,000 and 30,000. Mr. Klotz believes all debts will be paid in full.

McAuley. Fined $5.

Tunis McAuley, of New Brunswick, who was with Richard Roach when John Neuman was shot by the latter on West Third street last week, was arraigned before City Judge Runyon Monday afternoon. He was charged with carrying concealed weapons. It is alleged that he drew a revolver and gave it to his companion who used it with effect on Neuman. He had nothing to say except to plead guilty. The Judge fined him $5.

$5 or Thirty Days in Jail.

James Barry, who was arrested Saturday night by Patrolman Totten for being drunk and disorderly, was arraigned before City Judge Runyon Monday evening and given his choice between a fine of $5 or thirty days in jail.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS LOST.

LEAL'S FOOTBALL ELEVEN VICTORIOUS IN YESTERDAY'S GAME.

Second Meeting of the Teams, the Leal Boys Also Winning the First Game.

Leal's School eleven defeated the Plainfield High School team on Martine Common yesterday morning by a score of 5 to 0. It was the second meeting of the teams and the Leal boys have won both. The game was hard fought, but was free from any unpleasant features. High School had the advantage in the first half. They lost the ball on Leal's six yard line on a fumble, and Herbert Rogers downed Pond on Leal's ten yard line after a forty-five-yard run just when time was called.

In the second half Leal's superior interference gave then a touchdown by McGee. Tilney failed to kick the goal. Most of the playing was in Leal's territory.

The teams lined up as follows:

LEAL'S SCHOOL.		HIGH SCHOOL.
Rogers	right end	Monroe
King	right tackle	Meeker
Bigelow	right guard	Scull
Minford	centre	Cubberley
Canoone	left guard	Denton
Griggs	left tackle	Meeker
Hall	left end	Bulkley-VanAken
Tilney	quarter back	Ughetta
Brown	right half back	Hallock
R. Schoonmaker	left half back	Davis
McGee	full back	Pond

Score—Leal's School, 5; Plainfield High School, 0. Touchdown — McGee. Referee — Henry Lovell. Umpire — A. Willis West. Timekeeper—F. M Slater, Jr. Field Linesman—Roy T. Phillips. Linesmen—Harold George and Lyan Bridgeman.

BIG SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.

More Pupils Than Seating Capacity at the Bryant Public School Building.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education was held Monday evening with all the members in attendance. The session was a short one, only routine business being transacted. A report from the tax collector showed $6 887.63 collected, which with interest made a total of $6 963.03.

Superintendent Maxson reported that his annual statement was ready for publication and recommended that 100 copies more than last year be printed. He also stated that the attendance at the Irving school was now so large that there was not enough room in the assembly hall to seat all the scholars. Acting upon his suggestion the board decided to purchase fifteen settees for use in the chapel. On motion of Mr. Lovell, William F. Arnold was appointed custodian of school moneys at a salary of $500 a year. The question of truant children was then brought up and was discussed at some length. Superintendent Maxson thought that a truant officer should be appointed whose business it would be to bring in all recreant children. He also suggested that in case one should be appointed that it be a woman, as she would be more persistent and persevering Nothing definite however was done. Having no further business the board went into executive session.

Funeral of Mrs. Smith.

The funeral services of the late Mrs, Louisa A. Smith, wife of James H. Smith, of Brooklyn, but a resident of this city twenty-five years ago, were held Monday afternoon from the First M. E. church. There was a large gathering of friends and relatives. Rev. Dr. Snodgrass, pastor of the church, officiated and spoke feelingly of the life of the departed. There were several beautiful floral tributes, including a pillow on which was the inscription "Mother." This was given by the children. After the services the interment took place in the Methodist cemetery in Plainfield avenue.

Mr. Smith Came on a Sad Errand.

James H Smith, of Brooklyn, who came to Plainfield Monday on the sad mission of burying his wife, who died a few days ago, is well-known to many Plainfielders, having lived here twenty-five years ago. He is a brother of W. C. Smith, of Grandview avenue. When Mr. Smith was in Plainfield he lived on Watchung avenue. He was first assistant chief of the fire department and a member of Gazelle Engine Company. Most everyone he met while in the city remembered him, but there are many faces he could not recall.

Christian Work Society Officers.

Officers of the Women's Society for Christian Work of the Seventh Day Baptist church were elected at the meeting of the society last week and committees have been appointed. They are as follows: President, Mrs. George H. Babcock; corresponding secretary, Mrs. D. E. Titsworth; recording secretary, Mrs. A T. Maxson; missionary committee, Mrs. L. T Rogers and Mrs. T. C. Smith; social committee, Mrs. W. C Hubbard, Mrs. Frank H Smith, Mrs. C. H Dunham, Mrs. J. G. Miller and Miss Ida Randolph.

New Gas Mains.

The employes of the Plainfield Gas Company are gradually completing the work of laying a gas main on West Front street. The main will be extended to Grant avenue.

Of the twenty-three patients at the hospital a number have almost recovered and will soon be discharged.

ELECTION INCIDENTS.

made by the blowing of horns and various devices for shattering nerves and causing sensitive people to feel uncomfortable, was terrific.

The enthusiasm did not spring alone from the throats of the hoodlum element either, but eminated alike from joyful Republicans and the opponents of the Bryanites. The various places where the returns were made public by the aid of the stereopticons were crowded with thousands of citizens and as the figures were thrown upon the canvass they were vigorously cheered by their various sympathizers. While the weather throughout the day had been ideal, it was not better than the night. The moon was in the full and made everything as bright as day, shedding its effulgence over the scene and casting picturesque shadows over wild, enthusiastic multitudes that thronged the streets until the small hours of the morning.

Republican enthusiasm broke forth with re-newed vigor as the returns were received at the various places about midnight. When it became evident that McKinley had been re-elected joyful Republicans, re-inforced by the so called Gold Democrats, gave vent to their pent up spirits and went wild. At Republican headquarters in the Marsh building a large crowd gathered to listen to the returns, which were read by City Judge Runyon, who with members of the Republican leaders occupied seats in an adjoining room, which was supplied with a wire. There was general rejoicing as the increased majority came in.

To the more partisan Republicans, however, the cheering news did not have the effect of causing expressions of surprise. It was as they had anticipated—that it would be a landslide that would bury the Nebraska statesman under an avalanche of votes.

At Democratic headquarters there was a perceptible frost. When a reporter for The Daily Press dropped in about 11 o'clock an air of dejection was apparent. A funereal aspect was spread upon the faces of the Democratic leaders. The Republican news that was coming over the wire, showing utter defeat for Mr. Bryan in States that had been considered as almost certain for the Democratic candidate, was cold comfort for the Bryanites. J. H. Hillman, vice-president of the Jeffersonian Club, occupied a seat in the middle of the room and read the returns in a low voice that was scarcely audible to the handful of Democrats seated about. Mr. Hillman graciously acknowledged defeat early in the night, much to the disgust of some of his colleagues, who could not realize that they were beaten to a standstill.

At 2 o'clock this morning members of the U S Grant Republican Club of North Plainfield inaugurated an impromptu parade. Headed by the Independent Fife and Drum Corps several hundred Republicans marched about the streets followed by a motley crowd of enthusiasts. Some in the crowd carried brooms and nearly all of them were armed with tin horns and crickets which they used to good advantage in celebrating the Republican victory. Several stops were made at the homes of prominent Republicans who were serenaded.

JERSEY CENTRAL'S EMPLOYES.

Conference Being Held Between the Men and the Management.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, Nov. 7.—In view of recent reports that meetings of the employes of the Central Railroad of New Jersey were being held from time to time for the purpose of framing grievances and demands, one of the executive officers of the company explains that a policy of holding frequent conferences with its men was determined upon by the Jersey Central management some time ago. In order to smoothe out petty misunderstandings and prevent any differences from developing into serious trouble the officers of the company have arranged for conferences between the divisional officers and the different classes of employes.

The Jersey Central managemen has given many of its employes assurances that objectionable agreements and rules will be modified as far as possible. The fact is recognized that many of the old time rules were made when conditions were very different. Some progress has already been made toward a better order of things, and while there are still some disgruntled employes and the majority of the men, it is asserted, are acting on the theory that the company is disposed to treat them fairly.

Notwithstanding the fact that Elston M. French, the insurance agent, has been getting a large share of the losses by fire of late, he is still doing business at the old stand and he is ready at all times to place insurance and pay losses where the claims are good and come within the jurisdiction of the policy.

—There will be a meeting of the fire and buildings committee from the Common Council Friday evening.

A NEW POLICE STATION

COMMON COUNCIL DECIDES TO RENT OLD CITY NATIONAL BANK STORE.

To Pay J. B. Coward $500 Rent—Other Business Transacted by the Common Council.

One of the shortest sessions of the Common Council was that of Monday evening when the regular November meeting was held. There was little business and the members did not tarry long. Mr VanHerwerden offered a resolution providing for the renewal of four notes of $1,530 each, on account of the sewer extension account. These notes were issued instead of bonding the city, according to custom.

Another resolution by Mr. VanHerwerden provided for the payment of $31 to the Board of Health, that being the balance of the $1,000, the annual appropriation.

J A. Blatz petitioned the Council to apportion the assessment on some property of which he is a part owner, so that he can pay his share. It was learned, however, that when the property was assessed Mr. Blatz owned all of it, and the assessment should stand. The petition was referred back to Mr. Blatz and he will have to settle with the other owners.

Two resolutions were offered by Mr. Tolles. One provided for additional sewage facilities and gave the street and sewer committee the power to investigate and report to the Council. The other resolution called for an expenditure not to exceed $1,500 for additonal street improvements. This extra money is to be used in the macadamizing of West Front street.

A petition from C. Chapot & Sons, asking for an extension of the water mains through South Second street to Rock avenue, to provide for better fire protection, was referred to the proper committee.

By a unanimous vote the Council abandoned the present quarters used as a city jail and made a lease for three years with J. B. Coward and J. W. Murray for the old City National Bank building on East Front street, The rental is to be $500 a year and the owners are to properly heat, light and furnish the place. The reason for the change is that the present quarters are not properly heated and the Police Board say that there is no disposition on the part of the owner to heat it as it should be. This trouble makes it imperative that the quarters should be moved.

There being no further business the Council then adjourned to meet next Monday night.

A $4,500 FIRE.

Stubborn Blaze Destroyed the Storehouse at A. L. Cadmus' Mill in the West End.

One of the most stubborn fires that the fire department has had to contend with in a long time, broke out at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon in the storehouse owned by A L. Cadmus and adjoining his mill on South Second street. The fire was discovered by Jacob Schlicks who informed F. A. Weber, the latter turning in an alarm from box 45.

By the time the firemen arrived, the entire upper part of the building was a mass of smoke and flame. It was covered with galvanized iron which rendered the work of extinguishing the blaze very difficult. The firemen were also greatly hampered by the thick smoke which at times forced them back. In the building was stored nearly 150 tons of hay and straw, mostly in bales. This had to be entirely removed before the blaze was extinguished and it was nearly 2 o'clock yesterday morning before the recall was sounded and the tired firemen returned to their homes.

The origin of the fire is a complete mystery, no one having been in the building for some time previous to its breaking out, and being covered with the iron it was impossible for a locomotive spark to get inside. This is the third time that the building has been either totally or partially destroyed.

The loss will be nearly $4 500. The insurance is $1,400 divided as follows: $500 on the building, $600 on contents and $300 on wagons and horses. There were none of the latter in the building at the time the fire broke out.

Green, James O. Clark and Martin Welles were present during the examination. The free delivery system is to go into operation December 1st, provided enough passed the examination to fill out the necessary force to install the service.

Receiver for Bottling Association.

In the Court of Chancery, in Jersey City, last Monday, Vice Chancellor Stevens appointed Charles M. Mayhew, of Newark, receiver for the New Jersey Bottling Association, which does business in Trenton, Plainfield, Somerville and New Brunswick. The application was made by Craig A. Marsh, in behalf of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Co., of St. Louis, a creditor, and was acquiesced in by the officers of the company. The liabilities were placed at $37,000 and assets at 30,000.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The Mayor and Borough Council will meet in adjourned session on Friday evening to consider some important matters.

—Next Sunday morning at the Crescent Avenue church parents will have an opportunity to present their children for baptism.

—A very successful and enjoyable dance was given in Saengerbund Hall Monday evening. There was a large attendance and everyone had a good time.

Will Not Trouble Hackmen.

The low wall being erected in North avenue near the railroad station by the Jersey Central, is almost completed. It allows plenty of room between the wall and curb and should not prove troublesome to the hackmen.

Fred Ross, of Park avenue, who has been quite ill, is much improved under the care of Dr. Buchanan.

AFTERMATH OF ELECTION FROM MANY QUARTERS.

Late Returns Emphasize the Great Victory of the Republicans All Over.

THE OPINIONS OF SOME OF THE POLITICAL LEADERS.

CONGRESSMAN FOWLER'S MAJORITY A LITTLE LESS THAN 10,000 IN DISTRICT.

Only Three Towns in Union County That Did Not Show a Republican Gain, and One of Them Was Plainfield—Revised Majorities in New Jersey Counties.

It was noon yesterday before the official returns from Connecticut Farms, Union Township, the last polling district to be heard from, was received in Elizabeth by the Republican County Committee. The latest revised returns of the election in Union county give McKinley 4,859 plurality; Fowler, for Congress, 4,653, while the plurality of Dr. Bunting, Rep., for coroner, is 4,612.

An inspection of the returns shows that Congressman Fowler ran a few votes behind McKinley in a majority of the cities and townships. In Plainfield he ran 35 behind; in Elizabeth, 123, and in Rahway, 14.

McKinley's plurality in Elizabeth is 1,335. Congressman Fowler's plurality in Elizabeth is 1,259, while the average majority for the Assembly ticket in the city is 1,116. John J. Lammerding, the union labor man who ran for Assembly on the Democratic ticket, got over 200 votes more than his colleagues. Dr. P. Du Bois Bunting, Republican candidate for coroner, has 1,295 plurality.

Elizabeth fell off over 300 votes from its plurality for McKinley in 1896, while there was a slump of 197 in Rahway and a falling off of seventy-two in Cranford from McKinley's plurality four years ago. Plainfield fell off 130.

The banner Republican place in the county was Westfield, which gave a Repulican gain of fifty-nine over 1896. This is more of an increase than any other township or ward in the county can show.

The pluralities for McKinley in Union county cities and townships are as follows:

Elizabeth	1 335
Plainfield	1,525
Rahway	300
Summit	262
Fanwood Borough	46
Linden Borough	20
Mountainside	20
New Providence Borough	25
Roselle	224
Clark	9
Cranford	234
Fanwood Township	91
Linden Township	21
Union	278
Westfield	364
Springfield	60

New Providence township gave Bryan three majority.

Chairman Charles N. Codding, of the Republican county committee, while jubilant over the result, is disappointed at the falling off in McKinley's plurality in Rahway, Cranford and Plainfield, especially in the two former places, which he declares there was no excuse for.

"I gave the day before election," said Chairman Codding, my estimate that Union county would give McKinley over 5,000 plurality, and if Rahway and Cranford did as well as I was led to expect, my prediction would have been just about right. As the returns show, I am about 141 votes short of my calculation, but I expect, when the official canvass is made, I will not be over 80 votes out of the way."

JERSEY'S PLURALITY 55,506.

Corrected Returns Cut Hudson County's Bryanite Vote.

Correct returns from New Jersey showed last night that the Republican National ticket has a plurality in the State of 55,506. The vote was below that of 1896, when the ticket possessed a strong attraction for Jerseymen in the personality of Garret A. Hobart.

This is the result shown by the corrected returns last night:

FOWLER'S MAJORITY.

Congressman Received 9,651 More Votes in Eighth District Than His Opponent Did.

According to the Republican estimates, Congressman Charles N. Fowler was to be re-elected to Congress from the Eighth Congressional district by a plurality of 10,000. He was re-elected but his plurality fell just 349 votes short of the Republican figures. While the Democrats refused to formally concede Fowler's election before Election Day, it was generally understood that they realized that only the very unexpected would make it possible for Mann to gain the coveted seat. They placed no estimate on the Republican plurality, however.

In Union county there was a slight disposition to cut Fowler and he ran 206 votes behind his ticket in that county. His chief strength was in Essex which gave him a plurality of 5,417, which was greater than that given to McKinley and Roosevelt. In Union county his plurality was 4,654.

Bayonne was carried by the Democrats by 269 votes. Fowler ran slightly behind his ticket. Man's gain may be accounted for by the fact that Bayonne is his home. His plurality in the city of Bayonne was 419, which was 150 better than his ticket.

The total vote in the Eighth Congressional district was as follows:

	Fowler, R.	Man, D.
Union county,	12 409	7,756
Essex county,	12,105	6 688
Bayonne	2 644	3,063

Fowlers' plurality, 9 651.

Middlesex County.

The Republicans carried Middlesex county by pluralities ranging from 1,934 to 2 415. The revised figures follow:

McKinley, 9,329; Bryan, 7,170; McKinley's plurality, 2 159

Benjamin F. Howell, Republican, for Congress, 9 414; James J. Bergen, Democrat, 7,088; Howell's plurality, 2 326

For State Senator, Theodore Strong, Republican, 9,285; J. H. VanCleef, Democrat, 7,327; Strong's plurality, 1,956.

For Assembly, Adrain Lyon, Republican, 9 171; W. P. O'Harra, Democrat, 7,337; Lyon's plurality, 1 834; H. R. Groves, Republican, 9,258; E. L. Lobelin, Democratic, 7,221; Groves' plurality, 2,037; J. E. Montgomery, Republican, 9,232; F. E. Riva, Democrat, 7,212; Montgomery's majority, 2,030.

For Coroner, F. M. Henry, Republican, 9,287; Luther Tappen, Democrat, 6 672; Henry's majority, 2,415.

CHAIRMAN DESIRES TO RETIRE.

Franklin Murphy Talks About the Results of the Election.

Chairman Murphy, of the Republican State Committee, received yesterday many congratulations upon the showing made for the work of his committee in the campaign and the accuracy of his predictions of the result in the State. Mr. Murphy predicted 50,000 and his figures were deemed extravagant. The actual plurality exceeds his estimate by about 6,000.

Mr Murphy said yesterday that he had retained the chairmanship two years ago only at the unanimous request of the State Convention that nominated Governor Voorhees and after he had decided to retire. In the natural course of things, added Mr. Murphy, a new State chairman will be chosen next fall, and he had no doubt the party would yield to his desire to retire.

Boy Run Over, But Not Hurt.

While Asa Collier, the Park avenue jeweler, was riding through Front street on his wheel, yesterday, a newsboy ran across the street and collided with the wheel. The boy was knocked down and the front wheel passed over him. He jumped up immediately and scampered off uninjured. Mr. Collier sustained no injuries.

COMPLETE VOTE IN UNION COUNTY.

Owing to the delay of Rahway, Summit and Springfield in sending in the complete returns, The Daily Press was unable to publish the complete returns from the county in in its election edition of yesterday. Full returns from all the election districts have since been secured and the table showing the complete vote is published below. The table is an interesting one, showing just where the Republicans managed to roll up their plurality of 4,859 for McKinley and Roosevelt.

DAVIS' OPINIONS.

No Ambition to Be State Leader—Announces That E. F. C. Young is Not a Gubernatorial Candidate.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, Nov. 8—"I believe," said Robert Davis yesterday, "that in spite of Tuesday's vote New Jersey will elect a Democratic Governor next year. Right here I wish to announce that, contrary to the expectations of some people, E. F. C. Young will not allow his name to be presented next year in connection with the Gubernatorial nomination.

"I do not know of anybody from Hudson who will be a candidate for the nomination.

I should not be surprised if either Mayor James Seymour, of Newark, or Senator Johnston Cornish, of Warren county, were nominated.

"Either would make a strong candidate.

"Free silver loaded down the Democratic party this year in this section and helped to bring on the McKinley tidal wave."

Collector Davis was asked: "Have you any preference as regards the next Democratic Gubernatorial nominee?"

The reply was: "None whatever. Seymour or Cornish are both good men. Either one ought to be able to lead the Democratic party to victory next year."

"Collector, there is renewed talk among Democrats in favor of making you the acknowledged State leader. Would you accept the chairmanship of the State committee if you were chosen to that office?"

"I repeat what I have said on other occasions," replied Collector Davis, "and that is that Hudson county offers a large enough field for usefulness, and I am not anxious to assume the State leadership."

POOR KIND OF A JOKE.

Two Young Men Called Out the Borough Fire Department When There was no Blaze.

An alarm of fire was sent in last evening about 8:30 o'clock from box 153 corner Giraud and Willow avenues, in the borough. The firemen were on hand quickly and the hose carriage and engine, as well as the West End Hose carriage, were soon on the road to the fire. When the fire box was reached there was no fire to be seen anywhere, except a small pile of leaves and rubbish that had evidently been burning for some time. It was then leaned that two young men called at the home of Charles E. Horne, at Giraud and Willow avenues, and obtained a fire key from the servant girl, telling her that there was a fire. The young men are known and they will appear this evening before Mayor Smalley for a hearing.

The alarm was evidently sent in as a joke, as the small fire of leaves and rubbish did not require the attention of the fire department, and no doubt the officials will take this opportunity of making an example of the young men.

A Mistake in Figures.

In yesterday's Daily Press, a dropped figure gave the Republicans credit with carrying the Third Ward of this city by only 22 votes, when they really carried it by 422. It was also stated that the Republicans failed to equal their plurality of four years ago by a thousand votes. There was a cipher too many and it should have said that the Republican plurality was about a hundred less than it was four years ago.

Want Trees Trimmed.

There is a movement on foot in the borough to compell the trimming of trees. The matter is under consideration by the members of the street committee.

JERSEY'S POSTAL RECEIPTS.

Plainfielders Paid a Total of $38,692.27 for Postage, Giving Uncle Sam $17,556 56 Profit.

The gross receipts of the Presidential postoffices in this State, as reported for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1900, were 2,397,474, and that the net revenue derived by the Government from these offices was $1,192 464, or 52 per cent. of the receipts.

Following are the gross receipts, the total expenditures, net revenue at all the Presidential offices of the State:

Freak Election Debt Paid.

Already freak election bets are beginning to be paid as evidenced by an occurrence on North avenue last evening. Seated in an ordinary wheelbarrow was a well-known man while behind the vehicle was another man who puffed and blowed as he trundled it along. The latter man received no sympathy from the large crowd of on lookers and was hooted and jeered at until he stopped at a hotel to recuperate. The McKinley man enjoyed the fun immensely and added his jeers to those of the crowd.

Bought a Farm.

Dr. H. A. Bunker, who has been living on the Sandford farm of 116 acres, at Greenbrook, has purchased the place and will continue to live on the place. The property belonged to Wm. Sandford and the estate of his two brothers, Charles and Joseph Sandford.

CLEVER ENTERTAINMENT

CHILDREN OF MARY PROVIDED IT FOR AN APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE.

Given for the Benefit of St. Joseph's Church and to be Repeated This Evening.

The Children of Mary of St Joseph's R. C church, gave a fine entertainment last evening in Sængerbund Hall for the benefit of the church. The same programme will be given this evening. The hall was well filled with an appreciative audience and the efforts of the young women were fully recognized. Rev. Father Miller, pastor of St. Joseph's church, assisted and presided at the piano.

The programme opened with a chorus, "In the Starlight," by the Children of Mary, and this was followed by a sketch entitled "Mrs. Willis' Will," in which the following appeared: Miss Lillie Tyrrell, Miss Annie Smith, Miss Katie Fitzgerald, Miss Kate Cartey and Miss Katie Leahy.

A duet, "Hide Behind the Door When Papa Comes," by F. and L. LaPorte, two little folks, brought down the house with applause. Mrs. LaPorte accompanied them on the piano. A fancy colored ball was then given by Misses Maggie Richardson, Mary Leahy, Mary Daley, Katie Egan, Annie O'Neil, Katie Whalen, Ellen Regan, Minnie Kane, Winnie Cartey and Ellen Cavanagh. These young women gave a cake walk and song that won great applause. Their faces were blackened and they were attired in flashy costumes. This concluded part first of the programme.

"A Love of a Bonnet," was the title of an interesting sketch given by the Misses Katie Duffey, Lizzie Ryan, Katie Kiely, Maria Caffrey, and Katie Egan. Another vocal selection, "Let the Cry be Onward," was given by the Children of Mary, after which scarf fantastics and statue poses were given by Misses Julia Shea, Margaret EcElvain, Katie Gallagher, Mary Kenny, Lulu Jacot, Delia Kane, Mary Moran, Katie Fitzgerald and Mary Daley. This part of the programme received frequent applause as the various evolutions were given in such a perfect manner.

The programme concluded with the appearance of "The Dwarfs," who sang a song and gave a unique dance. The delusion was perfect and the performance caused continual laughter.

A HOME WEDDING.

Miss Elizabeth Gray Austin Becomes the Wife of Oscar L. Klein, of Philadelphia.

Miss Elizabeth Gray Austin, daughter of Justice Charles E. Austin, of Warrenville, and Oscar L. Klein, of Philadelphia, were united in marriage last evening at the home of the bride's uncle, E. A. Vermeule, of Jackson avenue. The ceremony was performed in the parlor beneath a pretty floral bell by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, of Trinity Reformed church. Large banks of ferns and chrysanthemums were used in decorating.

Miss Nellie E. Vermeule, the bride's cousin, was maid of honor and Henry Casenover, of Brooklyn acted as best man. The ushers were Frederick M. Townley, of Sayerville and Arthur Austin, of Warrenville. Miss Austin was attired in a handsome dress of white point d'esprit over white satin and carried bridal roses. Miss Vermeule's dress was of light blue dotted Swiss, trimmed in blue. She also carried white roses.

After the cermony a reception was given to the young couple by nearly fifty friends from Mamaroneck, N. Y., Asteria, L. I., New York city, Elizabeth, Cranford, Warrenville, Sayerville and Philadelphia. They left amid a shower of rice for the North Avenue station and departed on the 10:15 train for Philadelphia. The groom is connected with the Baldwin Locomotive Works at that place and has a home already furnished. A great profusion of handsome gifts were received by Mr. and Mrs. Klein, mostly of cut glass and silverware.

Leaves Hospital Minus a Leg.

Martin Welsh, the motorman, who was injured several weeks ago while returning to Plainfield with a Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway car, has been discharged from the hospital and is living on West Second street. At present he is using crutches. He expects to secure a wooden leg soon to take the place of the one amputated.

Realty Changes.

The following real estate transfers have been recorded from North Plainfield during the past week: Alfred B. Smalley et al to Joel P. Byno, North Plainfield, $450; John F. Comey et ux to Clarence F. Tine, Plainfield, $1.

LOCAL REPUBLICANS ARE FEELING FINE.

Well Satisfied With the Results of Voting in This City on the Presidential Ticket.

MR. NEWCORN TALKS OF IT.

MORE REPUBLICAN VOTES CAST THAN FOUR YEARS AGO.

He Says That the Workingmen Effectively Answered the Challenge of the Jeffersonians by Their Votes Tuesday.

Plainfield Republicans were congratulating each other yesterday at the result of the election throughout the country and in this city as well. While there were some of the more sanguine Republicans who expected to see the city roll up even a greater plurality for McKinley than it did four years ago, the leaders were generally satisfied with the result in this city, particularly as the vote for McKinley and Roosevelt exceeded that for McKinley and Hobart four years ago by about 200.

All over the city American flags were thrown to the breeze as soon as the morning edition of the Daily Press informed them early in the morning of the fact that McKinley had been elected by a Republican landslide. The Press was on the streets at 5:15 o'clock yesterday morning and reached the majority of the houses before the New York papers did. The figures given by the Press were very accurate and generally complete.

Considerable money changed hands on election in this city. Some of the betting was on the general result, the odds running from 2 to 1 to 4 to 1. More of the betting, however, was on pluralities in the city, county and country and in the results in certain states. Some Republicans lost in betting that the city plurality of 1896 would be exceeded.

William Newcorn, secretary of both Republican campaign and city committees, has been very conservative in his estimates of the result. Regarding the result in Plainfield, he said to a Press reporter this morning:

"I am not disappointed at the result. I stated to the county committee that this city would probably give McKinley from 1,600 to 1,700 plurality and figures show that I was not far out of the way. While I held that the Republican vote of four years ago would remain in line, the condition of the Democratic party of today had to be taken into consideration and it was apparent that they would secure more votes this year than they did in 1896. Four years ago they were demoralized and not until after the city election of that year did they make any effort to form an organization. This year they had an organization and many Democrats, who did not vote at all four years ago, came out last Tuesday and voted the Democratic ticket for the sake of party regularity.

"In the Fourth ward, while the Republican pluralities were smaller, we polled more Republican votes than four years ago. In 1896 there were 722 Republican ballots cast in that ward, this year the Republican vote was 789.

"The result in the city of Plainfield, especially in the districts where the laboring vote was cast, is about the strongest answer which can be given to the challenge of the Democratic Jeffersonian Club. When we take into consideration that almost sixty-five per cent of the vote of Plainfield represents the mechanics and workingmen, it proves from the pluralities obtained in the homes of the workingmen in the First and Fourth wards, that the mechanics and workingmen are pretty well satisfied with the present conditions."

Mr. Martine on Election.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Though defeated at the polls, we are not crushed. The principles for which we contended are today as live an issus as they were Tuesday. Ours was the cause of justice, and honest government against the tyrany of militarism, trusts and the dangers of the money power. We deserved a better fate at the hands of the people. We bow to the verdict as expressed at the polls, but will ever keep up the fight, feeling assured of the justice and right of our cause. As long as God shall spare his life, William Jennings Bryan will be a great central figure in the politics of our country, pure, brave and honest. William J. Bryan will ever be the idol of the liberty-loving Democracy. I still believe in every word of our platform, and would again fight the battle on the same lines. Let us as ever stand for principle.

Cedar Brook,
Nov. 7th, 1900. J. E. Martine.

PARTICULAR MENTION

PERSONAL GOSSIP OF INTEREST TO CITY AND BOROUGH.

In Brief are Told the Daily Doings of Many Residents and Visitors Who Go and Come in a Social and Business Way

Andrew Love, Sr., of Duer street, has been detained at home by a slight illness.

Fred Townsend, of New York, who has been visiting his parents in this city, has returned.

Rev. Dr. Buchanan, of Pemberton, is visiting his son, Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, of Duer street.

Frank Smalley, of Schnectady, N. Y., has returned after a visit with his parents on East Front street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. VanDyke, of East Front street, have been entertaining their daughter from Somerville.

Sydney R. Titsworth, of West Fifth street, returned to his studies at Alfred University yesterday after coming to Plainfield to vote.

Great Luck Of An Editor

"For two years all efforts to cure Eczema in the palms of my hands failed", writes Editor H. N. Lester, of Syracuse, Kan., "then I was wholly cured by Bucklen's Arnica Salve." It's the world's best for Eruptions, Sores and all skin diseases. Only 25 cents at L. W. Randolph's.

—James Kelley, a tramp, who was shot in the arm at the Greenbrook tanks some time ago, and who has been under treatment at the hospital, has been discharged.

—If you have ever seen a child in the agony of croup you can realize how grateful mothers are for One Minute Cough Cure which gives relief as soon as it is administered. It quickly cures coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles. L. W. Randolph.

—Messrs. Stedman, Fairchild and Kesselring, of Warren Engine Co., have been appointed a committee to start the ball a-rolling for a fair to be held in the near future.

That Throbbing Headache

Would quickly leave you, if you used Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for Sick and Nervous Headaches. They make pure blood and build up your health. Only 25c. Money back if not cured. Sold by L. W. Randolph, Druggist.

—There will be an important meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., this evening.

—A very important meeting of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., will be held next week Tuesday evening, and every member is urged to attend.

Spread Like Wildfire.

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham Hare, a leading druggist, of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years. You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, rundown man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by L. W. Randolph, Druggist.

Michael Connolly, of Basking Ridge, has returned home after spending several days in the borough.

Miss Gertrude Harrison, of New Haven, who has been visiting Miss Lowe, of Park avenue, has returned home.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern which is not afraid to be generous. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles and have the satisfaction of knowing it has cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, LaGrippe and all Throat, Chest and Lung diseases are surely cured by it. Call on L. W. Randolph, Druggist, and get a free trail bottle. Regular size 50c and $1 00. Every bottle gauranteed.

—There will be an adjourned meeting of the Mayor and Borough Council tomorrow evening to consider the improvement of the Duer street extension.

—There is no pleasure in life if you dread going to the table to eat and can't rest at night on account of indigestion. Henry Williams, of Boonville, Ind., says he suffered that way for years, till he commenced the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, and adds, "Now I can eat anything I like and all I want and sleep soundly every night." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will digest what you eat. L. W. Randolph.

Miss Nettie Beeching, of Watchung, has been visiting in New York for a time.

Mrs. E. C. Morse, of Jackson avenue, is very much improved from a recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. VanZandt, of Madison avenue, have returned from a visit with East Millstone relatives.

REPUBLICANS GAINING.

Unprecedented Electoral Vote For McKinley and Roosevelt.

SENATE AND HOUSE REPUBLICAN

New York's Majority For Odell Over 100,000 and For McKinley Electors 145,000—Both Parties Claim Kentucky, and Idaho Is In Doubt. Latest News From Nebraska Seems to Indicate Defeat of Fusionists.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Chief among the developments as to the election is the transferring of Nebraska from the list of doubtful states to the long list of those states whose voters pronounced in favor of McKinley and Roosevelt. Advices up to a late hour indicate that the Republicans have control of the legislature by three or four votes on joint ballot. This insures two Republican senators in place of John M. Thurston, whose term expires in March, and of William V. Allen (Pop.), who was appointed to occupy the seat of Monroe L. Hayward, who died before taking the oath of office.

Idaho has probably chosen Bryan electors by a small plurality.

A feature of the later returns is the large pluralities given for the Republican electoral ticket in the states of the far west, where "imperialism" has no terrors, but some attractions. California is reported to have given 40,000 plurality for the McKinley electors, Oregon 14,000, North Dakota 12,000, South Dakota

BENJAMIN B. ODELL.

7,500, Washington 5,000 and Wyoming 4,000.

Kentucky has unquestionably given its electoral vote to Bryan, and Beckham, the Democratic candidate, has probably beaten Yerkes in the race for governor.

A striking feature of the result in Virginia is that Mr. Bryan carries the state by a plurality of several thousand less than the aggregate pluralities of the Democratic congressmen.

New York state gives McKinley a plurality of 145,243 and Odell 111,399.

The Fifty-seventh congress will have a Republican majority of 22 in the senate and 43 in the house.

Corrected police returns covering all the boroughs in the city of New York show a plurality for Bryan in the greater city of 27,621, the same territory giving Mr. Stanchfield a plurality of 44,968 over Odell. In the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx Bryan's plurality over McKinley was 27,805 and Stanchfield's over Odell 38,770. In Kings McKinley's plurality was 3,044, and Stanchfield carried the county by 2,386.

Not in many years have the Republicans had so large a majority in the senate of the United States as that which Theodore Roosevelt will call to order as vice president on March 4, 1901. For several years the Republicans have held precarious control of the body, and not until late in the last session did they feel strong enough in votes to grasp the patronage of the organization, which had been divided between Republicans, Democrats, Populists, Silver Republicans and independents.

After March 4 the majority will be so large that it will be possible to pass any bill or other measure that has been approved by the party. Democratic opposition will be futile if it is determined to pass a Nicaragua canal bill, a shipping subsidy bill or an amendment to the gold standard law. And the gains of this year are so many as to practically remove anxiety about what may occur in the elections of 1902. It is scarcely possible that the Republicans can be deprived of their lead in the senate.

The Republicans will have two senators from each of 25 states, including Nebraska, and one senator from each of seven states. The Democrats will have two senators from each of 12 states and one from each of seven states.

The Republicans will have in the Fifty-seventh congress 200 members and the Democrats, Silver Republicans and Populists a combined strength of 157 members. This will give the Republicans a majority over all of 43. In the Fifty-sixth congress the Republican majority is 18. The Republicans have accordingly made a gain of 25.

The largest Republican congressional gains were made in New York and Pennsylvania. New York, which has 15 Republican representatives in the Fifty-sixth congress, will have 21 Republicans in the Fifty-seventh congress, a gain of 6 members, and Pennsylvania, which has 19 Republican members in the present congress, will have 26 Republican members in the Fifty-seventh congress, a gain of 7 members.

NEBRASKA.

A Close Election—Republicans Appear to Have Won.

OMAHA, Nov. 8.—Election returns in Nebraska are so close as to be watched keenly. Chairman Lindsey, for the Republicans, claims that McKinley has carried the state by 7,000 or more, the Republican state ticket has won by 5,000 to 7,000 and that the Republicans have a majority of 17 in the legislature. They claim the re-election of Mercer and Burkett for congress and the election of Pope, Morland and possibly of Hayes. Against this the Democrats claim Bryan carried the state, though by a narrow margin of perhaps not more than 1,000; that Fusion has a safe working majority in the legislature; that Fusion state officers are elected by 3,000 to 5,000 and conceding the re-election of Mercer and Burkett, that Fusion has pulled through Robinson, Stark, Shallenberger and Neville. The latter is the only congressman conceded by Republicans.

The legislature will be in doubt until complete returns are in. Indications are that it will be Fusion by a small majority. Both parties are claiming the lead on joint ballot.

A dispatch from Lincoln says: "McKinley has carried Nebraska by at least 5,000. Indications point strongly to the election of Charles H. Dietrich (Rep.) governor. The legislature is close, but it is probable the Republicans will control both houses on joint ballot. Chairman Edmisten of the Populist state central committee has practically conceded the state to McKinley."

KENTUCKY.

Governorship Still Claimed by Both Parties.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 8.—The Kentucky governorship is still being claimed by both parties at the state capital. The Democrats are claiming advices showing Beckham's election by from 4,500 to 6,000, while the Republicans claim the election of Yerkes by 2,500. Independent voters charge that the Republicans are holding back the returns in the Eleventh district and that the Democrats have done likewise in the First, the Republican and Democratic strongholds, respectively, each waiting for the other side to make a show down and that this is responsible for the delay in ascertaining the result.

A Western Union bulletin about Kentucky says:

"Returns from 75 counties complete, or nearly so, embracing 1,215 out of a total of 1,877 precincts in the state give Bryan 156,759, McKinley 137,245, Beckham 154,086, Yerkes 138,877. Of the 44 counties not yet heard from or reported so sparsely as to be unreliable, 16 gave in the last presidential election 7,243 Democratic plurality and 26 gave 19,527 Republican plurality."

PENNSYLVANIA.

About 200,000 For McKinley—Quay Seems to Have Won Also.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—Estimates from one-half of the counties in Pennsylvania indicate a plurality for McKinley of over 200,000. In this city the fusion of the Democrats with the Municipal league cut down the Republican county majority, but J. Hampton Moore for city treasurer and Jacob Singer for register of wills are elected by more than 30,000 plurality.

Pennsylvania's delegation in the next congress, according to latest returns, will stand Republicans 26, Democrats 4, a Republican gain of 6. In the Twenty-eighth district Congressman J. K. P. Hall (Dem.) is re-elected by an apparent plurality of 83, but the friends of A. A. Clearwater (Rep.) claim a victory for him, and the official count will be required to decide who won.

M. S. Quay's friends say they will have a majority on joint ballot favorable to his re-election to the United States senate, and the returns appear to bear out this claim. The control of the state senate is in doubt, with chances at present favoring Quay.

ILLINOIS.

Yates (Rep.) Has a Large Majority. The Next Legislature.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Additional returns received show that McKinley's plurality will run close to 100,000 and that Yates for governor between 70,000 and 80,000.

Returns received from the state at large do not materially alter the political complexion of the next state legislature. The probability is that the Republicans will have a majority of about 22 on joint ballot, which means a Republican successor to Senator Cullom. It is impossible at this time to give figures with strong assurance of accuracy, but the next Illinois legislature will probably be about as follows: Senate—Republicans, 34; Democrats, 17. House—Republicans, 79; Democrats, 74. The present house is Republican by ten, and the hold over senators give a Republican majority of eight in the senate, and the Democrats figure that with but slight gains they will be able to have a majority of one or two on joint ballot and thus replace Senator Cullom with a Democrat. In the event of their obtaining the control of the legislature it is certain that Samuel A. Schuler, the defeated Democratic candidate for governor, will be sent to the senate.

The Republicans, however, claim that there is not the slightest doubt of their having control of the legislature and give plausible figures in support of their assertions. Some of them claim 85 members of the house, but this is considered excessive by the conservative members of their own party.

Later advices may modify the result as given above, but present indications give the legislature safely to the Republicans.

Michigan.

DETROIT, Nov. 8.—Returns from the state up to 10 o'clock last night give President McKinley a plurality of 90,858 and Colonel A. T. Bliss, the Republican candidate for governor, 69,059. Colonel Bliss is running about 20,000 behind his ticket, and Mayor Maybury, the Democratic gubernatorial candidate, is a corresponding number ahead of his ticket. In 1896 McKinley's plurality in Michigan was 56,170. Governor Pingree ran 20,000 ahead of the Republican ticket that year, getting a plurality of 75,107. The Republicans have increased their majority in the legislature on joint ballot by seven. The Democrats have elected none of their senatorial candidates and only 11 out of 100 representatives in the lower house. Senator James McMillan's re-election by the next legislature is a certainty. The entire Michigan congressional delegation is Republican by largely increased majorities in most of the districts.

Ohio.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 8.—McKinley carried the state by upward of 60,000 plurality. The entire Republican state ticket was elected by pluralities slightly below that of McKinley. The Republicans have elected 15 congressmen sure and the Democrats 4 sure. The Democrats lose the notorious John J. Lentz by about 150 votes. The Democratic Third district and the Republican Twentieth district are still in doubt. Both the Third and Twentieth are confidently claimed by Chairman Dick and will probably go Republican. Congressman Burton was reelected. His majority was not quite as large as in 1898. Burton ran ahead of his ticket in the wards which go to make up the Twenty-first district. There was never any doubt of his election.

Delaware.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 8.—In Delaware the result of the election was a victory for Republicanism. The state gave a good majority for McKinley, and the Republicans won all the state offices by big majorities. Republican State Chairman Churchman claims the state by fully 4,000 majority. Wilmington went Republican by more than 2,000, and the entire Democratic ticket went to pieces in Newcastle county. The composition of the senate is 3 regular Republicans, 6 Addicks Republicans and 8 Democrats, and of the house 7 regular Republicans, 12 Addicks Republicans and 15 Democrats. In one representative district there is a tie. On joint ballot there will be 10 regular Republicans, 18 Addicks Republicans and 23 Democrats.

Massachusetts.

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—The vote of Massachusetts, returns having been received from every city and town, is as follows: McKinley, 239,495; Bryan, 156,507; McKinley's plurality in the state, 82,988. Vote for governor—Crane, 219,829; Paine, 121,158; Crane's plurality, 98,671. The heavy Democratic gain is attributed to the return of the gold Democratic vote of 1896, while the anti-imperialistic sentiment, which also went to the Democratic vote, is thought to be represented in the 15 per cent Republican loss. The Democratic candidate for president ran over 35,000 ahead of the state ticket, while McKinley led Crane, the Republican candidate for governor, by about 20,000.

California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—The majority for McKinley continues to grow, and the indications are that it will reach 40,000. Complete returns from 1,574 precincts out of 2,180 outside of San Francisco give McKinley 107,992; Bryan, 81,248. The same precincts in 1896 gave McKinley 96,367 and Bryan 91,801. The legislature is Republican by a majority of 27. The state senate contains 33 Republicans and 7 Democrats. The assembly stands: Republicans, 58; Democrats, 22.

New Jersey.

TRENTON, Nov. 8.—Latest returns from the different counties in the state indicate that McKinley's plurality is 55,000. The official county canvasses will be made on Friday. Corrected returns from Sussex show the election of Roe (Rep.) to the assembly and the re-election of Martin (Dem.) to the senate, the latter by 90 plurality. The next legislature will be as follows: Senate—Republicans, 17; Democrats, 4. Assembly—Republicans, 44; Democrats, 15.

Maine.

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 8.—Returns from the outlying districts of Maine come in very slowly. There remain 193 cities, towns and plantations to be heard from. Figures from 314 cities, towns and plantations give McKinley 58,512 and Bryan 33,728. In 1896 the same towns gave McKinley 70,729 and Bryan 28,163. These figures show a Republican loss of 17 per cent and a Democratic gain of 20 per cent, indicating a probable Republican plurality of about 28,000.

Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 8.—A plurality of anywhere from 28,000 to 32,000 for the Republican national ticket and the election of Colonel W. T. Durbin (Rep.) to the governorship, the election of the entire state and Marion county Republican ticket, nine and perhaps ten out of 13 congressmen and the election of a legislature that will have a Republican majority of 40 on joint ballot is a summary in brief of yesterday's battle.

Colorado.

DENVER, Nov. 8.—Returns from election are slowly coming in, but sufficient returns and careful estimates have been received to show that Bryan's plurality will be from 30,000 to 35,000 and may reach 40,000. The Republican managers concede the legislature to the Fusionists by a majority of 56 on joint ballot. Orman (Dem.) and the whole Fusion ticket will have about 25,000 plurality.

Texas.

HOUSTON, Nov. 8.—The early estimate of 175,000 majority for the Democratic ticket in Texas is about correct, as indicated by the returns so far received. The only Republican congressman from Texas has been replaced by a Democrat, and the delegation will be solid. The one Republican state senator has been defeated, and the legislature is composed entirely of Democrats.

Rhode Island.

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 8.—Corrected unofficial returns from Rhode Island give McKinley 33,821, Bryan 19,947, Mallory 1,383, Woolley 1,526, a plurality for McKinley of 13,874 in a total vote of 56,677. His plurality four years ago was 22,978 in a total vote of 54,780. He carried every city and town in the state, as he did in 1896. The vote this year is the largest ever cast in the state.

West Virginia.

WHEELING, Nov. 8.—West Virginia has gone Republican by from 12,000 to 15,000 majority. The entire state ticket is elected. The congressional delegation is solidly Republican. The legislature is Republican in both branches, 20 to 25 majority on joint ballot, insuring the reelection of Senator Elkins.

Mississippi.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 8.—The next congressional delegation from Mississippi will be wholly Democratic. The state is conceded to Bryan by 45,000. There is little doubt that the amendment to the constitution changing the method of distributing the common school fund was defeated.

Virginia.

RICHMOND, Nov. 8.—The additional returns received confirm the report sent out that the Democrats carried the state by about 30,000 and elected their candidates in every congressional district.

Pettigrew's Opinion.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 8.—"I predict the formation of a new party based on the protests of the outraged people against Republicanism as taught by Mark Hanna," declared United States Senator Pettigrew yesterday. He had just left his home, to which he withdrew when the first considerable batch of telegrams arrived from South Dakota. "I saw how it was going and went home. For weeks I have told the national committee we were defeated in South Dakota. No, I was not disappointed. I slept well last night. I will remain in Sioux Falls and am going to resume business at the mill. Defeat is the more welcome to me, as it has come, than victory would have been if it came by indorsing the sort of policy which the Republican party represents."

Mr. Bryan Silent.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 8.—With the exception of a short drive in the early evening W. J. Bryan remained in his study during the day, rising late yesterday morning and retiring early last night. He said last evening he had no statement of any kind to make at present. Mr. Bryan received hundreds of telegrams during the day and evening from personal and political friends, but their nature was not disclosed. It is Mr. Bryan's intention to remain in Lincoln at least until he is thoroughly rested. To newspaper correspondents he asked to be excused from outlining his future action.

Brisk Day at Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The Stock Exchange had the biggest day in its history yesterday, the total transactions, according to conservative authorities, amounting approximately to 2,000,000 shares, of which nearly 1,500,000 were actually recorded by the tape. Under the stimulus of this phenomenal demand prices were advanced as they have not been advanced on any day in recent times, and, much more to the point, the strength displayed from the opening was continued and maintained up to the very close.

Large Importation of Gold.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The North German Lloyd steamer Kaiserin Maria Theresa, from Bremen, Southampton and Cherbourg, which has arrived and anchored off the quarantine station on Staten Island, has on board the sum of £558,000 in gold, which was taken on board at Southampton. Of this amount £508,000 is to order, and £50,000 is consigned to the Hanover National bank in this city.

A November Thunderstorm.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—A thunderstorm, with blinding flashes of lightning, accompanying a deluge of rain such as usually comes only in the stifling days of summer, descended upon the city last night, playing havoc with the theories of the "oldest inhabitants," who have insisted that lightning never comes in any quantity in November. The storm in Harlem was the severest known this season.

Big Money For Gold Mine.

DENVER, Nov. 8.—The Portland mine has been sold to an English syndicate for a sum approximating $15,000,000. The deal has been practically completed, the purchasers being a combination of British financiers, including the Venture corporation, the Exploration company, limited, of London, Werner, Beit & Co., the great South African firm, and a number of the leading individual capitalists of London.

Buford Sails For Manila.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The United States army transport Buford sailed last evening for the far east, carrying about 900 recruits, a detachment of hospital corps men and a number of other passengers, many of whom are women. The Buford will take about 50 days for the trip between here and Manila, stopping at Gibraltar and other ports along the route for coal.

Election Returns In Cuba.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—General Greely, chief signal officer, received the following dispatch from Colonel Dunwoody, chief signal officer at Havana: "Full election returns covering 5,000 words distributed to principal cities in Cuba as far east as Guantanamo over the military lines last night from 10 to 20 minutes after their receipt in New York."

A TRIUMPHAL TRIP.

President's Journey to Washington an Ovation.

WARM GREETINGS IN THREE STATES

Home City of Canton Gives McKinley a Rousing Send Off—Brief Speeches to Admirers at Several Points.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—President McKinley's trip from Canton toward the national capital was one continuous ovation to the twice elected head of the nation. At every stop there were great outpourings of the people, business was suspended, and many factories along the line added their thousands of workers, men and women, to those who have joined in enthusiastic greetings. The president appeared at each stop, shaking hands from the rear platform and making short speeches at the more important towns. Mrs. McKinley received her share of the popular tribute, men and women struggling to present her with flowers. Patriotism, the flag and the volunteer's uniform figured everywhere, and the trip was in the nature of a triumphal journey to the capital.

The start from Canton was made at 1:35 p. m. yesterday amid the boom of cannon, the screech of steam whistles and the clamorous well wishes of the president's townspeople. Mr. and Mrs. McKinley occupied the private car Olympia at the rear of the train, giving a broad platform from which the president could greet the crowds and address them. The presidential car had been beautifully decorated within, yellow chrysanthemums bound in ribbons of red, white and blue giving a wealth of color. The train arrangements were in charge of Mr. T. E. Stone.

The president made his first speech of the day when the train arrived at Alliance. The town had turned out en masse to meet him with bands and banners. Workmen from the potteries at Sebring came in their aprons, bearing transparencies showing their majorities. The crowd surged up to the train to the imminent danger of those massed in front. When the president appeared, there were deafening cheers, to which he bowed and smiled acknowledgment and then said:

"My fellow citizens, I have not failed to observe the victory of Alliance given on yesterday, and I cannot refrain from expressing to you in public my very great appreciation of this vote of encouragement and support from my old friends and neighbors of Stark county.

"I observe that majorities rise with prosperity and that the American people never fail to support the flag. I thank you and bid you good afternoon."

A short distance farther on the train stopped at Sebring, a new town, with huge potteries, built up, it is said, by the fostering of the American pottery interest. Business was suspended, and the workmen poured forth to join in the huzzas. A big banner announced, "Sebring Four to One For McKinley." The president waved acknowledgments, but did not speak.

In the big factory town of Salem the smoke of many stacks hung over the city, and the myriad of working men and women gave the place the aspect of a hive of industry. A vast concourse of people lined the tracks. The tops of freight cars were used as points of vantage. Little girls bore big American flags. The drum corps was uniformed as United States volunteers. A huge broom draped with yellow ribbons was carried at the head of the procession. Ladies struggled to throw bunches of chrysanthemums toward Mrs. McKinley. A young woman kept crying "Bryan!" in defiant tones, but her voice was faint amid the din. The screech of the factory whistles was deafening. The president bowed his thanks and when order was partly secured spoke briefly.

At Leetonia and Columbiana there were like outbursts, crowds besieging the president's car. No speeches were made, but the president reached down and shook many a grimy hand.

A drizzling rain began to fall, but this did not deter big crowds from turning out at East Palestine, Enon Valley, New Galilee and New Brighton.

At Rochester 3,000 people braved the rain and darkness and gave a fierce welcome to the president during the momentary stop. Many of the crowd clambered up the rear platform after the train started and hung on until their turn came for a handshake.

It was pitch dark when the train reached Allegheny, but a big crowd was in waiting, and a delegation headed by Mayor Diehl of Pittsburg and Mayor Wyman of Allegheny clambered aboard. They were received by the president, and warm greetings were exchanged. The president asked as to the results in Pennsylvania and evinced great interest when told that the majority would reach 300,000. He asked also as to Pennsylvania's congressional delegation and received like satisfactory assurances.

To Build Larger Freighters.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 8.—The Maryland Steel company, at Sparrow's Point, has begun laying keels for the two largest steel passenger and freight steamers ever constructed in the United States. The vessels are for the Atlantic Transport company and will run between New York and London. They will cost $1,500,000 each and will be delivered next spring. The steamers will be duplicates of the Minneapolis and Minnehaha, which are owned by the same company.

The Sultan Must Pay.

TANGIER, Nov. 8.—The United States consul general, Samuel R. Gunnere, is understood to have made further strong representations to the government officials urging the immediate payment of the American claims. It is also again reported that an American cruiser is to be sent to enforce the demand.

Gale In Great Britain.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—A heavy gale swept over Great Britain yesterday. There were several wrecks along the coast, and many persons were drowned.

Liberals Win In Canada.

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—The return of the Liberal government to power is assured, 158 constituencies out of 213 having been heard from. Of these the Liberals have carried 100 and the Conservatives 58.

Election Fight Proves Fatal.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Michael Dillon, a tailor, 50 years old, died in Bellevue hospital from a fracture of the skull received in a fight over the election.

VENGEANCE FOR CHINESE.

Slayers of Christians Punished by General Richardson.

TAKU, Nov. 8.—General Richardson has been administering punishment to the killers of native Christians. The British shot two chiefs and burned a large number of houses.

On Oct. 30 General Richardson met 500 imperial troops commanded by General Fan. Both sides advanced for a parley, but owing to an unfortunate misunderstanding an Indian trumpeter shot General Fan dead. The trumpeter was arrested, and the incident was explained to the Chinese, the two forces then proceeding by different routes.

General Richardson burned two villages, the places where Messrs. Robinson and Norman, the missionaries, were murdered, and demanded that the city of Yang-ching should pay 40,000 taels as compensation to the families of the victims. The payment was guaranteed. Three other villages were burned near Sang-fang Nov. 4.

Emperor to Return to Peking.

ROME, Nov. 8.—The Peking correspondent of the Tribuna, wiring Nov. 3, says: "News from a private source, coming direct from the province of Shensi, where the Chinese court took refuge, says that Emperor Kwang Su is about to return to Peking via Ho-nan."

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Standard Oil stock sold for 650, the highest price on record.

The torpedo boat Lawrence was launched at East Braintree, Mass.

Ex-President Kruger will arrive at Marseilles Nov. 17 and Paris Nov. 19.

Senator Davis passed a decidedly comfortable night and was reported much better.

Miss Grace Carr of Louisville was married to Lord Newborough in Savoy chapel, London.

The rumor that the Chilean government was buying warships was denied at Santiago, Chile.

Michael Goldman of Bay City died at Detroit as a result of a prizefight with Bernard Carroll.

One man was killed and two injured by a train crashing into a trolley car at a Trenton crossing.

Porto Rico's Quiet Election.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Nov. 8.—Governor Allen, in a cablegram of congratulation to President McKinley on his reelection, makes the following comment on the results of the election here: "I am gratified and delighted. The outcome in Porto Rico is a guarantee of the island's future. To bring people who had long been under different rules and conditions to their first general election, to have the election pass off as quietly and orderly as in any state of the north, conducted by the people without let or hindrance and without a soldier or armed force of any sort and to have nearly 60,000 men march to the polls to deposit their first ballots for self government in such a manner are good reasons for congratulation, not only to the people of the island, but to the painstaking members of the administration, who had worked diligently and patiently to this end."

Alaska Telegraph Line Completed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—General Greely, chief signal officer, has received a dispatch saying that the military telegraph line has been completed from Port Egbert, or Eagle City, Alaska, to the international boundary line near Dawson. The Canadian line extends from the boundary to Dawson and from that city southward to Skaguay. There is a gap of about 35 miles in the line from Dawson to Quesnelle, and the Canadian company is considering the advisability of covering this line by couriers during the winter. The building of the line had to be abandoned on account of severe weather. As the line reaches Skaguay, it is within three days' sail of the telegraph office to Victoria, and this brings the troops of the United States at Fort Egbert within telegraphic communication with the department here, save the three days' delay.

Tried to Kill Her Husband.

BRISTOL, Conn., Nov. 8.—Mrs. John Kellain was bound over to the superior court in the sum of $3,000 on the charge of attempting to murder her husband, a Polish laborer of Terryville. Kellain was found seriously injured on the railroad track where it runs through a deep rock cut near Terryville. After he was taken to a hospital he accused his wife of having maliciously pushed him over the embankment, with the cry, "I'll fix you now." In court Mrs. Kellain denied her husband's story and said he was assaulted by a stranger who sprang suddenly out of the bushes.

Strict Rules For Gibraltar.

GIBRALTAR, Nov. 8.—An order in council empowering the governor to expel any person from Gibraltar he judges undesirable has been promulgated. British and other residents not employed in her majesty's service are required to register at the police offices and must take out permits.

Shouted and Died.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8.—Mrs. H. Fields, an aged domestic, when told of McKinley's victory, shouted "Hurrah for Old Glory!" and then fell dead from heart disease.

The Government Goes on

Through the ballot boxes the people have spoken in no uncertain voice in favor of a continuance of the administration of William McKinley in the National government. However much partisans may have disagreed and politicians fought over the issues that commanded the attention of the country for five months, there is no one so heedless or defiant of the popular will but what he acquiesces in the result of the voting with as much cheerfulness as his political affiliations and ideas will naturally permit him to do so soon after election day.

Republicans are elated and pleased beyond expression over the outcome of one of the most important campaigns the country has ever witnessed. Democrats are depressed and disappointed in the same degree one way as their political opponents are inspirited in the other. That is natural, of course, but as the days wane from the date of election the country will resume its normal conditions, people will regain their equilibrium of sovereign citizenship, ante-election animosities and disagreements will be forgetten and the country will continue to be the greatest on the globe.

In the excitement and exaggeration that is characteristic of the great National election of a chief executive for the Republic many dire things are said and predicted that are dispelled immediately after the choice of the people is recorded. It is certain that no man or set of men are big enough or powerful enough to permanently upset and destroy the government of the people of the United States.

Throughout the campaign and up till Tuesdy we were all partisans arraigned on the side of some one of the parties that appealed for suffrage at the American court of the last resort—the polls—but today we are all Americans, abiding and standing by the men who were chosen by the people to conduct the government.

J. A. Mets, superintendent of public schools in Somerset county, has sent a letter to all the district clerks throughout the county requesting them to send to him the names of all persons in the county who have been conspicuous in advancing the work of public education, either by contributing liberally of their financial means or by the use of their influence in any notable way. Just what Mr. Mets desires to do with the information he asks for does not appear in his letters. Perhaps he wants to start a little Hall of Fame for Old Somerset, to include only those who have been benefactors of the public schools. But whatever he may want to do with the information he proposes gathering, it is certain that the name of Charles W. McCutchen, who has made it possible for North Plainfield to have a manual training school, should be recorded high up in the list of promoters of public education in the county.

The morning edition of The Daily Press, issued yesterday, furnished Plainfielders with election returns of a complete and satisfactory nature considering the short period that elapsed between the time the counting of ballots was completed and the hour that The Daily Press was upon the streets ready for the perusal of early risers, and many compliments have been received for the excellent work of collecting and tabulating the figurers with such dispatch and correctness. It has been a custom of those interested in election returns to file away a copy of The Daily Press the day after election each year, so as to have a handy and reliable reference at hand whenever they wanted to consult the voting results, and it is certain that they will not fail to do so this year.

After briefly discussing the outcome of election in New Jersey, the Newark News thinks that it is more than doubtful whether in the absence of general party readjustment even a return of Democracy to its former ideals will serve to overturn Republican supremacy in New Jersey. The News argues that Republicans, more than Democrats, have benefited from the population that has come here from other States, and thousands of young men who cast their first ballots for McKinley, either in 1896 or Tuesday, because of the peculiar issues involved, will remain its adherents until the party repels them by its own action.

Those who still have any interest in or desire to do political work may find plenty of work in the municipal campaign which will be commenced in a few days.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

As soon as it became evident Tuesday evening that the election was going in favor of McKinley and the Republican hosts, a shower of congratulations was heaped on the two Republican candidates. Among the very first to telegraph his heartiest congratulations to both President McKinley and Governor Roosevelt was United States Senator John Kean, of Elizabeth. Senator Kean was at the county headquarters in the Dix building, Elizabeth, early that evening and remained there until the returns from the county were complete and he had a good understanding of the situation in other States. Two telephones and a special telegraph wire kept the county headquarters supplied with the latest news of the election, and there were gathered many of the prominent Republicans of this county.

A small army of Plainfielders went to New York on the night of Election Day to watch the excitement there and incidentally to see how the vote was going. Both afternoon and evening trains were crowded and, in many cases, the accommodation was entirely insufficient to care for them all. The "owl" train and those trains immediately preceding it brought out many of the sight seers. In one car there was a party of celebrators who failed to leave their enthusiasm outside of the car and made things decidedly lively. There were two young women in the party, both of them from this city, who attracted considerable attention through their participation in the "fun."

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Mrs. Robert Fitzsimmons and Bobbie, Jr., will be seen with the world's greatest fighter, Robert Fitzsimmons, in his new play, "The Honest Blacksmith," at Music Hall, tonight. The play is a comedy drama of home and sporting life, and is said to be one of the cleanest and most wholesome productions of the season. In it Fitz is seen making a horseshoe and shoeing a horse, as in his athletic exercises with Ed. Dunkhorst in the training quarters. Several clever specialty artists are in the company, and a thrilling climax to one act is secured by means of the moving pictures of the Fitz-Ruhlin fight at Madison Square Garden in New York. Not a thing is missing from the scenes and in the special car which is carried around with the company are the forge, anvil, hammers and all the other tools used in a well equipped blacksmith shop, as well as a portable training quarters, which was used by the big Cornishman at Bergen Beach while training for his recent fights with Ruhlin and Sharkey, which ended in the hasty defeat of both men.

* * * * * *

An early engagement at Music Hall will be a sumptuous revival of "M'Liss," which will be presented on next Tuesday evening. All of the scenery which is to be used in the revival is said to have been especially painted for the production and it is also said to be especially handsome. The scenes are all typical of the mining camps of California in the early days. The company is reported to carry everything that is used upon the stage, and the play has never been better cast than in the present instance. Nellie McHenry is to play the title role and in the roster of the company will be found the names of Joseph Brennan, Frank Dayton, B. F. Grinnell, F. A. Yelvington, L. J. Loring, James Cooper, J. D. Crowley, Ida Rock and Ella Gardiner.

DUNELLEN

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Nov. 8—A valuable brown pointer dog belonging to William Fletcher strayed away from the latter while he was hunting in the vicinity of Samptown, Tuesday afternoon. The animal is very peculiarly marked, having white toes and white chest. Mr. Fletcher will pay a suitable reward for the return of the dog, or information leading to its whereabouts.

Election Day passed off very quietly in the borough, most of the citizens leaving town to enjoy the holiday. Voting was heavy in the morning, 170 being cast before noon. In the evening, election returns were received in the town hall and read to a large crowd by T. J. Ronayne and R. S. Fisher. The low majority given to McKinley by the borough was a great surprise to many.

Now that the borough is without a marshal, there are several candidates for the office. At present Peter Mahan is far in the lead in popular favor. Rumor has it that it is on account of the two large mastiffs received by Mr. Mohan from France, which would make a valuable addition to the borough police service.

Postal Inspector Shopp, of Jersey City, was in the borough yesterday and made an examination of the local office. He was greatly pleased with the result and declared it to be in first-class condition in every respect.

It is probable that the local football team will play an eleven from Rahway on the Lincoln avenue grounds next Saturday.

Mrs. John Heil, of Raritan, returned home yesterday after a week's visit with relatives in the borough.

Mrs. A. Palmer will remove from the borough next week and take up her residence in Newark.

Percy Abbott has returned from a few days visit with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bergen, at Newark.

Mrs. Catherine Maier has gone to Beaville for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. William Coniy.

Harry Staats, of Brooklyn, spent Election Day with his father, Freeholder P. Staats.

Mrs. Annie Abbott is spending several days with Mrs. H. L. Terry, at Westfield.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wilson, of New Brunswick, spent Tuesday with J. Y. Wilson.

There are three letters remaining in the postoffice for William B. Esakov.

John Boyle has taken a position with expressman George Huff.

J. B Campbell entertained company from New York Tuesday.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, Nov. 8—While standing near a pile of timber Tuesday afternoon William F. Brokaw accidentally displaced a board underneath with his foot. Without any warning the pile tumbled over on his right leg, breaking it and injuring his ankle. He had been talking to William Laine, and the latter immediately went to his assistance. He was taken to the house and Dr. Nelson was summoned. The injured man was made as comfortable as possible and he is now resting easily.

Simeon Dayton has an injured shoulder which he received in a peculiar manner. He was leading a horse to the barn when the animal gave his arm a sudden jerk. On examination his shoulder was found to be dislocated.

The reception given by the dancing class last evening was well attended, and several hours were spent in a very pleasant manner.

William Faulkner, of New York, was in town Tuesday completing arrangements for removal to his farm.

A. S. Corlell expects to celebrate the eightieth anniversary of his birthday in a quiet manner.

Mrs. Ann Dobbins, of Front street, is spending a few days with relatives in Newark.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, Nov. 8.—W. C. Peckham, the New York lawyer, a large property owner in this town and backer of the proposed trolley line from Westfield to Springfield, via Mountain avenue, has served notice on the township committee asking that body to remove the fences of several property owners from the said Mountain avenue, claiming that they are encroaching upon the roadway for a distance of about twelve feet. The committee has ordered a survey made of the street and will, probably, do as Mr. Peckham asks, if not he says he will take it to the courts. He is determined to get a trolley road to Springfield.

The gentlemen members of the Westfield Club are having a hard time of it today trying to explain where they were on election night for there is not one that will admit that he was at the "smoker" given at the club house on that night. The affair is said to have been one of the most disgraceful that has ever been given in this part of the county and the ladies are up in arms against the club which will permit such shows to be given. The show was on the vaudeville order and embraced features which recalled the notorious "Midway" of the Chicago fair.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, November 8.—The Daily Press was the first paper on the street yesterday morning. Ralph Eckert went after them on his wheel and had them here by 6 a. m.

Quite a large crowd witnessed the stereopticon exhibition and read the election returns at Higgins' Hotel Tuesday night.

A large party of young people attended a party at Iselin last night. It was gotten up by Mr. and Mrs. Ed TenEyck.

One of the first bulletins shown at Higgins' hotel gave Bryan a majority in Samptown.

Mr. Jones has commenced grinding buckwheat at the mill.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Backer, of Whitehouse, has returned after a visit with Plainfield relatives

S. Ernest Swayze has returned to Washington, D. C, after spending a few days in this city.

Miss Agnes Morse, of Jackson avenue, has accepted a position as cashier at Woodhull & Martin's carpet store.

Mrs. George Thatcher, who has been at the hospital for some time past under treatment, has recovered and has left the institution.

E. H. Ernst, of Elizabeth, has secured the position of night ticket agent at the North Avenue station, in place of George Ballentyne, who has been promoted to day agent.

BRYAN WON HERE.

Political Forces of the Park Club Met on the Bowling Alley Last Tuesday Night.

While returns were being received of McKinley's great victory at the Park clubhouse on Washington avenue, Tuesday evening, a thrilling match was in progress on the bowling alleys of that club. The forces of the Democracy and Republicanism met in an exciting game which, as the returns came in, telling of the great Republican success at the polls, resulted in victory for the Democratic forces on the alleys.

Each of the two great parties was represented by a team of ten men, each of whom wore a large placard on which was printed his temporary title. Fully 500 spectators lined the sides of the alleys and displayed lots of enthusiasm. From the very start, however, "Bryan" and his forces took the lead. They stayed in front throughout the game and won by 151 pins.

The scores were as follows:

DEMOCRATS.

"Bryan," Everett J. Peck	114
"Stevenson," Richard Williams	109
"Chairman Jones," C. E. Murray	115
"I am a Democrat," W. H. Chapman	169

... ABOUT ...

KID GLOVES.

We have just opened 93 dozen pairs of our celebrated "P and P" Kid Gloves, and they are the gloves we are going to tell you about. We have said much about them in the past year and have built a remarkable custom for them, but we want you to try them now, this is the claim we make for the "P and P" gloves: That it will fit as well, wear as well and look as well as any $1.50 glove you can find. We fit the glove to your hand at the counter, and if we cannot fit you perfectly you will not be asked to buy, no matter how many pairs have been tried on in the effort. More than that we give you the same guarantee you get with any glove at twice the price. Many merchants say this is a bad method, to recommend a low priced article, when a higher priced one could as easily be sold. As a rule they would be right, but our experience has been that the price has little bearing on the durability of them, at least we have found that the "P and P" gloves wear as well as any high priced glove we know, consequently we give you the broadest and most liberal guarantee.

Three different grades of "P and P" gloves.

1.00 Chaumont 2 clasp fine dressed gloves, all the new fall colors and black.

1.19 Mocha gloves, grey, tan, mode and brown shades, 2 clasp.

1.25 "Barthold" superior quality of dressed gloves, 2 clasp.

89c "Tuxedo" Misses' 2 clasp dressed gloves, tan, red and brown.

Wien. Die höchste Frequenz, welche die hiesige Universität seit ihrem Bestehen zu verzeichnen hatte, hat sie im gegenwärtigen Winterhalbjahre. Es sind nicht weniger als 6981 Studenten eingeschrieben, gegen 5852 im letzten Sommer, außerdem 82 Hörerinnen und 101 Hospitantinnen. Die volksthümlichen Universitätskurse wurden im letzten Jahre von 15,875 Personen besucht, von 6064 mehr als im Vorjahre. Das Stiftungsvermögen der Universität ist durch Vermächtnisse auf 4,000,000 Kronen gestiegen.—Seit August 1887 wurde der jetzt 45jährige Maurer David Ferrari aus Nanica in Italien vom Linzer Landesgericht wegen Todtschlages steckbrieflich verfolgt. Kürzlich wurde Ferrari am Praterspitz verhaftet.—Gestorben sind dahier der Generalmajor d. R. Rudolph Ritter v. Ebner und der Vizedirektor der Hofbibliothek, Eduard Chmelarz.

Bludenz. Der Fremdenzuzug über den Arlberg war heuer ein sehr guter. In der Zeit vom 1. Januar bis 1. Oktober wanderten nicht weniger als 4405 Personen über den 1800 Meter hohen Arlbergpaß, Just 2165 Personen zogen von Vorarlberg nach Tirol und 2240 von Tirol nach Vorarlberg.

Budapest. Graf Johann Palffy schenkte ein Gut im Werthe von 2,740,000 Kronen dem Staate für Stipendien.—Von der Budapester Unterrichtskommission wurde beschlossen, in allen Budapester Kommunal-Volksschulen den deutschen Sprachunterricht aufzuheben, jedoch jenen Schulkindern, die deutsch lernen wollen, hierzu Gelegenheit zu bieten.

Dux. Für die Hinterbliebenen der bei der Grubenexplosion in der Frisch-Glück-Zeche Verunglückten spendeten die Brüxer Bergbaugesellschaft 100,000 Kronen, die Mitglieder des Verwaltungsrathes 25,000 Kronen, Centraldirektor Bihl ebenfalls 25,000 Kronen.

Graz. Vor Kurzem stürzte sich der Gefangenenaufseher Christian Ronacher vom 4. Stock des Justizpalastes in den Hof und blieb mit zerschmettertem Schädel todt. Ronacher war wegen Trunksucht entlassen worden.

Innsbruck. In Folge des fortdauernden Anwachsens des Vernagletschers ist eine Wasserkatastrophe für das Oetzthal zu befürchten. Der Tiroler Landesausschuß hat nun einen Kredit von 1000 Kronen bewilligt behufs sofortiger Durchführung der technischen Vorarbeiten zur Beseitigung dieser Gefahr.

Prag. Das Prager fürsterzbischöfliche Diözesangericht exkommunizirte das gewesene Mitglied des Prämonstratenserstiftes in Tepl, Pater Sequens, weil er zum Altkatholizismus übergetreten war und heirathete.

Salzburg. In Lofer fand die feierliche Enthüllung eines Denkmals zur Erinnerung an die Landesvertheidigung der vereinigten Pinzgauer und Tiroler gegen die von Bayern vorrückenden Franzosen im Jahre 1800 statt.

Triest. Unlängst wurde das zwischen der Regierung und der Gemeinde Triest zu Stande gekommene Uebereinkommen, betreffend die Erweiterung der Hafenanlagen unterzeichnet. Hiernach trägt Triest zu dem Zwecke des sofortigen Beginnens der Arbeiten 1,000,000 Kronen bei.

Schweiz.

Bern. In diesem Jahre sind im Kanton 1012 Jagdpatente gelöst worden, eine noch nie erreichte Zahl. Davon sind 148 für die hohe Jagd. Der Staat sackte die schöne Summe von 55,635 Francs ein.—Ein Student Trechsel aus Bern und der Führer Jakob Reichen aus Kandersteg sind bei der Besteigung des Morgenhorns von einer großen Lawine erschlagen worden.

Zürich. Der Regierungsrath bewilligte einen Staatsbeitrag von 1700 Francs an ein Grabdenkmal für Gottfried Keller auf dem Friedhof Sihlwald.

Luzern. In Schüpfheim wurde beim Abrüsten eines provisorischen Baues Baumeister Franz Stalder von einem herabfallenden Balken erschlagen.

Schwyz. Die von der Bevölkerung langersehnte Straßenbahn Schwyz-Seewen ist jüngst eröffnet worden.

St. Gallen. Der kürzlich in Rheineck verstorbene Einwohner Häfelin hat die schöne Summe von 135,000 Francs zu gemeinnützigen Zwecken vergabt.—Auf dem Exerzierplatze Breitenfeld wurde ein Zeiger (Zieler) Namens Hämmerle von Schwellbrunn durch einen von einem Kadetten abgegebenen Schuß in's Herz getroffen und sofort getödtet.

Aargau. An Entschädigungen vom Eisenbahnunglück in Aarau vom Juni 1899 hatte die Nordostbahn bis vor Kurzem etwas über 100,000 Francs ausgerichtet, wovon 70,000 Francs an Advokat Stierli, dem das Gesicht verletzt wurde, und 30,000 Francs an einen anderen Passagier, der verschiedene Rippenbrüche erlitt.

Waadt. Ein mit Wegräumen des Schuttes vom Tunnel zu Avants beschäftigter Arbeiter, L. Rasetti, berührte aus Versehen die Starkstromleitung des Elektrizitätswerkes von Montreux und wurde sofort getödtet.

Public Praise is Public-Property Plainfield People May Profit by Local Experience.

Grateful people still talk. Tell their experience for the public good.

Plainfield citizens praise Doan's Kidney Pills. Kidney sufferers appreciate this. They find relief for every kidney ill. Read what this citizen says:

Mrs. M. A. Hall of 219 Prescott place says: "For several years I had a dull aching pain across my back at times extending to my hips. I was compelled to lie in just one position all night and stooping, lifting or bending forward aggravated the pains. A kidney weakness which was very distressing and inconvenient also existed and though I used different remendies that were recommended to me I obtained little if any relief. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly endorsed in our daily papers and procured a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store. It was not long before I felt great relief and I was surprised how quickly the pain in my back disappeared.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co. Buffalo, N.Y., sole agents for the U.S

YOUNG DEER HUNTER.

Six-Year-Old California Boy Performs Some Wonderful Feats with His Little Gun.

There is a six-year-old slayer of wild game in California. His name is Austin Otis, and he can bring down a deer with as clean and pretty a shot as any veteran hunter in the country. His home is in the wooded hills, about 15 miles back of Cazadero. He has lived among these hills all his life.

Until the other day Austin had bagged no game larger than rabbits and squirrels. Now, however, he is the most-talked-of youngster in the country, for around Cazadero are some of the finest shots in all the state. Having been refused permission to join a hunting party with his father, he shouldered his gun and started by himself down the creek. He tells of his adventure this way:

"I was wishing awful hard that I could see a deer," he said, "when all of a sudden, after I had gone about 300 yards along the creek, what should I see but a beauty of a deer with its nose to the stream, taking a drink. I followed the creek on purpose, 'cause I knew that deer always come down toward night to drink, but I could hardly believe that my wish had come true so quick.

"I stopped short and looked at him. I thought sure he would jump into the bush before I could take aim, but he didn't seem to hear me. Pup, my dog, understood just the same as if he was a man, instead of a dog, and stood still, except that he wagged his tail. I guess Pup was as excited as I was, but he had sense and didn't spoil things by barking.

YOUNGEST DEER HUNTER.

"I lifted my rifle, but my hand and arm shook and I couldn't seem to lift straight at all. I was pretty much scared that the deer would get away, so I lifted the gun again and took aim. I remembered what papa always said about holding the sight on the point of the deer's shoulder.

"Then I fired. The deer gave an awful big leap in the air, then ran. I guess he ran about 40 jumps down the creek. My, you ought to have seen Pup run after him! I didn't know I had shot him until Pup caught up with him and he dropped. I ran as fast as ever I could and when I saw he was dead I cut his throat, 'cause that's the way all hunters do.

"I like deer hunting. A fellow doesn't want to kill quail and rabbits and bluejays and gophers and chipmunks all the time. If you're deer hunting you ought to shoot through the heart. It brings the game down quicker and it doesn't hurt so much. That's what papa says, and he knows."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

SOME DEADLY SNAKES.

United States Harbors Four Kinds of Rattlers and Three Other Venomous Serpents.

In the United States there are four different species of rattlesnake—the ground or black rattlesnake, the Florida species, the mountain serpent, and that of the Staked Plains. The rattlesnake found east of the Mississippi, and in the wooded district just west of that river, is essentially the same as the Florida species, although sometimes classed as a separate variety.

Of all these the Staked Plains rattlesnake is the largest, most active and most dangerous. Six feet is not an unusual length, while seven-foot snakes have on several occasions been killed. These serpents measure sometimes ten inches around the body, and recoveries from their venom are very rare.

The Florida rattlesnake comes next in size, while the short, stumpy ground snake, scarcely ever more than three feet long, is the least venomous.

Besides the rattlesnake there are three other venomous serpents found in this country—the copperhead, the moccasin, land and water, and a small and very rare snake found in Arizona, which is considered the most deadly of all.

This snake lies in the dust, and strikes like a flash of lightning at everything that approaches. A peculiar fact about this snake is that it is nearly completely blind, and has the keenest hearing of any snake known. These reptiles are very rare, and but half a dozen specimens are found in any of our museums.

Dolly Had the Blues.

Mary and Martha, the three-year-old twins, were busy with their paint boxes. "Why, you've painted your doll's face blue all over!" exclaimed Mary. "Yes," rejoined Martha, "I'm pretending she's got the blues."

Hers Were In for Good.

Little Nellie was often troubled with the toothache. One day she remarked: "I do wish I had teeth like gran'ma, then when they ached I could take them out."

TASTE OF CITY FRUIT.

How the Lack of Flavor of Which Some People Complain Is Accounted For.

Everywhere about this great fruit-eating city the comparative tastelessness of some of the fruits which in the memory were among the most luscious of former time is deplored nowadays by men, women and children alike, that is if the children have had the good fortune to eat fruit where it is grown for home consumption. Some complaints of the disappearance from city markets of the "fruit that had a taste" and some speculations as to the reason that what is offered no longer is of the tasteful variety have appeared from time to time, says the New York Sun.

According to some growers of fruit these writers have not nit upon the real reason why the character of the fruits in the city markets has so greatly changed. It used to be said by New Yorkers who ate shad in other places that there was no shad to equal those taken from the North river, just as Baltimoreans would assure their friends from other parts of the country that they must come to Maryland to enjoy terrapin, and Philadelphians spoke ever of the superiority of Shrewsbury oysters. The philosophic reached the conclusion that these various statements merely meant that the several gustatory delights mentioned were to be best enjoyed nearest the habitat of each; and men have lately risen to remark that fruits, too, must be eaten near where they are grown to have their excellence properly appreciated, and that the enlarging city has put the fruit belt too far away for the markets to get the fruit in all its freshness. But the fruit growers say that these men have not arrived at the real explanation of the matter.

The growers point out that the city patrons demand of fruiterers not only fruit that is perfectly sound, but that also looks well. To supply the city demand fruit must be shipped here from considerable distances. The prime requisite, therefore, is for fruit that will stand transportation and reach the city market sound and in a shape attractive to the eye. The effort of growers, therefore, has been to produce fruit of good keeping qualities. This has necessitated getting fruit of firmness of texture and firmness of skin. These qualities have been cultivated, with the result of the production of fruit of a somewhat coarse pulp and thick coating. In peaches this is the more readily noticeable, but it is true also in apples and pears. Strawberries as raised for the city markets have suffered in the same way. As loveapples, tomatoes might be classed with the fruits, and no vegetable has suffered as tomatoes have suffered from the same causes as those that have produced the all but tasteless peach. Many farmers in the garden belt of New York, not large fruit growers, but the men who used to send the produce of their orchards to town, no longer make an effort to sell their fruit to buyers for the city, since they cannot get good prices for fruits, which though superior in flavor, will not keep in condition long enough to meet the demand. The city purveyors are not willing, and probably it is true that they are not commercially able, to stand the losses entailed in the handling of the delicate varieties of fruit which are so quickly perishable.

Such is the explanation advanced by some growers of fruit, at any rate for the disappearance of "the fruit that had a taste," from the markets of New York city.

HOMES FOR HORSES.

Hospitals for Invalid and Aged Animals Are Established in England.

It is small wonder that, with the English love for horses, and under some sense of the tremendous debt we owe to those intelligent and patient servants, England should lead the way in establishing a hospital for the invalid and the aged, where the less opulent among horse owners may give their old favorites a peaceful autumn to their industrious lives, and where the poor man's beast is provided with rest, care, and doctoring to bring him as comfortably as may be through the ailments of horseflesh and send him back to the shafts sound and well. But even in England the ultra-gratitude of man has probably not often left horse or donkey mourning, says the London Quiver. The Home of Rest has had but some thousand inmates; and how many thousands of horses are there in London alone who stumble along in jaded weariness, and at last die for want of a few weeks in such a hospital? How many who, when infirmity shall have robbed them of the powers they have so obediently and gallantly exercised for our pleasure or our profit, are heartlessly doomed to an old age of misery, or who, honest and faithful in their lives, receive at our hands but the wages of death?

Seasickness Caused Realism.

Sims Reeves was once asked how he first came to sing with such splendid energy and expression his very popular song: "The Bay of Biscay." He gave an interesting reply that it was in consequence of his own experience of a terrible storm during a sea voyage which he once made between St. Katharine's dock and Newcastle-on-Tyne.—Detroit Free Press.

IN A RESTAURANT.

The Girl Took a Miff and He Left Her, But She Was Not at All Moneyless.

In the vernacular of the street gamin, she was a stunner, and when she entered a prominent down-town cafe the other night about the dinner hour, there was a craning of masculine necks, and for a time eating was suspended and the newcomer was the center of attraction, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. She was very handsome and was elegantly dressed. He was well dressed, fairly good looking and of good physique; at least the feminine part of the crowd thought so. The lady was evidently angry, there was a wrathful gleam in her brown eyes, and a nervous twitching of the facial muscles, which denoted a storm. He was also angry.

As she sat down, those nearest noticed that her lips were moving, and then heard: "Brute, I will never speak to him again." He was sitting opposite her, perusing the menu. Several times he looked around to see if others were listening to her remarks. She gave her order to the waiter and so did he, and for a moment there was silence. Then she began again: "I hate you. I won't sit at the table with you."

Suiting the action to the word, she moved to another table, at which no one was seated. But this time those who had heard the remarks were ready to tear the heart out of the cruel villain who would wound the feelings of such a woman. There was a surprised look on his face when she moved. He picked up his hat and moved to the table with her, taking the chair directly opposite. He realized that they were attracting attention, and was annoyed. She did not care for the attention. She just kept scolding. She must have said something pretty bad toward the last, for a dangerous look appeared in his eye, and, shoving his chair back, he picked up his hat and left. As he passed the cashier he paid for one dinner. This was a phase of the situation upon which she had made no calculations. She slowly finished her dinner, and as the waiter handed her a check a blank look came over her face. She searched through a purse which she held in her hand, and closed it with a snap. Every man in the house knew what the trouble was, and any of them would have volunteered to pay for that meal if she would only have given them a chance.

For a time she sat eyeing the check. Then she moved back a little and deftly raised her skirt a little, displaying a neat and shapely foot, incased in a handsome patent leather shoe. There was a rustle of silk, a flash of a bit of vari-colored hosiery, and then she summoned the waiter, handed him a bill, received her change, and fled. And everybody wondered what it was all about.

HOUSEHOLD BITS.

Hints on the Preparation of New Dishes That May Interest the Housewife.

In preparing the fruit for a bavarois it will be found easier to press through the sieve if well warmed beforehand. Add the dissolved gelatin and whipped cream when cold, and pour into the mold, says the New York Post.

A new way of serving poached eggs is to pour browned butter over slices of toast before placing the eggs upon it, and sprinkling the whole with finely chopped pickle.

A simple and delicious dessert is made by filling a mold with sliced oranges and bananas and pouring over a foaming sauce made by adding sugar to the beaten yolks of eggs and a spoonful or two of sherry or rum. The mold is then buried in ice and salt for several hours.

Beans may be preserved in salt for winter use. They should be set away in earthen crocks, an equal quantity of beans and salt. Soaked and boiled they will prove fresh and delicious.

In selecting a young turkey see that it has a smooth leg, mostly black in color, with a short spur. The eyes should be bright and full, the breast broad and fat. Old turkeys have reddish-rough legs and long spurs. Try the beak of a duck; if it is hard to break its age is certainly considerably beyond tenderness. A young duck has much down on the lower part of its legs, the web is soft, and the under bill is easily broken. An old goose which is poor and flavorless will have red bill and feet; the young goose is fresh and fat, with yellow bill and feet.

Almond Custards.

Blanch and pound fine, with a few drops of rose water, four ounces of almonds. Boil them five minutes in a quart of milk, with sugar to sweeten. Take from the fire and when lukewarm stir in the beaten yolks of eight and the whites of four eggs. Set the whole on the fire and stir constantly until it thickens; then take it up, stir till partly cooled and pour it into cups. To cool the custards quickly, set the cups in a pan of cold water—changing the water as fast as it gets warm. Just before serving, beat the reserved whites of the eggs to a stiff froth and spread this over the top of the custards.—Ladies' World.

Marmalade Pudding.

A marmalade pudding, which is thoroughly good and dainty, is made as follows: Two eggs, the weight of them in flour and sugar, the weight of one in butter, two tablespoonfuls of marmalade and one-half teaspoonful carbonate of soda; cream the butter and sugar together and gradually add the other ingredients; place in a greased mold and steam for two hours. Turn out and serve with dissolved marmalade as sauce.—People's Home Journal.

SPORTING.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

Manager Edward J. Kline and the other members of the Alis A. A. are very indignant over the shabby treatment accorded them by the management of the Bedford A. C., of Brooklyn. The Bedford team was to play here Election Day afternoon and everything was carefully arranged for the game. It was well advertised and a large crowd, numbering over six hundred people, stood along the side lines to witness it. At 2:45 o'clock a message came to Manager Kline that the Brooklyn team would be unable to play that afternoon. The game was then called off and the money was refunded to the would-be spectators. A scrub game was played between two teams composed of the members of Alis team and their substitutes which managed to attract quite a number to the Common. It is a matter for great regret when the manager of any teams finds it necessary to cancel a game on the same day it is to be played. Coming as it did on a holiday, the public looked toward the Alis A. A. to give them a good game of football. The sudden postponement of it gave the local team no chance to change its plans and so the Alis boys were compelled to announce that there would be no game.

GOLF

The first round, match play, for the Chapman cup will be played next Saturday on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club grounds, the contestants being those who qualified on Election Day in the preliminary round.

Recovery of Walter Dreier.

For the first time in eight months Walter Dreier, of West Front street, was able to be out yesterday. He was taken out for a drive during the afternoon and his many friends are glad to know that his recovery is assured. Mr. Dreier was taken ill with ulcers of the stomach and he was sent to Mt. Sinai Hospital, New York, for treatment. He did not improve at that place, and being of a nervous temperament it was deemed best to bring him home. He was then treated by several physicians, but without much success. Finally, Dr. Zeglio was called in and under his treatment the young man gradually, but slowly began to improve. The patient began to receive benefit from the treatment given, and now after many months he is able to be out and is gradually gaining strength.

Two New Mails for Plainfield.

Postmaster Bird is anxious to give Plainfield the very best mail service obtainable, and has induced the department to put on two new mails from Plainfield. The first one is a New York and Newark mail and closes at the postoffice at 1:10 p. m. The second and more important one closes at 6:45 p. m., and connects at New York with the fast night mail going East, and a letter from Plainfield for Boston, sent in this mail, will reach its destination at 6 o'clock the next morning.

Pleas in Special Sessions.

At court of special sessions yesterday the following named persons were arraigned to plead to indictments found against them: Thomas Miller, charged with the larceny of a horse and buggy at Westfield valued at $250, pleaded guilty. Sentence was set down for next Wednesday. Mary Dantz, of Plainfield, aged 16 years, pleaded guilty to the larceny of clothing. Her sentence was set down for next Wednesday.

Prospective New Members.

At a meeting of Iona Council, Degree of Pocohontas, last evening six propositions were received. The report of the proceedings of the Great Council was made by Great Representative Bowman. A committee of five was appointed to meet committees from Wetumpkah and Miantonomo tribes to arrange for a Red Men's fair at Washington Hall next month. The joint committees will meet this eveevening.

East Millstone Nuptials.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hulsizer, of East Millstone, have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Ida Waterbury, to Charles Elton Welsh, which will take place at the home of the bride's parents Wednesday evening, Nov. 21st, at 7:30 o'clock. The prospective bride and groom have many friends in this city, who will be interested in the above announcement.

Pickpockets in the Borough.

Pickpockets have invaded the borough in the past few days and two citizens have cause to regret their visit. Saturday night a well-known West End man was relived of $22 while standing in a borough cafe. Monday night Edgar Chappell, of Maple avenue, lost a handsome gold watch. He attended the dance in Saengerbund Hall, and the timepiece was taken from him during a jostle.

Chief Marshal as a Driver.

Chief Marshal Campbell, of the borough, occupied a new position last evening, when the alarm of fire was sounded in the borough. He drove the team that pulled the engine, and he made excellent time in getting to the fire box. After it was learned that there was no fire, the engine was taken to the brook for a "wash." The engine was found to be in first-class condition.

Bad Fall From a Bicycle.

James Carter, the elevator man at the Babcock building, has a badly cut and bruised face which he received in a bicycle accident Tuesday. In trying to avoid a wagon his wheel slid on the car track throwing him to the ground with great force. It was some time before he recovered fully. He is also mourning the loss of a pair of glasses which he lost at the time.

Heavy Machinery Fell.

Eight men in the employ of the Pond Tool Works had a narrow escape from serious injury Monday afternoon. They were about to place a heavy shaft on a wall bracket, when a number of other shafts already up tumbled down with a crash that startled the entire factory. The men jumped in time to save themselves from getting crushed.

Infant Daughter Dead.

Wellma Marie, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Meyer, died yesterday after a brief illness. The funeral services will be held from the parents' residence, 311 Liberty street, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. Interment will be made in Evergreen cemetery.

Bullet Not Yet Located.

The physicians have not yet been able to locate the bullet that is lodged in the leg of John Newman, who was shot several days ago while engaged in a fracas in Galbraith's saloon on West Third street. His condition is not considered serious, however.

Roger F. Murray's improved tally sheet was used in all the wards last Tuesday and in every case the counting was completed much earlier than under the former method.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Rude and daughter, of Pedro, S. D., are visiting Mrs. P. Ohl, of Pemberton avenue.

Miss Bertha Dreier, of New York, spent Election Day at the home of her parents, on West Front street.

Mrs. A. H. Lewis, of West Seventh street, has gone to a sanitarium in Michigan for rest and treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Hodge, of Finderne, have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Thompson, of Belvidere avenue.

Scott Terry, Clarence Lambert and Herbert L. Randolph are at the St. George Hotel, near Rahway, enjoying a shoot at live birds.

A surprise party was given last Monday evening in honor of Mrs. Dantz, of Fairview avenue. Dancing, games and singing were the features of the evening. There were about twenty-five guests present.

Died at the Age of Ninety-Nine.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Nov. 8—The oldest woman in Union county died Tuesday night at Cranford. She was Mrs. Elizabeth Morse, and her age was ninety-nine. She expired at the residence of her granddaughter, Mrs. Edward Bookhout, Jr. Mrs. Morse was a witness of the trial trip on the Hudson River of the first steamer built by Inventor Fulton. She enjoyed excellent health until within a few days of her death.

Attachment Papers Issued.

As soon as the legal difficulties are settled Clark Mundy will open the meat market corner of Somerset and Race streets where Benjamin Crane formerly conducted a shop. Justice Mattison has issued attachment papers for Robert M. Clark, who represents creditors.

Phonograph Entertainment.

W. W. Moore, will give a phonograph entertainment at Reform Hall this evening, and an additional attraction will be a baton drill by Sheppard and Farley. Admission free and everyone is invited.

A Drunken Tramp.

Thomar Kellym, a drunken tramp, was arrested last evening by Patrolman Myers. He was wandering about the city streets. This morning the City Judge sentenced him to thirty days in jail.

Getting Ready for City Election.

A meeting of the Republican city committee will be held tomorrow evening when the call will be issued for the primaries and city convention.

FEMININE FASHIONS.

Fresh Fancies in Wraps and Gowns for the Fall and Winter Seasons.

Flaming red hats, feathers, ribbons and velvet flowers are prominently displayed by high-class up-town milliners, says the New York Post.

Box coats of otter or sealskin, with revers and collar of contrasting fur, are shown among the luxurious displays of winter wraps particularly adapted for youthful wearers.

Gold-braid buttons, gimp, galloons of various widths, applique designs mixed with black silk braid or fine-cut jet, are lavishly used on new French round hats, evening toques, expensive opera and reception wraps, jackets and fancy golf waists.

Tailor-made skirts of gray, fawn, blue and black cheviot with trim, pretty shirt waists of soft French flannel or light-weight cloth, silk dotted, embroidered in black, or soft pastel colors, or merely with silk-stitched strappings and pin tucks, are favored styles for this transition season.

Luxurious-looking French redingotes, directoire cloaks shaped like a long enveloping sacque; three-quarter coats, with cutaway fronts; shorter styles made double-breasted and with closely-fitted backs, Louis XIV. and Louis XV. models with handsome vest fronts, and very small Etons and boleros in innumerable new and natty effects, are all equally in mode.

A very effective French trimming much used on dressy French tailor costumes of cloth or camel's hair, consists of a band of white cloth with matching yoke and sleeve cuffs, nearly covered with horizontal bands of narrow black velvet ribbon. This is a particularly becoming decoration, and the tiny rows of ribbon crossing the white bands between spaces of about an eighth of an inch, serve to keep the cloth from being soiled for a much longer time than when used without the velvet lines.

A very good way to utilize black lace flounces is to have them made over into Russian blouse, the scalloped edges forming the open fronts and the flaring ruffles of the sleeves. It will be necessary to have a silk or satin lining of white, or else of some bright or delicate color, over which black lace looks well. The waist can be left untrimmed, or if preferred, black and gold passementerie can be used or rows of fine cut jet with matching collar and girdle, or the only decoration can consist of handsome buttons arranged on the front of the blouse. Another use that smaller lengths of expensive black lace can be put to is to cut out the delicate designs and use them for special trimmings en applique. It is well to have the lace redressed before this disposal is made of it.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1900. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR.

POLITICIANS PREPARE FOR CITY ELECTION.

Mayor, City Collector, School Trustee and Four Ward Councilmen to be Elected.

OTHER MINOR OFFICIALS.

PROBABILITIES MENTIONED FOR PLACES ON REPUBLICAN TICKET.

There Will be a Complete Democratic Ticket on the Field—Little Possibility of a Citizen's Movement Taking Active Shape.

Now that everybody knows who is to be the next President of the United States, the people of Plainfield are beginning to wonder who is to be the next mayor of Plainfield. Tuesday, December 4th, the charter election will be held at which a mayor, a city collector, four ward councilmen, four justices-of-the-peace and four constables will be elected. As soon as the local politicians of both parties recover from their exertions of election day, the campaign for the city election will begin.

There will undoubtedly be two tickets in the field, the Republican and Democratic tickets. Of course, the Republican party will have a complete ticket in the field and will try to continue the organization of the National election over to the coming city campaign. The Democrats have announced their determinatinn to continue their policy of last year and nominate a complete city ticket. Last year it was a question whether the opposition to the present city administration should be crystalized in a Citizens' ticket or whether the Democrats should lead the fight. The latter course was decided upon in the belief that some regular party, which might be held responsible for the acts of its representatives, might win more respect and votes. Then the Democrats are anxious not to lose their identity as a separate party in city affairs.

It is possible that there may be some who will favor a Citizens' ticket, but many of the men, who in the past have supported that movement, have now returned to the folds of their respective parties.

Mayor George W. Rockfellow will not be renominated by the Republican party. Several names have been mentioned as Republican nominee for his successor. Interest in the national election has prevented very much talk heretofore on mayorality possibilities but now there is plenty of time for it. Just at present, the name of Councilman James F. Buckle is most prominently mentioned for the nomination from the Republicans. He has been prominent in the Council and is a local business man. The last three Mayors have come from the Third ward and there is a feeling among some of the Republicans that the honor should go elsewhere this year.

Some of the leading Republicans think that Mr. Buckle is too valuable a man in the Council to lose and their counsel may prevail. Mr. Buckle is in no sense a seeker for the office of mayor but would probably accept the nomination if it was offered to him. The name of his councilmanic associate, R. I. Tolles, has also been suggested. Mr. Tolles is a great friend of Mr. Buckle and would heartily support him but, if Mr. Buckle should decide not to enter the race, the other First ward Councilman would be a strong candidate. He, too, is a local business man.

A year ago, it seemed that Former Councilman Elliott T. Barrows was the logical candidate for mayor. It is doubtful, however, if Mr. Barrows would accept the honor now. There is also a sentiment which if encouraged promised to be a decided factor in the campaign. It favors the re election of Charles J. Fisk. The only question is whether or not his health would permit. The names of Councilman John B. Dumont and Councilman George P. Mellick have been mentioned but neither of them would be likely to accept. It was only with great difficulty that Mr. Dumont could be persuaded to run for Councilman last year.

There seems little doubt but that Frank H Smith, who was appointed by the Council to fill out the unexpired term of James Martin as City Collector, will be nominated by the Republicans for that office. Charles F. Abbott is also likely to be renominated to the Board of Education.

The ward Councilmen, whose terms expire this year, are R. I. Tolles in the First ward, George P. Mellick in the Second ward, B Frank Coriell in the Third ward and Frank H. Randolph in the Fourth ward. Smith's term as Councilman from the Fourth

RETURN OF OLD MAIDS.

THEY TELL OF HUSBAND-HUNTING IN THE KLONDIKE.

Their Sayings and Antics Were Very Amusing — Entertaining Musical Programme was Rendered.

An audience that filled the Y.M.C.A. Hall assembled last evening to witness the return of the "Old Maids" from the Klondike, after an absence of a year. It was just twelve months ago when they held their convention at the same place and their efforts were so successful that the club decided to spend a year in the Klondike, and relate their experience on their return. They went away in search of husbands.

When the members of the club marched on the stage last evening they presented an amusing sight. They were attired in old-fashioned dresses and hats, and their manners provoked hearty laughter. They were accompanied by three men and a poll parrot, captured in the Klondike. Later, other men appeared to add to the merriment of the occasion.

There was the report of the president, secretary and treasurer. The latter reported that after the trip to the Klondike there was a deficit of $650. The president and secretary reported matters to be in a fair condition, and the members all well pleased with their lot.

During the evening Mrs. Wheaton S. Lowry, who had married a man with eight children, appeared with the children, and for the edification of those present they entertained with songs, recitations, etc. Autum DeLany and Lillian Cuming sang a duet; Margaret Carman gave a violion solo; George Rogers, Jr., sang a rag-time melody, after which he and his sister, Beulah Rogers, sang "The Blue and the Gray." Ethel VanWinkle also sang a pretty song and Jerry Manning gave a recitation. Hazel DeLany assisted the mother in looking after the children and helping them to be good. Miss Henrietta Cuming was the efficient accompanist.

Each one of the spinsters had their little say during the evening and expressed their views regarding marriage, etc. The parrot frequently interposed and had his six cents worth, much to the delight of all. Te session was divided into three sessions, and during the intermission selections were rendered by Mrs. Buckley's orchestra. The last part of the programme was devoted to an exhibition of hypnotism, Frederick G. Smith assumed the part of the professor. He succeeded in hypnotizing those on the stage and he had them doing all sorts of queer things. After this performance the affair came to an end with the singing of "Marching thro' Georgia."

Those who took part in the affair comprised Miss Crane, Mrs. Decker and Mrs. Robbins, of Somerville, who were president, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. J. H. French, Miss Mary French, Miss Mary Robinson, Mrs. W. S Lowry, Mrs. S. R Struthers, Mrs. Dudley S. Miller, Miss Jessie Pruden, Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. A. C. La Boyteaux, Mrs. W. K. Browning, Miss Margaret Yerkes, Dr. W. K. Browning, Fred Leteon, Irving Yerkes, Walter Cahoone and Frederick G. Smith.

DESPERATE EFFORT OF SICK MAN

Fred Ross Got Out of Bed to Prevent a Fire in His Home.

While in the act of lighting a parlor lamp at her home last evening, Mrs. Fred Ross, of Park avenue, accidentally set fire to a number of inflammable ornaments about the mantel. They immediately sprang into a blaze and threatened to cause a serious fire. There was no one else at home but Mr. Ross, who has been confined to his bed for some. Mrs. Ross' cries attracted him and getting up he threw the blazing materials from a window. The excitement proved too much for him and fell in a faint He was picked up by the neighbors who had been attracted, and placed in bed. His condition is now considered quite serious.

Philip-Garcia Nuptials.

Henry S Phillips, of the borough, and Miss Imogene Garcia, of Brooklyn, were married in Brooklyn last Wednesday, and after a wedding tour of two weeks will reside in this city. The groom is an employe of S. Scheuer & Sons, West Front street, and a son of Mr. Phillips, of Washingtonville, whose reputation on the stage under the name of Edwin Varrey, is worldwide. The bride is a descendant of the Garcia family, well known in Spanish history.

Buckle Plates Here.

The buckle plate for the new Madison avenue-Duer street bridge arrived yesterday and will be put in position at once.

FEW ECHOES OF THE NATIONAL ELECTION

Leader Davis, of Hudson County, Receives Message of Thanks From Col. Bryan.

THE COUNTY MAJORITIES.

DEMOCRATIC CLUBS WILL BE HELD TOGETHER FOR NEXT YEAR.

Organization Needed to Help Elect a Governor in New Jersey Next Year—Other Post-election Notes of Interest.

The New Jersey Democratic State Committee, which had headquarters in the Hotel Washington, Jersey City, during the campaign, paid its bills yesterday and closed up shop. The Democratic leader, Robert Davis, said he was ready at any time to aid the State Committee in bringing about a thorough organization throughout the State. He said there are a number of good Democrats, in addition to himself, any one of whom would make a capable leader. His friends are booming him for the place.

The latest unofficial count of the election returns in New Jersey shows that the plurality for McKinley and Roosevelt is 52,920. These figures may be slightly but not materially changed by the official canvass. The counties returning the largest Republican pluralities are: Essex, 19,440; Camden, 8,583; Union, 4 848; Mercer, 4,062; Burlington, 3,500; Atlantic, 3 000; Cumberland, 2 514; Passaic, 2 263, and Bergen, 2 000. The other Republican pluralities in the State are by counties as follows: Middlesex, 2,159; Morris, 1 910; Monmouth, 1.625; Gloucester, 1,638; Cape May, 1.160; Ocean, 1,500; Somerset, 1,257; Sussex, 350, and Salem, 300. Bryan, of course, received his largest plurality in New Jersey in Hudson county, 6 381. Warren comes next in the Democratic column with 1,600 and "Old Hunterdon" loped in slowly with 1,203.

Robert Davis, of Jersey City, Democratic leader in Hudson county, received this telegram Wednesday from William J. Bryan: "Hudson county has done nobly and I appreciate your splendid work." It was in response to a telegram sent by Mr. Davis to Mr. Bryan telling him that Hudson county went Democratic.

The Democrats of the borough have given up their headquarters that were maintained during the campaign in Eggerding's store on Somerset street.

Secretary George W. Kane, of the New Jersey Society of Democratic Clubs, on leaving Jersey City for his home said: "The New Jersey Democratic Society will probably establish headquarters in Newark for the entire year and keep in close touch with all the 500 Democratic clubs in the State, so as to be ready for the Gubernatorial campaign next fall. The society will try to induce every club to keep up an active existence, so as to be ready for work next fall. We may have our headquarters in the Prudential building or in the Telephone building in Newark."

A MILLINGTON WEDDING.

Miss Mamie Moffett Becomes the Wife of Dr. Theodore Bebout.

A pretty home wedding took last evening, when Miss Mamie Moffett, eldest daughter of Clarkson B. Moffett, and Dr. Theodore Bebout, were united in marriage by Rev. W. W. Moffett, Ph. D, a cousin of the bride. Miss Bessie Moffett, sister of the bride, was bridemaid, while Agnes and Flossie Moffett, of this city, cousins of the bride were the flower girls.

Following the ceremony a reception was held and a wedding supper was served. The bride and groom left during the evening for Washington, where they will spend their honeymoon. Upon their return they will reside in a new house just built by the groom at Stirling. Guests were present at the wedding from Newark, Bloomfield, Morristown, New York and Westfield. Those who attended from this city included Charles L. Moffett and family, Captain P. Stewart and wife, the Misses Moffett, W. H. Moffett, Miss Moffett, Mrs. Hulbert, Miss Edith Hulbert, H. Moffett and family and Robert Schellenburg.

Got Too Near the Police.

Henry Potter was found drunk in the close proximity of the police headquarters on Sycamore street last evening. He was locked up for the night and hailed before City Judge Runyon this morning. He hadn't any excuse to offer and was sentenced to pay a fine of $3 or go to jail for eight days.

FITZ IS A FAIR ACTOR

SURPRISED MUSIC HALL AUDIENCE WITH HIS STAGE WORK.

Went Into a Local Blacksmith Shop and Showed That He Knew His Old Trade.

Plainfielders had the chance last night at Music Hall of seeing another noted pugilist shine as a dramatic star. This time it was Robert Fitzsimmons, of the famous solar plexus blow. "The Honest Blacksmith" is the title of the dramatic vehicle used to show off the histrionic ability of the fighter. It was written especially for him and in it he is given a part that keeps him on the stage most of the time. The pugilist makes no claim of being much of an actor, but it is not too much to say that he performed his part with more ability than was to be expected. In the first act he makes his debut at a moment when he thwarts the villian's dire intentions and then proceeds to turn out a horse shoe at the forge with all the realism that the audience could desire, followed by shoeing a real live horse. In another act he gets a chance to do some bag punching and other athletic exercises.

The habitues of a Somerset street blacksmith shop were treated to an informal exhibition yesterday afternoon by Fitzsimmons which nearly equalled the one given by him in Music Hall during the evening. The mighty pugilist appeared at the shop with an iron hook used at the theatre, which he wanted repaired. On being told what it would cost he declared the price was too high. He then asked permission to use the shop tools and do the work himself.

His request was readily granted and the way the veteran prize fighter set to work soon convinced the onlookers that he thoroughly understood the business. By the time the hook was finished a large crowd had collected and to show them that he had only warmed up, Bob turned out several horse shoes in a manner which both surprised and astonished the shop workmen. On completing the shoes he thanked the proprietor and donning his coat, quitted the shop.

It was some time afterward before the spectators realized what had happened, and when they did, all sorts of offers were made for the shoes. The proprietor, however, refused to part with them and they will probably be hung on the walls for future generations to wonder at.

WANT CITY OFFICES ELECTIVE.

Elizabeth Republicans Ask for Legislation This Year.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, November 9.—The Republicans of this city, jubilant over the big majority obtained here Tuesday, will, it is said, lay their plans now for obtaining complete control of the City Government next spring. As one of twe first steps toward accomplishing this, a bill, it is said, will be introduced and passed at the next session of the Legislature making the offices of Comptroller, City Clerk and City Attorney elective.

At present these offices are appointive and the position is for three years. The terms of City Clerk Manning and City Attorney Connolly, both Democrats, expire next July, and the City Council, which is chosen in April, would have the filling of the positions, but by a legislative enactment making these offices elective the candidates would have to be voted for at the charter election in April.

It is known that last winter such a movement was contemplated, but it was finally decided by the Republican leaders to postpone it until after the Presidential election, when the party's strength in Elizabeth would be more fully revealed.

MAY STOP BOXING BOUTS.

Elizabeth's Mayor Asked to Interfere With Pugilistic Exhibition.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Nov. 9.—An attempt, which will probably fail, will be made tonight to conduct three ten round "boxing matches" at a theatre in this city. The pugilists who are billed to take part are from New York, Paterson, Jersey City, Brooklyn and Hoboken.

It is understood that Mayor Mack is to be appealed to by the Law and Order Society in Elizabeth to stop the exhibition, which would not be permitted in Jersey City. Reserved seats for the series of fights are selling at seventy-five cents and $1. The affair is being given under the auspices of an alleged Star Athletic Specialty Company.

Mrs. J. T. Armstrong, of Brooklyn, has been visiting Mrs. L. J. Denton, of Washington avenue.

Miss May Conroy, of Richmond, Va., is the guest of Miss Kittie McCann, of West Third street.

MAYOR ROCKFELLOW FAILS IN BUSINESS.

Owing to the Poor Collection of Book Accounts He is Compelled to Make Assignment.

J. F. MACDONALD ASSIGNEE.

HAS BEEN IN PLAINFIELD OVER TWENTY YEARS.

Catered to a High-Class Trade—Creditors Given Three Months in Which to File Claims—Store Closed for Inventory.

Mayor George W. Rockfellow, one of the oldest and largest dealers in the grocery business in this city, made an assignment yesterday afternoon, naming J. Fred MacDonald, who recently retired from the same line of business, as assignee. His store was located at the corner of Park avenue and West Fourth street.

For several days there have been rumors current of the impending crash, and since Tuesday it has been known that the assignment would take place just as soon as the formalities of the proceeding could be completed. This work was done yesterday afternoon and the business turned over to Mr. MacDonald.

Mayor Rockfellow's business has always been a heavy one, but most of his customers carried book accounts and it was his inability to make the necessary collections to meet the demands of his creditors that has caused the suspension.

Mr. MacDonald gives notice that all claims of creditors against the business must be presented at his office, 153 North avenue, within the next three months or they will be barred from coming in for a share of the dividend of the business.

Mr. Rockfellow commenced business in Plainfield over twenty years ago and has always been one of the most prominent grocers in the city. Up till about seven years his store was located at the corner of Park and North avenues. He always catered to a high-class trade and carried the best of stock in the grocery line. Owing to business reverses he has failed twice before.

The store is closed today and an inventory of the stock is being taken to ascertain what the assets will amount to. When seen by a Press reporter this noon Mr. MacDonald said that he was not yet able to give out any figures concerning the liabilities and assets.

The future business plans of Mayor Rockfellow are not known.

WIFE'S SAD CASE

Joins With Husband in Plea to Go to Jail to Get Sober.

Mrs. Sarah Goldie, thirty-five years old, comely, well dressed, refined, was committed yesterday to jail at New Brunswick on complaint of her husband. The woman herself expressed her willingness to go to jail, declaring that she wanted to sober up. She had been found by her husband in an intoxicated condition in the woods outside the city.

The couple live at South River. Goldie says his wife is utterly unable to control her craving for liquor. He declares she is a good wife and mother, save when the craving for liquor is up on her, and that he will take her home as soon as she has sobered up.

Mr. and Mrs. VanEmburgh "At Home."

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clifford VanEmburgh, who were recently married, gave the first of their "at homes" yesterday afternoon and evening at their home on East Second street. Mrs. VanEmburgh was assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. George H. Kline, of Elizabeth, and her mother-in law, Mrs. George L. VanEmburgh, of this city. The dining room was prettily decorated in pink. Mrs. M. Fred VanEmburgh and Miss Olive Newell poured chocolate while Miss Lillian A. Force, of this city, and Miss Della VanSickel, of Elizabeth, assisted in serving.

Just in Time.

Fred Bennett, of this city, who is a member of Uncle Sam's Navy, had a narrow escape from losing his vote last Tuesday. He was stationed on the topedo boat Dupont and he had planned to come to Plainfield to vote. He was detained for some reason and he reached Plainfield late. He hastened at once to the polling place on Somerset street and deposited his ballot just two minutes before the polls were closed.

—Jeppe Sorensen, proprietor of the Crescent market, will place on sale tomorrow his first consignment of Long Island ducks and turkeys.

NEEDED FOR THE BAZAAR.

Articles That National Suffrage Association Would Like to Have Plainfielders Give Them.

The National Suffrage Association will hold a bazaar from December 3d to 8th in Madison Square Garden, New York city. All wishing to contribute to this society are requested to send their gifts to Mrs. Isaac Miller, 744 Watchung avenue, Friday, Nov. 23d, and Saturday afternoon, Nov. 24th. Mrs. Miller cordially invites her friends and all interested to attend the display of these articles at her home.

The Plainfield League hopes for a good representation at this bazaar in the New Jersey booth, and great efforts are being made to secure donations. In order to help those "who never know what to give," the following list of articles may be of use, any of which will be gladly accepted: Aprons, books, bath robes, blankets, bed slippers, bags—laundry, shoe, shopping, broom, duster, work, money, opera glass; china, conveniences for travelers, canned fruits, carved wood, curios, confectionery, dolls, doylies, dusters, desk fixtures, feather pillows, furniture, glove cases, handkerchief cases, household slippers, jellies, knitted shawls, knitted skirts, knitted afghans, knitted teapot holders, kimonas, linen centre pieces, lamp shades, ladies' underwear, manufactured products, needle books, pin cushions, pin trays, pillow cases, preserves, pickles, pictures, picture frames, rugs, sofa pillows, sweeping caps, sheets, souvenir spoons, stationery, sachet bags, seeds, toys, twine holders, table linen, towels, table covers, tray cloths, veil cases, wash cloths, writing tablets.

To friends who buy their Christmas presents out of town this bazaar offers a fine opportunity As many influential people are working it up, the display will be both large and beautiful. Those who do not wish to buy are requested to attend in order to see the splendid effect.

Too Late to Vote.

Dr. L. S. Pocock, who has been visiting friends at Havana for some days past, arrived in New York last Tuesday night about 7 o'clock, and the steamer he was on was held in the bay until Wednesday. This compelled the doctor to loose his vote, something he regretted exceedingly.

BABBITT AND OTHERS WANTED BY POLICE.

Failed to Appear for Trial This Morning on Charge of Running a Gambling Den

THREE WERE IN COURT.

MEMBERS OF UNION COLORED REPUBLICAN CLUB IN COURT.

Evidence of Poker Joint Came Out Through Knifing of Ellsworth Cuff by "Tip" Thompson—Trial Was Adjourned Until Tuesday.

Special Officer "Jim" Babbitt, Ellsworth Cuff, Gilbert Thompson and Fred Taylor, all members of the Union Republican Club, are wanted by the police. An order was issued at police headquarters this morning to arrest any of them on sight. Two weeks ago seven members of the club were apprehended on the charge of conducting a gambling den in the rooms of the Union Colored Republican Club. Their trial was set down for this morning. Only three of the colored men appeared. They were released on their own recognizance to appear for trial next Tuesday morning. The four absentees will be arrested on sight and held for trial.

There was a game of "stud poker" in the rooms of this club one afternoon, and it is said that Ellsworth Cuff refused to show his hand. There were words and then, it is alleged, Gilbert Thompson, alias "Tip," shoved the blade of a penknife through Cuff's right cheek. "Tip's" arrest followed, and the police claim that they then secured information to the effect that poker was a regular feature of life in the clubrooms. Under the city ordinance the proprietor or proprietors of a gambling den can be held. As this was said to have been conducted by the club, the members of the club would consequently be liable. So warrants were sworn out for the four men already mentioned and for William Davis, William Anderson and Oscar TenEyck.

The latter three appeared in City Court this morning according to instructions, but the first four were absent. City Judge Runyon decided to lay the case over until all the defendants should be on hand and adjourned the case until Tuesday, instructing the police to arrest the missing ones on sight and hold them for trial.

FAITHFUL OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

Trinity Reformed Church Consistory Choose Leaders for a Year.

At the meeting of Trinity Reformed church consistory last evening Fred E Smith, the present clerk of the board, was unanimously re-elected for the ensuing year. George Gayle, the present efficient treasurer of the church, was also re-elected, and the pastor and several members of the consistory spoke in praise of the excellent services rendered the church for several years past by both clerk and treasurer. Dr. Schenck, the pastor, announced the following standing committees for the ensuing year:

—C. M. Meeker's steam roller was put to work on West Front street today to assist in macadamizing that street.

—Both makers and circulators of counterfeits commit fraud. Honest men will not deceive you into buying worthless counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. The original is infallible for curing piles, sores, eczema and all skin diseases. L. W. Randolph.

—A new culvert is to be laid at the corner of West Front street and Washington avenue to carry off the surplus water that usually settles there during a storm. It is hoped that this improvement will effectually remove the old trouble at that point.

—L. C. Henry's grocery wagon broke down yesterday on West Fourth street, near Mr. Henry's store. The accident frightened the horse and it started to run away. The clerk, who was driving, jumped from the wagon and caught the horse promptly before it had a chance to do any damage.

—Street Commissioner Gavett's men have been giving Liberty street a little attention by removing some of the surplus mud on that thoroughfare.

—Several members of the W.C.T.U went to Elizabeth yesterday to attend the meeting of the county officers and superintendents. Plans for the winter's work were formulated.

—Many people worry because they believe they have heart disease. The chances are that their hearts are all right but their stomachs are unable to digest food. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and prevents the formation of gas which makes the stomach press against the heart. It will cure every form of indigestion. L. W. Randolph.

Bert Gray, of Elmwood place, is much improved from a recent illness which at first was thought to be appendicitis.

That Throbbing Headache.

Would quickly leave you, if you used Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for Sick and Nervous Headaches. They make pure blood and build up your health. Only 25c. Money back if not cured. Sold by L. W. Randolph, Druggist.

—The Somerset County Board of Freeholders will meet at Somerville next week Tuesday.

—Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. & A. M., will hold a regular communication next week Tuesday evening.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern which is not afraid to be generous. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles and have the satisfaction of knowing it has cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, LaGrippe and all Throat, Chest and Lung diseases are surely cured by it. Call on L. W. Randolph, Druggist, and get a free trail bottle. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle gauranteed.

Spread Like Wildfire.

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham Hare, a leading druggist, of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years. You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, rundown man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by L. W. Randolph, Druggist.

—The class in English taught by George W. Sanford, who is at the head of the department of English and commerce at the High School, is one of the classes not mentioned in the Y. M. C A. ad to be found in another column.

—There is no pleasure in life if you dread going to the table to eat and can't rest at night on account of indigestion. Henry Williams, of Boonville, Ind., says he suffered that way for years, till he commenced the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, and adds, "Now I can eat anything I like and all I want and sleep soundly every night." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will digest what you eat. L. W. Randolph.

Miss Clara Long, of Park avenue, has been entertaining company from out of town.

Fred Breem, of the fire department, who is confined to his home with an affection of the leg, is improving slowly.

Samuel Sarson, of 203 Watchung avenue, was summoned to Cortlandt, N. Y., early Tuesday morning by the serious illness of his sister's daughter.

CONSTITUTION PLANS.

Defining Cuba's Relations to United States a Difficult Task.

HAVANA, Nov. 9.—The committee on rules of the Cuban constitutional convention is discussing the advisability of holding secret sessions after the permanent organization has been effected, which will probably take place at the reopening of the convention next Monday.

Senores Capoto, Tamayo and Rivera are the most prominent candidates for the presidency of the convention.

La Lucha says: "The difficulty will not be in drawing up a constitution, but in reaching an agreement as to the relations which are to subsist between Cuba and the United States. We take it that the convention will insist upon three fundamental points—namely, no relations with other governments except through the United States, no power to negotiate loans and no authority to upset peace and order."

The government is making extensive arrangements for the Cuban exhibit in the forthcoming Pan-American exposition at Buffalo. Grounds have been secured there on which will be erected typical Cuban colonial buildings, and $10,000 will be appropriated in furtherance of the plans.

The pan-American medical congress will open in this city Dec. 26 next.

EXPLORERS RETURN.

Arctic Scientific Expedition Secures Important Information.

EDINBURGH, Nov. 9.—The whaler Eclipse has arrived at Dundee from Davis strait with a party of arctic scientific explorers, including Messrs. Stein and Warmbath, Americans, and Dr. Kann, an Austrian, who secured important information as to Ellesmereland.

The explorers spent the summer at Bedford, on Pym island, the scene of the disaster to the expedition headed by Lieutenant Greely, from which point they saw the Peary exploring expedition pass.

Dr. Kann says:

"We landed at Bedford and built a winter house which we named Fort Magnesia. During the summer we made excursions to Ellesmereland. We saw Peary's expedition pass at the beginning of August in three divisions. The first was led by Mat Hansen and the third by Lieutenant Peary himself, who was then badly frostbitten. He had lost several toes and walked with difficulty. The party had sledges and dogs, and Lieutenant Peary was determined to make a bold dash for the pole."

A Close Vote.

TUNKHANNOCK, Pa., Nov. 9.—The official count of the Wyoming county election reverses the supposed victory of H. D. Tiffany, Republican candidate for the state legislature. His apparent majority of two votes is wiped out, and his Democratic opponent, Arthur H. Squier, is elected by three votes according to the returns. The error, which appears to have been a purely clerical one, was made by the clerks in Monroe township. In counting the tally in blocks of five one block too many was enumerated, and the unsealed returns showed that Tiffany had 108 votes while the tally sheet shows but 103. The ballot box will be brought into court and opened to determine the matter.

The Carlists Scattered.

MADRID, Nov. 9.—At a cabinet council held under the presidency of the queen regent General Azcarraga, the premier, said there was now no Carlist under arms in Spain and that the rising had failed completely. In order, however, to destroy the entire Carlist organization in the country, he said, the suspension of the constitutional guarantees would be maintained. General Azcarraga also announced that a Spanish-American convention had been signed in Washington by which the islands of Caygayen and Cibutu, in the Philippine archipelago, had been ceded for $100,000.

Important Find In China.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 9.—Learned men of this city are planning a scientific expedition to examine the immense number of manuscripts at Mukden discovered by Russian troops, among them being ancient Greek and Roman documents, supposedly taken by the Mongolians on their retreat from the occident. The documents are believed to be of great historical value.

Fatal Railway Runaway.

CHARLESTON, Nov. 9.—There was a fatal railway accident yesterday on the Seaboard Air line between Cheraw and Columbia about 30 miles from Cheraw. A car broke loose and ran into a hand car, killing the section master, a man named Boyd, and two railway hands.

Barn Struck by Lightning.

Newtown, Conn., Nov. 9.—A large barn on the farm of E. S. Lovell was struck by lightning yesterday and destroyed. The flames consumed a large quantity of hay, grain and farming implements. The loss is $6,000; partly covered by insurance.

Summer Resort Hotel Destroyed.

GOUVERNEUR, N. Y., Nov. 9.—The Cottage hotel at Star Lake, an Adirondack summer resort, has been burned to the ground. But three persons were in the hotel, and they escaped. The loss is $10,000, with insurance of $3,500.

Snow In Virginia.

ROANOKE, Va., Nov. 9.—The mercury has taken a sudden tumble here. Snow fell last evening for the first time this season. The Alleghany mountains hereabouts are covered.

BOER CHIEF INJURED.

General De Wet Wounded at Rensburg Drift.

HE NARROWLY ESCAPED CAPTURE.

Mr. Steyn Urges a Continuance of the War and Holds Out a Hope of Re-enforcement and German Intercession.

PRETORIA, Nov. 9.—General De Wet has been wounded in the leg in a fight with the troops of General Knox at Rensburg drift. According to native reports, the Boer commander narrowly escaped capture.

Surrendered burghers assert that Mr. Steyn, after a council of war with General Botha and General Delarey, addressed the burghers with great passion, urging them to continue the war.

He told them he was going south and hoped to return with 5,000 men, assuring them that he knew that Germany had delivered an ultimatum to Great Britain demanding the retrocession of the republic.

Lord Roberts Justified.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Times this morning gives prominence to a two column letter from Mr. Leonard Courtney, who represented the Bodmin division of Cornwall in the late parliament, protesting against the burning of the farms of the burghers and other harsh measures adopted against the Boers. Referring editorially to Mr. Courtney's argument, The Times justifies the measures taken by Lord Roberts as necessary and as "no worse than the means employed by other European nations in similar circumstances."

VAN WYCK'S ANSWER.

New York's Mayor Confesses to His Connection With the Ice Trust.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The answer of Mayor Van Wyck to the ice trust charges, just made public, may be summarized as follows:

The mayor confesses that on April 11, 1899, he bought from C. W. Morse, president of the ice trust, 5,000 shares of the stock of the American Ice company.

Confesses that he agreed to pay $250,000 for the same.

Confesses that he gave three promissory notes to Mr. Morse for the stock—one for $50,000 and two for $75,000 each, the notes being later transferred to the Garfield National bank.

Confesses that his attention was called to the fact that the ice trust had contracts with the city.

Confesses that he then began to dispose of his stock and finally disposed of all his shares on June 28, 1900, 14 months after he purchased it.

Declares that he did not know that the American Ice company had contracts with the city, although he has a controlling interest in the affairs of the city.

Declares that his holdings of stock in the American Ice company cannot be turned into a crime because of the act of other persons.

Declares that if he has violated the law relating to officials of the city government holding interest in corporations whose affairs are affected by their official acts the late Mayor Strong, ex-Mayor Grace, Mayor McGuire of Syracuse and Comptroller Bird S. Coler of this city were and are guilty of the same offense.

Declares that the dock privileges held by the American Ice company were granted before he took office.

Declares he did not know of the organization of the trust embracing all the ice companies of New York city.

Declares he did not know of the organization of the monopoly to control the output of ice and to raise prices.

Declares he did not know of the grant of additional dock privileges to the American Ice company.

Confesses that he paid a "social visit" to the properties of the American Ice company in Maine with the president of the trust.

Declares he did not accept any stock of the American Ice company as a gift.

Declares he did not know of the proposed advance in the price of ice until he read of it in the newspapers.

Declares, finally, that the governor has no jurisdiction to entertain charges against him.

Severe Windstorm.

LOWELL, Mass., Nov. 9.—The most severe windstorm that has occurred in this city since the day of the Lawrence cyclone, about ten years ago, swept over here yesterday, unroofing several buildings, hurling one dwelling house 15 feet off its foundation and injuring several persons quite badly. At the city farm a light structure, 125 by 35 feet, was torn in halves, one part being carried a distance of 150 yards. The most serious damage in the city proper was to the freight sheds of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad. Two buildings were unroofed and considerable damage done.

A Boom In Naphtha.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 9.—Naphtha products and securities are now looking up. Two and one-half million pounds of residue have been contracted for by Moscow factories at 22 and 21 copecks per pound, partly in cash. There is no truth in the report that the railroad minister has decided to introduce naphtha for firing on all the Russian railroads, as published, but it will be extended on lines where it has not yet been adopted.

Vote of Confidence For Rousseau.

PARIS, Nov. 9.—At the close of a long session yesterday, culminating in several exciting divisions, the chamber of deputies adopted a resolution of confidence in the Waldeck-Rousseau government by 329 votes against 222. The chamber had previously adopted a resolution expressing regret that the government had surrendered to Belgium Sipido, the assailant of the Prince of Wales.

Outbreak of Smallpox.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The Indian bureau has received a telegram from the Shoshone agency, in Wyoming, announcing that smallpox has broken out at Lander, near the Indian reservation. Vaccine virus for 1,700 persons, which the agent asks to have dispatched him immediately, has been forwarded.

Rolling Mills to Start Up.

PIQUA, O., Nov. 9.—The Piqua rolling mill, owned by the American Sheet Steel company, will resume operations next Monday. Two hundred men will be given employment after an idleness of three months.

FIGHT MUST GO ON.

Mr. Bryan Surprised, but Undismayed by Defeat.

PRAISE FOR CAMPAIGN LEADERS.

Vanquished Candidate Gives Some Reasons Why His Party Failed. Contest Between Plutocracy and Democracy to Continue.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 9.—William J. Bryan has given out the following statement concerning the election:

"The result was a surprise to me, and the magnitude of the Republican victory was a surprise to our opponents, as well as to those who voted our ticket. It is impossible to analyze the returns until they are more complete, but speaking generally we seem to have gained in the large cities and to have lost in the smaller cities and in the country.

"The Republicans were able to secure tickets or passes for all their voters who were away from home, and this gave them considerable advantage. We have no way of knowing at this time how much money was spent in the purchase of votes and in colonization. But while these would account for some of the Republican gains, they could not account for the widespread increase in the Republican vote. The prosperity argument was probably the most potent one used by the Republicans. They compared present conditions with the panic times of 1893 to 1896, and this argument had weight with those who did not stop to consider the reasons for the change. The appeal to 'stand by the president while the war is on' had a great deal of influence among those who did not realize that a war against a doctrine of self government in the Philippines must react upon us in this country. We made an honest fight upon an honest platform, and having done our duty as we saw it we have nothing to regret.

"We are defeated, but not discouraged. The fight must go on. I am sure that Republican policies will be repudiated by the people when the tendency of these policies is fully understood. The contest between plutocracy and democracy cannot end until one or the other is completely triumphant."

Concerning himself Mr. Bryan said:

"I have come out of the campaign with perfect health and a clear conscience. I did my most to bring success to the principles for which I stood. Mr. Stevenson did all that he could. Senator Jones and the members of the Democratic, Populist, Silver Republican and anti-imperialist committees did all they could. Mr. Hearst and his associates in the club organization put forth their best efforts. Our newspapers, our campaign speeches and our local organizations all did their part. I have no fault to find and no reproaches. I shall continue to take an active interest in politics as long as I live. I believe it to be the duty of citizens to do so, and in addition to my interest as a citizen I feel that it will require a lifetime of work to repay the political friends who have done so much for me. I shall not be a senatorial candidate before the legislature which has been elected. Senator Allen deserves the senatorship which goes to the Populists. Mr. Hitchcock and Mr. W. H. Thompson are avowed candidates for the senatorship. They both deserve well of the party, and I am too grateful to them for past support to stand in their way even if I desired a seat in the senate."

Mr. Bryan said he had no other plans at present than to remain at home until he had recovered from the fatigue of campaigning. He denied the report that he would remove from Nebraska and make Texas his home.

NEBRASKA CLOSE.

A Small Majority For McKinley. Poynter Probably Re-elected.

OMAHA, Nov. 9.—Complete returns from two-thirds of the counties in Nebraska and scattering returns from the balance show McKinley has carried Nebraska by a plurality of at least 2,000. An equal number of returns on the state ticket indicate that Nebraska has re-elected Governor Poynter and the entire state ticket by pluralities ranging from 500 to 1,800 over the Republicans, the governor being high man.

If the balance of the state shall show the same percentage of gain and loss Poynter's election is certain, and the counties to be heard from being mostly in the western part of the state, it is fair to presume that this is the case.

The legislature will likely be decided by Douglas county, in which it will take the official count to determine the vote. The World-Herald, Democrat, claims the lieutenant governor will cast the deciding vote in the upper house and that the lower house is evenly divided, with two places in doubt.

The Republican state committee, which Wednesday night gave out the claim that Dietrich and the Republican state ticket had won from 5,000 to 7,000 majority, has scaled down "close to the danger line" and claimed the election of the state ticket by from 1,000 to 2,000.

In Douglas county the count is close, and charges of fraud are made by the Democrats. The Republicans claim to have elected one out of three senators and six out of nine representatives, while the Democrats claim two senators and all the representatives.

KENTUCKY.

Democrats and Republicans Both Claim the State.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 9.—With returns from all but 30 out of 1,886 precincts in Kentucky The Courier-Journal puts Bryan's majority at 8,000 and Beckham's at 5,000. The missing precincts have been taken into account in this result. The Republicans now claim that majorities will be shown for McKinley and Yerkes when the returning board canvasses the vote at Frankfort, which it will do three weeks from election day. The returning board is Democratic, and the legislature is also Democratic. Ex-Governor James B. McCreary, who managed the Democratic campaign, has closed the headquarters and will return to his home in Richmond. He said last night that he had heard from the campaign chairman in every county in the state and that, allowing all the Republican claims in the Eleventh district, he placed the majority of Bryan and Beckham respectively at 8,000 and 5,000.

Chairman Combs of the Republican state campaign committee is quoted as follows:

"While we have not the figures thoroughly compiled yet we are certain that Mr. Yerkes carried Kentucky by a small though safe majority.

"The result is very close. I think that it will probably require the official count to determine how the state goes. When I left headquarters, Yerkes had a small plurality, with 17 counties still to be heard from. I am informed that over 3,000 ballots were not counted by Goebel election officials throughout the state on account of trivial technicalities."

The Louisville Commercial, Republican, says the election is very close. It will not concede the defeat of Yerkes and the McKinley electors and says that the official count only can determine the result.

Governor Roosevelt Serenaded.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Four or five hundred neighbors and friends of Governor Roosevelt serenaded him at Oyster Bay last night. The villagers marched to the governor's residence escorted by 200 mounted men, and in the procession were 50 wagons decorated with bunting. Arrived at the house, the governor spoke briefly, thanking them for the demonstration and spoke of local matters, in which he takes much interest. He said he believed the election of McKinley made it certain there would be four years of great prosperity to the country and believed the country was entering upon a golden era that would eclipse any period in its history. Dangerous fallacies had been laid at rest by the emphatic vote of the people and that which four years ago was only stunned had now been buried.

Celebration at Odell's Home.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Nov. 9.—A great demonstration was held here last night, the home of Governor Elect Odell, in honor of the Republican victory generally and of Mr. Odell's success particularly. First there was a parade of the Republican clubs of Newburg and vicinity, the column being reviewed by Mr. Odell at his home. Nearly the entire populace turned out, the streets were filled with cheering crowds, and the city blazed with light. After the parade a great crowd gathered in front of Mr. Odell's home. The governor elect received an ovation when introduced by Major W. H. Weston.

McKinley's Gain In Popular Vote.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Comparison of the results in all the states with the pluralities of 1896 shows a heavy falling off for Bryan in many of the states which he carried the last time. In only two of them, Florida and Georgia, did he make gains, while four, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota and Washington, which he carried in 1896, went this year for McKinley. McKinley's gain in plurality over his plurality of 1896 is over 200,000.

North Dakota.

FARGO, N. D., Nov. 9.—Nearly complete returns have so far changed the situation that all counties are now said to be Republican. The lowest majority in any is said to be 23. Individual figures have been lost sight of in the grand majority, which is now 12,377, nearly one-fourth the total vote and an increase of 137 per cent in the McKinley majority of four years ago.

Bryan to McKinley.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 9.—W. J. Bryan finally and formally gave up the contest at noon yesterday. He forwarded the following telegram to President McKinley: "At the close of another presidential campaign it is my lot to congratulate you upon a second victory."

McKinley's Home Vote.

CANTON, O., Nov. 9.—Semiofficial figures of Stark county show that President McKinley gained nearly 2,000 over his plurality of 800 in 1896 and runs 700 ahead of the state ticket in his home county.

The Crouse Millions.

SYRACUSE, Nov. 9.—The will of the late millionaire, Jacob Crouse, just made public, disposes of property stated in the petition for probate to amount to $500,000 realty and $1,000,000 personal, but which is considered to aggregate between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000. Syracuse university is given $10,000 and the Presbyterian Home missions $2,000. Sixteen thousand dollars is divided among local charitable institutions as follows: Onondaga Orphan asylum, $3,000; Home association, $2,000; St. Joseph's hospital, $2,000; Y. M. C. A., $3,000; St. Vincent's Orphan asylum, $1,000; Plymouth church, $2,000; Hospital of Good Shepherd, $2,000; Shelter, $1,000. The estate goes principally to the widow and the two children, Charles Nabie Crouse and Charlotte Crouse Klock.

Trolley Strike at Pensacola, Fla.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Nov. 9.—No electric cars have been run on any of the lines here since 11 o'clock yesterday morning, the motormen and conductors having gone out on a strike. Some time ago on the statement of physicians that the long hours of standing were injurious to the health of motormen, the company permitted them to use stools. The new rules prohibit the use of these stools. The men demanded their stools back, but the company refused to grant the demand. The strikers are supported by district assembly, Knights of Labor, and they have applied to all labor unions not to patronize the cars should the company attempt to run them with nonunion men.

Cause of Miss Brown's Suicide.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The mystery surrounding the suicide of Miss Rachel Brown, who for many years had been employed by the Western Union Telegraph company and was until lately manager of the office at Nyack, was cleared when her physicians gave out the statement that for several months she had been a victim of "telegrapher's cramp," or neuritis. This brought on acute melancholia, and it was while the young woman was in a fit of despondency that she decided to take her life.

Dewey Arch to Come Down.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Mayor Van Wyck has requested the board of aldermen to consider the resolution directing the department of buildings, lighting and supplies to tear down the Dewey arch. The resolution was recently adopted by the council. It was unanimously adopted by the aldermen. The resolution will receive the signature of Mayor Van Wyck, and then the work of tearing down the arch will be begun.

Miss Loonie Pleads Guilty.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Miss Catharine Loonie, the accomplished Elmira young woman who was arrested in April last on the charge of offering for record forged deeds, knowing them to be forgeries, pleaded guilty in the county court and will be sentenced tomorrow morning. The maximum sentence is seven years in prison and a fine of $1,000.

QUAY AND ANTI-QUAY.

Former Senator Confident of Election—His Opponents Sanguine.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9.—Former Senator M. S. Quay, who left this morning for Florida, gave out the following statement for publication: "The contest on Tuesday resulted in a sweeping victory for the stalwart Republicans of the state. The senate will be organized by the regulars no matter what statements to the contrary may be made by insurgents or hostile newspapers. Senator W. P. Snyder of Chester county will be elected president pro tem. of the senate, and Representative W. T. Marshall, a stalwart from Allegheny county, will be elected speaker of the house. I will be elected United States senator by above 150 votes out of a total vote of 254 on the first ballot in joint assembly."

State Senators David Martin, William Magee, J. L. Flynn and J. H. Cochran, who have been among the most active of the political leaders in opposition to the return of former United States Senator Quay to the senate, met in this city yesterday and discussed plans for a continuation of the fight against Mr. Quay in the legislature which will meet in January. Senator Martin in a statement made by him said: "Quay will not be elected United States senator. We will without doubt have a majority of the legislature on joint ballot."

ALL ONE WAY.

Porto Rico Federals Abstained From Voting.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Nov. 9.—The official returns of Tuesday's election are nearly all at hand from the various parts of the island. They show, as was anticipated and forecasted, the election by the Republicans of the entire house of delegates and of Senor Federico Degetau as commissioner to congress.

Only 151 Federals went to the polls, the total Republican vote being about 58,000.

The only disturbance thus far reported occurred Wednesday evening, when some 20 Republicans of San Juan who were celebrating the victory visited Rio Piedras, a Federal town. They were met on the outskirts by the Federals, with the mayor and police. Shots were exchanged, and one person was killed and two wounded. There was some rioting in the town throughout the night.

Police re-enforcements were sent there last evening to prevent a threatened renewal of the disorders.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Snowstorms were reported from Wisconsin and Minnesota.

The threatened race riot between whites and negroes at Washington, Pa., was averted by vigorous action of the local authorities.

Paper Manufactory Burned.

GOUVERNEUR, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Fire almost entirely destroyed the plant of the Island Paper company at Carthage, Jefferson county. The fire was first discovered about 5 o'clock in the morning and was successfully fought and was believed to have been extinguished, but broke out again at 7 o'clock and burned rapidly, the employees escaping with great difficulty. The loss is $250,000, with an insurance of $120,000. Thirty tons of manila per day were being made. One hundred hands are thrown out of employment.

Germany's War Plans.

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—It has leaked out that the forthcoming imperial budget will provide for two new pioneer battalions of three companies each for each army corps. It will also provide 3,500,000 marks for building a war harbor at Dantzic. At Kiel a large anchorage and harbor for warships will be built, together with a harbor for torpedo boats, capable of holding 60 of the largest. At Wilhelmshaven two immense drydocks will be built.

To Build the Shamrock.

GLASGOW, Nov. 9.—The contract to build Shamrock II has been definitely placed with Messrs. D. & W. Henderson, the builders of the three Valkyries. Shamrock II is to be completed by March 31, and the first trial contest will take place on the Clyde about April 15. Possibly both the Shamrocks will be sent to the United States to be tested in American waters.

Smuggled Diamonds Sold.

NIAGARA FALLS, Nov. 9.—The diamonds alleged to have been smuggled into this country by Max Lasar of New York some time ago were yesterday sold by the collector of the port of Niagara Falls to a large diamond dealer of New York for $31,000. They were said to be worth $37,000.

Diphtheria Threatens Lyons, N. Y.

China Desires America to Plead For Clemency.

PUNISHMENTS DEEMED TOO SEVERE.

Programme as Agreed on by Foreign Ministers Causes a Thrill of Horror In Official Circles of the Empire.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The Chinese government, through its minister, is endeavoring to secure the influence of the United States toward causing the other powers to modify their demands for the punishment of Chinese officials concerned in the Boxer outbreak. There is little prospect that this government will comply with the Chinese petition. The attitude of the United States is not due, however, to any desire to have wholesale punishments inflicted so much as to the feeling that the powers are best able to determine what punitive programme should be adopted and to disinclination on the part of the United States to act as China's special pleader in the congress of nations.

The United States will not interfere with the action of some of the powers in executing Chinese officials at Pao-ting-fu and other places in the vicinity of Peking where the most horrible outrages were perpetrated on foreigners. These sentences have been carried out independently of the powers, and the United States has had no part in them. They are the result of military operations in which the American troops did not participate. The government, however, regrets that sentences of death are being imposed by individual nations and not by agreement among all the nations concerned.

The programme of punishments partially agreed on by the foreign ministers in Peking has caused a thrill of horror in Chinese official circles, and the Chinese ministers at the several capitals of the powers are endeavoring to have the list reduced. The latest information received at the state department about the punitive arrangements is that the names of General Tung Fah-Siang and Viceroy Yu Hsien have been added to the list. Yu Hsien is the official who was reported to have committed suicide by swallowing gold leaf, but who is now believed to be alive and in hiding.

Li Hung Chang Despairs.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—"Li Hung Chang telegraphs," says the Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Express, "that he despairs of a settlement and it is useless to expect the Chinese court to consent to the execution of Yu Hsien or Tung Fu Hsiang. He declares that it is equally vain to attempt to induce the powers to moderate their demands and that therefore the court is preparing for a further flight to the province of Sze-chuan with an imperial army of 14,000."

German Atrocities In China.

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—The papers continue to print letters from German soldiers in China showing the terrible atrocities committed by German troops. A letter printed yesterday describes the capture of a certain village: "Bayonets were fixed, and our lieutenant was commanded to shoot down or bayonet everybody in sight. During the night many Chinese were killed, including a woman and a child."

Will Adopt Marconi System.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Daily Mail this morning makes the following announcement: "The postal department commission which has been inquiring into the subject will shortly report after some months of deliberation in favor of the earliest possible adoption of Marconi's system of wireless telegraphy by the postal authorities. The commission is also arranging as to terms for the acquisition of the Marconi patents and negotiating with France and Germany regarding their attitude toward Marconi's inventions. This evidently means a complete revolution in the telegraphic system."

Ore From New Iron Field.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 9.—The steamer Iroquois has arrived at Ashtabula with a cargo of 2,456 tons of brown hematite iron ore from the new Michipicoten field north of Lake Superior in Canada. This is the first cargo from that field brought to a United States port, and it will probably be sent to one of the valley furnaces. The Michipicoten field has, it is said, a practically inexhaustible supply. The vein of ore extends more than half a mile into a mountain, and one knoll is said to contain 30,000,000 tons.

Back to Prison.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 9.—A man whom the courts of New York have decided to be Maximilian Schienbein, better known as Max Shinburn, who escaped 35 years ago from the New Hampshire state prison, where he had been committed for ten years for robbery of a bank at Walpole, last night re-entered the New Hampshire prison to serve the remainder of his sentence. Shinburn arrived from Plattsburg, N. Y., in the custody of Sheriff W. S. Tuttle of Keene.

Massachusetts Has Grown.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The population of the state of Massachusetts by counties and minor civil divisions as officially announced by the census bureau is 2,805,346 as compared with a population in 1890 of 2,238,943, showing an increase of 566,403, or 25.2 per cent. For the preceding decade it was 25.5 per cent. This rate of increase has been exceeded but once in the history of the state—namely, from 1840 to 1850, when the population increased 34.8 per cent.

Two More Bodies Found.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The bodies of Hamilton Matthews, an unmarried truckman, 38 years old, of 48 Pearl street, Brooklyn, and Benjamin Moorehouse, a shipping and entry clerk, 45 years old, of Montclair, N. J., both employed by Tarrant & Co., were found yesterday in what had been the basement of the Tarrant building. The discovery of these bodies makes the number of fatalities by the disaster of Oct. 29 six.

Relief For Sailors at Manila.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—To guard against the effects of prolonged exposure in the Philippines the navy department is sending out another draft of 600 men to relieve sailors on the ships now at Manila. These men leave on the Buffalo on the 1st prox., meeting the Hartford and the Alliance at Trinidad and exchanging some of the landsmen on those ships for the China service.

The United States Senate.

The terms of 30 United States Senators will expire on March 31, 1901. There are also vacancies from Delaware, Nebraska, Montana, Pennsylvania and Utah. Of the 30 states which are to elect for the full six year term these have already chosen Senators: Louisiana, Mississippi, Kentucky, Virginia and Rhode Island—the first four returning Democrats, and the last a Republican. Legislatures which are to elect Senators have been chosen in earlier State elections in Oregon, Maine, Alabama, Georgia and North Carolina. The first two are Republicans, the last three Democratic. In Iowa, the Legislature re-elected John H. Greer, who died subsequently, and a Republican will serve by appointment until the next meeting of the Legislature in January, 1902. From the States voting Tuesday 24 Senators remain to be chosen, as follows: Arkansas 1, Colorado 1, Delaware 2, Idaho 1, Illinois 1, Kansas 1, Massachusetts 1, Michigan 1, Minnesota 1, Montana 2, Nebraska 2, New Hampshire 1, New Jersey 1, Pennsylvania 1, South Carolina 1, South Dakota 1, Tennessee 1, Texas 1, Utah 1, West Virginia 1 and Wyoming 1. Of the 66 seats not involved in Tuesday's balloting 39 are held by Republicans, 23 by Democrats and 4 by Populists or Silverites—Mr. Wellington, of Maryland, being classed in this division as a Democrat, and Mr. Stewart, of Nevada, as a Republican. Indications are that the Republicans will control the Legislatures in Delaware, Illinois, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, West Virginia and Wyoming, electing 13 Senators. The Democrats will control in Arkansas, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Utah, electing 9 Senators. Nebraska, with two seats, is claimed by both parties. Last Tuesday's returns, therefore, indicate this division of party strength in the Senate after March 4th next: Republicans, 52; Democrats, 32; Populists and Silverites, 4; doubtful 2.

More Honor for Senator Reed.

The New Jersey editor of the New York Press is authority for the statement that Senator Charles A. Reed will be the next President of the State Senate. The Press man says "that there may be other candidates, but this will be the result." It is generally recognized that this writer secures his political information from reliable sources, and his prediction in reference to Senator Reed counts for considerable.

If it should be the lot of the Somerset Senator to be chosen to preside over the Upper House of the Legislature, he will not be a new hand at it. Mr. Reed occupied that exalted position during the Legislative session in 1899. By his conduct then he won the reputation of being one of the best presiding officers the Senate had ever had, being agreeable and popular with the representatives of both parties.

There will undoubtedly be other aspirants for the position, and if Mr Reed is honored with the place it will be a distinguished recognition and appreciation of his worth and power to the Republicans. More than this, it will put the Senator in direct line as one of the possibilities for the Gubernatorial nomination at the hands of the Republicans next fall.

Both the Republican and Democratic organizations in New Jersey will undoubtedly have new heads in the next campaign, as Franklin Murphy, of Newark, and William B. Gourley, of Paterson, chairman of the respective State committees, have announced their determination to retire from the positions that they have been occupying for the past few years. Mr. Murphy will leave the Republican organization in better shape than it has ever been before in the political history of the State. The Democratic side, however, will present a hard job for the successor of Mr. Gourley, as the party organization is practically a nonentity except in Hudson county. Mr. Gourley is not entirely to blame for this condition, though, as he confronted odds in New Jersey during the campaign just ended that even the most astute and powerful manager would be unable to overcome.

Ever since Col. Bryan was nominated for the Presidency in 1896 he has had no more violent opponent than the New York Sun. In the campaign just ended The Sun has been most caustic and unflinching in denunciation of Bryan and all that he represents, but now that the result has been determined The Sun finds itself able and willing to say that "Mr. Bryan is still the most beloved and the most powerful man in his party.

The perennial job of dumping Mr. Croker is now occupying the attention of New York reformers just as it has for many years. Incidentally, some G. O. P. followers, who are "outside of the breastworks," so to speak, are proposing similar medicine for Mr. Platt. A difficult job confronts both sides.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

When Senator Charles A. Reed said in The Tribune that Somerset county would return something more than 1,000 plurality for McKinley and Roosevelt there were many Republicans who thought that he had put the figures too high. The Republican output of that county was fully 1,200 plurality for McKinley and Roosevelt, and about the same for Congressman Benjamin F. Howell in the home of his opponent, James J. Bergen. Therefore, Senator Reed's estimate was conservative, as he said it was when he made it.—New York Tribune.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

While a Republican parade was passing the house at midnight of election day twins were born to Mr. and Mrs. David Crocker, of Rahway. "Why not name them William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt?" said the doctor in attendance. The suggestion met with the approval of the parents and before the clocks had ceased to strike the hour that marked the close of election day the new arrivals had received names that will make them at least locally famous. Mr. Crocker is 65 years of age. His wife is 35.

Farmer Martine, the apostle of local Democracy, has resumed business at the old stand—Cedar Brook farm. He has again turned his attention to agricultural pursuits, forsaking the political rostrum for the more healthy pastime of gathering his crops. The day after election the Farmer Orator said that if the weather continued mild he would begin threshing his buckwheat. A Republican friend of Mr. Martine, whom the joyful political news had caused to feel in a particularly facetious frame of mind, remarked quietly: "Why, Jim, I thought you threshed last Tuesday!". Instantly Mr. Martine made reply "No, not exactly; 'twas the Republican party, reinforced by capitalists and those composing the trusts, that gave us a sound thrashing, much to our surprise and utter disgust." Then the sage of Plainfield's Democracy began to explain how it all happened.

* * * * * * *

James Brown, manager of the Somerville Woolen Mills, who is one of the most ardent Republicans of Somerville, announced to the people of that town in the event of William McKinley's re-election, the gong at the mills would be blown to announce the victory. Mr. Brown spent Tuesday evening at the hall, where returns were to be received, and when the final result was known at midnight, he hurried to the mills and notified the engineer in waiting to "let her go."

"How long shall I blow?" asked the engineer.

"Till I tell you to stop," answered Mr. Brown, excitedly, as he left to get Messrs. Frelinghuysen, Dilks and other Republicans together to start a parade. The band was secured and some hundreds of men were parading about the streets, headed by Mr. Brown. He could hear nothing above the noise of the band and the cheers and forgot all about the gong. When the procession returned to the factory an hour later the gong was still going. Somerville folks were fully aware of Mr. McKinley's election before they could get to sleep again.

Gentlemen:—My mamma has been a great coffee drinker and has found it very injurious. Having used several packages of your GRAIN-O, the drink that takes the place of coffee, she finds it much better for herself and for us children to drink. She has given up coffee drinking entirely. We use a package of Grain-O every week. I am ten years old.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Nov. 9.—Shortly after 10 o'clock Wednesday evening, Henry Wiedenhaupt who resides over the Brakeley's store, detected an unusual noise in the rear of the premises. On looking out of a window, a man darted out of the yard. Mr. Wiedenhaupt decided to investigate and went down stairs. As he emerged from front door a second man ran away from the front of the store and joined the first who had been hiding in the evergreens near the Vars building. The two then ran down Washington avenue with Mr. Wiedenhaupt in pursuit, but he was soon outdistanced. No doubt the intention of the strangers was to commit some depredation but were prevented by Mr. Wiedenhaupt's discovery.

While hunting out Washington avenue Wednesday, Grover Kratzel and Fred Warden captured an unusually large 'possum. The animal weighed nearly twenty ponnds.

It is said that the Republicans of the borough intend to have a jollification some night next week and will arrange matters at their meeting tomorrow night.

Lewis Churchill has taken a position with the Central in their New York office and began his new duties yesterday.

Mrs. Jenning, of New York, returned home yesterday after a month's stay with her daughter, Mrs. George Huff.

Mrs. O. A. Douglas has returned from a visit with relatives at Scarsdale, N. Y., and New York city.

Arthur Vail moved into the house on North avenue yesterday recently vacated by William Osmun.

The Willing Workers of Holy Innocents' church will meet this afternoon with Mrs. W. G. Vance.

Walter Bodine and Charles Teel expect to start next week on an extended trip through the west.

Mrs. Mahlon Dayton is spending a few days with her parents at Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Miss Lillian Warden spent Wednesday with friends at Atlantic Highlands.

Herman Pulster, of Elizabeth, was the guest of borough friends yesterday.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, Nov. 9.—Considerable amusement was caused in town Wednesday night by the payment of a freak election bet between Theodore Roantree and William Kelley. The latter had declared that if McKinley won he would trundle Roantree to Lincoln and back in a wheelbarrow. True to his promise Kelley appeared Wednesday night and procuring the barrow started with his load from the Lake House. A carriage containing several interested ones followed to cheer him on. Kelley stuck to his self imposed task until half way back when the sandy road forced him to give up. Roantree was satisfied, however, and the bet was declared off.

Mrs. Desson, of New York, who is engaged in mission work among the Italians, will speak of her work in the First Baptist church this evening. An invitation to attend is extended to all.

On account of its seriousness, the broken leg received by William Brokaw, Tuesday, has not yet been set. It will probably be done in a day or two.

There is need of a piano in the hall and the camp talk of procuring one.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders' Can Witness.

One of the first successful dramatization of a novel that was presented upon our stage was made in the late sixties, when an actor in San Francisco, seeing the possibilities which were presented in Bret Harte's tale "The Story of M'liss," made a play of it. Bret Harte is today the greatest of the American authors when it comes to delineation of the characters in and about the camps of the miners in the western country, and his descriptions of the manners and customs in vogue in those places are not only accurate, but the pictures are very forcefully presented. The present revival of "M'liss" is, it is understood, a very elaborate one, as the company carry the complete production which has been made especially for the tour of the company. Not only is the scenery said said to be very beautiful, but so great is the care which has been shown to the details that the company carry even the smallest property which is used during a performance. "M'liss" will be the attraction at Music Hall, next Tuest night. Seats can now be secured.

Dainty Josephine Sabel in "The Soldiers' Queen," which will be in Music Hall next Thursday night, is pursuing a perfect triumphal tour around the country. The French chanteuse has been a recent innovation on the American stage and the public seems to have taken to the chanteuse as naturally as a Frenchman would. In addition to this attraction Miss Sabel possesses the popularity given her by the song she herself made popular, "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," and her rendition of this rag time melody does as much to fill the theatres as her play.

Pleasantly Surprised.

Mr. and Mrs. Eden P. Bennett, of Manning avenue, were pleasantly surprised Wednesday evening by nearly forty of their friends, who came to assist them in celebrating their tenth wedding anniversary. Various amusements helped make the evening pass pleasantly and a collation brought the festivities to a close. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett were the recipients of a large number of handsome presents appropriate to the occasion.

Committee for Firemen's Fair.

The following persons compose the committee that has in charge the plans for the fair to be held in Sangerbund Hall the first week in February under the auspices of Warren Engine Company: Frank Kesselring, chairman; Geo. H. Fairchild, treasurer; Charles A. Steadman, secretary; L. R. Bodine, R. M. Clark, J. J. Stahl and Wm. Ricketts.

ITEMS BRIEF AND BRIGHT

GATHERED ALL ABOUT THE TOWN BY ALERT PRESS REPORTERS.

News in Short Paragraphs That are Interesting to Read During the Spare Moments of Many Busy Plainfielders

—Neuman Bros. will display a fine line of vegetables tomorrow.

—Auction sale tomorrow afternoon at 2 p. m. at Carey's auction room.

—Adams & Chapman, of East Front street, will show a new line of trimmed hats tomorrow at special prices.

—The ladies of the Woman's Friendly Society of the Church of the Heavenly Rest will give an informal sociable in the parish house this evening.

—Campbell's are selling new goods at very low prices. They guarantee their candies to be of superior quality and finish. See ad for specials sale tomorrow.

—Tom Graham, of Sing Sing, will address the Y. M. C. A. rally next Sunday afternoon at 4:15. He will also conduct meetings all next week, beginning at 8:45 and lasting one hour.

—Zingarra, the Gypsy Queen, who created considerable wonderment here last summer by her ability to read the past, has returned to Plainfield with her Gypsy Camp. She is at the same address as before, 141 East Front street.

—Powers' Honey of Coltsfoot and Tar has made such a reputation as a cure for coughs and colds that it now commands a large sale in this section of the State. Mr. Powers made a record last season in disposing of 5 000 bottles. Money back if not relieved goes with every bottle.

—Young men who wish to acquire a knowledge of the Spanish language are reminded of the excellent opportunity afforded them in the class taught by Jose A. Machodo, at the Y. M. C. A. building Friday evenings. All who desire to enter this class are requested to be present this evening. For particulars see advertising column.

—You can't afford to risk your life by allowing a cough or a cold to develop into pneumonia or consumption. One Minute Cough Cure will cure throat and lung troubles quicker than any other preparation known. Many doctors use it as a specific for grippe. It is an infallible remedy for croup. Children like it and mothers endorse it. L. W. Randolph.

ward would expire this year, and Randolph was elected to fill the vacancy caused by Smith's resignation.

In the First ward Tolles will probably be renominated unless he should head the ticket for Mayor. In the Second Mellick may go back. In case of his refusal to accept the nomination a likely candidate would be James E. Kimball. Corlell is likely to be returned from the Third and Randolph from the Fourth.

The Democrats haven't had a chance, as yet, to settle on any candidates. The rumor that John B. Brown is the choice for Mayor is a false one. There has, as yet, been no conference of the Democratic leaders and candidates in that party are not so numerous but that the leaders will have but little trouble in deciding between them. They are going to have a ticket, however, and run their campaign as thoroughly as their limited funds will permit.

... ABOUT ...

KID GLOVES.

We have just opened 93 dozen pairs of our celebrated "P and P" Kid Gloves, and they are the gloves we are going to tell you about. We have said much about them in the past year and have built a remarkable custom for them, but we want you to try them now, this is the claim we make for the "P and P" gloves: That it will fit as well, wear as well and look as well as any $1.50 glove you can find. We fit the glove to your hand at the counter, and if we cannot fit you perfectly you will not be asked to buy, no matter how many pairs have been tried on in the effort. More than that we give you the same guarantee you get with any glove at twice the price. Many merchants say this is a bad method, to recommend a low priced article, when a higher priced one could as easily be sold. As a rule they would be right, but our experience has been that the price has little bearing on the durability of them, at least we have found that the "P and P" gloves wear as well as any high priced glove we know, consequently we give you the broadest and most liberal guarantee.

Three different grades of "P and P" gloves.

1.00 Chaumont 2 clasp fine dressed gloves, all the new fall colors and black.

1.19 Mocha gloves, grey, tan, mode and brown shades, 2 clasp.

1.25 "Barthold" superior quality of dressed gloves, 2 clasp.

89c "Tuxedo" Misses' 2 clasp dressed gloves, tan, red and brown.

Berlin. Der Allgemeine deutsche Sprachverein umfaßt dermalen 216 Zweigvereine mit 13,800 Mitgliedern. Hierzu kommen noch etwa 1600 unmittelbare Mitglieder. In der Zeit vom September 1899 bis September 1900 entstanden 14 neue Zweigvereine mit 440 Mitgliedern. In erster Linie steht mit seiner Mitgliederzahl der Zweigverein Kassel mit 732 Mitgliedern. Ihm folgt Bonn mit 427, Dresden mit 404, Köln mit 343 und London mit 289 Mitgliedern. Der Zweigverein Berlin-Charlottenburg, der im vorigen Jahre nur 190 Mitglieder zählte, war bis Juli d. J. auf etwa 500 angewachsen.—Im 6. Berliner Wahlkreise wurde an Stelle des verstorbenen Reichstagsabgeordneten Wilhelm Liebknecht der Sozialdemokrat Ledebour mit 53,896 Stimmen in den Reichstag gewählt. Sein konservativ-antisemitischer Gegner Ullrich erhielt 10,490 Stimmen.—Auf ministerielle Anordnung sind die in Berlin bestehenden polnischen Privatschulen geschlossen worden.—Der Geldbriefträger Hugo Schwarz, der im September v. J. nach Unterschlagung von 13,700 Mark flüchtig geworden war, ist in London verhaftet worden.

Rathenow. Der Bau der brandenburgischen Städtebahn ist nunmehr gesichert. Die Bahn soll als Aktienunternehmen durchgeführt werden, die Aktionäre haben 12,000,000 Mark für den Bau und 955,000 Mark für den Grund und Boden aufzubringen.

Weißensee. Der vierjährige Knabe Otto Seidel ging in Abwesenheit der Eltern mit einer Schachtel Streichhölzer in's Freie und zündete an einem Zaune ein Hölzchen nach dem anderen an. Dabei fingen seine Kleider Feuer. Bevor man ihm Hilfe bringen konnte, war der Kleine am ganzen Körper so schwer verbrannt, daß er bald darauf seinen Geist aufgab.

Provinz Hannover.

Hannover. Der Fuhrwerksbesitzer Gucia, der mit einem Möbelwagen einen Umzug von hier nach Peine zu bewerkstelligen hatte, fiel an einer abschüssigen Stelle der Landstraße so unglücklich vor die Räder seines Wagens, daß er überfahren und auf der Stelle getödtet wurde.

Hildesheim. Anhier starb der Bildhauer Professor Kuesthardt.

Wilhelmshaven. Eine männliche Leiche wurde bei der Badeanstalt gefunden. Die Leiche hatte eine frische Schußwunde. Neben der Leiche lag ein Zettel, auf welchem der Selbstmörder, der sich als Student der Medizin Fischer bezeichnet hatte, bat, man möge von seiner Auffindung die Universität Berlin benachrichtigen.

Provinz Hessen-Nassau.

Frankfurt. Das Schwurgericht verurtheilte die 22jährige Marie Reich, die ihr achttägiges Kind auf Geheiß ihrer Mutter in den Main geworfen, zu 3½ Jahren Gefängniß, die Mutter zu 9 Jahren Zuchthaus.

Hofheim. Anhier erschoß der Schreiner Haas seine beiden Töchter im Alter von 12 und 14 Jahren und tödtete sich alsdann selbst.

Provinz Pommern.

Stettin. Das im vorigen Jahre im Lebaer Moor bei Charbrow gefundene Wrack eines Wikingerbootes, das in den Besitz der Gesellschaft für pommerische Geschichte und Alterthumskunde übergegangen ist, wurde dieser Tage mit der Bahn hierher geschafft. Das Wikingerboot dürfte eine hervorragende Sehenswürdigkeit des hier zu erbauenden Museums werden, das in dem Gelände des ehemaligen Fort Leopold seinen Platz erhalten soll.

Greifswald. In die philosophische Fakultät der Greifswalder Universität wurde der bisherige Extraordinarius in Heidelberg, Dr. Karl Auwers, als ordentlicher Professor berufen. Auwers ist Chemiker.

Provinz Posen.

Posen. In Posen und Gnesen sind kürzlich je eine Gewerbeschule in Verbindung mit einer Haushaltungsschule für Mädchen eingerichtet worden.

Nakel. Der Handelsmann Itzig Hermann sprang aus einem in voller Fahrt befindlichen Eisenbahnzuge und gerieth unter die Räder, die ihm beide Beine zermalmten. Der Verunglückte starb im Krankenhause.

Provinz Ostpreußen.

Lyck. Der Redakteur Hugo Bahrke von der „Gazeta Zucowa" wurde wegen Aufreizung zum Klassenhaß vor einiger Zeit von der Strafkammer zu zwei Monaten Gefängniß verurtheilt. Er hatte dagegen Revision eingelegt, wurde jedoch wegen Fluchtverdachtes letzthin verhaftet.

Memel. Eine Windhose, welche über die Stadt und die Umgegend hinwegfegte, hat erheblichen Schaden angerichtet. Dächer wurden abgedeckt, Fensterscheiben zu Hunderten eingedrückt und Bäume entwurzelt. Auf dem jüdischen Friedhofe wurden die Grabsteine umgeworfen. In Clausmühlen stürzte das Haus des Besitzers Schnischel zusammen, wobei ein siebenjähriges Kind Schnischels erschlagen wurde.

A distributing agent, living at Catskill, N. Y., describes the severe case of a near neighbor who was completely prostrated with God only knows what. "She was just alive," he says, "and had been sick for over a year, and had paid out a great deal of money for doctors and medicines, but could not get any help. The doctors had given her up," he says, and thereupon he induced her to try Ripans Tabules, and after taking them one month she could ride out in a wagon, and after two months she was entirely well.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY

To Durell Runyon, Edgar J. Runyon and Ida Gaston Runyon, his wife, Lillian R. Gillespie and George E. Gillespie, her husband:—

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein Henry S. Hollingsworth et al. Executors, &c., of Albert B. Darby, deceased, are complainants, and Frederick W Hoppel et al. are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainants on or before the Fourth day of December next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by Charles J. Noel and wife to Albert B. Darby, dated June 17th, A. D. 1886, on lands in the City of Plainfield, New Jersey; and you, Durell Runyon, are made defendant because you own an undivided one-half interest in that portion of the mortgaged premises of which John D. Runyon died seized; and you Edgar J. Runyon and Lillian R. Gillespie, are made defendants because you each own an undivided one-fourth interest in that portion of the mortgaged premises of which John D. Runyon died seized; and you, Ida Gaston Runyon, are made defendant because you have an inchoate right of dower in an undivided one-fourth interest in that portion of the mortgaged premises of which John D. Runyon died seized; and you, George E. Gillespie, are made defendant because you may claim a right in an undivided one-fourth interest in that portion of the mortgaged premises of which John D. Runyon died seized, as tenant by the curtesy initiate; the interest of each of the above named defendants, in said mortgaged premises, being subject to the dower right of Sarah R Runyon, widow of said John D. Runyon, deceased, therein. Dated October 24th, A. D. 1900.

Nelson and William N. Runyon,

GIRLS' COSTUMES.

Items Concerning the Wardrobe of Little Women.

For children plain goods, Scotch plaids and cloth, with the usual cashmere and serges, are chiefly used. Very little trimming is employed on skirts, but more on bodices, and the latter are of the blouse form as a rule.

The style of skirt most in vogue has plaits at the hips and back. They turn toward the front, and the two forward ones frame the little tablier.

Plaid silk is often used with gowns of plain goods to form the vest and undersleeves, these latter being worn by little girls as well as women.

The most prominent novelty in children's coats is a long, straight sack, double breasted and laid entirely in plaits. These plaits are stitched toward the top. The sleeve is loose, but is plaited in at the wrist to form a cuff, the plaits being stitched.

The illustration given today shows a costume of royal blue velveteen for a girl of 12 years. The skirt is laid in groups of small plaits, and on the groups are tabs of velveteen corded with white silk and fastened by silver buttons. The boleró has a double collar, corded with white silk, and white silk revers, and is closed by velvet tabs corded with white, fastened by silver buttons. The sleeves flare at the wrists and have full white silk undersleeves. The chemisette is also of white silk, as is the cravat. The three cornered hat of blue velvet is trimmed with white and blue ribbons, and the brim is corded with white silk.

NEW MATERIALS.

Various Goods to Be Employed For the Winter Wardrobe.

A new variety of cloth is called "diamante." It is of plain, dark shades, and on the surface are tiny fibers of white or gray, which give it a sort of bloom.

Hair lines of white on a dark ground are again seen, black and blue being the favorite colors. These are used for plain walking gowns.

Silk and wool materials are now used for tailor made costumes, as well as all wool cloths and serges.

A beautiful new material is a silk and wool diagonal, with fine ribs. Two tones of color appear in it, with a glace effect. Black and white, blue and black, red and black and emerald and black are the chief combinations.

Broche satins and fancy taffetas are to play an important part among evening and other formal toilets. Taffeta in particular is in immense demand and composes entire gowns and evening wraps, as well as linings for rich mantles of heavier goods.

The illustration shows a wrapper of pale pink crepe de chine. It has a triple watteau plait and is open in front. The corners of the skirt and the edges of the short sleeves are embroidered with flowers. The loose, full front is of white embroidered mousseline over white satin. The edges of the loose fronts are trimmed with lace forming coquilles, and there is a little capuchon gathered at the edge and bordered with lace. The sleeves are finished with a deep fall of lace.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Nov 11—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—A decision for Christ.—Luke xiv, 25-33.

This discourse of Christ on the high requirements of true discipleship was spoken in Perea while he was on His last journey to Jerusalem. The shadow of the cross was already upon Him. Every day brought Him one day nearer to Calvary. The crowds still pressed upon Him. That they might not be deceived and led lightly into doing that which was most serious He revealed to them by precept and illustration the high requirements of true discipleship. This was not to turn them away, but to enable them to see clearly what it meant to decide for Him; before the step was taken, that after they had reached a decision they should never regret it or prove false to it. The high requirements of discipleship should not hinder us in our desires to be Christ's disciples, but should caution us against lightly entering into this relationship to Christ. We should count the cost, but we should never hesitate to pay the cost.

1. True discipleship requires that Christ shall have the first place in our hearts and lives. Father, mother, wife, children, brethren, sisters—yea, life itself—must be hated for Christ's sake. This does not mean that they are to be actively hated. For a man to hate his own life he would have to take it to become a disciple. It was the strongest expression that Christ could use to teach that no human affections, no home ties, were to usurp His place in the hearts and lives of His disciples. He must be first or discipleship will be but a name and not a reality.

2. True discipleship requires cross bearing. "Whosoever doth not bear his cross and follow Me cannot be My disciple." Christ bore His cross. We must bear ours and thus follow Him. Discipleship is not mere enthusiasm, mere ecstatic feeling; it is doing often, at great cost and sacrifice, what Christ wants us to do.

3. Discipleship entered into without counting the cost is both foolish and dangerous. Christ illustrates its folly in the story of a man building a tower who had not first counted the cost and was unable to finish it. A half completed tower would be a monument of the folly of the man who commenced to build it. A half performed discipleship would be an example of the same folly. The danger of a lightly entered into discipleship is illustrated by the case of a king who, with only 10,000 men, would thoughtlessly go to war with one who had 20,000 men. How easily he would be vanquished! Just as easily would the man be defeated who entered the warfare of Christian discipleship unless he had first counted the cost and prepared himself for the conflict.

The requirements of discipleship are high. Shall we refuse to decide for Christ because of this fact? No. What we cannot do God can help us to do or do for us. As disciples of Christ we build not in our own strength, but in His strength; we fight not alone with our own powers and weapons, but He fights with and for us. Weak in ourselves, we can do all things through Christ, who strengthened us. Let us count the cost, but let us pay it. What we cannot do God will enable us to do.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Have a decision service. Give an opportunity to associate members to decide for Christ.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ex. xxxii, 26; Josh. xxiv, 14-18; Ruth i, 16, 17; Isa. lv, 6, 7; Mark ii, 13, 14; John i, 35-37; xix, 19-29; Acts ii, 37-41; viii, 26-40; xvi, 25-33.

Our Daily Duty.

We need not be discouraged if our work seems to be a small one. When God works by men, He uses only small beginnings. The mustard seed was an illustration of His kingdom upon earth, and from it may be drawn a picture of the church to which all nations in time will come, but what we must be individually concerned about is our daily duty and the motive which prompts us in performing it, for too little value is placed upon the little duties which fall to the share of each one. Many regard these with indifference or contempt and try in every possible way to shirk or neglect them. The result is that they are either thrown over on other shoulders already overburdened or neglected altogether.—Lutheran.

The People's Inheritance.

When Christ was dying on the cross, he made a will. Perhaps you have thought that no one ever remembered you in a will. If you are in the kingdom, Christ did, for it was to His disciples He said, "Peace I leave with you; My peace I give unto you." They say a man can't make a will now that lawyers can't break and drive a four-in-hand straight through. I challenge them to break this one. Let them try it. No judge or jury can set Christ's will aside, for He rose to execute it Himself. If He had left us a lot of gold, we should never have got it, for thieves would have stolen it in the first century. But He left His peace and His joy for every true believer.—D. L. Moody.

A Higher, More Creative Thing to Do.

To do what we ought is an altogether higher, diviner, more potent, more creative thing than to write the grandest poem, paint the most beautiful picture, carve the mightiest statue or dream out the most enchanting commotion of melody and harmony. If you have ever seen the Lord, if only from afar; if you have any vaguest suspicion that Jesus was a better man than other men, one of your first duties must be to open your ears to His words and see whether they command themselves to you as true; then, if they do, to obey them with your whole strength and might.—George MacDonald.

Topic For the Week Beginning Nov. 11, "Decision For Christ." Text, Luke xiv, 25-33.

"Whosoever he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath cannot be My disciple."

That is strange language for one to use who seeks popularity. It does not sound much like the ordinary invitation in revival services. Nor does it seem adapted to secure a large and enthusiastic following. It is rather narrow gauge and lacks persuasiveness. It is not alluring to the easy going and luxury seeking. It has a repellent tone for lovers of pleasure and self indulgent ones.

But there is no mistaking the terms; they are stated clearly. "If any man come to Me and hate not his father and mother and wife and children and brethren and sisters—yea, and his own life also—he cannot be My disciple."

It does not look as if He was anxious to increase the number of His followers if these are His terms of companionship or else He will have a band of devoted ones who shall be equal to all demands and efficient in all emergencies. Apparently it is quality and not quantity which is of prime importance. Absolute devotion and unswerving obedience count for more than numbers.

Great multitudes are with Him. They have great expectations of what advantage they shall have by joining His company. Their ideas, however, are almost totally different from His. Their desires are one thing, His intentions are entirely contrary. Their presence will only hinder and embarrass Him. His purpose and plans are fixed and cannot change. He knows human nature, its needs and possibilities. He has resolved on His own course. Their ideas and whole attitude must change completely to be in harmony with Him. Their selfishness must give place to loving regard for others; their pride be replaced by humility; their stubbornness by teachableness, fickleness by fixity of purpose.

They profess to love their families and friends when in reality they know nothing of real love. He will show them how unfitted they are to remain with Him.

Some will be stimulated by the very difficulty and seeming harshness of the terms to choose His service. Some will read under the peculiar expressions, deeper meaning, and will not rest until they have mastered the mystery and found the Master's meaning of life. Others will turn away, some contemptuously, some stolidly, some sorrowfully, but all reckoning the price too great to pay.

Decision is challenged by the announcement of such rigid terms of discipleship. They remain unchanged till now. If ye will follow the Christ, ye must leave all else. His service is an exclusive one. He tolerates no rivals, no division of heart, interest and devotion. He will have all or nothing.

If this looks severe, spend a little time in examination of the matter and see if He could in any way modify the terms without sacrificing and ruining all. You may mingle oil and water if you have proper skill and knowledge, but no skill can compound righteousness and wrong, sin and salvation, Christ's service and worldliness.

He calls for decision, and you will decide.

Which way do you settle it? Will you follow or forsake Him? As you decide toward Him, so does He decide toward you. Which shall it be—friend or foe? Take your choice, but consider well before you turn your back upon Him.

What Will You Do?

You have not been devoting yourself faithfully to the work of Christ in the church recently. Various things have hindered. You have lost the former interest and enthusiasm which you felt. It is difficult to get back into the old tracks or to get on to new ones that are satisfactory. You scarcely realize it, but it is a fact nevertheless, you are drifting. You are doing things which harm yourself and others. Duties are neglected, though very plain. You are not at peace and are growing careless, indifferent and somewhat harsh in spirit.

What are you going to do about it?

Why not get back into the prayer meeting? Follow up the preaching service a little more closely. Would it not be a good thing to begin family prayers again, or are you too weak and ashamed to try it. The boys and girls are getting large and are not so easily held as they once were. Some of their doings trouble you. They are getting beyond your control. Where will it all end? Are you afraid to follow your convictions of right? If so, God pity those who look to you for an example. It is a shame for a godly man or woman to have a profane son or godless daughter. It is not necessary. Better get more religion and sound sense, and the chances are ten to one the children will also change.

As Thy Day.

As this thy day, O promise blest!
Sweet words of comfort, words of rest!
No more with boding fear I wait
To read tomorrow's hidden fate.
Whate'er its toils, whate'er its tears,
Whate'er its perils, pains and fears,
While sun and stars and worlds endure
The old, sweet promise standeth sure.

The hand that holds the world upbears
My weary heart with all its cares;
The eye that slumbers not has seen
My graveyard mounds with grasses green.
My Father's pitying love has read
The pain behind the tears I shed.
How comforting His words to me,
"Child, as thy day thy strength shall be."

As this my day, my little day,
My broken, troubled, thwarted day—
The day whose roseate morning bloom
Was quenched and darkened into gloom.
The morn of gifts, the noon of loss,
The lengthening shadow of the cross!
Once more, my Father, say to me,
"Child, as thy day thy strength shall be."

—Mary H. Finn.

SPORTING.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

The members of the Alis foot ball team are requested to meet in front of the Broad street station of the Central Railroad in Newark tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

There will be no game on the gridiron at Martine Common tomorrow afternoon. The Alis A. A. will go to Roseville and meet the eleven of the Roseville A. A. on the latter's grounds. This is the first game of the Alis boys away from home and the showing they make will be watched with interest. The team will sadly miss the services of Ernest Rapaije at tackle where he was a very useful member. There are several new candidates who have lined up at the last practice nights with the team. Clarence B. Peck, one of the crack ends of the old P. A. A, is playing again. He was tried at quarter where he did fairly well but his best game is played on the end of the line. Garrettson, recently of the Somerset County Country Club, of Somerville, is a fast, sticky player, who did good work in practice at end. Captain Roy T. Phillips has a new man in view for quarter back who may be on hand this week.

The Plainfield High School's next football game will be in New Brunswick next Wednesday afternoon, when the Plainfield boys will play a return game with the Rutgers Prep. School of that city. The game will be played on Neilson Field. The second defeat at the hands of the Leal's School boys has been greatly felt. In the Election Day game the High School team should have scored twice and were fairly entitled to at least tie the score. Once an unlucky fumble came and the other occasion the call of time prevented. The Leal team was heavier and did better work around the ends, but Pond and Davis made splendid gains through the line for the High School. The Leal boys ran too close together and were constantly tripping themselves up for that reason. Pond did the best work for the High School The ends from that school were somewhat weak and slow about tackling Time after time Tilney ran backward with the ball and should have been downed for a loss, but he managed to get away from the ends and make a fair run. For Leal's Brown's work behind interference was the prettiest football of the day.

CAUSE OF FALSE ALARM.

BOYS WHO TURNED IT IN SAY THEY WERE PUT UP TO IT.

Frank Kesselring, Who is Accused, Explains How He Jokingly Told Them to "Go Ahead."

Louis McGann, son of Thomas McGann, of Lincoln place, and Harry Hann, of Somerset place, the two boys who pulled fire alarm box No. 153, corner of Giraud and Willow avenues, last Wednesday night, were arraigned before Mayor Smalley last evening for a hearing. It will be remembered that an alarm of fire was sent in and it proved to be false. The borough fire department turned out and had a run for nothing. The officials were highly inceneed over the matter and immediate action was taken.

Chief Campbell investigated the matter and learned that Harry Hann was interested. He called on Harry and from him learned the facts, which were brought out at the hearing. The boys both stated that they were in Warren Engine Company house Wednesday evening and there had been some talk of a fire and a run. It was said that there was a pile of boxes in the vicinity of Giraud and Willow avenues. McGann intimated that it would be well to set them on fire and pull a box. It is claimed that he asked Frank Kesselring, a member of the company who was in the house, whether he should pull a box, and that the latter said "Go ahead and pull it." The boys took the matter seriously. whereas Kesselring claims he made the remark in a joke and gave the boys to understand that he would not be responsible for what they did.

The boys claim that they were put up to the trick by Mr. Kesselring and that it was he who suggested the scheme, even going so far as to draw a diagram on the fence near the enginehouse, showing the plan of action. When the boys told their story, Mayor Smalley gave them a severe lecture and reprimand.

Mr. Kesselring, who was present, asked to be heard, and he stated briefly that he was in no way responsible for the false alarm, and should not be held to account for it. He said that the boys concocted the scheme and merely asked him if they should pull the box, whereupon he replied jokingingly, "Go ahead."

The matter was finally adjusted in this way. The boys are to pay $3, the expense for running the West End apparatus to the supposed fire. Thomas McGann, whose horses pulled the other apparatus, waived his claim of $10.

Bridge Will Soon be Finished.

The buckle plates for the Madison Avenue Duer street bridge arrived last evening and today workmen are placing them in position and early next week the asphaltum will be laid on top of the plates, followed by the macadam, and soon the bridge will be in actual use.

Miss Mabel Clemmons, of West Fourth street, has gone to Newark for a short stay with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Demarest, of West Fourth street, are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a son.

BATTLING FOR LIFE.

Widow of Stonewall Jackson, Famous Southern Hero.

Has Recently Undergone an Operation from Whose Results She May Not Recover—Her Home Life at Charlotte, N. C.

Some weeks ago the widow of Gen Stonewall Jackson had a critical operation performed in a Baltimore hospital, and her friends are afraid that she will not recover from its effects Although now over 70 years old her face, according to a Charlotte (N. C.) correspondent of the Chicago Chronicle, retains much of the beauty which enthralled the then awkward, diffident young military cadet from Lexington when he first met her as Anna Morrison at the home of Gen. David Hill Her black, luxuriant hair has few traces of gray and her black eyes are piercing and lustrous still.

Since the death of Mrs. Jackson's only child, Mrs. Christian, several years ago, she has devoted her life to her grandchildren, who reside with her. Her home is a plain two-story building on Trade street, Charlotte, N. C. To the unpretentious dwelling, however, a picturesque charm is given by ivy and madeira vines climbing at will about the veranda, violet bordered walks leading to the hospitable doorway and stately magnolias casting their luxuriant foliage over the whole Within is the refined atmosphere of a typical southern home. In the drawing-room the most conspicuous object is a large oil painting of Gen. Jackson. Portraits of other heroes whose memories are still sacred in the hearts of old confederates are also hung everywhere upon the walls, interspersed with tattered flags and other trophies of the lost cause.

Here the widow of one of the great military geniuses of the world has passed her peaceful days, busied with her household duties or superintending the education of her grandchildren.

In her "Life of Jackson" she said: "The home of my girlhood was a large, old-fashioned house, surrounded by an extensive grove of pine forest trees, on a plantation in Lincoln county, N. C. My father was Rev Dr. Robert Hall Morrison, the first president of Davidson college. He was a graduate of the university of the state, and of the same class as President James K. Polk, Bishop Green and others of note in church and state."

MRS. STONEWALL JACKSON.
(Widow of Famous Southern Hero Now at Death's Door.)

Mrs. Jackson's mother was Mary Graham, daughter of Gen. Joseph Graham, of revolutionary fame, and sister of Gen. W. A. Graham, who was once secretary of the navy.

Mrs. Jackson was one of ten children, six daughters and four sons. She spent much of her early life in Washington with her uncle, Gen Graham. While on a visit to Lexington, Va., she met her future husband, then Prof. T. J. Jackson, whom she married in July, 1857. Gen. Jackson died in 1863, May 10, and left his widow and one child, a girl, Julia, who was but a few months old. The two and the skillful old nurse Hetty returned to the Morrison home in Lincoln county, where they lived a quiet life until Julia was ready to enter college, when the mother and child moved to Charlotte. After finishing school Julia married W. E. Christian, a talented newspaper man, now in the service of the Seaboard Air line railroad at Portsmouth, Va. Mrs. Jackson lived with the young couple in St. Paul, Minn., Minneapolis and other western towns up to 1889, when Mrs. Christian died, after which she returned to her home in Charlotte and brought with her Julia and Jackson Christian, her grandchildren. Miss Christian, sister of Mrs. Jackson's son-in-law, came to live with her.

Mrs. Jackson's Charlotte home is very near the Southern railway station, where an aged Mexican war veteran who served under Jackson has stood for years as guard. He took great pride in guarding Mrs. Jackson and lost no opportunity to point out the house to strangers. The house is a plain two-story frame building and the yard is adorned by several beautiful evergreen trees. When at home Mrs. Jackson lived a simple but pleasant life, surrounded by her bright grandchildren, who are now off at school.

Mrs. Jackson spent part of every year at Lexington, Va., her health permitting. It was there that she spent her married life and where her husband and daughter are buried.

Mrs. Jackson is an ideal southern lady of the old school. She is president of the Daughters of the Confederacy and regent of the Daughters of the Revolution.

LEADS LONELY LIFE.

Sultan of Turkey Rarely Leaves His Palace Grounds.

Has the True Moslem Aversion for Europeans—In Constant Fear of Assassination—His Daily Routine.

Abdul Hamid, sultan of Turkey, though strong of frame and full of muscular vigor, is cursed with an invalid temperament which makes him suspicious of everyone and least known of all picturesque and important personages. The pure Ottoman blood which came from his father, Abdul Medjib, is mingled with that of a less sturdy race, for his mother was an Armeno-Arab, and gave him his brown skin and that unmistakable air of languor and melancholy which is his chief characteristic. This trait has a certain charm for the rare persons who are admitted to his presence. But besides the ambassadors of the different countries few foreigners have ever seen him from a distance, and still fewer have entered the royal presence. No one, not even a humble tradesman who wishes to speak with one of the cooks of the royal kitchen, is permitted to enter the Yildiz grounds without showing a card and answering closely the half-dozen formal questions put to every man who demands admittance.

For Europeans, says the Chicago Record, the sultan has the true Moslem aversion. The fits of melancholy that tend to make him distrustful of all human kind usually mean a revival of all hatred for Christians, by whom he well knows that he is judged most harshly. That he appreciates the abilities of Europeans in some respects, however, is shown by the fact that all his coachmen, gardeners and upper servants are chosen from England, France and Italy, while it is well known that the Turkish army and navy and many public institutions count implicitly on the services of the hated foreigners. Al these persons are kept at a distance, nevertheless, and the sultan's bodyguard is made up exclusively from his own people.

Not long ago a famous European rifle rack advertised some exhibitions in the Pera quarter of the Turkish capital, where most of the foreign residents live. After the first exhibition

THE SULTAN OF TURKEY.
(Cannot Enjoy Life Because He Is Suspicious of Everybody.)

he was summoned before the grand vizier, who forbade further exhibitions already advertised. He obeyed the injunction and was about to leave the city when he was ordered to remain. Summoned again to the palace he was asked the amount of his yearly income from the practice of his profession. When he stated it he was informed that this sum would be granted him yearly on condition that he remain and live in Constantinople.

The sharpshooter agreed, and for awhile led a lazy, luxurious existence, without inquiring to what he was indebted for his curious situation. Finally he got tired, and remembering that he had a wife and child in Buda-Pesth took "French leave" of his royal patron, packed up his belongings and started on his journey. Two telegrams reached him before he arrived at the end of his trip, both from the grand vizier, imploring him to return, but he paid no attention to them, ignoring the still more brilliant inducements held out to him. After he had seen his wife, however, he was persuaded to return to Yildiz with his entire family, and was then told why so much fuss had been made over him. The officials responsible for the safety of the sultan feared that if the rifleman were not conciliated his prowess as a shot would attract the "Young Turkey" party to employ him to assassinate their master, and to do to the royal head what he had done with such nonchalance to the glass balls during his exhibitions. They preferred to give him permanent quarters in the beautiful Bosporous palace.

Except for a weekly journey to the mosque, Abdul Hamid never leaves the grounds of his palace, where a rigorously exact routine is followed. Black coffee, a walk among the artificial rivers, lakes and mountains of his park, a ride in his automobile or electric launch and an inspection of his wonderful hothouses make up the morning. The sultan is a good, practical workman, and often spends part of the afternoon with hammer and chisel in hand. To his minister of foreign affairs he has given an elaborately carved writing desk made by his own hand. He is also passionately fond of horses, and finds an hour to spare each day in which to visit his stables and instruct his men. A few audiences must also be given, and the sultan invariably puts them off until the last thing. When they are once over the day is finished. Now and then a concert or play is arranged for him, but he takes only languid interest in this sort of thing. His life seems destitute of interest or charm, and few of his immediate retainers will be surprised if he comes finally to a tragic end.

THE TALK NOW IS TO REUNITE DEMOCRATS

Party Leaders Discuss Ways to Cement All Factions for Future Political Work.

WANT TO RECLAIM JERSEY.

PLANS MAKING TO CARRY THE STATE NEXT YEAR.

Hopeful of Electing a Governor Next Year If Party Deserters Can be Brought Back Into the Fold.

As a result of the Democracy's crushing defeat in New Jersey, Democratic leaders in this section of the State are discussing ways and means by which the party can be so reorganized and reunited that success may be made certain for its nominee for Governor next fall. It is the belief of many of the leaders that such a conference as is proposed for the National Democratic leaders should be held in Jersey. There is no attempt to belittle the efforts of the State orgrnization during the campaign just past, but with the echoes of the lost battle ringing in their ears the leaders feel that no measures looking to the re-establishment of the party on its old-time footing can be too vigorous. In statements given out many of the leading Democrats of Northern Jersey say they believe it entirely possible to elect a Democratic Governor next year. With a united party, they say, it will be not only possible, but probable.

"There is nothing in the result of Tuesday's election to dishearten any Democrat," says State Chairman William B. Gourley. "A defeat of this character should not render the party less courageous. It is evident to me the result is due to the lack of confidence of the so-called business interests in Mr. Bryan and in the advocacy of free silver for which he conspicuously stood. No public question has been so emphatically condemned by the people in two great national elections. The New Jersey Democracy was never in accord with this principle."

Mr. Gourley's idea of reorganization is to eliminate from the political creed of the party those issues that are obnoxious to the Democrats of the State and get the voters together on State issues under leaders that will support these State issues and work to restore harmony. Under such conditions, he said, a Democratic Governor can be elected next fall.

Colonel Edward L. Price, chairman of the Democratic county committee, takes the same view. He says: "The New Jersey Democracy has been defeated in the recent election on national issues solely. With these eliminated from the contests of the immediate future, I see no reason why the Democracy of the State, if thorougly united, should not redeem New Jersey."

Mayor James M. Seymour, of Newark, a favored possibility for the Gubernatorial nomination, says: "With a return of first principles, the New Jersey Democracy can and will resume its old place."

Samuel Kalisch, one of the leading Democrats of Essex county, says: "I am unable to see why, having repudiated the silver heresy, the Democrats of New Jersey cannot reorganize on the broad principles of real Democracy. Such reorganization would mean success."

"I firmly believe the Democrats can elect a Governor next year," says Henry C. Kelsey, former Secretary of State. He urges reorganization and the abolition of "Bryan socialism of the most mischievous type." "If," says Robert Davis, "reorganization is necessary, the State committee should take the initial step." Mayor Hoos, of Jersey City; Henry D. Winton, of Bergen; Colonel Collins, of Union; Senator Van Cleef, of Middlesex, and other leaders also agree that reorganization on the old lines would mean an excellent chance of electing a Democratic Governor next year.

OFFICIAL RETURNS

Somerset County Gave Republicans 1,257 Majority.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Nov. 10—The official returns of Somerset county show a plurality of 1,257 for McKinley; Congressman Howell's plurality is 1,254, Assemblyman Hoagland's 1,252, County Clerk Somers 1,586, and Coroner Field's 1,242. This is a falling off from four years ago of 500 in McKinley's plurality. Bryan carried only 4 polling places out of the 24—Bedminster, Warren, Bernards, 1st, and Bridgewater, 5th. Hon. James J. Bergen did not even carry his own polling district, it going against him by 126.

FOR AMUSEMENT LOVERS

ATTRACTIONS THAT ARE TO BE SEEN SOON IN MUSIC HALL.

Plays of the Present Week All Gave Fine Satisfaction—A Benefit Performance for Dunellen Man.

Three fine dramatic presentations were seen at Music Hall the past week which were highly praised by appreciative audiences, and which, with the exception of "Fedora" Monday night, were largely attended. "Fedora" was really one of the best entertainments ever given under the management of Maze Edwards, and had it not been the night before election there undoubtedly would have been a better-sized audience. "What Happened to Jones" delighted large audiences at both afternoon and evening performances Tuesday, and the reading of the election returns at night was a pleasing feature. The celebrated Robert Fitzsimmons, in his new play, "The Honest Blacksmith," had a large and appreciative audience Thursday night.

Another week of interesting and praiseworthy plays will be inaugurated Tuesday night of next week when "M'liss," the play made famous by the late Annie Pixley, will be presented for the first time in this city. Miss McHenry is said to have made great success in the title role.

Josephine Sabel of "A Hot Time in the Old Town" fame, will be the star in the new musical comedy, "The Soldiers' Queen," next Thursday night. Miss Sabel plays the part of Lillian Swift, the daughter of a rather frisky commander in a military post of New York State, and the celebrated chanteuse has a role which affords abundant opportunity for the display of her talents as an actress and singer. Schilzon's Hungarian Boys' Band of thirty-one pieces, which has been pronounced the best boys band in the world, will be another unique feature of the musical programme. There is a capable dramatic company supporting Miss Sabel.

A concert and entertainment for the benefit of Chas. Roberts, well known in Grand Army circles, will be given on Monday, 19th inst. Alfred E. Pearsall, the well known elocutionist and editor of the Westfield Standard, assisted by Miss Marie Budworth, accompanist, Harry W. Elder, humorist and vocalist, and Miss Ione Chamberlin, daughter of Emily Thorne Jordan, a noted beauty and actress of former years and the late John Chamberlin, of Washington, will take part in the entertainment. Miss Chamberlin will be seen in a musical sketch, the incidents of which are taken from Dicken's 'Old Curiosity Shop," in the character of Little Nell, and Mr. Pearsall will sing, and also recite "The Capture of Lookout," by Calhoun. After this will come "The King of the Opium Ring" on Friday, 23d inst., Washburn Minstsels on 26th and "Uncle Josh Spruceby" will be the Thanksgiving Day attraction.

SOCIABLE OF B'S AND C'S.

Pleasant Time for the Members of First Presbyterian Church.

The second of a series of sociables at the First Presbyterian church took place last evening under the auspices of the B's and C's. A large number were in attendance and listened to an excellent programme in which Miss Charlotte Cave and Miss Jessie McKillop were the main contributors. The former rendered several pleasing violin solos, accompanied on the piano by Miss Lottie Remsen. Miss McKillop gave a very entertaining humorous reading, depicting the trials and tribulations of a country couple in New York. At the conclusion of the programme, refreshments were passed, during the disposal of which general sociability was indulged in. Those who had charge of the affair were Miss Sallie Boss, chairman, Mrs. Eugene Cave, Mrs. Kenney, Mrs. Abram Cadmus, Mrs. Dr. Currie, Mrs. J. B. Berkaw and Miss Bittenbender, comprising the social and decorating committee and Mrs. Charles Hummer, Miss Edith Pruden, Harry Williams and Edwin Burroughs, of the entertainment committee.

Inspected W. R. C.

The Woman's Relief Corps was inspected last evening by the Department President, Mrs. Drewell, of Trenton. The Corps was found to be in first-class condition in every respect and received the congratulations of the chief officer. Among the visitors present was Mrs. James Atwood, of Trenton.

—Everybody invited to our opening today; souvenirs to purchasers; a market basket to each purchaser of one pound baking powder. Grand Union Tea Co., 138 West Front street.

BOWLERS PREPARE FOR DAILY PRESS LEAGUE

Meeting Will be Held Monday Night to Arrange Plans for the Winter.

WILL MAKE SCHEDULE.

FOUR CLUBS ARE EXPECTED TO JOIN THE LEAGUE THIS WINTER.

Daily Press Trophy Was Won Last Year by Roselle Casino—Park Club Will Enter a Team of Young Men, Captained by Allan B. Laing.

Now that the cold weather is here and the bowling enthusiasts have begun to settle down to work The Daily Press Bowling League comes to the front. Last season The Daily Press put up a handsome silver cup, which was to become the permanent property of the first club in the league to win it three times. The Roselle Casino won the tournament last year, the other teams in the league being from the Park Club, of this city, the Cranford Casino and the Westfield Club.

A meeting has been called for Monday evening at The Daily Press office when The Daily Press League will elect officers for this year and arrange the schedule for the winter. It is expected that the same four teams which competed last year will enter the tournament this season.

The Park Club will be represented by a team of young men. C. L. Nichols, chairman of the bowling committee of the club, has appointed Allan B. Laing as captain of the Park Club team and Laing is arranging for an active season. Last season F. O. Ball was the captain but the pressure of business will prevent him from taking any active part in the work this season. The other set, who have represented the Park Club on the alleys in the past, have decided that it is time to give the young blood a chance so the Park Club team will be largely composed of the younger set. The great success of the young whist four has encouraged the bowlers to hope for equal success on the alleys.

One evening a week the alleys have been turned over to the team for practice. The team has not yet been selected but, besides the captain, Laing, some of the likely candidates are Ralph B. Willis, William A. Townsend Laurans H. Van Buren, Morgan T. Townsend and Percy L. Long.

GRIEF KILLED HIM.

Walter Chaplain, Jr., Said to Have Died of a Broken Heart as a Result of Losing His Mother.

After grieving two weeks over the death of his mother, Walter Chaplain, Jr., was unable to survive her loss and died of a broken heart. The family formerly resided in this city but of late have been living in Newark. Two weeks ago last Monday Mrs. Chaplain succumbed to an attack of pneumonia. The body was brought to this city and buried in the North Plainfield cemetery.

Last Monday her son Walter, who was twenty-six years old, passed away from no other apparent reason than that of excessive grief. The funeral services were held Thursday and the remains were interred beside those of his parent. Mr. Chaplain, Sr., is a plumber and has an office at Newark.

HOWELL'S PLURALITY 5,625.

Nearly Eight Times Greater Than it Was Two Years Ago.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Nov. 10—The official canvass of the vote of the county of Middlesex yesterday showed but minor changes from the returns already published. The official figures show the following votes and pluralities: McKinley, 9,348; Bryan, 7,192; McKinley's plurality, 2,156. For Congress, Howell, 9,437; Bergen, 7,103; Howell's plurality, 2,334. For Senator, Strong, 9,296. VanCleef, 7,224; Strong's plurality, 2,072.

The official canvass of Somerset and Monmouth counties shows that Somerset gave Benjamin F. Howell, Rep., for Congress, 1,302 plurality, and Monmouth gave him 1,989, making his total plurality in the district, 5,625. In 1898, his plurality in the district over Patrick Convery, Dem., was 728. Both Middlesex and Monmouth gave majorities for Convery in 1898, and it was only Somerset's big plurality that saved him.

C. J. FISK MAY RUN AGAIN FOR MAYOR.

Strong Sentiment to See Him Head the Republican Ticket in Coming Local Election.

WILL HIS HEALTH PERMIT?

COUNCILMAN BUCKLE'S FRIENDS WANT HIM FOR CHIEF EXECUTIVE.

City Campaign is Formally Opened by Call for Republican Primaries and City Convention Issued by Republican City Committee.

As the formal opening of the municipal campaign the Republican city committee issued the call at a meeting last night for the ward primaries and city convention. The date for the primaries was set for Monday evening, Nov. 19th. The city convention will be held the Saturday evening following.

The meeting of the Republican city committee last evening wound up the affairs of the National campaign and began those of the one preceding, the charter election. Every bill against the city committee was paid and there was still money in the treasury. This was a state of affairs very satisfactory to the committee.

According to the call issued by the committee primaries will be held in the usual meeting place under the Roger Murray system. At them there will be nominated candidates for ward Councilmen, Justices of the Peace and Constable, one of each in each of the four wards. There will also be elected delegates to the city convention, which will be held in Republican headquarters.

As to the basis of representation at the city convention, it will as usual, one delegate for each fifty, or fraction thereof over twenty-five, Republican ballots cast at the last city election. In the past the vote has so been that the balance of power in the convention has been evenly divided between the First and Fourth wards on one side and the Second and Third wards on the other. The Republican vote last December was very light in the Second and Third wards and the result is that their representation in the city convention this year will be much smaller than usual.

According to the figures of last December's election, the representation at the convention on the 24th, will be as follows: First ward, 9; Second ward, 7; Third ward, 7; Fourth ward, 11.

As was exclusively stated in the Daily Press, there is a growing feeling in favor of the nomination of Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk for city executive and it seems likely to assume strong proportions if encouraged at all by Mr. Fisk. Just at present, Councilman J. F. Buckle is the strongest candidate in the field. He has repeatedly stated, however, that he does not seek the position and while he will accept the nomination if tendered him he will not make the slightest effort to secure it. Many of his friends in the First ward are anxious to see him head the Republican ticket this fall and it is quite likely that he will have his name presented at the city convention.

Arranging for Red Men's Fair.

A meeting of the joint committees from Iona Council and Wetumpkah Miantonomo tribes was held Thursday evening to arrange for a Red Men's fair in this city. It was decided to hold it the week beginning December 19, at Washington hall. Another meeting of the joint committees will be held this evening when details for the fair will be arranged.

Auction Sale of Damaged Goods.

The damaged straw and hay in the A. L. Cadmus building on South Second street, which was ruined by fire last Monday, was sold this morning by Hand & Pangborn, auctioneers. There were about forty different lots disposed of, and something over $300 was realized from the sale.

PRICE OF MEAT JUMPS UP IN PLAINFIELD.

A General Increase of a Quarter of a Cent a Pound to the Retailers.

CENT HIGHER IN MARKETS.

MEANS AN IMMENSE PROFIT TO THE BIG COMPANIES.

The Chicago Packers Declare That the Increase Immediately After Election is Merely a Coincidence.

The Union Beef Company and the Plainfield Beef Company, the two concerns that supply the local meat dealers with their stock, today gave notice to their customers that, commencing Monday, there would be a general increase of about one-quarter of a cent a pound on all grades of meat—beef, pork and mutton. This will compel the retail dealers to raise the price one cent a pound on all cuts to their customers, in order to keep up the average of their margin.

A dispatch from Chicago says that in one year the additional cent will yield to the Chicago packers, basing the estimate upon last year's business, the following sums: Dressed beef, $15,000,000; dressed pork and pork products, $20,000,000; mutton, $4,000,000; total addition to incomes, $39,000,000.

Retailers of meats were thrown into a panic by the unexpected rise in price. Many who had carcasses in their coolers declined to buy until they could figure out what they would need need at the new rate. In the adjustment of prices in Chicago choice cuts of beef have gone up as much as five cents, pork tenderloin jumped up the same extent and mutton chops went up three cents. The advance by the packers is more than 10 per cent on the price of meat the day before election. The advance by the retailer to the consumer will average 25 per cent. for the waste in a carcass doubles the increased cost of the salable portion.

The packers claim they have been selling dressed meats at a loss for several years. In six months the price of meat stuffs has gone up $2.50 per hundred pounds. There has been no corresponding advance in the price of cattle, hogs and sheep. Representatives of the packers in charge of the dressed meat department say the advance was justified by the condition of the trade, and its imposition on the heels of the election is only a coincidence.

FELL THROUGH A BRIDGE.

Central Brakeman Knocked From a Caboose While the Train Was Passing Over the Structure.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, November 10.—James P. English, Jr., a brakeman on the Central Railroad, lies at his home on Rahway avenue, badly injured as a result of an accident that befell him Thursday. English was on the front platform of his caboose when he noticed that it had broken away from the rest of the train, and he attempted to jump to the car ahead which was rapidly leaving the caboose. He missed the car and fell between them. The train at the time was on a bridge and English went right through and down to the ground twenty feet below. He was picked up and sent to his home in this town. Dr. R. R. Sinclair found that there were no bones broken but that the patient might be injured inwardly. His face is badly cut, one arm is hurt, one wrist is sprained and his whole body is a mass of bruises.

STATE BOARD APPOINTED.

Six Senators From as Many Counties to Canvass State Vote.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Nov. 11.—Governor Voorhees yesterday appointed the following Senators from the counties named to constitute the State Board of Canvassers: Joseph Cross, Union; Johnston Cornish, Warren; H. W. Johnston, Camden; C. Asa Francis, Monmouth; Charles A. Reed, Somerset, and Christian Braun, Passaic. The Board will meet Tuesday, the 27th inst., to canvas the vote in the State, the Governor presiding.

Governor Voorhees issued orders yesterday for the mustering in next Tuesday of a new military company at Montclair, which will take the place of Company K, of that place, which was recently disbanded for failure to attend drills and inefficiency. The new company will be largely composed of the former members of Company K, but with new officers.

NO COUNCIL MEETING.

THE BOROUGH SOLONS LACKED A QUORUM LAST EVENING.

Another Meeting to be Held Next Wednesday—Gas Bill of the Borough Thought to be Too High.

Mayor Smalley, Councilmen Lee and Clark and Clerk Rowley were the only members of the Borough Council to put in an appearance last evening. Being one short of a quorum no meeting could be held, and the Clerk was instructed to call a meeting for next week Wednesday evening, when it is the intention of the members to receive and consider the report of the Somerset street commissioners. Mr. Rowley was instructed to write the commissioners and ask them to have their report ready at that time.

It is also expected that matters pertaining to the repair of the extension of Duer street will be considered at the meeting. It is the desire of the Mayor and Council to adjust this matter as soon as possible as the work on the new bridge is nearing completion and the street will soon be opened to the public.

The Plainfield Gas Company's bill to the Borough for furnishing light was received last evening. The figures were pretty high and Mayor Smalley thought it best to return the same and ask the company to make a thorough inspection of the pipes and meter before paying the same. For sometime past there has been an increase in the light bill and the officials cannot account for it inasmuch as they use so little gas.

FIRE ALARM OUT OF ORDER.

Incessant Ringing of the Bell in the Borough This Morning—Investigating the Cause.

There was trouble with the borough fire alarm system this morning and the whole community was startled by the incessant ringing of the bell. The members of the fire department responded and a team of horses were hooked to the hose wagon ready to go out in case of fire. It was decided, however, that there was no fire.

No cause for the ringing of the bell could be given and it was decided to investigate at once. The supposition is that there is a break in a wire or else wires have become crossed. The indicator showed all sorts of figures and it was impossible to get head or tail to the alarm. Firemen ascended the bell tower and scanned the horizon for signs of a fire, but there was not the slightest sign of one anywhere.

It seemed to be the general opinion of many that it is about time the borough made arrangements for the proper care of the fire alarm system in the borough, similar to those used in this city. It would cost but little more and there would be a great deal more satisfaction.

LAUGHABLE FARCES.

An Entertainment to be Given in St. Mary's Hall Next Week by Local Talent.

Next Thursday week, Nov. 22, at 8 o'clock in the evening, two of the most laughable farces yet produced by local talent will be given in St. Mary's School Hall. The vehicles for the fun are named "The Good for Nothing" and "That Rascal Pat," and Charles Ward, a favorite, will portray the title part in "That Rascal Pat." The droll ways of the unfortunate servant who hires himself to two masters caused by his unhesitating leniency to turn an honest penny.

The O'Keefe Brothers will introduce novel characters in "The Good for Nothing," while Miss Josie Murphy in the title part pictures the wiles and ways of a street urchin with an occasional turn of true sympathy for her true adopted fathers. The cast contains many other familiar names who help along with the fun that needs only to be seen to be appreciated.

HAVOC OF THE WIND

Slight Damage Done in Various Parts of the City Yesterday.

Yesterday's high wind caused considerable damage in various parts of the city and borough. The most serious yet reported was the blowing down of a telephone pole at the corner of Grove street and Linden avenue, which in its descent struck the residence of James Lewis. A portion of the roof was badly damaged and a front portico crushed in. The telephone company will have all repairs made at once at their own expense.

A door in the Plainfield Furniture Company's store was slammed by the wind with such forch that the large plate glass in it was completely shattered. The glass was a very expensive one, being the entire length of the door. There were also a number of signs blown away from various stores, most of which were recovered by the owners without any damage.

BID $1.10 FOR THE RUSHMORE PROPERTY.

But in Doing So the Purchaser Has to Assume Mortgages to Amount of $27,000.

IS CENTRAL INTERESTED?

NEW YORKER MAY HAVE BOUGHT IT FOR THE RAILROAD COMPANY.

All the Property of Dr. Edward Rushmore Was Offered at Auction Sale—Fair Prices Were Received for Most of It.

Edward White, trustee in the matter of Edward Rushmore, bankrupt, offered for sale yesterday at public auction the real estate and personal property at the corner of Watchung avenue and Fourth street, and two vacant lots at Netherwood, formerly owned by Dr. Rushmore. The sale was conducted under Mr. White's supervision by Hezikiah Hand, of the firm of Hand & Pangborn, auctioneers. There was a number of persons present, all of whom were interested in the disposition of the property offered for sale.

Everything was disposed of. There was a great deal of personal property in the mill, including machinery, wagons, belting, lumber and in fact everything needed to operate such a mill. The office furniture, including a safe, steam radiators, etc., were also sold. In many cases bidders could get things at their own price.

The two vacant lots at Netherwood were purchased by Senator Charles A. Reed for $2, he to assume all obligations on the same. About $1,300 was realized from the sale of the personal property, and George B. Eddy, a dealer in second-hand furniture at 398 Madison street, New York, purchased about half of it, his purchases amounting to nearly $700. Other purchasers were H. and J. Heidericker, of Elizabeth; Sargent Bros., of Somerville; H. J. Roaddy, of New York; John Herman, R. H. McCullough, D. N. Force and Mr. Loizeaux, of this city.

The sale offered some bargains. For instance, the coal elevators which cost Dr. Rushmore $1,000 were sold for $2. Two coal wagons were sold for $17 and $35 respectively, and a great deal of the machinery went at very low prices. One person purchased a large package of packing material for 50 cents, and it could not be duplicated for $12. One of the large office desks was bought for $1.

The greatest interested centered in the sale of the real estate property where the mill stands. Senator Reed, who is the attorney for the trustee, read the description of the property and when offered for sale he made a bid of $1 for the property. It looked for minute as though the Senator would get the property. He did not, however, for Mr. Eddy, of New York, raised the bid ten cents and Mr. Hand knocked it down to him at that price. Mr. Eddy at once signed the articles of agreement which provides that he shall assume the mortgages, amounting to about $27,000 and held by three different parties.

In the purchase of this property there was considerable conjecture as to who Mr. Eddy might represent. Many believed that he indirectly represented the Jersey Central Railroad Company, who, it is known, desired to get control of it so as to complete the improvements now under way. Now that the siding has been taken away by the compay the property is not so desirable as before, that is to others beside the company. Mr. Eddy did not disclose any motive for taking the property, and those who were directly interested in the sale had no reasons to offer. Mr. Eddy paid the $1.10, and signed the agreements, thereby making the sale a bona fide one.

A late report this afternoon is to the effect that Mr. Eddy purchased the property for speculation solely and that the railroad company is not interested in it. He is not obligated to pay the mortgages, but those who hold mortgages will be forced to buy Mr. Eddy out to foreclose. He being a resident of New York, it will cost those holding mortgages $200 or $300 to serve legal papers and advertise the affairs of the business.

LITERARY

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly has a large subscription list, but it should be larger. Its management is more energetic, its plans better than ever before. As an added stimulus toward an increase, the Monthly offers no less than two hundred and sixty four (264) prizes in cash to the men and women, boys and girls who show most energy in securing new subscribers. This offer means that time and energy will be well paid for.

The price of the magazine is one dollar a year. Its contents appeal directly to people who care for good and timely literature. A few spare hours a week will add to your income substantially. A new short story by Robert Barr, entitled "The Wizard of Wall Street," in Everybody's Magazine for November, has never been exceeded in its quality of interest by anything from the pen of that popular writer. In its conception of certain Wall Street types, it is peculiarly true to life. "Kuang Hsu, Emperor of China," is the title of an illustrated article which deals with the personal side of that almost unknown personality, and which clearly explains the underlying causes of the Emperor's leaning towards Western civilization and of his evident desire to adopt measures of sweeping reform to his Empire.

Perhaps the most timely article in McClure's Magazine for November is A Woman's Diary of the Siege of Pekin, by Mrs. E. K. Lowry, one of besieged missionaries in the legations last summer. This vivid narrative by an eye witness of most of the events described is sure to command attention at a time when the eyes of all the world are turned to the Far East. It is in a true sense history from original documents.

—A dime sociable under the auspices of Martha Washington Council, Daughter of America, will be held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Page, Elmwood place, Tuesday evening.

—There is no pleasure in life if you dread going to the table to eat and can't rest at night on account of indigestion. Henry Williams, of Boonville, Ind., says he suffered that way for years, till he commenced the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, and adds, "Now I can eat anything I like and all I want and sleep soundly every night." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will digest what you eat. L. W. Randolph.

Will Huff, of this city, has been visiting his cousin, Miss Eva Tunison, of Somerville.

Miss Nettie Beeching, of Watchung, has returned from a visit with New York friends.

Business Looking Up Since Election. Iron Market Encouraging.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Business has displayed remarkable nerve during the trying weeks of the presidential canvass, but now money promises to be plentiful enough for prosecution of all legitimate enterprises, and heavy contracts for raw materials and manufactured goods are being negotiated. In the small stocks of goods carried in almost all lines there is reason to look for an increased volume of business, which will be fairly sustained. Prices of raw material, except grain, show a tendency to improve, and the working force has been increased since election by resumption of full operation in factories.

Wall street at once advanced prices sharply for railroads and industrials when election returns came in, easily sweeping away the opposition of those traders whose motto is to sell everything on good news. London, which is obligated largely to New York for options on stocks, was also a heavy seller, about 180,000 shares on balance for the week; but these offerings were all absorbed at a rising level of quotations by the heavy demand from outside interests which had long been waiting for the removal of what seemed to be the last obstacle to a sustained and healthy market.

Iron markets are in encouraging condition. No violent speculation is threatened, but in numerous instances better demand has caused small advances. The most notable change thus far is in pig iron, which is eagerly sought at all markets, large contracts being placed at 25 and 50 cents a ton above bottom point recently quoted.

Spot cotton has not advanced as expected on the approach of frost. Actual damage has not come, and belief in a current yield of 10,500,000 bales is stronger. British exports of yarns and cloth in October showed a loss, making the total for the year very heavy. Russian ports send out wheat freely, and even in Argentina the outlook for the crop is less discouraging, although the quality in some districts will be inferior. Speculative selling here for foreign account meets every advance, and exports are behind last year's. Western receipts are fairly large, but the movement of corn into sight and out of the country is extremely light. A heavy cut in the price of refined sugar by all the large interests brings standard granulated down to 5.60 cents.

Tardy winter weather is making havoc with textile industries.

Failures for the week were 201 in the United States against 157 last year and 18 in Canada against 23 last year.

UP GOES MEAT.

Chicago Packers Add One Cent a Pound to Provisions.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—A flat increase of 1 cent a pound was put upon beef, pork and mutton yesterday by Chicago packers. In one year the additional cent will yield to the Chicago packers, basing the estimate upon last year's business, the following sums: Dressed beef, $15,000,000; dressed pork and pork products, $20,000,000; mutton, $4,000,000; total addition to incomes, $39,000,000.

Retailers of meats were thrown into a panic by the unexpected rise in price. Many who had carcasses in their coolers declined to buy until they could figure out what they would need at the new rate. In the adjustment of prices to the consumers choice cuts of beef have gone up as much as 5 cents, pork tenderloin jumped to the same extent, and mutton chops went up 3 cents. The advance by the packers is more than 10 per cent on the price of meat the day before election. The advance by the retailer to the consumer will average 25 per cent, for the waste in a carcass doubles the increased cost of the salable portion.

The packers claim they have been selling dressed meats at a loss for several years. In six months the price of meat stuffs has gone up $2.50 per 100 pounds. There has been no corresponding advance in the price of cattle, hogs and sheep.

Representatives of the packers in charge of the dressed meat department say the advance was justified by the condition of the trade and its imposition on the heels of the election is but a coincidence.

Attacked by a River Pirate.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—George Morgan, a private in the marine corps, while on sentry duty at the Brooklyn navy yard, was attacked by a river pirate early yesterday morning, and in defending himself, after his wrist had been broken, struck the man with the butt of his rifle. The river thief fell from the pier into the water and disappeared beneath the surface. It is believed that he was drowned. Another man who had entered the yard with him in a boat rowed away rapidly. He was not captured.

Seven Dead In Railway Wreck.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—An express train between Frankfort-on-the-Main and Berlin was telescoped at Offenbach station, four miles southeast of Frankfort, yesterday by an ordinary train. The gas exploded in two carriages of the express train, and they were burned. Seven disfigured bodies have been found.

Guide Killed While Hunting.

MALONE, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Peter Sheffield, a guide whose home was at Downe, N. Y., was shot and almost instantly killed while hunting with a party in the vicinity of his home yesterday afternoon, having been mistaken for a deer. The name of the person who shot him could not be learned.

CHINESE SITUATION.

Alleged Insult to British Flag Not Seriously Considered.

RUSSIAN ANNEXATION CAUSES NO FEAR

Count von Waldersee's Plan of Campaign Contemplates Forcing Return of Emperor and Empress Dowager to Peking.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—The German foreign office has been informed regarding the alleged insult offered by Russian troops at Shan-hai-kwan to the British flag. It believes that, if there be any foundation for the report, the incident will probably be immediately adjusted by the higher officers.

Nothing has been heard officially by the foreign office concerning the alleged annexation by Russia of the left bank of the Pei-ho at Tien-tsin. It is thought here that the report probably means that Russia is carrying out her intention proclaimed long ago of acquiring a settlement in Tien-tsin, where Great Britain, Germany and France already have settlements.

Cablegrams from Dr. Mumm von Schwartzenstein, the German minister in China, are frequently received by the foreign office, but these contain, as a rule, only what is not adapted, foreign office officials assert, for premature publication, and Germany, like the other powers, maintains silence as to the information received from her representative.

A statement was made in high military circles to the effect that Count von Waldersee's plan of campaign principally contemplates forcing the return of Emperor Kwang Su and the empress dowager to Peking by pushing expeditions nearer to them, cutting off their supplies and preventing large re-enforcements from reaching them.

Reformer Would Not Confess.

CANTON, Nov. 10.—The reformer Szki-Nu, the leading man in the antidynastic party organized by Sun-Yat-Sen, who was sentenced to death in connection with the recent yamen explosion here, was repeatedly tortured in order to extort a confession from him, but he refused to make a statement in connection with the explosion.

Thanksgiving In Berlin.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—United States Embassador White presided over a well attended meeting yesterday at which a committee was appointed to make arrangements for Thanksgiving day. The committee consists of Mr. White, Professor Miller, Consul General Mason and Messrs. Griscom, Hanson, McFadden and Schierbrand. The celebration will consist of a banquet and dance at the Kaiserhof, with patriotic songs. Dr. Harnanek, rector of the University of Berlin, will be invited to speak, and Embassador White will deliver the principal address. An unusually large attendance is expected.

General Otis Takes Command.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Major General Elwell S. Otis arrived in Chicago yesterday and at once took command of the department of the lakes in accordance with recent orders of the war department. General James S. Wade, who had been in command temporarily since the retirement of Major General Wheeler about two months ago, has left for his regular station in St. Paul. General Otis' first day in this department was a quiet one. He made no immediate changes in the order of procedure established by his predecessors and intimated that it is not his intention to do so in the future.

Andrade's Property Restored.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Word has been received from Venezuela that the government has restored to former President Andrade all his real estate and property confiscated at the time of the recent revolution. The ex-president is now living in New York with his brother, former Minister Andrade, who was the Venezuelan representative in Washington for many years and up to the time of the overthrow of President Andrade. Although the president's property is restored to him, it is understood that he will remain in New York.

Drivers Tie Up a Mine.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 10.—The driver boys employed at No. 5 mine of the Delaware and Hudson company at Plymouth went on strike because of a new rule promulgated by the company which the boys considered obnoxious. The strike of the drivers caused a suspension of work at the colliery for the day. All the miners of the Delaware and Hudson company are about to send a petition to General Superintendent Rose at Scranton asking him to pay the employees every two weeks.

Drummer Dead In the Car.

LEBANON, Pa., Nov. 10.—As a passenger train was about to leave the local station yesterday the dead body of William Lineaweaver was discovered sitting erect in a seat. He had just taken the train for his home in Lancaster, Pa., where he leaves a wife and seven children. Death resulted from heart disease. Lineaweaver was a traveling salesman for a Lancaster firm of wholesale grocers.

Iron Workers' Strike Settled.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 10.—Officials of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers announce the settlement of the strikes at the Riverside Iron works of the National Tube company and the Bessemer (Ala.) plant of the Tennessee Iron, Steel and Railroad company. The resumption of the two plants will give employment to 8,000 men.

Corbin Will Remain.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Adjutant General Corbin has abandoned his proposed trip to Europe. The absence of Secretary Root, occasioned by ill health, and the near approach of congress brought about this change in General Corbin's plans.

McKinley to Bryan.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—President McKinley yesterday answered Mr. Bryan's message of congratulation in the following dispatch: "I acknowledge with cordial thanks your message of congratulation and extend you my good wishes."

Naval Movements.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Admiral Schley's flagship, the Chicago, has arrived at Montevideo. The torpedo boat McKee arrived at Newport from New York. The Pompey sailed from Philadelphia for Lambert's Point.

PEARY'S POLE HUNT

EXPLORER STAYING AT FORT CONGER.

Dr. Kann, Back From Far North, Brings Interesting News From Both the Peary and Sverdrup Arctic Expeditions.

EDINBURGH, Nov. 10.—It now appears that Dr. Leopold Kann is the only member of his party of arctic scientific exploration who arrived at Dundee on the whaler Eclipse from Davis' strait. Dr. Robert Stein of the United States geological survey decided at the eleventh hour not to come to Scotland, but to await the first opportunity of being landed on the American side. Mr. Samuel Warmbath of Boston preferred to remain at Cape Sabine for a time.

In an interview Dr. Kann gave some interesting details regarding the Peary and Sverdrup expeditions.

"Lieutenant Peary's party," he said, "passed the winter at Etah, on Smith's sound, near the spot where Dr. Hayes had his winter quarters in 1860 and not far from the scene of the Greely disaster. In February and March of this year Fort Magnesia, our winter house at Bedford, on Pym island, was thrice visited by the members of his expedition. On the first occasion Dr. Hansen's party came, on the second a party under Dr. Dederick and later Lieutenant Peary himself in command of a sledging party.

"He reported that about ten months previously he had met Sverdrup in the Kane basin, north of Smith's sound. From conversations I elicited that some feeling had been engendered between Lieutenant Peary and Sverdrup, the former rather resenting what he considered the latter's intrusion into ground which, for exploring purposes, the American was inclined to regard as his own.

"Sverdrup's party had thoroughly explored the Ellesmere hinterland, mapping out a region that was hitherto a blank on the charts. Many of Sverdrup's flags were seen by us.

"In the course of our hunting expeditions in this great tract of country quantities of musk oxen were found on what seemed to be old and established feeding grounds.

"When the Peary and Sverdrup parties separated, Sverdrup's understood intention was to explore the vast area of land and water in and around Jones' sound beyond Cape Eden. I believe Sverdrup, on the Fram, is now wintering in Jones' sound, and my opinion, which is backed by that of the Dundee whalers, is that it will be impossible for the Fram to come home this year. The autumn has been very tempestuous, and the ice was such as to render navigation next to impossible.

"The natives at Petravic reported that they had returned from Fort Conger, whither they had gone to victual the station.

"Lieutenant Peary had 200 dogs and 27 sledges; but, having underrated the difficulties of the journey and not having a sufficiency of food, most of his dogs died. He only kept a few natives at Fort Conger during the summer season, and the rest of the Eskimos, with Lieutenant Peary, returned to the settlement in a few days, so that the journey was extremely arduous, and the party suffered great hardships.

"I am certain that Lieutenant Peary is now wintering at Fort Conger. When I left Cape York on the Eclipse June 9, the Windward was expected to touch there about the middle of July, where orders from Lieutenant Peary which I had brought were left with the Eskimos.

"Dr. Stein and myself discovered a melancholy record of the Sverdrup expedition near Fort Magnesia in the grave of Dr. Svensden with the inscription, 'Died June 9, 1899,' which was nearly two months before the arrival of our party."

Dr. Kann will remain in Dundee for several days, going then to London and later to Vienna.

Train Robber Shot At.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 10.—An attempt was made to hold up the train on the Pennsylvania railroad near Richmond, this state, by a man who tried to batter down the door of the combination express and baggage car. He had taken a plank from the tender and had forced the door partly open when he demanded the surrender of the keys to the safe. Express Messenger Taylor handed his revolver to Baggageman Crane and ran back through the car to warn the passengers and to get more weapons, not knowing how many men were upon the platform of the car. The conductor and brakeman rushed to the scene, and just as they reached the express car Crane fired two shots at the robber through the partly open door, and the man jumped from the train and escaped in the darkness.

Nebraska's Vote.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 10.—Returns from 87 of the 90 counties in the state give McKinley a majority of almost 7,500. The counties to hear from are small and will not change the figures given much. The legislature is very close, and its control depends upon the result of the official count in Douglas county, which has 12 members, and in four outlying districts. There is little reason to doubt that the Republicans will have at least three majority on joint ballot, although the fusionists say they have a majority of two. Dietrich (Rep.) is apparently elected governor by 989, but the fusionists say Poynter has been elected by 470.

Cherokee Treasury Robbed.

TAHLEQUAH, I. T., Nov. 10.—Evidences of extensive fraud have been found in the auditor's office of the Cherokee nation. The special commission authorized by the legislature last year to investigate it has reported to the principal chief of the Cherokee nation that the national certificates paid exceeded the number issued by $194,000. The report declares that high handed robbery has been going on for the last five years, and there is no way of determining how great the fraud is.

Diphtheria Scare.

NYACK, N. Y., Nov. 10.—A diphtheria scare has developed at Nanuet, Rockland county, and the public school there has closed. Several children are ill with the disease of a serious type, and an epidemic is feared.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; warmer and cloudy; probably rain; diminishing westerly winds.

GENERAL BULLER RETURNS.

Great Demonstration at Southampton—Roberts Reports Successes.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—General Sir Redvers Buller, on the Dunvegan Castle, from Cape Town, reached the quay at Southampton last evening at half past 8. He was greeted by Lord Wolseley and his staff, as well as an immense assembly of townspeople. At 9 o'clock he sat down to the mayoral banquet, the first of a long series of functions in his honor. After the banquet he was compelled to appear and acknowledge from the balcony of the hotel a great demonstration, and the crowds promenaded to and fro in front of the hotel, serenading him and singing patriotic songs until a late hour.

Lord Roberts, telegraphing from Johannesburg under date of Nov. 8, gives details of the defeat of the Boers in an engagement three miles south of Bothaville, in which 23 of the enemy were killed, 30 wounded and 100 taken prisoners, while seven guns were captured by the British, who lost three officers and four men killed. Lord Roberts says in his dispatch:

"Colonel Le Gallais was heavily engaged for five hours with 1,000 Boers. Knox re-enforced Le Gallais and completely defeated the Boers. De Wet and Steyn, with the Boers, left in great haste and were pursued some miles to the southeast. The enemy broke up into small parties. Le Gallais was among the killed. Steyn's secretary, De Villiers, was wounded and captured."

Awaiting Kruger.

MARSEILLES, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Eloff has arrived here to await the arrival of Mr. Kruger, her grandfather, on the Dutch cruiser Gelderland. In the course of an interview she said: "The difficulties surrounding Great Britain are so great that the Boers are convinced they will finally gain the upper hand. We have the greatest confidence in the journey of the president, who, in spite of his great age and fatigue, will travel across Europe. He only decided to come because he has in his possession a very efficacious means of action."

NAVAL EXPENSES.

Paymaster Kenny's Annual Report Deals With Large Figures.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The annual report of Paymaster General Kenny of the navy deals in large figures. He shows that last year he spent $10,659,000 on account of construction and purchase of ships, $3,933,000 for repairs to ships, $11,715,000 to keep ships in commission, including pay; $1,589,000 for the marine corps and $56,983 for the naval militia.

The paymaster general says that the naval storehouse at Cavite has proved of great value as a supply base, and the bureau intends to meet the demands of the fleet for supplies without purchasing on the station as far as possible. The refrigerator ships have been employed with the most satisfactory results and have been a veritable boon to the men.

The paymaster general makes an urgent plea for the creation of an inspection division in his office to look after the various yards and stations. He also asks for an increase of the pay corps and for recognition for the paymaster's clerks, including retirement. In conclusion the report suggests that the department be authorized to accept certified checks in lieu of bonds from contractors and sets out the need for additional storehouse buildings at Portsmouth, N. H.; Boston, League Island, Norfolk, Key West and Mare Island.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Secretary Root sailed for Cuba, to be absent two weeks.

Five persons were slightly injured in an accident to a Pennsylvania railroad train.

Bishop Potter testified before the industrial commission on sweat shops and arbitration.

Two Greek priests who came to New York to raise funds to build a church were deported.

The Nome gold output for the past season was estimated at $5,000,000, as compared with $2,000,000 in 1899.

Fire destroyed upward of 75 houses at Biloxi, a well known Mississippi summer resort near New Orleans, causing an estimated loss of more than $300,000.

Fears were felt in Cleveland for the safety of the steamer Kahyuga, reported as having been seen adrift and helpless as a result of Thursday's storm on Lake Erie.

Sir Charles Tupper to Retire.

HALIFAX, Nov. 10.—Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., the leader of the Conservative party in Canada, has announced his intention to retire from public life and spend his few remaining years with his family. He has been nearly 45 years in political harness and desired to resign two years ago, but the party was unwilling to consent. Conservative members in all the provinces within the last two days have offered to resign in his favor, but he declines, saying his personal defeat in Cape Breton gave him the opportunity to retire he had long wished for.

Two Killed by the Cars.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Nov. 10.—M. L. Elifrit, a hotel proprietor of Kingmont, W. Va., was struck by a passenger train and killed while walking along the Baltimore and Ohio track. He was 38 years old and left a family. Reuben Menefee, aged 73 years, father of "Jack" Menefee, the famous pitcher with the Chicago National league club, was struck by a Baltimore and Ohio fast freight near Garrett and instantly killed.

What It Cost Woodruff.

ALBANY, Nov. 10.—Lieutenant Governor Timothy L. Woodruff has filed his certificate showing what his expenses were for re-election. He expended $4,500, of which $3,000 went to the Kings County Republican Campaign club, $700 for traveling expenses for himself and stenographer, $100 each to the Eleventh and Twelfth assembly committees, $500 for postage and printing and $100 to the Commercial Travelers' league.

Nineteen Sailors Drowned.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Later details of the loss of the steam collier City of Vienna, which sank in the channel Thursday while bound from Swansea for Rotterdam after a collision with an unknown vessel, show that 19 of her crew were drowned.

Ferrell Refused New Trial.

MARYSVILLE, O., Nov. 10.—Judge Melhorn has overruled the motion for a new trial and sentenced Rosslyn Ferrell to be electrocuted on Friday, March 1, for the murder of Express Messenger Lane Aug. 10 last.

A WINTRY BLAST.

Much Damage Reported In Many Places—The First Snow.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The first touch of wintry weather came to town yesterday in the trail of a west wind which blew at the rate of 65 miles an hour. It made a sluiceway of lower Broadway and the narrow down town streets, lifting off hats and playing a thousand and one pranks with the unwary pedestrians who rounded corners incautiously. At the top of the skyscrapers windows rattled and papers blew around at a lively rate. No loss of life was reported in New York or Brooklyn, but stories of damage to buildings in the cities and suburbs were numerous.

Sing Sing reports a severe gale, accompanied by rain, all over Westchester county. Many rowboats and small yachts anchored in the Hudson were swamped or drifted away.

Throughout the extreme northwestern portion of Connecticut a small blizzard raged last night. The wind blew at a velocity of 50 miles an hour. Many of the streets in towns of that section are literally covered with branches of trees blown off by the high wind.

The east bound express over the Central New England railroad due in Winsted at 1:24 p. m. yesterday arrived two hours late. The delay was owing to the blowing down of telegraph poles between Aneram, N. Y., and Salisbury. Some of the passengers who got off the train at Winsted said the gale was so strong that it nearly blew the train off the track at Boston Corners, N. Y., and the engineer was obliged to proceed very carefully. The roofs of two freight cars were blown off at Winsted. On the Harlem division of the Central New England railroad 150 telegraph poles were felled between Millerton, N. Y., and the Copake Iron works during the afternoon.

At Norfolk, which is the highest railroad elevation in the state of Connecticut, 11 inches of snow fell, and the few conveyances seen on the streets are sleighs.

According to information from Canaan, poles and wires are strewn along the tracks of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, Berkshire division, and in a number of places along the highways between Canaan and Falls Village traffic is completely impeded by trees that have been blown over.

Lightning and Hail Mixed.

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—From all parts of New England come reports of extremely unseasonable weather and a storm of surprising strength in which lightning and hail were mixed and the wind almost cyclonic in its whirl and freakiness. Along the coast the high tides made a disagreeable commotion, and the harbor waters everywhere are covered with flotsam and jetsam culled by the waves from wharf property. The storm did not inflict such heavy loss to shipping and property as might have been expected from its seeming violence.

A Foot of Snow.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Nov. 10.—The terrific wind and snow storm which set in throughout northern New York Thursday night continued all day yesterday and still continues with increasing severity. A foot of snow has already fallen at Saranac Lake, Lake Placid, Paul Smith's and other points in the Adirondacks. Nine inches of snow has fallen at Lyon Mountain, only 30 miles west of here. The strong wind has piled the snow in drifts and delayed trains on all railroads.

Buildings Blown Down.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Much damage was done by the high winds through this section yesterday. In the country small buildings were blown down, trees uprooted and quantities of corn fodder strewn about the fields.

Storm at Oswego.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Nov. 10.—A severe storm of wind and snow is prevailing here. During the night 40 vessels sought shelter from the storm in Oswego harbor. No disasters are reported on this shore of the lake.

Pennsylvania Contest Decided.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10.—The official vote of the several counties comprising the Twenty-eighth congressional district as completed shows the re-election of Hall (Dem.) by 621 plurality over Clearwater (Rep.). The vote was so close that both Republicans and Democrats have claimed the district since election day. The new delegation to congress from Pennsylvania will consist of 26 Republicans and 4 Democrats. This is a Republican gain of six members, the present delegation being composed of 20 Republicans and 10 Democrats. Complete but unofficial returns from every county in the state show McKinley's plurality to be 290,267.

Would Not Permit Fight.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Three fights which were to have been pulled off at an Elizabeth (N. J.) theater last night under the guise of boxing matches were stopped by the mayor and chief of police. The fighters and their outfits reached Elizabeth in the afternoon, and they sought in every way to have the show go on, but at 7:30 o'clock Chief Tenny took possession of the theater and positively announced there would be but one blow struck and then there would be arrests. The fighters and their party then left the city. There were two carloads of sporting men from other places with them.

College Gymnasium Burned.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 10.—Fire which started about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the gymnasium at University of Notre Dame completely destroyed the structure. Two alarms were sent in, but all the firemen could do was to protect adjoining structures. The building was of steel and brick and was one of the largest college gymnasiums in the world. It was erected in 1898 and 1899 and was large enough to permit football and baseball practice, had a track, baths and in every way was thoroughly equipped.

Late Kansas Returns.

TOPEKA, Nov. 10.—Republicans now claim the election of G. W. Wheatley to congress from the Third district by a plurality of ten without the vote of the soldiers now serving in the Philippines, which they say will be largely for him. This gives the Republicans a solid delegation in congress.

Postal Clerk Confesses.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Patrick F. Ryan, a postal clerk connected with the Coney Island station, was arrested on the charge of robbing the mails and taken before Commissioner Morle. Ryan admitted his guilt and was held in $2,500 bonds for the action of the grand jury.

LORD MAYOR'S DAY.

England's Most Brilliant Function Celebrated In London.

SALISBURY'S REMARKABLE SPEECH.

After Friendly References to the United States the Premier Saddens the Banquet by Recalling the Price of Recent Victories.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—What is probably the most brilliant of all public functions in England, the lord mayor's banquet, took place last evening. It will be memorable even to Americans by reason of the following remarkable utterance of Lord Salisbury, who, in the presence of 900 guests, including United States Embassador Choate, the members of the British cabinet and many of the leading men of England, spoke as follows of the American elections:

"We believe that the cause which has won is the cause of civilization and commercial honor. We believe those principles to be at the root of all prosperity and all progress in the world. Therefore we claim that we have as much right to rejoice in what has taken place as the distinguished gentleman (referring to Mr. Choate) who sits at my side."

This was followed by loud and prolonged cheering, which made the gold plate on the oaken shelves shiver and the great rafters of the Guildhall ring and ring again.

Lord Salisbury's incursion into the internal politics of the United States was preceded by an apology, in the course of which he said:

"One of the circumstances which has gratified me most during the last year is the very hearty friendly feeling displayed between this country and the United States. I hope Mr. Choate will forgive me if there is any irregularity in my expression. It is quite wrong for a secretary of state to make any observations with respect to the internal politics of another country, but I am soon to give up my office, and in view of this abandonment, which is close at hand, I hope Mr. Choate will forgive me for expressing the supreme satisfaction with which all of us have heard of what has recently taken place in the United States."

Mr. Choate, replying a few minutes later to the toast of the diplomatic corps, declared that Lord Salisbury had stated with such truth, simplicity and earnestness the result of the election that he (Mr. Choate) would not attempt to add to it, although he would venture to congratulate the noble lord upon the fact that his remarks had been made after instead of before the election.

Except in its references to the United States the speech of the premier cast an extraordinary gloom over the gorgeous banquet. Following directly after the colonel commanding the City Imperial volunteers, Lord Salisbury startled his hearers, who caught the drift of his remarks, by satirizing the war fever, although praising the courage of the soldiers, and declaring that the passionate admiration of military valor evinced by the populace must produce a change of attitude on the part of the outside world when viewing English character.

Then, with lowered voice and almost trembling accent, he went on to speak of the price of victory and the ravages of death, dealing especially with the queen's bereavement in the loss of Prince Christian Victor. Finally, with bent head and hands clasped, he uttered a hope, almost a prayer, that Lord Roberts might be spared the sorrow now hanging over him by reason of the critical condition of his daughter. Tears sprang to the eyes of women, and men moved uncomfortably in their seats. The silence and solemnity grew oppressive.

Awaking from self abstraction, the premier reviewed the events of the last 12 months. Mr. Kruger and the empress of China, he went on to say, had forced war upon Great Britain. He maintained that the British war office deserved great credit for the way in which it had handled these emergencies. He said:

"It is impossible to lay too much emphasis upon the integrity of China and the 'open door,' and I think it a matter of great advantage that the powers should have expressed themselves in favor of these fundamental principles, for, if they are achieved, the issue of the China problem need not concern us very anxiously."

Lord Salisbury, winding up the proceedings by proposing the health of the new lord mayor, said that some of the younger men present "will live to see the day when members of parliament from the Orange and Transvaal colonies will be present on such an occasion."

The enormous crowd was dotted with brilliant state, military and municipal uniforms, with which were intermingled in a wonderful mass of moving color the wigs and robes of all the great judges, the court costumes of members of the cabinet, the scarlet of the regulars and the khaki of the City Imperial volunteers.

A dance followed the banquet and continued to a late hour in the shadows of the grim statues of Pitt, Nelson and Wellington.

Newfoundland Elections.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Nov. 10.—Official returns as to the general election have been received from eight districts. Of these the Bond government, or Liberal party, won seven, the Reid-Morine combination, or Tory party, securing only one.

Labor Troubles at Ogdensburg.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Nov. 10.—The Rutland Line Terminal company has discharged the men at work in its elevator here, and 16 shovelers quit work in sympathy. The elevator facilities are crippled, and as a consequence there is much delay in unloading grain vessels.

Closing Polls at Sunset.

Every year immediately after election the question of enacting a law closing the polls at sunset asserts itself in New Jersey, but it always seems to be the case that by the time the Legislature convenes the movement lacks the vigor and perseverance that is necessary to success. And so it is that year after year the polls throughout New Jersey remain open long after the voting has stopped in most other States, and while Jerseymen are permitted to know how other commonwealths have gone in the election the result in this State keeps them in suspense for hours longer than it seems necessary.

As usual, the talk of a sunset law is again brought forward by its advocates and much is being said and written on the subject. The Daily Press has always been in favor of having the polls close at sunset here the same as in nearly every other State, and we believe that the majority of the people are favorable to such a change. In an editorial on the subject the Newark News explains that "the only consideration that deters the Republican legislative majority in this State from re enacting the sunset law is the fear that the Democrats would make it a successful political issue, as was done in 1888."

Taking it for granted that there is the political reluctance pointed out, The News takes up the question and argues it out in the following sensible manner:

Is it not time for all parties to take a common stand in favor of a change that commends itself to every candid mind? New Jersey is one of a very small minority of States in which the polls are kept open until 7 o'clock. In the adjoining States of New York and Pennsylvania the battle ends two hours earlier, and throughout the Union 5 o'clock is the average hour of closing the polls. As a result of this earlier closing the Republican National victory was known to be a certainty in Newark Tuesday night before the returns had been received from a half-dozen election districts in Newark.

The earlier the result is announced the sooner anxiety and excitement are allayed. Opportunities for fraudulent manipulation of returns are lessened, as also the chances of repeating and other forms of illegal voting, most of which is done after darkness has set in. Both parties in New Jersey have been charged with importing gangs of repeaters from New York and Philadelphia. The two hours of darkness which intervene between the closing of the polls in those cities and in New Jersey offer exceptional advantages for this sort of crime, and if there were no other reasons in its favor this of itself should be sufficient ground for the change.

The stereotyped objection to earlier closing of the polls is that it will deprive the workingman of his vote. Whatever force there may have been in this once there is none now since election day has been made a legal holiday. It might cause some a little inconvenience, but no more. The mere fact that in a large majority of the States the polls now close at sunset or earlier is sufficient refutation of this stock argument. It is evident that in none of them is any considerable number of workingmen disfranchised or a change in the law in this respect would be prompt and effectual. There is no room for an honest difference of opinion as to the desirability of earlier closing of the polls.

An empty honor which the Democrats in the Legislature will have to give out at the next session will be the selection of a candidate who shall receive their votes in the election of a United States Senator. The Republicans, of course, will re-elect Senator Wm. J. Sewell without a murmur of protest from any follower of the G. O. P. Six years ago Allan McDermott, of Jersey City, was given the complimentary nomination by the Democrats, but who will be the honored one this time does not yet appear. It is said that Mr. McDermott is talked of in that connection, but it hardly seems likely that he would permit any such action. Mr. McDermott is a Congressman-elect, and doubtless considers that he has received his fair share of party recognition for the present.

Assemblyman Leon Abbott, of Hudson county, will probably be chosen to lead the Democratic side on the floor of the House of the Assembly at Trenton at the approaching session. The Republicans will have three votes for every one of the Democrats, so that the minority will have but little chance to carry any of their points. The most that they can do will be to talk.

The announcement that Mayor Bockfellow has met with a reverse in business is received with extreme regret by all Plainfielders. As one of the oldest merchants in his line of trade, Mr. Bockfellow has the reputation of being one of the most honest and fairest of business men in this city. All citizens will unite in the wish and hope that he may soon resume business at his old stand and succeed as men of his make-up deserve to succeed.

Judge Gottfried Krueger has made up his mind to resign as a lay member of the Court of Errors and Appeals. His formal resignation will be handed to Governor Voorhees Tuesday, November 20th, on which day the court will sit for the first time in the December term. The resignation will take effect immediately.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

The optimism of James E. Martine, of Plainfield, familiarly known as the "Farmer Orator," and one of the most genial as well as one of the most irrepressible Democrats in New Jersey, rises in his place and exclaims: "Though defeated at the polls we are not crushed. We deserved a better fate at the hands of the people." Evidently Mr. Martine has "a heart for any fate," and to crush him with defeat is not one of the possibilities of politics. That he may live long and prosper, in all but his partisanship, is the wish of his fellow-citizens. In the slightly changed words of an old song, "He is gentle, he is kind, and you'll never, never find, a better friend than" he is to the worthy and the deserving.—New York Tribune.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Among the Democrats of Somerset county there was none more sanguine before election day than J. J. Gaffney, of Somerville, who has a host of friends in this city. Gaffney's friends heard considerable about Bryan and how sure it was that it would be McKinley and not the Nebraskan who would have to take the trip up the fabled "salt river." Late election night, when the result was known, there came a telegram for Gaffney. It read as follows: "Will hold the boat for you. W. J. Bryan." Gaffney has not yet discovered which one of his friends so kindly reminded him of the situation.

* * * * *

Probably the youngest voter to cast a ballot in this city last Tuesday was the little six-year-old son of J. F. Hibbard, one of the proprietors of Hotel McVey. The youngster was very much interested in the crowds which thronged about the polling place of the First district of the First ward, near the hotel. He was particularly interested when his father went to vote. Finally the lad wandered into the polling place where the election officers had a brief respite from the hurry of the morning. "I want to vote too," quoth the lad. The election officers smiled, but the small boy was not abashed.

"How much do those things like papa voted cost?" he demanded.

"One cent," suggested one of the election board. The little fellow carefully laid down a penny on the table and was handed a Republican ticket. Another official took the ticket and, without enclosing it in an evelope, carefully dropped it in the ballot box. The lad departed much satisfied while one of the men told him that he ought to have gotton $2 for his vote instead of paying anything for it. The ballot, without any envelope, was easy to pick out and remove when the counting of ballots began.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Miss Henrietta Crossman, Monday night, repeated and emphasized at The Savoy, West 34th street, New York, the great success she had previously won at the Bijou in Hazleton's superb play, "Mistress Nell." Miss Grossman's 'Nell Gwyn," is a revelation to New York theatregoers. Critics, as well as actors, praise her performance, and the public testifies its approval by packing the house nightly to the door. There is every prospect that the pretty Savoy Theatre will be occupied by Miss Crosman and her company for months to come. Matinees will be given Wednesdays and Saturdays.

The Klaw & Erlanger Opera Company, the largest musical organization ever formed in this country for the presentation of comic opera, gave its first metropolitan performance at the Broadway Theatre in New York last Monday evening and scored a popular hit that has never been equalled by any attraction in this field of entertainment. The opera presented was deKoven & Smith's latest effort, "Foxy Quiller," a new piece written around the character of "Foxy Quiller" from "The Highwayman." Jerome Sykes, the most talented singing comedian on the American stage, the original of this part in "The Highwayman," repeated his former triumph in the title role. The story is legitimately humorous, that is to say its comic side is created naturally by funny situations and witty lines. It is clean, clear cut, artistic, entirely devoid of horse play, and is not marred by the antics of a comedian of doubtful merit. "Foxy Quiller" is a detective of the vain glorious, bumptious order, whom the author has created as a satire on the detective of fiction. Mr. Smith's conception is entirely original and in Mr. Sykes' role he presents a character that is remarkably interesting and entertaining.

Bed Bugs and Cock Roaches.

For destruction and complete riddance of Cock Roaches, Beetles, Wood and Water Bugs, Bed Bugs, Ants, Rats, Mice, etc., "Rough on Rats," though poisonous, if used with care is most effective. In fact it is the only thing that will permanently annihilate Bed Bugs and Cock Roaches. As an exterminator of Rats and Mice, "Rough on Rats" is the old reliable that never fails nor disappoints. They "don't die in the house." Is sold all around the world. Is used by all civilized nations of the earth. Is the most extensively advertised, the best know and has the largest sale of any article of its kind on the face of the globe. It gives satisfaction every time. Beware of imitations. I employ no peddlers. Have a suspicion of any dealer offering substitutes said to be as good. 15c. and 25c.

Suit Over Fountain

Messrs. Cook and Wheeler have begun suit against the Cranford Township Committee through Attorney Charles Brown, of Elizabeth, to recover the soda fountain seized and sold for taxes and bought in for the town by Committeeman Rankin. A short time ago the fountain, which was left in a vacant store, was spirited away to Metuchen, where the caterer from whom it was taken had removed, but Committeeman Rankin pursued and brought it back. Hence the suit.

GOING TO INAUGURATION

GAGHANTERS PLAN FOR A TRIP TO WASHINGTON IN MARCH.

The Journey to be Made in the Famous Barouche and the Patrol Recently Acquired.

When the presidential inaugural ceremonies are held at the capital city next March, Plainfield will be represented by the learned and intelligent body of men comprising the Gaghan Association. This was decided upon at their meeting last evening by the unanimous vote of the entire assemblage. The trip to Washington will be made jointly in the association's far famed barouche and newly acquired fire patrol wagon. Both vehicles will be decorated in a fitting manner, the association colors predominating.

After considerably wrangling at last evening's meeting it was determined that President Gaghan should guide the barouche on its journey and Aleck Martin, Mark Hipp, Charlie Hall, John Case and Brother Mehl were the lucky ones chosen to ride with him. Brother Feiring will occupy the seat of honor on the patrol wagon and handle the ribbons over the backs of the mules purchased from his uncle. Conroy declared this honor should be given to him, but he was overruled on the ground that his entire time should be given to the preparation of an address of welcome to McKinley, to be delivered upon their arrival.

In the rear part of the patrol Winzenreid's full band will discourse popular airs during the entire journey. It was also decided that the band should give concerts at various places along the route to help defray expenses. On these occasions several ditties acquired by Lew Dunavan while on a recent trip to Somerville, will be rendered as a special inducement to secure the elusive nickels.

The far sightedness of the Gaghanites was shown when Sergeant Totten suggested that some precaution should be taken in case of accident to any part of the turnout. His theory was that the unusual strain on both vehicles was likely to develop a hot box and cause considerable delay. With his customary quickness he declined to accept the appointment of inspector, but was unable to give an idea as to how the trouble could be prevented. The problem bid fair to be unsolved when Brother Hart came to the rescue. He generously offered to walk beside the barouche armed with an extinguisher and at the first intimation of any trouble was to empty the contents upon the affected parts. His offer was gratefully accepted, and much against his will Mike Nevins was appointed to guard the patrol in a similar fashion.

At this juncture it was discovered that no provision had been made for transporting the association goat. The procession would not be complete without it and the animal would also add to the dignity of the occasion. Immediately several members volunteered to lead the goat. Those who sought the honor were Aleck Muir, Howard Manning and Billy Mitchell, all of whom clamored loudly for the place. With difficulty the president restored order and conferred the honor on Manning. His reason, he said, was because the goat only understood French such as Manning used and also because he was the one who recovered the animal at the time of its disappearance.

A wrangle followed the president's decision and the sergeant was about to show his authority when a fuse blew out and the members disappeared in the darkness.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

The many friends in this city of Henry H. Brokaw, of Somerville, will be sorry to learn that he is confined to his home with intermittent fever.

Köln. In einer Sitzung der Stadtverordneten wurde der Plan, betreffs die Gestaltung der Straßenbahnlinien nach Einführung des elektrischen Betriebs, einstimmig genehmigt. Die Umwandlung des Pferdebahnbetriebes in elektrischen Betrieb wird etwa drei Jahre dauern und 13,000,000 bis 14,000,000 Mark kosten.

Aachen. Die Stadtverordnten genehmigten die von Stadtbaurath Laurent entworfenen Pläne für eine Lungenheilanstalt; die 408,500 Mark betragenden Baukosten schenkt der Verein zur Beförderung der Arbeitsamkeit, die Kosten der inneren Einrichtung bestreitet die Stadt.

Elberfeld. Der Landwirth Karl Schmahl aus Neviges erschoß hier seine seit Kurzem mit dem Bäckermeister Prange verheirathete Tochter und dann sich selbst.

M.-Gladbach. Durch Betrügereien des Taxators für Werthsachen wurde der städtischen Leihanstalt ein Schaden zugefügt, der auf 50,000 Mark geschätzt wird. Der Taxator gab minderwerthige Goldsachen als echte aus, die dann dementsprechend beliehen und niemals eingelöst wurden.

Naumburg. Das Ehepaar Erichson hat sich mit Karbolsäure vergiftet, weil der Mann seit langen Jahren gelähmt war.

Nebra. Vom Landgericht wurde der Vorarbeiter Weise zu 10 Mark Geldstrafe verurtheilt, weil er einem Taschendiebe, den er auf frischer That ertappte, eine kräftige Ohrfeige verabreicht hatte. Der Spitzbube erhielt eine Woche Gefängniß.

Zeitz. Der bekannte Germanist Professor Bech, langjähriger Lehrer am hiesigen Stiftsgymnasium, ist im Alter von 80 Jahren gestorben.

Provinz Schlesien.

Breslau. Auf der Sandstraße wurde der Fabrikant Weiß durch zwei Messerstiche in den Unterleib ermordet aufgefunden. Der Thäter ist muthmaßlich der Arbeiter Paul Waroczek, welcher bei Weiß in Arbeit stand und von diesem wegen Trunkenheit entlassen worden war. Waroczek ist flüchtig.

Grünberg. Das 750jährige Bestehen des Grünberger Weinbaus ist hier unter großer Betheiligung gefeiert worden. Auf einen Festgottesdienst folgte am Nachmittag ein großer Festzug, an welchem alle Korporationen sowie die in Uniform gekleideten Bergleute theilnahmen. Ein großes Volksfest auf dem Schützenplatze beendete die Feier. An das Kaiserpaar wurde ein Gebinde des heurigen Rebenerzeugnisses abgesandt.

Hoyerswerda. Um insbesondere den kleineren Besitzern und Arbeitern Gelegenheit zur Erlangung guter Schriften und Bücher zu bieten, hat die Kreisverwaltung die Anlegung einer Kreisbibliothek beschlossen. Es wurden vorläufig 500 Bände angeschafft; dieser Bestand soll alljährlich vermehrt werden.

Provinz Schleswig-Holstein.

Friedrichstadt. Den seiner Zeit seines Amtes enthobenen Pastor Weingart in Osnabrück hat die hiesige remonstrantisch-reformirte Gemeinde als Prediger angenommen. Die Gemeinde ist die einzige Remonstrantengemeinde in Preußen und hat nur 95 Seelen, aber ein großes Vermögen. Bisher hatte sie ihre Prediger aus Holland erhalten.

Kiel. Das unmittelbar neben der kaiserlichen Werft liegende, überwiegend von Fischern und Arbeitern bewohnte Dorf Ellerbek, der Hauptplatz für die Bereitung und den Versandt der „Kieler Sprotten," wird in kurzer Zeit als Fischerdorf verschwinden. Seit der Annahme des Flottengesetzes von 1898 erwies sich die Staatswerft in ihrem jetzigen Umfang als unzulänglich, und nach der Annahme des Flottengesetzes von 1900 wurde die Erweiterung beschlossen. Dieselbe wird sich bis zur Schwentinemündung erstrecken. Durch eine königliche Verfügung ist kürzlich der Marine das Enteignungsrecht bis zur Schwentinemündung eingeräumt worden.

A young lady musician living in Wichita, Kan., has endured an amount of trouble out of all proportion to her years:
"My troubles started nine years ago," she says. "I would get up tired in the morning, aching all over. I had headache, a sense of dullness in the eyes and not much of an appetite. I was always troubled with constipation, and it grew worse all the time. I doctored with eight different physicians, and never could get any relief. I kept getting worse and came to Kansas about three years ago, thinking a change in the climate would benefit me, but all failed. I was so miserable this last Spring that I could hardly live and I really didn't want to, as I thought dying would be my only relief, but am glad that such was not the case. I kept reading the Ripans testimonials in the 'Evening Beacon,' and they sounded so real that I thought I would give the Tabules a trial. After taking my stomach would hurt so bad and I would bloat and have a severe pain in left side near heart and was so nervous that I could not lie still. I always had a coated tongue and sour taste and sore mouth. I would have pains in my liver, and my complexion was a green yellow. My nose would bleed and when night would come every inch in my whole body would ache so I could not sleep. I had frightful dreams, and would get sore and stiff. Would take spells of crying and would be despondent for three or four days, really without any particular cause. I could not walk any distance, because I had not the strength. Ripans Tabules came to my relief at last. I began to get better after taking the first vial. They did not act too readily, but were just the right medicine, and to-day I praise them above all others. Three of my friends are using them with marked relief. My mother is now using them, and they are doing the same for her. I want to mention the fact that I can now eat, sleep and walk, and I feel better than I have for years, but I always keep the Tabules on hand for fear I might get sick."

WANTED—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS, Four cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

THE LETTER CHAIN SCHEME.

Amazing Magnitude of the Figures Involved If the Thing Should Work.

Talk of reviving the old chain-letter scheme for use during the presidential campaign raises the question what it would mean if one of the chains could be extended without a break to its ideal end. Of course, that would be impossible, for long before it would have reached its end it would have used up all the visible supply of postage stamps, paper, ink, pens and human beings. Few persons realize this, however, and a few calculations based on the ideal conclusion will amaze by the magnitude of the figures involved, says the Chicago Daily News.

Almost every chain-letter plan requires each recipient of a letter to write to three of his friends, urging upon each to follow some particular course of action and to continue the chain by writing to each of his friends a similar letter. Each letter is supposed to be numbered according to its position in the chain, from one to 50. For some inscrutable reason 50 is usually chosen as the number where the chain breaks off. Thus the person sending the original letter would number his own "one" and the three he sends "two." The third series would be numbered "three," and so on up to "50."

If every recipient of a letter from "one" to "50" were to obey instructions by writing three letters the total number of letters written would be 3,200,000,000,000,000,000, an inconceivable sum. A mile is 5,280 feet, or 63,360 inches, long. A postage stamp is one inch long. Three septillions two hundred sextillions of them would make a string 50,000,000,000,000,000 miles long, or twice the distance from the earth to some of the far constellations of the milky way. As a square mile has 4,014,489,600 square inches in it, or room for about 5,000,000,000 postage stamps on it, the postage stamps needed for the total number of letters would cover 640,000,000,000 square miles, or a surface equal to that of the earth and all the planets of the solar system. Piled 320 deep, the stamps would cover the earth's surface, which is in the neighborhood of 2,000,000,000 square miles. It Lake Michigan were made of mucilage there would hardly be enough gum stickum in it to make the stamps adhere. If the earth were made of paper there would be barely enough paper for the stamps, envelopes and paper needed for the 3,200,000,000,000,000,000,000 letters.

All the gold mined by man since the beginning of time would not pay for the stamps at two cents each. In fact, the sum total of the value of all wealth produced in the history of man would not equal the sum of the value of the stamps. Any lad who has learned the elementry principles of multiplication and division can figure that out and can make many interesting calculations on the basis of doubling and trebling figures one after the other.

The problem is something like that told in the fable of the crafty lover and the old king, which is as follows:

"O king!" pleaded the ardent lover after the great potentate had refused him his daughter's hand, "grant me, I prithee, one boon ere thou banish me from thy kingdom, nevermore to behold my adored princess."

"Name thy boon," demanded the old king, testily.

"It is that thou wilt give me one grain of wheat from thy storehouse for the first square of the 64 on a chessboard, two for the second, four for the third, and so on, doubling the number of grains for each successive square, and promise me thy daughter's hand if thou failest to give me the grains," declared the suitor.

"Thy boon is granted," spake his majesty, with a wave of his scepter, "and my kingly word is pledged. Begone!"

When the royal keeper of the granaries found that it would take more wheat than had been raised on earth since the great pyramids were reared on the banks of the Nile he told the king, who, to redeem his word, gave his daughter to the young man who had won her by so sly a bargain.

MILLINERY NOTES.

Winter Hats and Attractive Ornaments For the Hair.

Velvet, felt and fur predominate in the world of millinery. Feathers also are largely used, and velvet flowers, particularly chrysanthemums, while choux of mousseline de soie and flowers composed of fluffy masses of the same material are greatly employed.

Draped toques accompany street costumes and often have a border of feathers. There are many elaborate fancy feathers seen, made of several different kinds, so skillfully joined as to seem one, and colored and painted in a variety of ways. Flowers next the hair are worn under the brim of round hats.

Hair ornaments are now the almost invariable accompaniment of evening costumes, and white seems to be preferred to colors. Many attractive designs are seen, from the simple wired bow of white ribbon to the group of jeweled ostrich tips held by a tiny diamond coronet. There are jeweled knots, buckles and other ornaments, always with a little upright arrangement of feathers, ribbon or lace, but the entire ornament is small and not at all aggressive.

The sketch shows an evening bodice of light violet surah. It is pointed in front and has a round decolletage, which is framed in a sort of fichu drapery of lace, fastened at the left side by a jeweled ornament and continuing to the waist in coquilles. The sleeves, of half length, are plaited in the middle, the fullness forming a puff at the shoulder and elbow. The sleeves are finished with a frill of lace.

BUCKLES FOR BELTS.

They Are an Elaborate and Important Item.

Bodices of white lace are to be worn during the winter, accompanied by belts of grosgrain or white kid. The buckles used for these belts are highly ornamental and are composed of differently tinted golds in combination—principally red and green—and of enamel, old silver and semiprecious stones. The designs are odd and often very beautiful, and such buckles are employed for the most elegant costumes. There are similar ones made of less costly materials, gold plate, imitation stones, etc., which are also attractive and effective, and are not too expensive to be within the reach of an ordinary purse.

The same may be said of the long neck chains which are still in vogue and which are, when genuine, very costly. Pretty ones may be obtained at a moderate price, however, made of silver, coral, crystal and similar inexpensive substances.

The cut shows a costume of chamois cloth. The foot of the skirt is faced with brown velvet, above which are three lines of stitching. The bolero is cut in deep points, which are appliqued on white cloth and ornamented with brown embroidery. The full chemisette is of sulphur mousseline de soie, the cravat of white lace. The sleeves, which are tight as far down as the elbow, flare below it and are embroidered with brown. Beneath them are full undersleeves of sulphur mousseline, gathered into a tight cuff. The wide belt is of brown velvet. The brown felt hat is trimmed with brown plumes and a jeweled ornament.

BOB BURDETTE Takes a Trip Abroad

He Draws a Comparison Between American Children and the Little Folks of Other Lands

[Copyright, 1900, by Robert J. Burdette.]

AMERICA is the Paradise of children. At the age of ten the American child should be sent to Europe—not with the parents, but placed in an English or continental family for one long year. Then when the chastened infant returned to the land of the free and resumed the "high chair," which is the throne of the American household, he—and especially she—would hold a gentler sway, and rule more wisely, possibly—and with a greater condescension for the rights of parents and the privileges of grown-up relatives, and the comfort of people over 40, generally. For there is no land on earth where childhood has the sweet freedom which it enjoys in the American home, the unbridled license which it is allowed in the hotels and the absolute despotism which makes it an unholy terror in the boarding house. In his story, "The Mantle of Elijah," Israel Zangwill, describing a scene in the public drawing-room of a hotel in Rome, mentions "a group of ladies and gentlemen listening eagerly, almost reverentially, to the disquisitions of a horrible American boy of 12, who was holding forth on the history and antiquities of Italy." Such vicious digs at intelligent American childhood used to make me indignant. Now I only wish they weren't so nearly true. American children are the brightest, sweetest, most natural little creatures on this planet. I wouldn't exchange a single kindergarten of them for all the grown-up little men and women in Europe. But. And again. But. And on further and mature consideration. But.

But.

At home we are accustomed to the scenes which horrified Zangwill. And if the neighbor's "horrible boy" becomes too unbearably dictatorial in the general direction of affairs, there is usually another neighbor's boy or girl or two whom we may turn loose upon the tyrant, and thus divert his attention to foemen worthy of his high-keyed clatter. But when he is set down among the quiet little people of this staid and older civilization he is more noticable. He is—well, say "Hyperion to a satyr." That may not be exactly a just comparison, but it will do. You can trim it down to suit yourself.

DOING ALL THE WORK THAT MEN HAVE TO DO.

Now, with us, you know, the holidays are made "for the children." Maybe that is the reason so many grown-up people have such a lively dread of them, as you know we all have. Well, we journeyed through England on "bank holiday." It is a date on the calendar when by some unwritten law the "phlegmatic Englishman" is compelled to rush violently off, up and down all manner of places, taking his holiday at full speed, without stop or stay, until it is over. You have heard of the "phlegmatic Englishman," haven't you? So have I. I say I have heard of him. But I never knew how phlegmatic he could be until I saw him trying to make a record. Then I could understand this superior, placid-browed, calm-souled creature who shrieked and howled and danced in the streets all day and all night for three days celebrating in his cold, rational, conventional way a victory in South Africa. He is the thoughtful, self-poised, stolid creature who announced a high mass or mortuary service, or something of that sort, 17 times as high as the moon, in St. Paul's cathedral for the souls of the murdered ministers and their families massacred in Peking, and then had to postpone the service once or twice because nobody was dead, and at last called it off altogether because nobody would die. Now, to hold a funeral service in America or France before the "remains" were provided, or, at least, reasonably assured, would be called "hysterical." In England it is "phlegmatic." I don't know what an Englishman would do if ever he should become hysterical. Blow the packing out of both cylinder heads, likely. Ah, well, the more I see of people of other lands, the more I am convinced that they are just like people. Even if you all claim descent from the same old monkey—and I must say you look it—you must admit that 'God hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on the earth." That's one reason why we sometimes hate each other so cordially that we go to war, and try to kill each other off—because we are so much alike. Our neighbor's vices are a continual rebuke to ourselves. Where do you suppose the Chinese learned to persecute people of another race? New York city, maybe; South Carolina; France, likely; Akron, O., maybe; Russia, probably; maybe so, England. Can't tell; but evidently the beggars have picked up a race prejudice somewhere.

Childhood and Holidays.

But speaking of the "phlegmatic" Englishman, tearing around like a whirlwind trying to get the full value of his "bank holiday," reminds me that it is apparently a holiday for adults. And, indeed, very few children could stand it, they might as well try to go to war. A child is not temperamentally adapted to an English holiday. He lacks "phlegm." At any rate we did not see many children during the holiday panic. Now we have such spasms in the United States, but they are not compulsory, as is the bank holiday, and there is no set day on which our "hysteria," which corresponds to English "phlegm," shall supervene. It depends on the closing of the school, when the children will be at liberty. And it is for them that the summer vacation waits. And the Thanksgiving proclamation has the American child at heart and in mind. For him the Christmas holidays exclusively—those days of nervous tension and overwork and general exhaustion and breakdown for "grownups." And the Easter vacation also waits for the child. And for him the Fourth of July. And all the other holidays of the year, likewise. Indeed, if there were no children, we would have no holidays in the United States. Even Labor day and Arbor day have already passed into their hands. They swarm over the cars, counting the miles by sticky and aromatic lunches, which they distribute with gaumy impartiality on the arms of the seats. They monopolize the hotel parlors, and the piazzas are combination kindergartens, playgrounds and incipient matrimonial bureaus. They prolong the evening into the midnight with alternations of Gospel hymns and rag-time songs. You might take a fairly accurate census of the children of the United States at the seaside and mountain resorts and the summer chautauquas. They are thicker than flies. And sometimes they are about as conducive to insomnia. And of all God's creatures they are the sweetest, the happiest, the prettiest and the dearest and the best. But.

Seen and Heard.

You certainly do see a great deal of them in public places, and, what is more to the point, you hear a great deal of them. The English children are largely kept out of sight. And they are rather quiet little people as a rule, when they are visible. They even play rather quietly. There is little of the free, singing, laughing, unrestrained romping of our own happy youngsters even in their parks, where, it seems to me, the children should be free as birds. And there is no abridgement of their freedom in the English park spaces allotted to them. I think it was in a portion of Regent's park—by the way, there is a stream that meanders tranquilly near that park which is the grandfather to the Chicago river in its unholiest days. All the cats in the United Kingdom that do not feel inclined to commit suicide voluntarily are induced to do so anyway in this unhallowed stream, against their religious convictions and personal inclination—well, it was in a portion of this park, I think, that I watched about a million boys playing ten thousand games of cricket in a space that would accommodate a thousand games of baseball. And they played over and around and across each other with an English boy's regard for the other fellow's rights and his quiet insistence upon his own that was pleasant to see and that made such playing possible. And cricket, with its law-abiding respect for constituted authority, its gentlemanly regard for the umpire and his rulings, is the only game that could be played under such circumstances. It wasn't noisy play. It appeared to develop more earnestness than hilarity. We didn't hear the shouting, romping, "exuberant" playing on the school grounds in England that we observe—and that I don't object to; indeed, I rather like it—on the school grounds at home. There seems to be more decorum and system in their recreation. They sing. We watched a school returning from a holiday in London one evening. It was nearly dark; the little ones must have been woefully tired; there were about 300 of them, boys and girls. And as they marched, stepping sturdily along on the pavement, keeping step like soldiers, the boys sang in lusty voices and in splendid time: "Soldiers of the Queen." How they sang! They set their own pitch, they made their own time, they "conducted" themselves without the aid of a teacher's voice, every boy knew all the words of the song, and they sang block after weary block, so long as we could hear them, keeping the column closed up by their own music. And they sang with such serious, earnest faces, as though it was really serious business, this making military music after a long day of play. It was sturdy "English." The girls, who followed, walked silently, and, of course, not so well, straggling a great deal and running at intervals to close up the column. Now, our schoolgirls would have marched quite as well as the boys, and would have sung a great deal better.

Gentle French Children.

The Parisian children are very gentle little things, and even quieter than the London children. They play very gently and quietly in the parks. It looks oddly enough to see a lot of big boys playing toss ball with a big, hollow india rubber ball painted red and green, which they usually catch on the bound. If you should present such a ball to an American baby after he had cut a dozen teeth the insulted youngster would throw it at you with all the force to which his wrath could spur him. When, added to this, you drape this gentleness in the funny black combination of apron and gown in which the Parisian boy [illegible] his legitimate "boy clothes" [illegible] a rather pathetic picture to the eyes accustomed to the knickerbocker-clad, sturdy-legged, shouting, base ball playing and football-fighting American boy, who sometimes forgets that all the world, with everything and every place and everybody in it, was not created by a wise and humane Providence exclusively for the amusement, benefit and sole behoof of the children. That such is very largely the case I am willing to admit. But not exclusively. The "Old People's Society of Human Endurance" has its limited place in the world, and there should be some nooks and corners sacred to it.

Ideal Family Life.

The more I see of home life in other lands the better pleased, the more content am I with American home life. It is the best in the world. The "comradeship" between the father and mother and the children is as nearly perfect and is as beautiful, I think, as anything human can be in the family life. I wouldn't have it amend its constitution by the adoption of one foreign feature that I have seen. I wouldn't have the happiness of our children clouded ever so little by any harshness or severity. I have been a public champion of "children's rights" with voice and pen for a quarter of a century, and I haven't a suggestion to make concerning anyone's home government. I'm too old for that. Nobody preaches on "Home Government and the Proper Training of Children" nowadays except young unmarried preachers in their first pastorate. But I do somehow wish that some of our American children might defer their active entrance into public life, especially in the capacity of instructors and censors, until—well, at least until after their voices changed. Then the cicadalike shrillness of the penetrant voice would be at least toned down a little and would be less irritating. I never noticed it so much at home, but over here, where the youngster comes in direct contrast with the quiet children of these venerable lands, it certainly grates on one.

A Quarantine Suggestion.

It wouldn't be much of a hardship on the child if he wore an invisible muzzle in public. To tell the truth, it is the child's mother who would suffer. The mother of that kind of a terror is usually a—but you can't call any mother a fool; that would be brutally coarse—but she is unduly proud because her child knows what all children in the seventh grade know, and it is her pride and delight to draw him out with questions, and set him to rehearsing his school exercises in public. And people who once went to school themselves, some 50 years ago, do not find this sort of thing intensely interesting. I do not suppose that it can be prohibited by law, but I think the affliction might be mitigated a little. I suggest a mild sort of quarantine for it. There might be in every hotel a large, deep subterranean room—not exactly a dungeon, you understand, but a room so isolated that no sounds could pass from it to the other parts of the building. Then, when a family with the Remarkable Child came to town they could be locked up in this room for a couple of days. There should be a speaking tube—that only worked one way—connected with this quarantine. Then a man, hired for the purpose, could provoke the Remarkable Child to infantile didactic oratory with suggestive questions, and in a couple of days the Wonderful Kid would be pumped as dry and empty as a last year's bird's nest, and could be turned loose on the public without creating a social panic. I don't believe this plan will be generally adopted—at least not until the Chinese war is over, but at the same time it is not without merit.

After all, it isn't the child's fault. It is a pity that he should have to suffer for the sins of his parents. But he does. We could stand that, however, if so many of the rest of us didn't have to suffer with him.

Another Blessed Creature.

And while I am at it, and before my growling mood wears off, I might as well add that if the child's mother would accompany him abroad for his years' experience, she would go home more perfectly realizing what a pet and a queen the American woman is. She is sometimes given to complaining a little about her lot—well, it isn't the easiest one in the universe, but it's the easiest lot any woman ever had on earth since the eviction which she brought upon herself and her husband in Eden. When the American woman begins to hear and feel her chains clanking and galling wrist and ankle she wants to come over here and see her sister cleaning my shoes, carrying my baggage through the streets, mowing in the meadows, digging, plowing in the fields, sometimes at the tail of the plow, sometimes working in front of it alongside the other female beast of burden, the equally patient cow, while the husband takes the lighter labor of guiding the plow; sawing and splitting wood in the city streets, sweeping the streets—not with her dress, as you do, madam, but with a broom; doing all the work that men have to do and hate to do. I know some of you women will say all that is better and more healthful than the drudgery and slavery of housework. Well, it doesn't look it. And it doesn't bring on "a beautiful old age." It brings age with a bowed back; with great, coarse hands, twisted fingers and bunched knuckles; a face browned and seamed and furrowed like an old sailor's; big, flat, awkward feet. And, anyhow, I'm too old to get used to it. This is surpassingly beautiful, this land of Europe—though nowhere does it surpass and rarely does it equal our own land in natural beauties of land and lake and sky, but I'd rather live ten years in the United States than 50 years in any land I've seen outside of it.

ROBERT J. BURDETTE.

A Kick for Shoplifters.

Some of the big New York stores are trying a new method of dealing with shoplifters. The present system of prosecuting them in court is not entirely satisfactory, because if the pilfered articles come to less than $25 the charge can only be petty larceny. Therefore the detectives now take from the shoplifters whatever they have stolen, conduct them to the back door and dismiss them with "a good, swift kick," adding a warning that next time the offender will be sent to jail.

SPORTING.

GOLF

The Cranford Golf Club is having the links put in condition for winter. The Westfield Golf Club will have a 9-hole course.

The first round, match play, for the Chapman cup, will be the feature this afternoon on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

James Fields, of Somerville, was a welcome visitor in Plainfield yesterday.

Miss Betty Trotner, of Yonkers, has returned to her home after a visit in Plainfield.

Thomas F. Graham, of Sing Sing, N. Y., will conduct the meeting at the East Third street mission tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Miss Lulu French, of Milburn, has been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. French, of West Seventh street.

Invitations have been sent out by the Misses Moore for a euchre party to be given on Friday, Nov. 16th, at their home on Central avenue.

The condition of Fred Ross, of Park avenue, who jumped from a sick bed Thursday evening to extinguish a small blaze in the room, now seems to be considerably improved.

The house of W. M. Stillman removed to Grove street from Duer street to make way for the extension of that thoroughfare, and enlarged after removal, is occupied by Dr. Charles Thiers, who formerly resided in the brick row of houses on Grove street.

Must Lay New Walk.

The Mayor and Borough Council is after Justice Smalley, of Manning avenue, who has failed to lay a substantial stone walk in front of his place. The walk will be laid by the borough if the justice does not act very soon.

TIMBO TOOK A RIDE.

Ed. Newton Pays Off an Election Wager by Giving Victor a Wheelbarrow Ride.

The martial strains of music attracted the attention of a large number of people on North avenue this afternoon at 2 o'clock, and when the cause was investigated it was found that Tommy Timbo was making ready to have Ed Newton, of the Hotel Kensington, pay off an election wager. A gayly decorated wheelbarrow was on hand and a score or two of friends of both bettors were alse there to cheer the pair on to the performance of the agreement, Timbo gingerly crawled into the one-wheel vehicle, and Newton grabbed the handles and started towards Park avenue with his passenger, followed by the drum corps and the interested throng. Down Park avenue to Front street, then to Watchung avenue and around to North avenue to the starting point the procession meandered its way. Along the route of the journey there were many hurrahs for McKinley, Timo gazing on the curious crowds with a truly imperialistic frown, as much as if to say; "It's all right, boys, but you'll never get me to make a bet of this kind again."

Newton, although the loser of the wager, was in high spirits and jogged Sir Thomas along with as jaunty an air as the circumstances and the burden of his job would permit, for Timbo, although short in stature, is mighty in avoirdupois.

After the ride was completed, Timbo said that hereafter he would leave wheel barrow rides out of his election wagers. Bill Jukes acted as bugler for the parade.

TALK ABOUT MONKEYS.

Search for the So-Called "Missing Link" to Be Resumed by an Old German Scientist.

Prof. Ernst Hackel, the great German naturalist of the University of Jena, is going to make once more the long journey to the Celebes and Java. There he will spend next winter studying the fossils of apes that became extinct thousands of years ago. He hopes to be able to show that this ape is the famous "missing link" in nature between monkeys and human beings. Ever since Darwin wrote "The Descent of Man," men of science have been interested in tracing every step in the order of creation of animal life from the sponge to man. There has always been a gap between the highest order of monkey, which is the chimpanzee, and the lowest form of human beings. It is believed by Prof. Hackel that there was once a creature that was more like man than any now living, and that the petrified remains of it have been found in the East Indies.

This is a long journey for an old man to take, and it may end the life of the German naturalist, who is near 70 years of age; but men of science, says the Little Chronicle, are always ready to face hardships and dangers in their search for truth. Only a few years ago Mr. Walter Savage Landor penetrated the land of the Grand Llama on the tableland of Thibet only to be tortured and nearly blinded by the inhabitants. Mr. R. L. Garner, the naturalist, who claims to have discovered that monkeys have a language, once lived in a steel cage in the heart of West Africa for three months in order to study the gorrilla in its kingdom. In those wild solitudes this giant ape is sole monarch, and no other animal disputes his right to rule.

Mr. Garner says that the call of a gorilla family chief can undoubtedly be heard three or four miles. It is not a roar or a howl, but more like a terrific human yell, prolonged into a scream. He never found out whether this call was intended to frighten an intruder or to collect his family for a migration. It was always sounded between two and four in the morning, and if the animal happened to be close to his cage it made his blood run cold.

Gorillas walk on all fours and have not a ferocious look. They are good climbers, but spend most of the time on the ground. The chimpanzees, on the other hand, live mostly in trees. They climb very much like the native negroes in the bush, using both hands and feet. The gorilla is not able to stand straight on his hind legs, since the knees turn outward, but he sits on a log or on the ground like a human being—often on one foot. In captivity he drinks from a cup like a man, while the chimpanzee puts his mouth in the basin. The chimpanzee is sociable and friendly and imitates his captors, but the gorilla is selfish and surly.

All of the East Indian islands have numerous monkeys. In Mauritius which is the scene of "Paul and Virginia," mischievous jockos come at night to the sugar plantations. Their favorite time of depredation is Sunday afternoon, when the workmen are off for a holiday Then the old sentinel monkeys steal up to see if the way is clear. With a sort of chattering chirrup one calls the others, who tumble up the bank from the ravine. Such games as they play, those young ones, but the sentinels never relax their vigilance, and if a harmless little lap dog toddles down from the veranda of the plantation house each mother monkey grabs her own special baby by the leg, throws it over her shoulder and the whole tribe vanishes before one could say "Jack Robinson." The sentinels cover their retreat and finally retire in good order like brave soldiers.

Pet monkeys are notoriously jealous and make life a burden to any other pet animal in a family. They will even fight little dogs, and although they are not strong, their agility in getting out of the way and jumping on the dog's back makes them antagonists not to be despised.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., MONDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1900. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR.

THE POPULATION OF PLAINFIELD IS 15,369.

Census Returns for This City Given Out at Washington on Saturday Last.

INCREASE FOR TEN YEARS IS 36.4 PER CENT.

UNION COUNTY HAS 99,352 AND SOMERSET SHOWS UP WITH 32,948.

Plainfield's Percentage of Increase is Way Above That of New Brunswick—Somerville Has Had a Fair Growth —The Figures for Many Towns.

Every Plainfielder has watched with interest the figures made public by the Census Bureau and looked for returns from this city. Saturday a list of the cities and towns in New Jersey, with the population, was made public. The population by counties in New Jersey was also given.

It was well known that Plainfield's population had substantially increased during the last ten years. The figures show the present population to be 15,369, as compared with 11,264, the figures for 1890. The increase is 36.4 per cent. The list made public by the Census Bureau did not include boroughs, so the figures for North Plainfield are not yet attainable. The increase in the borough will be even greater it is expected than in Plainfield. There has been a remarkable growth over the brook during the past ten years, and an excellent showing is expected.

Some of Plainfield's neighbors do not show a gain equal to that of Plainfield. New Brunswick has made a comparatively poor showing, the increase being but 7.5 per cent. Somerville has had an increase of 25.4 per cent.

Of the three counties which are in the immediate vicinity of Plainfield, Middlesex county shows the largest increase. The gain there is 39.1 per cent. In Union county the gain is 23.3 per cent., and in Somerset county only 16.5 per cent.

The Census Bureau Saturday gave out the population figures for New Jersey, showing a total of 1,883,669. The census of 1890 showed 1,141,933, so that there has been a gain in the ten years of 438,736, or 30.3 per cent. The populatten in 1880 was 1,131,116, and the increase in 1880 was 27.7 per cent., so that the State's advance in the past ten years has been considerable greater than in the previous decade. The population by counties in comparison with the figures of 1890 is given below. Essex has failed to crowd Hudson out of first place; Passaic retains third and Camden fourth place; while Union has crowded Mercer out of Fifth place. Last place is still held by little Cape May.

The population by counties follows:

	1900.	1890.
Atlantic	46,402	28,836
Bergen	78,441	47,226
Burlington	56,341	56,757

PRAYER FOR RULERS.

Rev. Dr. Yerkes Says it is the Duty of the Christian to Pray for the Right Administration.

Rev. Dr. Yerkes preached a most practical and interesting sermon yesterday morning on the subject of "Prayer for Rulers," as enjoined by Paul in his Epistle to Timothy. He claimed that a Christian citizen was not absolved from his obligations to his country and after exercising the right and duty of casting his ballot conscientiously, it was his duty also to pray for the right administration of government. This was not politics but religion. Recognizing the dispos. ing power of God, Dr. Yerkes urged three incentives to prayer for our ruler: he is our President, entrusted with the administration of the nations affairs; he is the servant of the people, burdened with great responsibilities and weighty decisions and all rulers, no matter how wise, are full of infirmities and liable to make mistakes. Prayer for rulers is a duty the christian citizen owes to God, his country, himself and posterity.

PLAYED TIE GAME.

Eleven of Leal's School Went to Freehold to Play New Jersey Military Academy There.

The football eleven of Leal's School played a tie game with the New Jersey Military Academy, of Freeholder, on the latter's grounds Saturday afternoon. The score was 0 to 0. As the Plainfield team had to hurry to catch a train, only ten minute halves were played. During that time, however, it was evident that the Leal's School team was the stronger of the two. For some unaccountable reason, however, the Plainfield boys fumbled continually and failed to understand the signals. Twice they carried the ball to within five yards of their opponent's goal line, only to lose on a fumble. The guard's back formation and end runs netted long gains for the Plainfielders.

There were no unpleasant features to the game, both teams playing good clean football. The Leal's School team lined up as follows: Right end, Rogers; right tackle, V. McGee; right guard, Bigelow; centre, Minford; left guard, Cahoone; left tackle, Griggs; left end, Hall; quarter back, Tilney; right half back, Brown; left half back, R. Schoonmaker; full back, D. McGee.

NEW ANTI-SPRING ELECTION BILL.

Hudson Republicans Will Ask for It and Hope to Secure the Aid of Essex.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, Nov. 12.—Republican County Chairman Woolley says that the Hudson Republicans will again go before the Legislature next winter and ask for the passage of a bill to abolish spring elections. Major Carl Lentz, of Newark, favored such a bill last year, and it is believed here that the eleven Essex votes can be depended on as a starter for the measure. Some of the Republicans favor a bill which will do away with spring elections at once, extend the Mayor's term in Jersey City and provide for the Mayorality election next November, instead of next April.

Robert Davis, on behalf of the Democrats, says:

"I believe, with the Republicans, that spring elections should be abolished. They are a useless expense. Besides that the people are entitled to more rest. These elections unsettle business affairs and take up time. I think, though, there should be a spring election in this county in April. After that spring elections can be abolished. Mayor Hoos and the officials were elected for a specified term. This term should be neither extended nor cut short."

STRIKE IN FANCY HOLDS CUPID BACK.

Miss Wilkins Will Not Marry Until She Has Settled a Labor Problem.

EVOLVED IN HER NOVEL.

FRIENDS TELL AUTHOR SHE WILL HAVE TO REWRITE BOOK.

Writer Thinks Otherwise—Meanwhile Dr. Freeman Is Still Waiting for His Bride, and the Strike Bars Her Way.

Until she has settled a strike, a creation of her imagination, and completed her novel, already named "A Portion of Labor," Miss Mary E. Wilkins will not become the wife of Dr. Charles Freeman, of Metuchen.

It was thought the marriage, already postponed several times, would take place within a few weeks, but the strike problem which Miss Wilkins has evolved and feels called upon to settle is a greater one than that which confronted President Mitchell and the coal operators. Miss Wilkins' strike was thought out long before the price of coal went up, but the solution seems as far off as ever, and the poorest miner in Pennsylvania was never more anxious to see a strike settled than are Dr. Freeman and Miss Wilkins.

Friends of the author who have read the book and to whom she has appealed for a solution, while unwilling to reveal the plot of the story, say that Miss Wilkins has produced another problem like that of "The Lady or the Tiger," and have assured her that there is no way out of it unless she makes radical departures in the story as already constructed.

Miss Wilkins contends that there never yet was a difficulty of this kind that could not be overcome, and, marriage or no marriage, she is determined to deal justly between employer and employe. Day after day she has spent hours in deep thought over the matter and in consultation with friends.

Dr Freeman, in his New Jersey home, has also been doing considerable thinking, and he sees his finance frequently, but in this case two heads do not seem to be any better than one.

Miss Wilkins has entire confidence in her ability to solve the labor problem over which she has spent so many weeks, and insists that the original terms of the engagement be adhered to. When she made the date of the wedding dependent on the completion of her book the strike problem did not enter it, and the writing of a story was simply regarded as an incident. For some weeks, however, it has been looked upon as a very serious matter, and superstitious friends are predicting all kinds of things.

SEVERE SCALP WOUND.

Patrick Connolly Thrown Out of a Saloon and Had to be Sent to the Hospital.

Patrick Connolly, of West Third street, was thrown out of the side door of Blatz's saloon Saturday night and received injuries which necessitated his being taken to the hospital. His head struck a sharp stone inflicting an ugly wound. After regaining his feet he attempted to walk home, but, weakened by the loss of blood, he fell at the corner of Park avenue. Patrolman Saffron was in the vicinity and going to his assistance saw that he was badly hurt.

The ambulance was called, but, upon its arrival, Connolly refused to go the hospital. He was then taken to the police station and Dr. Hedges was summoned. On examination the latter found an exceptionally severe severe scalp wound and advised the man to go to the hospital, to which he agreed. This morning he was considerably improved, but will be dedetained at the institution for some time.

More Time for Report

The date for holding the special meeting of the Mayor and Borough Council has been changed from Wednesday evening to Friday evening of this week. The Somerset street commissioners want a little more time to prepare their report.

Fire Loss Settled.

E. M. French, insurance agent, who held the policies on the stock and building owned by A. L. Cadmus, and which were destroyed by fire last week, has settled the loss to the satisfaction of Mr. Cadmus.

A Church Fair.

At the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, West Fourth street, the annual fair will open this evening and continue until Friday night. There will be special attractions each evening.

UNDER BIG FIRE TRUCK

WALTER HARRISON NARROWLY ESCAPED BEING CRUSHED.

Together With Two Other Firemen, He Was Knocked Off the Truck—Taken to the Hospital.

But for Tillerman Harry Bush's quickness in throwing the rear wheels of the heavy fire truck off his prostrate form, Walter Harrison, a call man, in the fire department, would undoubtedly have been killed. As it was he was severely injured and is now at the hospital. Two other call men, Ollie Freeman and John Cline, also had narrow escapes from being run over.

The accident happened yesterday afternoon at fire headquarters as the truck was leaving in answer to an alarm. A number of men jumped on the truck before it had passed the doors. Those mentioned were on the right side. There is barely room for a man between the doors and the truck on ordinary occasions and this was considerably lessened by the turn being made to the right. All three men saw their danger at once and attempted to get back but it was too late, with the exception of Cline who was first and squeezed through. Freeman and Harrison sought to save each other but were brushed off directly in front of the rear wheels.

Freeman rolled under the truck and escaped but Harrison was unable to move. The wheel struck his right ankle and from the manner in which he was lying would have proceeded directly over his body lengthways.

Tillerman Bush had seen his peril and shouting to Driver Vail to stop, threw the wheels to the right and off his ankle. Before the truck could be stopped it also passed over his out stretched arm. Harrison was picked up and assisted to the house and Dr. Clawson was summoned. He found the ligrments in the ankle broken and the arm badly bruised.

As the former injury is as bad, if not worse, than a broken bone, the doctor advised his removal to the hospital. He was afterward taken there in the chief's wagon. The injury is very painful and Harrison will be laid up for some time. Freeman's escape was also very narrow, the wheel just grazing his arm as he was lying beneath the truck. Harrison, who is a single man, is employed by J. P. Homan and resides at fire headquarters.

NO NEED TO THRESH NOW

"FARMER ORATOR" MARTINE LOSES 300 BUSHELS OF OATS BY FIRE.

The Grain Was Stacked in a Field and is Supposed to Have Been Set on Fire.

"Farmer Orator" James E. Martine will not thresh today according to programme. All that remains of his big stack of oats, which stood in the rear of the residence at "Cedar Brook" farm, is a heap of ashes. There were over 300 bushels of oats, the crop from a ten-acre field, in the stack, and the loss will amount to over $100. The fire occurred last evening at 8 o'clock, and was undoubtedly the work of incendiaries.

Some of the neighbors saw the fire string up around the stack and then saw a stout man, wearing a slouch hat, walk away from the fire. The same man was seen in the neighborhood by several others. It was evident that the fire was started all around the base of the stack. It was discovered by Mr. Martine's hired man, and he and Mr. Martine labored in vain to extinguish the flames. The flames soon swept over the stack. Mr. Martine saw that it was doomed and simply notified the fire department by telephone.

A strange coincidence is that it was just thirty years ago yesterday that Mr. Martine's barns were set on fire to and burned to the ground. Since then, Mr. Martine has had fire after fire on his farm and every one has been traced to incendiary origin. Mr. Martine is utterly at a loss to know who started last evening's fire. It is believed that it was simply done out of pure maliciousness rather than to pay some fancied grudge.

Badly Cut in a Fall From Cycle.

J. J. St. Germain, who resides at the Hillside golf club house, was thrown from his wheel on Park avenue under the railroad bridge this noon, and was badly cut about the head and face. He was picked up and taken to Armstrong's drug store. A cut over the right eye was so severe that the services of a doctor were required. He was taken home in a carriage some time later. The accident was caused by his knees striking the handle bars.

—Owing to a great rush of work the Crescent Embossing Works is running night and day to fill orders.

NEITHER SIDE SCORED; BOTH CLAIMED GAME.

Because Referee's Decision Didn't Suit, Roseville A. A. Withdrew From Game.

FORFEITED TO ALIS A. A.

UNSATISFACTORY ENDING OF GAME PLAYED ON ROSEVILLE GROUNDS.

Plainfield's Crack Team Was Outclassed But Made a Stubborn Defense—Childish Behaviour of Home Team—What Caused the Dispute.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, Nov. 12.—There is some difference of opinion regarding the result of the football game between the Alis A. A., of Plainfield, and the Roseville A. A., played on the grounds of the latter club at Ampere, Saturday afternoon. After claiming that they had been robbed of two touchdowns, the Roseville eleven departed from the field and the referee, Roger Erickson, of Plainfield, declared the game forfeited to the Alis team 6 to 0. As a matter of fact, neither side scored, although the Roseville team came very near doing so twice. It was the first game the Alis boys have played in which the game has not been finished and in which their opponets have shown such a childish spirit as to withdraw from the game because the reseree's decision didn't happen to suit them.

All the arrangements at the Roseville A. A.'s gridiron were satisfactory except the condition of the field itself. The turf was poor and there wasn't a single line, boundary, five yard line or goal line, marked. The line of the goal posts were not parrallel and over that fact arose the dispute which finally disrupted the game.

Alis had the kick off and sent the ball well down the field. Roseville lost the ball on downs to recover it almost immediately the same way. Wall punted and Alis again lost the ball on downs It was evident that the Roseville club was the heavier of the two and the Roseville backs hammered the line for steady gains. Nafy dashed through left tackle for forty yards and was downed by Peck on Alis' five yard line. Referee Erickson blew his whistle for the end of the first half but the home team didn't hear it and rushed the ball over the line for a touchdown which was not allowed as time had already been called.

Alis was forced on the defensive again in the second half. The home team was unable to go around the ends, but made its gains through the line. On the offensive work Alis was weak, the backs starting slowly and showing lack of practice. After Roseville's kickoff Alis brought the ball back to their forty yard line and there lost it on downs. Several times the ball changed hands, but it was slowly forced down the field to Alis' goal.

With five minutes more to play, Roseville took the ball to within two feet of Alis' goal line. Erickson made a mistake and called it fourth down, but corrected his error. The Roseville backs plunged into the line again and only advanced the ball a foot. That was fourth down and the ball went to the visitors. It was here that the argument arose. The referee declared that the goal line should be on a line with the two goal posts as long as there was none marked, even though that line was not parallel with the goal line at the other end of the field, the posts not having been set properly. The Roseville boys said it was a touchdown and proceeded to kick a goal. They refused to obey the referee's order and go back to play, and finally gathered their forces together and departed. The referee then declared that the game had been forfeited to Plainfield, and the Alis boys went home, too.

The summary:

ALIS A. A.		ROSEVILLE A. A.
Serrell	right end	Johnson, N. Hill
Garretson	right tackle	James
McClure	right guard	Porter
G. Smith	centre	Mc urdy
Walton	left guard	Edmundson
Wittke	left tackle	Loff
H. Smith	left end	Muir
Peck	quarterback	Jacopus
Woolston	right halfback	E. Nafy
Cuming	left halfback	R. Hill
Phillips	fullback	Wall

Score—Alis A. A., 0; Roseville, 0. Forfeited to Alis A. A. Referee—Roger Erickson, of Plainfield. Umpire—J. F. Maglas, of Roseville. Timeke pers—Fred M. Slater, Jr., of Plainfield, and Robert Sylvester, of Orange. Linesmen—James Taylor, of Plainfield, and H. C. Briggs, of Roseville.

TRAMPS ROB AND SHOOT IN LINCOLN & DUNELLEN

Desperate Encounter Between Citizens and Police and the Daring Knights of the Road.

TWO OF THE DESPERADOES LANDED IN JAIL.

CAPTURED AT GREENBROOK TANKS AFTER A FIERCE BATTLE WITH OFFICER AND AID.

Sergeant Frederickson and Roundsman Flynn Had a Very Thrilling Chase After One of the Suspects, Several Shots Being Exchanged Between Them.

At an early hour yesterday morning, two bands of burglars simultaneously visited Dunellen and Lincoln and for the short time they were in either place, made things rather exciting. Two of the desperadoes who operated at the latter place were captured and afterwards lodged in jail at New Brunswick. The Dunellen men escaped, but one of them bore with him a large share of a charge from Postmaster Adam Dealaman's gun. They had already entered two stores and were about to enter Mr. Dealaman's when detected.

The first one was the bicycle store of Frank Smalley where they secured a quantity of cheap jewelry and cigars and also two revolvers. From here they went to the meat market conducted by Henry Wiedenhaupt. The cash drawer was broken open and a small amount of change was taken. Apparently angered at their poor luck, they entered the refrigerator and taking the meat from the hooks threw it about the floor of the store in a most malicious manner. They then proceeded to the grocery store of Postmaster Dealaman directly next to Wiedenhaupts and attempted to file the padlock off the rear door. In some manner they set off a burglar alarm connecting the store with Mr. Dealaman's residence which is less than fifty feet in the rear. Mr. Dealaman was awakened and seizing a gun opened aside window. As he did so a tall man sprang from the store behind an out-house. A second man considerably smaller crouched against the wall.

In answer to Mr. Dealaman's query as to what they were doing, the short man replied in some unintelligible sentence. With that the latter aimed at the man's lower limbs and fired. The shot must have taken effect for the burglar started to join his companion at the same time drawing a revolver and exclaiming with an oath, "I'll shoot you." He then took deliberate aim at Mr. Dealaman and fired. The bullet passed within a few inches of his head and, entering the room, buried itself in the wall. A second shot rang out and the bullet struck the house. It was followed by a third which went wild. As he fired the last shot the burglar ran behind the outhouse. Thinking he would appear on the other side, Mr. Dealaman fired ahead of him, but the burglar prudently remained behind. Firing two more shots to alarm the neighbors Mr. Dealaman turned to dress, thinking the men had escaped. They had been covertly watching him, however, for as he turned they were seen by his son to dart over the fence next to Wiedenhaupts and run for the railroad.

Several neighbors, who had been attracted by the shooting, followed soon after, but the men had disappeared. Word was immediately sent to Plainfield and other places to be on the lookout.

Sergeant Frederickson and Roundsman Flynn had an encounter with a man who is supposed to have been one of the burglars who operated at Dunellen. Shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday morning a telegram came to police headquarters stating that burglars had been operating in Dunellen. Sergeant Frederickson was at headquarters and started out at once on his wheel. He met the Roundsman enroute and the latter accompanied him.

After an investigation at Dunellen, which failed to reveal any traces of the burglars, the two Plainfield officers started down West Front street on their wheels, bound for home. As they approached the terminus of the Plainfield trolley, a tall man, wearing a slouch hat and an overcoat, the pockets of which bulged out, was seen to walk out of the neighboring field and cross the road. As the officers approached, the man said:

"Hello, chief."

"Wait a minute," called the sergeant, as he dismounted from his wheel. "I want to speak to you."

The stranger's only reply was to dart at full speed across the road and into the field south of the road. As he ran he drew a revolver and fired at the policemen.

Away went the man and after him the two officers. All three fell into the ditch full of water near the railroad. When the supposed burglar climbed the wire fence bordering the railroad property the sergeant was only twenty feet away. He fired twice and the man returned the fire. None of the bullets took effect. They ran across the railroad tracks and again the officers were fired on. The chase continued in the direction of South Plainfield until the stranger managed to hide himself in the woods and the police were compelled to give up the chase. Sergeant Frederickson fired five shots and so did the pursued.

The men who operated at Lincoln were not quite as fortunate in getting away. At this place they entered the Central depot and freight house, W. F. Polhemus's store and made an attempt on J. P. Rhodes grocery. Nothing of any consequence was secured at either place.

They then went to the home of Michael Reedy, at Greenbrook, which they entered through the cellar. They were heard by Mrs. Reedy who sought to awaken her husband but in doing so the burglars took alarm and fled. Mrs. Reedy ran to the window and saw them leaving.

As soon as possible, Reedy dressed and on going to Lincoln aroused Constable Polhemus. The two then proceeded to the Greenbrook tanks and looking in the sand house discovered two men who pretended to be asleep. On being aroused they denied all knowledge of any burglaries and became very surly. Hot words followed and Reedy, who was greatly excited, struck one of them a heavy blow with a club.

Both men were then secured. Near them was found two picks which had been taken from the supply box of the traction company, and which had been used in breaking into the several places. The men were taken to Reedy's house, where Mrs. Reedy positively identified them as the men she saw running away. A wagon was procured and the prisoners taken to New Brunswick and arraigned before Justice Suydam. They described themselves as Jas. Murray and Jas. Ryan, both of Philadelphia. They denied being the burglars and declared they had been sleeping in the sand-house since early evening. The Justice, however, committed them to the county jail to await further action.

From the manner in which places in both Dunellen and Lincoln were entered the work seems to be that of a gang of tramps who are aware that neither place has any police protection. Matters of this kind have been occurring of late and the citizens talk of forming some sort of a vigilance league for mutual protection.

Lost in the Borough.

Edward Reasoner, colored, employed by Mayor Smalley, of the borough, lost his way early yesterday morning while going to the home of the Mayor. He was at the corner of Duer street and Park place when he lost his bearings and his incessant cries for the police awakened the neighbors. A nearby resident telephoned for Chief Marshal Campbell, who responded quickly and started the man on his journey. Reasoner was taken to Grove street, and he was then able to find his way home.

Sermon to the Juniors.

Rev. J. W. Richardson, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will preach the annual sermon to the Jr. O. U. A. M., this year. The date set is Sunday evening, November 25th, at the church on Park avenue. All Juniors are cordially invited to be present at that time.

Which well deserved its fame.

But when the parrot started
Its cleverness to show,
Instead of its accustomed rôle,
It shouted forth H-O.

For on the voyage over,

The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles and have the satisfaction of knowing it has cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, LaGrippe and all Throat, Chest and Lung diseases are surely cured by it. Call on L. W. Randolph, Druggist, and get a free trail bottle. Regular size 50c and $1 00. Every bottle gauranteed.

—Stone Square Lodge, No. 38, F. and A. M., will hold a regular communication this evening.

—Thomas Rutledge and George Wise have been sworn in as special marshals by Mayor Smalley.

—There is no pleasure in life if you dread going to the table to eat and can't rest at night on account of indigestion. Henry Williams, of Boonville, Ind., says he suffered that way for years, till he commenced the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, and adds, "Now I can eat anything I like and all I want and sleep soundly every night." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will digest what you eat. L. W. Randolph.

Raymond Mosher, of Elmwood place, who has been detained at home for a week by illness, has recovered.

Mrs. Charles J. Newman, of Richmond street, who has been ill for some time past, is slowly recovering. She recently returned from Lakewood, where she spent two weeks.

SPANISH-AMERICAN CONGRESS

Secret Sessions Begun In Madrid to Discuss Commercial Relations.

MADRID, Nov. 12.—The secret sessions of the Spanish-American congress began today. They will be devoted to a study of various propositions for the development of the commercial relations between Spain and Latin America.

The press warmly welcomes the delegates in language which is circumspect, showing no hostility toward the United States, but upholding the necessity of the unity of the Latin family in America.

At Saturday's session of the congress Senor Sierra, the delegate from Mexico, emphatically disclaimed the idea that there was any incompatibility between the present congress and the one that would be held in Mexico in October of next year for the purpose of discussing customs duties among all the American nations. He expressed the hope that the two congresses would result in benefit not only to all the nations in the western hemisphere, but to all humanity as well, adding that universal blessings would follow if compulsory arbitration for differences between nations should result.

Unknown Man Shot.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Nov. 12.—An unknown man was shot and instantly killed while rifling the money drawer at Gales Ferry station of the Norwich and Worcester railroad, which is just across the river from here. The station master, George Brooks, had locked up the station for the night and was on his way home about 10 o'clock when he noticed a polecat near the roadside and went into the house of an acquaintance to borrow a gun. After he secured the gun he retraced his steps toward the railroad station in search of the animal and discovered that the station had been broken into during his absence. Entering, he found a man standing in front of the open money drawer. "Hold up your hands!" shouted the station agent as he leveled the gun, but the man refused with an emphatic oath and threatened, according to the station agent's story, to shoot. The station agent then fired, the charge entering the breast of the burglar and causing instant death. A screwdriver, chisel, knife and a cheap gold filled watch were found in the man's pockets, but there was nothing to establish his identity.

Race War In British Columbia.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 12.—Bitter racial feeling between some of the French Canadians and Britishers culminated in a flag incident in the neighboring city of New Westminster, where serious consequences were only avoided by the prompt action of the authorities. On the new stone postoffice building in process of construction are employed a number of French Canadians brought thither for that work from Quebec. They were given a Saturday half holiday and hoisted the union jack and the French tricolor on the same pole. The British flag was removed surreptitiously, and when the French ensign was discovered floating alone over the government building a crowd of Englishmen gathered to pull it down. The French Canadians defended their flag, and a hand to hand conflict followed. The authorities stopped the fight by pulling down the offending flag.

Santiago Dislikes Orders.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Nov. 12.—Colonel Whitside has received orders from the war department fixing Nov. 15 as the date for closing the department of Santiago, Cuba. This date will be a fortnight earlier than he had expected, and there is considerable uneasiness among the officers, who are not certain how the change will affect them personally. The general opinion, however, is that there will be few changes beyond calling Santiago a district hereafter instead of a department headquarters. General Wood is expected to arrive here next Tuesday. The Cubans severely criticise the war department's action. They have always been jealous of Havana, and now they say that the Americans, following Spanish customs, are robbing Santiago for the benefit of Havana.

Coal Trade Outlook.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—The Ledger in its coal article today says: "The anthracite coal trade is gradually resuming its position and getting the collieries into active operation after the strike. It is expected that this week will see full working at the mines and that hereafter there will be a full output of coal, all of which the market will readily take. There is not much expectation that prices of coal at the mines will go lower, but there is no further advance in contemplation, and retail prices have been materially reduced in various places. The weeks of idleness caused by the strike have reduced the year's output considerably below 1899 thus far, but part of the loss will probably be made up by full working until the season closes."

Miners Still In Trouble.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 12.—The minor differences which exist between the Lehigh Valley Coal company and some of their employees are not expected to have a serious ending. The rockmen who are employed in opening tunnels and gangways have petitioned the company for a reduction in the price of dynamite, which the company is not inclined to grant. It is said, however, that the way is open for a compromise. Three hundred miners employed at the Maltby colliery of the Lehigh Valley company went out on strike Saturday because a number of nonunion men were put to work.

Disastrous Fire at Norfolk.

NORFOLK, Nov. 12.—The car sheds and electric plant of the Norfolk Railway and Light company in Huntersville, a suburb of Norfolk, have been totally destroyed by fire. Fifty-two cars and the electrical machinery were destroyed. The loss is estimated at $150,000, covered by insurance. The street car system is badly crippled. A fuse from a car in the barn is supposed to have started the fire. The firemen responded to the alarm and saved the local distributing depot of the Standard Oil company which adjoins the sheds.

Fatal Wreck Near Paris.

PARIS, Nov. 12.—Eight persons were killed and 15 wounded in a collision between a suburban train and an express at Choisy le Roi. The suburban train was entering the station to allow the express to pass, and the accident occurred then, the suburban train being telescoped. The wreck was complete, and the line was blocked for hours.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; variable winds; mostly fresh northeasterly.

FRICTION IN PEKING.

Peace Negotiations Do Not Proceed Smoothly.

MANCHURIA IS LOST TO CHINA.

Spread of Insurrection In Southern Provinces Causes Alarm In Peking. Some of the Points Upon Which the Powers Have Agreed.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—"Serious friction has been caused in the peace negotiations in Peking," says The Daily Mail's correspondent at Tien-tsin, writing Nov. 9, "by Belgium, Denmark, Holland and Spain clamoring to have locus standi in any important decisions. Russia and France have supported their claims, which are opposed by the powers. Belgium is especially importune and intensely pro-Russian."

Dr. Morrison, wiring to The Times from Peking Saturday, says:

"Li Hung Chang has not yet replied to Admiral Alexieff's invitation to resume the government of Manchuria under Russian protection. Russia will require the names of all officials to be submitted to her for approval. Her proposals are tantamount to military occupation, and every Chinaman realizes that Manchuria is lost to China.

"Increasing alarm is felt here at the spread of the insurrection in the southern provinces. No surprise will be caused if Japan intervenes. The trade and financial outlook is very gloomy."

"All the Russian troops here," says a dispatch to The Times from Tien-tsin, dated Nov. 9, "are being withdrawn."

A dispatch from Berlin says the following is the full text of the statement, evidently inspired, in the Cologne Gazette as to the understanding reached by the representatives of the powers in Peking regarding the Chinese settlement:

"Pourparlers between the envoys in Peking for the purpose of agreeing upon the fundamentals for peace negotiations with the Chinese plenipotentiaries proceed favorably in the whole series of important points.

"An agreement has been reached between the powers particularly regarding the punishment of the main culprits, the mandarins and princes; also regarding the witnessing of the execution of such punishments by representatives of the powers; also regarding the principle of paying damages to the several governments for the costs of the China expeditions and for damages sustained by private persons and missions; also regarding the permanent stationing of sufficient guards for the Peking legations; also regarding the razing of the Taku forts, and, finally, regarding the maintenance of secure and regular communication between Peking and the seashore.

"About a number of other demands put forth by separate powers negotiations are still pending."

SOUTH CHINA REBELLION.

Six Thousand Rebels Killed In a Fight at Tsan-tsou.

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 12.—News was received by the steamship Victoria concerning the rebellion in south China. The Triads have broken out in Kwangsi, and Marshal Su, commander in chief of the imperial forces, is asking for 30,000 men to suppress them. The British have dispatched infantry and artillery to guard the Kow-loon frontier.

When the torpedo boat destroyer Handy was landing men, she encountered a force of rebels and threw shells among them as they advanced on Sanchuan, routing them and killing 40.

A strong force of Kwangsi rebels marching to meet Kwangsing rebels met and defeated the imperial troops near Kwangning and captured 30.

Great preparations for the building, mine laying and drilling of troops were going on in the affected provinces.

A battle was fought at Tsan-tsou, on the Shangtung-Chi-li border, Oct. 17 between imperial troops and Boxers. General Yuan's troops numbered 8,000 and the Boxers 12,000. Two thousand men were left to guard Tsangchou, and General Mei, in charge of the imperial troops, gave battle outside. The battle lasted all day and resulted in the defeat of the Boxers with great loss. Their leader, Chen, refused to retreat and when the fight was lost fought with 300 desperadoes in a ravine until all were killed. His head was taken and hung on the walls of the city. Six thousand rebels were killed.

Consul Goodnow at Shanghai has made a summary of Boxer outrages showing that 93 American and British missionaries were murdered, and 170 other missionaries in Shensi and Chi-li are missing.

Only a Partial Agreement.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—If, as reported in the Cologne Gazette, the powers have reached a definite understanding in regard to China, its terms as stated by that newspaper omit several features which have been a source of discussion among them. Probably the most important of these is the proposition to abolish the cumbersome office of the tsung-li-yamen, or board of foreign affairs, and place the duties of that body under the supervision of one person, who shall be directly responsible for the management of its affairs. This change has been urgently desired by our government, and it is believed to find a hearty second among all the powers. Officials profess an unwillingness to discuss with any detail the existing state of the negotiations now in progress, and the impression prevails that if an agreement has been reached it is incomplete. Nothing has come from Minister Conger.

Russia Fears Consequences.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 12.—Russia is becoming increasingly restless on account of the strict course of the allies, particularly the Germans and British, toward the Chinese. "Russians," says the Bourse Gazette, "will reap the hatred of foreigners which the Germans and British are sowing." Official circles in St. Petersburg do not conceal their dissatisfaction over the recent executions of Pao-ting-fu officials.

Carlist Band Captured.

BARCELONA, Nov. 12.—The government troops have captured a band of 50 Carlists near Villafranca del Panades, 25 miles west of Barcelona. They seized a quantity of arms and ammunition.

Victor Emmanuel's Birthday.

ROME, Nov. 12.—Yesterday being the birthday of King Victor Emmanuel, his majesty signed a decree pardoning many criminals.

BOB BURDETTE Takes a Trip Abroad

He Writes of the History, the Beauty and the Grandeur of Scotland

[Copyright, 1900, by Robert J. Burdette.]

MORE than a century ago Dr. Johnson wrote: "The city of Edinburgh is too well known to admit description." And to-day it is better and more intimately known to millions of people who have never been in Scotland than it was to Ursa Major. He knew the Edinburgh of history, more thrilling and impressive than any fiction, more beautiful than any romance. And since his day Sir Walter Scott and Robert Burns have enriched—if that were possible—the pages of its history with illuminations and border pictures of song and story until history and romance are so blended in the very atmosphere and color of the place that Allan Fairford, Dandie Dinmont and Col. Mannering seem as real as John Knox and Thomas Chalmers. Until you begin to read the history of Edinburgh you do not realize what a poor imitation of history is romance. Read half way through almost any novel; you are a poor reader and a poor thinker if you cannot guess the ending of the story. Anybody can do that. Try it with history. Say, for instance, you write up the history of the present presidential campaign to its finish. Or, write the history of China for six months, beginning with the 1st of September. In a year from now anybody can write a romance founded on the history of these next six months. But to write the foundation for the novel—ah, my son! That calls for a power a little ways beyond genius. Fiction is only an imitation, romance is merely an echo after all. The so-called "historical novel" is usually (which is to say always) very strong in romance and "powerful weak" in history. For instance, people who visit Kenilworth castle with Scott's novel for a handbook have no difficulty whatever in discovering Mervyn's tower and sighing over the unhappy Amy Robsart, viewing with a heavy heart the splendors of the fireworks which greet Queen Elizabeth while she wonders if the vanishing glories do not prefigure her own unhappy fate—"a single spark, which is instantly swallowed up by the surrounding darkness, a precarious glow which rises but for a brief space into the air, that its fall may be the lower." Amy Robsart had good right to philosophize on the vanities of these festivities and to hazard a guess at her own fate, as she had been dead for 15 years when Elizabeth came to Kenilworth. But, as the boys say, "what's the diff? We get our thrill out of it just the same." Witness, too, the strange, wild, uncombed and incoherent exegesis evolved and imparted to their innocent classes by the ardent young Sunday school teachers who learn their New Testament history and doctrines from "The Sword Swallower of Jericho" and "Hitti Maginn, the Gladiator of Capernaum." I have no fault to find with romance. I occasionally deal a little in it my ain sel', but I don't claim any historical value for it. I also recognize and most highly appreciate the literary excellence of "Robinson Crusoe" and "Arabian Nights," but I do not accept any part of them as authentic history of their times.

IF A MAN SHOULD FIND A CROWN AND SOME ROYAL TOGGERY HE WOULD HAVE GONE IN THE KING BUSINESS.

A Gray Beginning.

The history of Edinburgh as pictured by the long line of Scottish kings, painted from life at a single sitting by the Flemish painter, De Witt, which hang on the walls of the picture gallery in Holyrood palace, began some time before the flood. These kings, about 100 of them, were all brothers—twins, at that; the portraits prove it. But the city is really old enough to wear its crown of honor with venerable majesty without borrowing any shadows from fanciful antiquity. Edwin, king of Northumbria, built a fortress here on the castle rock in the year 617, and for centuries the history of the castle was the story of Edinburgh, which is the history of Scotland. Edwin's burgh, they called the hamlet about the rock, although the name-word "Eidden" was applied to Edinburgh before Edwin's day. And all the story has been the history of a people heroic, intellectual, upright—a nation with a conscience. There is no people on earth that possess and present in their nationality and individuality such a wonderful combination of rugged strength and caressing tenderness. Their speech is rich in its majestic grandeur as their own mountains, and it seems framed in its gnarled and massive puissance to declare and to maintain mighty truths and eternal principles, in which most men might live and die and live forever. And it is a speech rich beyond all measure for petting and coddling little children, and it has more caressing names and phrases for lovers than any lover not born in Scotland can ever remember. Remember? He couldn't learn the half of them. And when he had learned the half of them he couldn't speak the quarter of the half. A man not native born may learn to write Scotch dialect—he will never learn to speak it. They have the advantage of us. "It's easy eneuch to speak English," said an Edinburgh lassie who had been in domestic service in England, when her home folk wanted to know how she got on; "ye've naething tae dae bit leave oot the Rs an' gie ilka wird a bit chaw i' the middle." And all their land is beautiful. Beautiful even under gray skies and in the sweeping clouds of mist and the drifting fogs; beautiful even in the slanting curtains of the rain which deluge it and us when we staged through some of it—the wettest part of it, I think.

Edinburgh Castle.

There is nothing about Edinburgh that reminds you of any other city you have ever seen. Nowhere else is there a hill overlooking the city of which you are trying to think, like the Lion's Head, or Arthur's Seat. No other city holds in its heart such a citadel as the castle. Just "the castle." There is no other on earth, to the Scot. To look at it you would say it could never be taken from a resolute garrison. But when you come to think of it there isn't a stronghold on the planet that hasn't been taken. Think of all the impossible things we Americans take year after year for our livers and things before we finally go to California and take the only climate on earth. So the grim old castle of Edinburgh has been starved and worried into capitulation by long sieges, and it has been grappled and throttled by furious storming parties. The English took it during the contest between those Scottish claimants for the throne, Robert Bruce and John Baliol, and held it, with English tenacity, for 30 years. Then Randolph, earl of Moray, stormed up the inaccessible precipice one black midnight, with a body of Scots, to whom the scaling of inaccessible precipices was a feature of their boyhood's education, scaled the insurmountable walls with ladders, carved the unconquerable garrison into fragments and accomplished the soldierly feat of doing the impossible, a thing which weak-souled and philosophical people have always contended could not be done. After the battle of Flodden the earl of Hertford attempted to do the same thing. This time, however, there happened to be a Scottish garrison in the castle, and the combination had been changed. The garrison resented the intrusion, killed about 500 of the intruders, made a sortie on the heels of the assault so that they might have more room in which to fight, killed some more and captured several guns, which they had lost at Flodden. In doing the impossible it is well to have the right kind of men to do it with. The castle stood its most famous siege under Kirkaldy of Grange, who held it in the interest of Queen Mary for three years, successfully defying four successive regents. Finally the earl of Morton and Sir William Drury pounded away at the defenses for seven days with the incessant fire of five batteries. The debris of the battered walls choked the wells, the garrison became disheartened and the gallant commander was lowered in his armor over the ruins to arrange the capitulation. His soldierly defense did not secure pleasant terms for him. He was drawn backward to the Market Cross and hanged, being denied even the boon of a soldier's death. Then once again it prepared to resist a siege by Oliver Cromwell, who never wanted anything that he didn't get, but as soon as his guns were in position the 'coon came down without waiting to be shot at. One of the interesting pieces of artillery in the castle is a huge old gun called "Mons Meg." It was forged in 1476, after the modern fashion, which is so new, of shrinking iron bands around the gun tube. In Cromwell's list of captured guns it is called "the great iron murderer, Meg." It fired great stone balls, and was used in various sieges and wars until the duke of York visited Edinburgh in 1682, when it burst while firing a salute—the only harmless thing it ever did. Then it was taken to the tower of London and kept there for nearly 50 years, when it was returned to Scotland at the intercession of Sir Walter Scott. Having worn itself out in all manner of murderous deviltry, so that it is now incapable of any more mischief, it is held in great reverence and respect. "What we frekwently call virtue," said dear old Josh Billings, "iz sumtimes nothing but vice, tired out."

Crown and Scepter.

The crownroom in the castle holds the "honors of Scotland," the crown, scepter, sword of state and the lord treasurer's rod of office. The sword of state was made in Rome and the scepter was made in Paris. When Cromwell captured the castle these trappings and insignia of Scottish royalty were sent to the castle of Dunnottar; then they were buried under the floor of some church—in those good old days when there was such a wheen of fighting and praying there was nothing so easy to find as a church—or a fort—or a gallows—or a prison; then in 1707 the English government found a new hiding place for them. It seemed to be necessary to keep them hid, for if a man should find a crown and some royal toggery that fit him he would have gone into the king business at once. Just as unto this day you sometimes find a colonel whose rank is made for him by the tailor and an occasional preacher who owes his ordination to the same creator of titles and station. More than one good layman who might have hoed corn with profit and credit has been D. D.'d by a single-breasted preaching coat and a high-necked vest that buttoned behind. I once knew a most excellent young man in Kewanee, Ill., who was making a good living by keeping books, single entry, for a livery stable man, when somehow he learned that he looked like Napoleon. He went in debt for a long gray coat and a soft felt hat, and stood around so much of the time with his arms folded that he starved to death. But after a century Sir Walter Scott besought the authorities to search for the lost treasures which had been in concealment 110 years. They were found in the ancient oaken chest in the crownroom, and by the treaty of union they are to remain forever in Edinburgh castle, but never to be used. I don't know for what they could be used. A crown is of no earthly use without a kingdom and a few subjects. And, so far as authority is concerned, I'd rather own President McKinley's good steel pen when it is raining commissions and offices than any scepter I have seen in Great Britain. This empire is nothing but a big republic with a life-term president, anyhow. And the president is a woman. And not one of her royal predecessors ever made such a magnificent record as a ruler. What do you think of that, you man afraid of woman suffrage?

Contradictions.

There are some very interesting dungeons in the castle, but they wouldn't let us into any of them. That is the paradox of government. We who were eagerly anxious to get into these places, even to the extent of corrupting a guide and a guard, were harshly refused. And other people, who bribed the guards a thousand fold beyond our poor corruption fund to keep out, were thrust into them, neck and crop. Then, just about the time they were content to abide in them rather than come out to meet the evils they knew not, but could make an all-kindling guess at, they were compelled to leave them to furnish subjects for a public decapitation. It is hard to have things your own way in this world, unless you run things yourself. Then it is impossible.

Beginning of Trouble.

When Queen Mary came from France in 1561 she occupied apartments in Holyrood palace, and the honest citizens serenaded her. Knox says: "There were a company of honest men who, with instruments of music, gave her their salutations at her chamber window." But another and more critical contemporary says these citizens, to the number of 500, "came under her windows and gave her a concert of the vilest fiddles and little rebecs, which are as bad as they can be in that country, and accompanied them with singing psalms, but so wretchedly out of tune and concord that nothing could be worse." Mary the queen thanked the singers most graciously, but she changed her apartments to a distant part of the palace. Her ears and her soul had sterner music in store for them before that first week in Holyrood was old. John Knox held his first interview with her, and stormier ones were to follow. A blessed and a happy and an innocent place had the palace of Holyrood been had no harsher discords than the psalm singing of her Protestant subjects distressed the royal ears. She would hear the hoarse curses of Ruthven and his associates as they burst into the little supper-room with its private stair; she would hear the shrieks and see the white, terrified face of Rizzio as they tore his clinched hands loose from his royal mistress' robe and murdered him before her eyes. "It shall be dear blood to some of you," she said to the slayers. Psalms, even sung out of tune and through the nose, would have sounded pleasantly enough could they have drowned these other discords. Even the stern sermons of John Knox would have been acceptable. From Holyrood the queen went to the castle, where a palace was built for her where they now show you "Queen Mary's room" and the little chamber where James VI. was born. From this castle height she could look upon the picture that may charm your own eyes. She could look across the shimmering waters of the Forth; she might see the blue Lomond hills; she could look down at Bass Rock with the white-lipped waves fretting at its feet and the clouds of seagulls forever hovering about it; she could look southward toward her favorite summer home, Craigmillar castle, as you will look at its desolation and loneliness; such a picture of loveliness she could see from this grim, gray-walled castle home. Why couldn't that content her? Well, I don't know why. If you had the choice of being a happy, contented woman, the wife of a good-hearted clerk in a shoe store, or of an honest farmer, or the chance of trying for a crown and a throne with maybe a John Knox, a Rizzio, a Darnley in the way, which would you choose? Don't speak too quickly; take your time about it—say 30 or 40 years—until you are 31 years old, that is.

ROBERT J. BURDETTE.

FROM THE CASTLE HEIGTH SHE COULD LOOK.

AN UNKNOWN CITY.

No Foreigner Has Ever Set Foot in Shiasa, the Capital of Thibet.

Thibet is a country forbidden to European eyes, and no "barbarism" has yet set foot in its capital, Lh'asa. Yet a picture of the mysterious city is extant. It is a colored drawing by a Thibetan artist who was attached to a trading caravan. It is a curious piece of work, possessing all the characteristics of Chinese art and is, of course, lacking in perspective.

Lh'asa is unique in this: It has positively become less known and more detached from external contact, while the rest of the world, even to the frozen solitudes of the north pole, has been more and more completely mapped by scientific explorers. There can scarcely be a greater prize than Lh'asa for the explorer of to-day. While the most daring adventurers continue uniformly to record their repeated failures, an increasing sense of romance gathers round Lh'asa, and some of the most daring brains in Europe are now busy trying to find a way through the barriers of the growing mystery and romance. There is no record of a single European having entered it since M. Huc left it in 1846, though many unsuccessful attempts have been made to do so.

Although the mystery of Lh'asa has deepened during the past 50 years of travel and exploration, it appears that during the previous 500 years, and especially during the previous 50, it was far more accessible.

Value of Sunflowers.

It is said that the sunflower is valuable for keeping off malarial fevers.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., NOV. 12, 1900.

COMING EVENTS.

Nov. 12-17—Meetings for men at the Y. M. C. A. at 3:45 o'clock. T. F. Graham will speak.

Plainfield's Growth.

Plainfield's population, as announced by the census returns tabulated at Washington, is 15,369 Ten years ago this city had a population of 11,264. The increase in a decade, therefore, is 4,105—a gain of 36.4 per cent.

This showing is a favorable one, although hardly up to what some of the most optimistic Plainfielders had hoped for. However, there is every reason to feel gratified and proud over the growth in the population of the city. Only a few of the municipalities of New Jersey have shown a greater increase in the number of inhabitants and many towns considered to be in the same general class as Plainfield fall far behind the Eldorado of the East in the returns.

This growth has been made under natural conditions and consequently is of the most substantial and enduring kind. Without the acquisition of any great industrial plant to add hundreds to the city's population at one move, the town has shown a steady increase year after year. A large proportion of the increase is due of course, to the fact that the city offers special advantages to home seekers and in this way has attracted here a great number of residents who have added wealth and refinement to the civic body that is not found in other places where even a greater increase is found.

It must not be taken for granted, however, that Plainfield has grown only along this line. It is true also that there has been a material growth in the local industries during the last decade, and today evidences of this are seen in many sections of the city in the operation of mills and shops that employ skilled labor to a great extent and thus have added a proportion of the increase in inhabitants with a very desirable class of artisans

The figures for North Plainfield in the census returns are not at hand, but it is certain that the increase in the borough has been equal to that in the city—if not more. With only an imaginary line to divide the two municipalities for governmental purposes, the commercial and social affairs of the two places being as though they were one, it is probable that the population of what we may term the "Greater Plainfield" will go above the 20,000 mark. In the past ten years there has been a vast amount of building in the borough, and this represents growth of the best sort.

Plainfielders may well congratulate themselves on the results shown by the census.

Ripe For the Voting Machine.

The New York Evening Post says with entire truth:

One great improvement in election methods which should come about before the next Presidential election, is the general introduction of the voting machine. Every new place where it was tried last week was pleased with it. One type of machine which was used in the city of Northampton, Mass., enabled the result there, where nearly 2,400 votes were cast, to be known in New York city within ten minutes after the polls were closed. With the general adoption of such a system the vote in any State could be learned with almost entire accuracy early in the evening of election day. The secret ballot was a vast advance upon the old method of voting in assuring the elector independence, but counting is still a slow process. A machine which preserves secrecy, prevents the possibility of error or fraud, and tells the result at a glance, comes as near perfection as any method of learning and recording the popular will that could be imagined.

A new series of topographical maps of New Jersey is now ready, which will be found to be of great value in every school and in the library of every professional or business man. The separate sheets treat of the different localities throughout the State. They have been drawn from detail surveys, and are by far the most accurate maps of the State obtainable. Not only do they represent the cities, towns, villages, roads, railroads, streams, ponds, marshes and forested areas, but, by contour lines, the shape of the surface is shown and the elevation above sea level of all points is given. These sheets may be had from the State Geologist at Trenton at 25 cents each, according to the locality desired.

Five Senators will be elected in 1901 and all are Republicans. Their successors will be chosen in Atlantic, Cumberland, Mercer, Morris and Ocean. Unless Senator Pitney is nominated for Governor he will seek another term. It is believed that Senator Stokes will retire. Evans, Hutchinson and Smith probably will be renominated.

The Trenton True American says "we have it directly from Attorney General Griggs that he will not accept a re-appointment to the Cabinent of President McKinley on his second term, and that he proposes to devote his energies to the practice of his profession at his home and in Washington."

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Returns from Union county show how well Charles N. Codding, chairman of the Republican county committee, got out the vote. His work was perfect, as shown by results. As a fitting second to the fine generalship in Union is the result in Somerset, where Senator Reed held down the Bergen Democrats to insure a majority for Howell. At the opening of the campaign Somerset was in doubt; hard and loyal work changed this into a Republican victory.—New York Press.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exacty News but Just as Interesting.

Thirty years ago, while some men were clearing swamp land for a cranberry bog on the G. B. Wood farm, near Grenwich, Salem county, they found the skeleton of a man, and later other finds led to the conclusion that the bones were those of an Indian chief. Beside the bones in the grave were the old chief's tomahawk, arrow heads and beads. Dr. Wood had the skeleton and other relics transferred to a mound, where they were buried, and later a monument was erected to mark the spot. The inscription on the monument is "To the Indian Chief." It is supposed the bones are the remains of the chief of the Cohanzicks, which tribe lived in that county many years ago.

Leo Ellsworth Kenney, the seven-year old son of Andrew Kenney, of Watchung avenue, has a marked talent for "inventing things." All his playtime is taken up in making some sort of contrivance that amuses him far more than the toys which most little boys enjoy playing with. The New York Tribune recently printed a picture which shows an engine which Leo built for himself, and it is just as real to him as though it could draw a real train, and when he sits in the "cab" with his hand on the "throttle" his imagination carries him through space as fast as any limited express between Jersey City and Chicago. One day Leo was sent out in his father's barn, and he gathered up all the grocery boxes he could find about, together with barrel and keg covers. The biggest packing box he uses for the body of the engine, which is large enough for him to get in and out of easily. Two smaller boxes piled in front support the smokestack, which is a short log of wood and the smoke pouring from its top is illustrated by a bunch of black curled hair. At the front is fastened a bicyle lamp, which serves as a headlight to shine out far up the track, and below is seen the "cow catcher," made from a box lid, which will safely clear away any stray dogs or careless children who may loiter in the road. A barrel cover makes the big front driving wheel and smaller lids furnish the wheels behind. The coal box is piled high with blocks of its make believe coal. No. 28 marks the engine as one of the finest in "choo choo" land. Leo is a quiet, thoughtful boy, who attends school regularly and is fond of his books.

Gentlemen:—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the doctor said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use GRAIN-O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.

The store is always an interesting place to visit and particularly so at this season of the year.

Our Furniture Department

is one of the busiest in the store, and there's good reason for it. Large and elegant stocks coupled with close selling prices is the magnet. You know we sell furniture the same as we sell dry goods and there's a heap of difference between dry goods prices and furniture store prices. We were never in a better position to cater to your furniture wants. We have a complete furniture store and can fit you up from the kitchen to the parlor. New beginners especially should be interested in our quotations this week.

Bedroom Furniture

In solid oak, plain and quartered, golden finish. Also in birch, golden and mahogany finish. Consisting of bed, dresser with bevel French mirror, and washstand Some with plain fronts and some with swell fronts, without doubt the best offering of bedroom suits in the city. The prices are 12.98, 14.98, 16.98, 19.48, 25.00, 29.50 and 37.50.

Parlor Furniture.

Few people are aware of the fact that we have an extensive line of parlor suits and odd fancy chairs, but they are here nevertheless and you can make a little money go a great ways in this department. For instance, 3 piece parlor suits in mahogany finished inlaid frames, suit consists of diavan, large arm chair and small chair, upholstered in blue, red and green damask, at 16.98 instead of 20.00; at 19.98 instead of 25.00; at 24.50 instead of 30.00.

Odd fancy upholstered chairs, mahogany finished frames, at 4.98, 5.98, 6.98.

Tables and Stands.

One whole section devoted to this interesting line of furniture. Are you thinking about a holiday or wedding present? What would be nicer than a fancy table or stand. We have them in beautiful golden quartered oak and mahogany finish, finely polished. Also a full line of the new rope twisted tables and stands in oak, mahogany and white enameled. Then there is an elegant line of bamboo tables and stands with fancy straw tops, some of them are round and some of them are octagon shape.

We are also showing a very pretty line of India seats in quartered oak, birdseye maple, mahogany and bamboo. We would like to quote you prices on the above but the styles are too numerous, so come in and look them over.

New Morris Chairs.

We invite your attention to our exhibition of new Morris chairs and after you've seen them you'll agree with us, that there has never been such a showing in this city before. The styles are entirely new and up to date, we don't sell any antique furniture, the character of the frames are entirely different this year, heavy massive looking with broad arms and claw feet, rubbed and polished, in quartered oak, golden and mahogany finish, the cushions are covered with the best grades of English velours, upholstered with hair and all have spring seats. We direct special attention to those at 9.48, 9.98, 10.98 and 12.98

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Nov. 12.—The rooms of the Republican Club were filled with the members and their friends Saturday evening for the last time. The gathering was a sort of jollification in honor of the recent Republican victory and proved more enjoyable than any of those given during the campaign. Every one present enjoyed himself thoroughly in listening to an informal programme of vocal and instrumental music. The occasion was made still more enjoyable by the passing of refreshments. With the conclusion of the affair the club practically ends its existence as no more meetings will be held. The members were afterward escorted to their homes by the club fife and drum corps.

Borough nimrods who have been hunting during the past week report rabbits very plentiful in this vicinity, especially at the foot of the mountain. Hardly a day passes but what a score or two are captured there while squirrels and other game are to be secured in large numbers.

Rev. H. C. Ketcham, of Westfield, again occupied the Presbyterian pulpit yesterday. It is expected that Rev. N. J. Sproull, of Englishtown, who recently accepted the call to the church, will assume the pastorate about Dec. 1st.

Morning service was held in Holy Innocents church yesterday with the celebration of the Holy Communion. Rev. Charles E. Phelps, of New Brunswick, officiated.

The Elite Comedy and Vaudeville Company comprising an aggregation of colored talent will give a concert in Apgar's Hall next Thursday night.

Miss Ida Weatherwax and Miss Flora Wilgus, of the Whittier school, spent yesterday and Saturday at the latter's home at Red Bank.

E. F. Ferris, of the New York Herald staff, and Francis E. Whiteside, of Plainfield, were the guests of Lewis Thomas yesterday.

The Mandolin, Banjo and Guitar Club will meet with Gilbert Herlich this evening for the regular rehearsal.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Little, of Newark, spent yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. David P. Runyon.

Miss Ethel Jamison, of Raritan, was the guest of borough friends yesterday.

Wm. H. Terry was the guest of Westfield relatives Saturday.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, Nov. 12.—The household goods and farming utensils of J. M. Adams, who resided on the Hallett farm, will be disposed of at auction by C. E. Kelley, next Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

The Misses Mamie and Frances Phillips and James Phillips of Hopewell, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin VanNuis, yesterday.

Joseph Hanson, who resides on the Samuel Dayton farm, received word Saturday of the death of his daughter at Whitehouse.

Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Whitford are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby girl which came to their home Friday.

Harry VanDoren, of Newark, has returned home after a few days visit with friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Nelson returned home today after a stay with relatives at Union.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelley, of Somerville, spent yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. Wikoff Voorhees.

Miss Lillian Gaskill enjoyed a pleasant visit with New York relatives yesterday.

CLOSE RACE FOR TROPHY

M. T. TOWNSEND WON NINTH MATCH FOR GREEN COMMITTEE TROPHY.

W. J. R. Thiers Leads With Ten Victories—Contest for Challenge Trophy at Park Golf Club.

Another victory for Morgan T Townsend in the contest for the green committee challenge trophy, on the links of the Park Golf Club, will even things up between Townsend and W. J. R. Thiers. Thiers now has ten wins to his credit and Townsend won for the ninth time Saturday afternoon.

The match for the challenge trophy was the only event at the Park Golf Club course Saturday afternoon. There was a fair attendance, however, and those who turned out found the course in good shape and the weather very satisfactory for golf.

Election Day morning, Morgan T. Townsend played H. D. Hibbard for the challenge trophy, the match having been postponed from the previous Saturday by mutual consent. Townsend won that match 6 up and 5 to go. Townsend was scheduled to play J. H. Howell, next on the list of challengers but Mr. Howell failed to appear and defaulted the match. Edgar I. Serrell was next on the list of challengers but as he had not been notified to appear, his turn was laid over until next Saturday.

J. O. McKelvey challenged for the trophy and played his match with Townsend at once. Townsend won 6 up and 5 to go. He made his first round in 38. They did not complete the second round but stopped as soon as the match was decided.

The standing for the green committee challenge trophy is as follows:

W. J. R. Thiers	10
Morgan T. Townsend	9
Gustavus W. Faber	2
W. de la R. Anderson	1
Fred P. Taylor	1
Edgar I. Serrell	1

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Nov. 12—The members and congregation of the Baptist church were honored at the Sunday morning service by a visit from the oldest living ex pastor of the church, Dr. James F. Brown, of Mullaca Hill, this State. Dr. Brown's pastorate extended from 1854–1860. At the close of the service a number of the older members who had worked with the Dr. during those years, gathered about him to have a work of greeting with their former pastor.

Anthony Schwalbach came before Judge Clark Saturday afternoon to answer to the charge of being drunk and disorderly Election Day. Judge Clark thought $3 would be enough to pay for his amusement. The fine was paid.

Louis Allen, of Passaic, who has been spending several days with his mother, Mrs. D. Allen, of Westfield avenue, returned home Saturday.

The Democratic banner which has been hanging on Park avenue for several weeks was removed some time Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Smith and child, of Lincoln, were the guests Sunday of Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clark.

Mrs. Nellie C. Crane led the weekly meeting of the B. Y. P. U. in the Baptist church Sunday evening.

Mrs. William A. Gere, who has been spending a few days with her parents in Brooklyn, has returned.

A regular meeting of the Board of Education will be held in the school parlor tomorrow night.

Mrs Ann Dobbins has returned from a week's visit with relatives in Newark.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, Nov. 12th—Mrs. Mary McDonough has just finished the erection of a very neat little barn on her lot in the rear of her new home.

The contractors are putting steel netting on the ceilings of the new school building, instead of lath.

P. J. McDonough's new house is nearing completion, the plasterers being nearly done.

Mr. and Mrs. John Emmons, of New Market, visited at T. C. Laing's Sunday.

Nellie Manning spent Sunday out of town.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Amy Stone's Little Tot's in a spectacular production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be the attraction at Music Hall Friday night and Saturday matinee and night of the present week. This popular play will be presented with grand scenic effects, elaborate mountings, exact costumes and complete paraphernalia of a first-class production, ending in the beautiful tableau of "Eva Ascending to the Realms of Bliss" The characters will be impersonated entirely by children, none of whom are over twelve years of age.

* * * * * * *

Clarence A. Roberts, a well-known Grand Army veteran, will have a benefit entertainment at Music Hall Monday, 19th inst., on which occasion a host of novelties will be presented. Among the number is Miss Ione Chambelin in Dicken's "Old Curiosity Shop;" Harry Elder, humorist, and Alfred E. Pearsall, vocalist and elocutionist, well known in our midst.

* * * * * * *

The famous play "M'liss," founded upon Bret Harte's charming tale of that name and given as handsome a revival as money can buy, it is said, is to be the attraction at Music Hall tomorrow night. The scenery is all said to have been especially painted for this production by the best artists in the country and the company is one of the strongest that has ever been seen in the play. The title role is to played by Nellie McHenry, one of the best comediennes that has been known. All the characters are well drawn. There is the ignorant Justice of the Peace, whose knowledge of the law is more limited than that of the ordinary boy; there is the traveling actor-manager, ever ready to amuse the miners with anything in the gamut of things theatrical from Hamlet to a song and dance. Then there is Yuba Bill, the man who drives the Sacramento stage. His exterior is rought but his heart is as true as steel, and there is a breeziness about him that makes him altogether delightful. The Schoolmaster is another clever character type, and the others true to life.

* * * * * * *

Miss Josephine Sabel, for many years famous as one of the leading stars in her own particular line, is responsible for the inspiration and existence of a three-act military musical comedy called "The Soldier's Queen,"

Josephine Sabel.

which will be seen at Music Hall Thursday night, a beautiful, interesting little story which is intense in places and yet extremely funny in situation and dialogue. N. B. Cantor is the author. In connection with the Soldier's Queen, the management has been fortunate in securing Kappele-Meister, Herr Nickolas Schilzonvi, and his Hungarian Boys' Band. Nickolas Schilzonvi is considered one of the highest class musicians in the European country, and with his forty useful masters of music ought to repeat the success which he has been making for the last three years in America. These Hungarians are all considered thorough musicians. This will be their first tour through the southern country and they will give a high-class enterainment. Sabel, as the Soldiers Queen, and Nickolas Schilzonvi, with his great Hungarian Boys' Band, should prove a strong attraction.

Mrs. John King, of Passaic, has been the guest of Plainfield relatives for a short time.

H. Reeve Stockton, who underwent an operation last week for appendicitis, is recovering rapidly.

Miss E. Marion Darby, of Westfield, spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Edgar F. Sheppard, of West Fourth street.

EXPLAINS A BRITISH JOKE.

As a Rule These Things Usually Need a Most Elaborate Chart.

"You Americans," said the London young man, as he stopped sucking his cane, "are always insinuating that we Englishmen don't know what a real joke is. Now, just hold your sides while I go over this one, which I read in a home paper a week ago:

"'The Countess—M'lord, you were at the grand dinner last night, were you not? Just awhile ago I heard one of those vulgar Amercans make the remark this morning you had a big head.

"'The Duke—But, m'lady, there's nothing in it.'"

The American looked as sober as a criminal court judge, says Brooklyn Life.

"Well?" he asked.

"Don't you see?" explained the disgusted Britisher, poking the other in the ribs with his cane; "the countess says somcone accuses her companion (ha!) of having a big head, (ha! ha!), and he declares (p-ah! ha!) there's nothing in it."

"Yes, but—"

"Blarsted idiocy, but what?"

"Her companion was a duke?"

"Yes."

"And not any different from the rest of the English nobility?"

"No. But the joke, the joke! It is so adroitly put. In apparent inadvertence (desperately) the duke admits there is nothing in his head! Now, do you see?"

"Well, it's a little strange that the duke could make such a frank and candid admission, but—where does the joke come in?"

WOMEN'S CLUBS For Comfort.

The Conventional Woman and the Feminine Reformer For Once Agree.

"Clubs—don't talk to me about them!" cried the woman reformer as she sank down wearily among a pile of cushions.

The conventional woman raised her eyebrows. "Why, I'm sure they're a very nice sort of thing," she began timidly. "I belong to the Browning circle, and we have lovely readings and"—

"Lumpy chocolate and indigestible sandwiches and cakes, yes, and you go home and have dyspepsia all the rest of the week!" snapped the woman reformer. Then before her friend had time to recover her breath she went on rapidly and with fierce gesticulation:

"Haven't I just come from a meeting of the Trimonthly club? When I close my eyes, can't I still hear Mrs. de Bore's nasal twang as she turned over page after page of that interminable essay of hers on 'The Prehomeric Bards?' Didn't I wish at least 40 times during the reading that I could sleep as four-fifths of the members were doing? Didn't I—but bah! What is the use of talking? Whoever expected to find comfort at a woman's club? You know that I encourage all the new movements among the women of this town. I belong to every club there is. Well, what satisfaction do I get out of it? I have four papers to prepare, six reports to write up, and the Society For the Culture of Repose meets at my studio next week. I have to get up a simple luncheon for them. Of course our maid gave notice today, and my chum who shares the place with me is down with the grip or something or other. Humph!"

GRILLROOM IN A WOMAN'S CLUB.

The conventional woman folded her hands and sighed. When the reformer was wound up, there was no stopping her.

"The trouble is that a club in a woman's mind is connected with the idea of work. It must have an object. There is no place where a toiler like myself can drop in of an evening, lounge in a comfortable chair and rest her tired wits by having a chat with half a dozen congenial souls. What do you suppose I care for the Browning literary circle after a hard day's work running the woman's page of The Dryasdust Magazine? I want a place where I can get a good dinner, where I can sprawl in a big leather chair, have my black coffee brought to me and sip it while I enjoy the latest book or magazine. I want to have a good game of pool or billiards. I want to forget that I am a worker and have to grind all day. That's the comfort the men on the staff are able to get; why shouldn't I?'

"But it would break up home life," began the conventional woman nervously, "and I'm sure that Jack"—

"I'm not talking of the married women, my dear," interrupted her friend. "They can go on with their tea sippings and their doses of what a modern satirist calls prosaline and versaline, although it might be a good thing for some of them to have a club to go to on nights when Jack or Billy attends meetings at the lodge or other places where men do congregate. But I am speaking of workers like myself, for whom home means a room in a boarding house or in a studio"—

A well bred voice intruded itself. "You were so absorbed that you didn't see me enter, did you?" laughed the girl who had traveled. "You see I'm with you myself, and I don't see why we working women shouldn't have the same advantages our sisters have in Chicago and New York."

"They do?" exclaimed the woman reformer and the conventional woman.

The girl nodded. "Let me tell you," she said as she threw her gloves on the table. "In the first place, in Chicago they have the Woman's Athletic club. It is a fine large house, with a swimming pool 60 feet long built of white marble in oriental design. There is a gymnasium with all the latest appliances, Turkish baths, a model restaurant and bowling alley. On the upper floors there are large parlors and reception rooms, a tearoom, a finely stocked library, and resting rooms fitted up with couches, mirrors and toilet articles, while maids noiselessly attend to the wants of the members, who, after a turn in the pool or gymnasium, want to rest and sip a cup of bouillon or tea.

"In Boston they have the Mayflower club, designed to give comfort to out of town members, and in most of the large cities they have similar clubhouses. For instance, say I am a member. I want to come to town for a couple of weeks. A room at the clubhouse is prepared for me, with the services of a maid and every device for my comfort. If I am unmarried, a chaperon is provided at a merely nominal cost to accompany me to social functions. Tea is served every Monday for myself and my friends, and there are many entertainments throughout the year.

"But it is in New York that the new movement in women's clubs has progressed most rapidly, because probably no other city contains so many literary and artistic women workers, and it is women of this class who are able to appreciate a real home club and make it a success."

"That's true enough," muttered the woman reformer.

"The Pen and Brush club," the girl went on, "as its name indicates, is composed of artists and writers. It began in the studio of Miss Janet Lewis, where a dozen or so congenial and clever women were wont to meet and where commonplace conversation was an unknown quantity. These gatherings were such a success that rooms were taken and fitted up in a most artistic manner, the members of the brush decorated the walls, and the members of the pen contributed bright books and articles to the reading table. There are no rules or regulations, no red tape of any sort, and one's rank in society counts for absolutely nothing. No women are admitted unless it is made sure that they will be congenial. In this way only the most friendly spirit prevails in the club. It is a place where a woman may drop in at any time, have lunch, read, sleep for an hour or so and meet friends and fellow workers."

"Why can't we"— began the conventional woman.

"Wait till you hear about this!" laughed the girl. "A club composed of both men and women. Think of that, my dears! It started in New York two years ago. It is called the National Arts club. There are 1,100 members, both men and women, and the latter have equal rights with the men. The club comprises two brownstone houses turned into one. On the left of the entrance is a grillroom and restaurant with the very latest appointments. The wainscoting, the tables and chairs, are of carved green oak of quaint design. Waitresses in Dutch costume serve the members and their friends. On the next floor are large reception rooms, the reading room and the beautiful art galleries, where exhibitions are held frequently during the year. The next floor contains the lounging room and the dressing room for the women and the library. Then above there are the smoking room for men and the billiard and pool room, where all the members play. A woman member may drop in any time from 8 in the morning till 12 at night and actually enjoy the identical privileges with the men. That the idea has succeeded is shown by the list of members, which comprises the names of advanced thinkers and true lovers of art and literature."

The reformer and the conventional woman looked at each other with shining eyes.

"Let us"— they cried simultaneously.

And that is how the Comfort club started in that town.

OUR CRIPPLED NAVY.

Urgent Need For More Officers and Men.

LAST CONGRESS SEVERELY CRITICISED

Chief Crowninshield of the Navigation Bureau In His Annual Report Makes Some Startling Statements.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The startling statement is made in the report of Admiral Crowninshield, chief of the navigation bureau, that the present personnel of the navy would form barely one-fourth of the total establishment necessary to fight a first class European power. It barely sufficed for the Spanish-American war and no longer can be considered, the report says, as an effective nucleus about which a larger establishment could be formed in case of war.

The admiral regards this need of the navy for officers and men as most urgent. He says that the bureau can point to many cases where the service is being harmed by lack of officers. The Naval academy is suffering for want of instructors, and the present high standard of training cannot be maintained. Every bureau in the department is short of officers, and the service, the report predicts, soon will fall behind in the struggle, first for leadership and then for equality, with the other services. The disability of the seagoing corps officers has greatly increased since the Spanish war, and many of the best officers are being lost as a result of breaking down from overwork.

The admiral severely criticises the ineffective effort of congress at the last session to meet immediate needs for officers by authorizing the employment of retired officers, and he demands the immediate repeal of that act. He claims that the retired list, intended as a reward for faithful service, otherwise becomes a hardship and a punishment. The personnel act thus far has resulted in affording less officers than were on the active list before its passage, as, while authorizing an increase, it failed to provide the means therefor, so there are now 131 vacancies in the list of naval officers when vacancies can be least afforded. Therefore it is recommended that for the next ten years appointments to the Naval academy be doubled, the president and representatives in congress appointing two instead of one wherever authorized now and in addition senators being given the same privilege of appointment as representatives. Then, to meet future needs, it is recommended that whenever congress authorizes an increase of vessels to the navy it also provide in the same act for an increase of officers and men to man the ships. The report says that England, which this year lays down 15 war vessels, voted an increase of 4,240 officers and men to the naval establishment to man the ships, while Germany, which intends doubling her fleet in the next 16 years, has provided in the same programme for increasing personnel by 89 officers and 1,687 men each year until the total increase reaches 35,551.

It is declared that it is now impossible to man the vessels of our navy already constructed with the present force, not to mention those building or authorized. Congress is urged to make any increase in personnel immediately available.

There were 2,452 desertions from the navy and 86 deaths during the past fiscal year. The enlistments number 8,123 from a total number of applicants of 40,854. Over 68 per cent of the men in the navy are native born, 19 per cent are naturalized, and 9 per cent have declared intentions. Ninety-two per cent of the landsmen now under training are native born.

A mild reproof upon congress is contained in the closing paragraph of the report, which calls attention to the discouraging condition in which distinguished officers of the navy have been left by not receiving any formal recognition for their heroic services during the war with Spain. The report says that the navy had no part in the unfortunate public controversy which followed upon the president's recommendation that certain officers should be promoted and adds that thus far there has been no recognition by congress except of those who shared in the victory at Manila and three who served elsewhere in the war.

Larger Army Needed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Senator Proctor of the senate committee on military affairs and Adjutant General Corbin of the war department held an informal conference with the president Saturday relative to the legislation to be asked of congress in connection with the proposed increase of the regular army. "Under the existing law," said Senator Proctor at the conclusion of the conference, "the present strength of the army, 65,000 regulars and 35,000 volunteers, will be reduced on the first day of next July to 27,000 regulars. This is an absurdly small number, and congress will be asked by the president to reorganize the army upon a larger basis. It will be impossible to keep any troops in the Philippines unless the army is increased, to say nothing of the garrisons for the forts in this country. My own judgment is that congress will provide a regular army of about 55,000 or 60,000 men, with discretion to the president to raise the total to 100,000 if he finds it necessary.

No Cabinet Changes Now.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Many predictions have been made about changes in the cabinet. The most promising one was about Secretary Gage's retirement in favor of Comptroller Charles G. Dawes, but that has been withered by a positive declaration from Mr. Gage that he was going to remain until March 4 and did not know what he was going to do after that. The talk about the immediate disruption of the cabinet is without foundation. The cabinet will stand by the president until his next inauguration.

Socialists Parade In Brussels.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 12.—The Socialist demonstration which was postponed at the time of the homecoming of Prince Albert after his marriage to Duchess Elizabeth of Bavaria occurred yesterday. Fifteen thousand persons paraded, and the burgomaster received a deputation, who presented to him a petition in favor of universal suffrage. There was absolutely no disorder whatever, and the city was perfectly calm.

BADEN-POWELL ILL.

British Retake Philippolis After Four Hours' Fighting.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—General Baden-Powell, according to the Cape Town correspondent of The Daily Mail, has contracted enteric fever, but his condition is not serious.

A Pretoria dispatch says that the British have reoccupied Philippolis after four hours' fighting. General French will take command of the Johannesburg district. The condition of Miss Roberts, daughter of Lord Roberts, is more serious.

At the trial in Hamburg to determine whether the South African gold recently confiscated by the Hamburg authorities to safeguard the interests of local insurance companies was owned by the shippers or by the Transvaal government a motion was made to call Mr. Kruger and Mr. F. W. Reitz, state secretary of the late South African Republic, as witnesses. Decision was reserved.

Perished In the Storm.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Henry Lemaire, coachman for Assemblyman C. E. Johnson of this village, perished from exposure in the storm of Friday and Saturday. In company with two companions he had started on a deer hunt in the neighborhood of Lyon mountain. The three men were bewildered by the falling snow and became lost between Lyon mountain and Ellenburg mountain. Lemaire became completely exhausted early Saturday morning and was unable to proceed. His companions with great difficulty managed to reach a logging camp, from which a searching party started out, but were unable to find the spot where Lemaire was left. The search was continued yesterday, and the body was found at 11 o'clock.

To Close the Printers' Farm.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—At yesterday's meeting of the board of delegates of Typographical Union No. 6 it was decided to close the farm for aged and unemployed printers which the union has been supporting for the past three years at Bound Brook, N. J. The farm, according to John A. Hawkins, chairman of the committee that managed it, was a great success, and the vote to close it was the result of the hostility between the union's two factions, which are known as the administration and antiadministration parties. The board of delegates is composed of about 500 members, and the "antis" when the motion to close the farm was voted upon controlled more than two-thirds of the votes cast.

Wrong Orders Cause Wreck.

OMAHA, Nov. 12.—Chicago and Northwestern passenger train No. 2, east bound for Chicago, crashed into a freight at the crossing of the Sioux City and Pacific near Missouri Valley, and the engine, buffet and mail car of the Northwestern were smashed and the cars and sleepers broken and derailed. But one passenger was badly injured, a man named Peterson, who claimed to be from Omaha. He had both legs cut off above the ankle and will die. Engineer John Wells of the passenger train had his hand smashed so as to require amputation, and a number of others were slightly injured. Wrong dispatcher's orders are said to have caused the wreck.

Government Aid For Irrigation.

DENVER, Nov. 12.—The Denver Chamber of Commerce has called a mass meeting of business men for the purpose of considering the irrigation storage question. The national irrigation congress is to meet in Chicago soon, and the question of securing government aid in building storage reservoirs in the west will be considered. The last session of congress appropriated $100,000 to make surveys, and a number of plans will be ready when congress meets in December. The west is in favor of going to congress with a request for an appropriation of $15,000,000 as a starter, and Denver will try to send a big delegation to Chicago to boom this idea.

Neely's Brother Dead.

MUNCIE, Ind., Nov. 12.—Cyrus G. Neely, aged 54, is dead unexpectedly in the East Indiana Hospital For the Insane at Richmond. The deceased is a brother of Charles F. W. Neely, now in jail in New York, charged with postal frauds in Cuba. A year ago his mind became slightly affected, the trouble being attributed to his long service in railroad work, and his brother's downfall made him a raving maniac.

Eleven Families Burned Out.

JERSEY CITY, Nov. 12.—Eleven families in this city were driven from their homes at 146 and 148 Morris street yesterday. The flames started in a wooden partition between the four story frame tenements 146 and 148 Morris street and crept up to the roof so quickly that the tenants had to flee for their lives. Those on the ground floor only were able to save any of their possessions.

Black Sea Coal Mines Promise Well.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 12.—The Russian minister of agriculture, M. Yermoloff, after visiting the coal deposits recently discovered on the Black sea coast in the government of Kutais, estimates that they will yield 1,640,000 tons annually for 60 years. He considers the quality excellent.

OUR INDIAN WARDS.

Government Expends Over $10,000,000 Annually In Their Behalf.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The total expenditure by the government on account of the Indian service from March 4, 1789, up to and including July 30, 1900, has been $368,358,217, according to the annual report of Commissioner of Indian Affairs William A. Jones. The expenditures for the fiscal year ended last July amounted to $10,175,107. Of this amount at least $3,330,000 was devoted to the cause of Indian education. The report reviews the change in the system of transporting supplies by which supplies are shipped in open market in common carrier at tariff or better rates and estimates that this saves 20 per cent in cost. Under the head of obstacles to self support of the Indians the report deprecates the ration system, annuity payments and the leasing of allotments. The ration system, says the report, is the corollary of the reservation system. The Indian population of the United States is about 267,900, of which 45,270 receive a daily ration. The ration issued and its value vary according to the tribe. Nearly two-fifths of the number receiving rations belong to the great Sioux nation. The ration has been gradually reduced in the past few years in accordance with the policy of the Indian bureau. If the Indians' claim for full rations as a right is conceded, the commissioner predicts that the time when they will be self supporting lies in the very distant future, if it comes at all. A number of Indians also are assisted by occasional issues, and at several agencies the old and indigent are provided for.

There is now in the treasury to the credit of Indian tribes $33,317,955.09, drawing interest at the rate of 4 and 5 per cent, the annual interest amounting to $1,646,485.96. Besides this, several of the tribes have large incomes from leasing and other sources. It is a safe prediction that so long as these funds exist they will be the prey of designing people.

"The ultimate disposition of the Indian trust funds is a subject for the most serious consideration. In some cases they are small and in others very large. With respect to the former, they can as a rule be paid out to the Indians with little, if any, evil consequences. With respect to the latter, their proper disposition is more difficult. It is admitted that great wealth is a source of weakness to any Indian tribe and productive of much evil."

There were 250 Indian schools of all kinds conducted by the government and an increase of 1,412 pupils in enrollment and 1,142 in average attendance shown over the previous year. About 8,000 of the 34,000 eligible school children are unprovided for. Compulsory education of the Indian children is strongly indorsed, and congress is urged to authorize the commissioner to place every one of school age in some school, the selection of the school to be left largely to educated Indian parents.

The report controverts the commonly accepted theory that by constant contact with the whites the extinction of the Indian is only a matter of time. It says it can be stated with a great decree of confidence that the Indian population of the United States has been very little diminished from the days of Columbus, Coronado, Raleigh, Captain John Smith and other early explorers.

The first reliable Indian census was in 1870, and certainly since then the Indian population has been nearly stationary, whatever decrease there is being attributable to Indians becoming citizens.

Reform In British Army.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—According to The Daily Mail a scheme of army reform of a very sweeping character will come into operation early next year. "The scheme," says The Daily Mail, "will make the British private a trained soldier. Instead of a system giving the recruit mainly a housemaid's work and allowing no more than six weeks of military training he will in the future get ten months of scientific drilling, all fatigue and orderly duties being performed by a special corps of time expired men."

Exports Increase.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The monthly statement of the exports of domestic products issued by the bureau of statistics shows that during October the total exports were $105,260,689; net increase, $29,398,994. For the last ten months the total was $655,918,873, an increase as compared with the corresponding period in 1899 of $82,055,000.

Two More Miners Dead.

MAHANOY CITY, Pa., Nov. 12.—Two more deaths have occurred as a result of the gas explosion in the Buck Mountain colliery on Friday, making five in all. Those who succumbed yesterday were Edwin Gallagher, the repair man, who is said to have been responsible for the explosion, and David Lenardy, a patcher boy.

The Plans of Yerkes.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—"Mr. Charles T. Yerkes," says The Daily Express, "has a scheme to radiate electric railways for long distances north of London and to build low rent dwellings for workmen in order to prevent overcrowding. He is also interested in the mooted scheme of a ship canal between Southampton and London."

Successful Safe Breakers.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Nov. 12.—Safe crackers blew open the safes in the postoffice and in the general merchandise store of J. E. Black & Co. at Matthews, N. C., and secured nearly $1,000 in cash. The robbers were tracked to the depot, where they probably took a train passing there at 5:30 a. m.

State Populations.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The census office announces the population of Colorado to be 539,700 against 412,198 in 1890. This is an increase of 127,502, or 30.9 per cent. The population of the state of New Jersey as officially announced is 1,883,669 as against 1,444,933 in 1890.

Will Harvest Its Own Ice.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Nov. 12.—A large ice cream company of New York has just purchased 50 acres of land near Monroe which will be flooded and used as an ice pond. This provision is made to enable the firm to secure ice independent of the ice trust.

Beaten and Robbed In His Store.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—In broad daylight, with scores of persons passing the door, Michael Minisman was knocked down and robbed in his clothing store in Brooklyn by two men, who escaped after taking $500 in cash and a gold watch and chain.

LOST IN BAY OF FUNDY

Thirty-two Perish In a Terrific Gale.

CITY OF MONTICELLO A TOTAL WRECK

Nova Scotia Coast Strewn With Wreckage For Ten Miles—Four Only Survive to Tell the Story of Disaster.

YARMOUTH, N. S., Nov. 12.—The shore of this county for ten miles east and west is strewn with wreckage of the hull and cargo of the steamer City of Monticello, which foundered Saturday morning, and 25 bodies of victims of the disaster have been recovered from the sea, which is still raging with terrific fury. Many people have assembled at Rockville, near where the first body came ashore, and numerous relatives of members of the crew, who nearly all belonged to points on this coast, have arrived to identify the dead.

The bodies were arranged in a room in the public hall, and Coroner Fuller, who held an inquest, gave an opinion of accidental drowning. All the bodies are terribly battered.

The first body was found at daylight, when the zinc lifeboat which was supposed by the survivors of the first boat to have been swamped was discovered on the shore. The thole pins were broken. A few yards distant were the bodies of Mr. Eldridge, a passenger; Second Engineer Poole, Mr. Fripp, a traveling salesman for McGee's Sons of St. John, N. B., and the body of a seaman. All four had life belts around them. At short intervals along the beach 11 more bodies were found, making 15 discovered up to noon yesterday. They had all evidently come ashore in the lifeboat and were killed on striking the beach, not one escaping. The remains so far identified in addition to the four enumerated above are: Rupert Olive, purser of the steamer Prince Edward; Baggage Master Wilson and Deck Hands Johnson, Levi Nickerson, Robert Nickerson, Van Renenberg, Austin Wickens, James Cole, John E. Whitmore, Stanley Ringer, Winslow Ringer, Harry Copeland and David Benham. The watches in the pockets of two of the men stopped at 12:45 and 1:25 o'clock respectively.

The body of Captain Harding of the Monticello has been found at Picnic point encircled with a life belt and fully dressed. The features are slightly bruised. An unknown body, supposed to be that of a traveling salesman for a western boot and shoe firm, has been found at the same place with the bodies of Elsie McDonald and Second Officer Murphy, recovered Saturday. Of the members of the crew whose bodies were secured Copeland and Benham were not known to be on board until their bodies were identified. They were not on the ship's articles, having joined for the trip only.

Several bodies are still unidentified. One body was recognized last evening as John Richmond of Essex, N. B., a traveler for a boot and shoe firm. He was not before known to have been a passenger. This swells the known death roll to 32. Benham took the place of Whitmore, previously reported lost. Copeland was also a substitute, but for whom it is not known. It is a coincidence that the ship Peter Stewart was wrecked off this shore a few years ago, in the month of July, and a boatload of men came in where the Monticello's boat was found. Half of the men were dead before the boat touched the land, and many believe the same was true of those in the Monticello's boat.

The fury of the surf is simply appalling in this region.

The body of O. N. Coleman, another commercial traveler who was not previously known to have been on board the Monticello, has been washed ashore and identified. He represented Levi Bros. & Co., jewelers, Hamilton, Ont., and carried samples in trunks worth $82,000. One trunk has been found.

The total number of people who were on board is now placed at 36.

The four survivors are Captain Smith, a passenger; Third Officer Fleming, Quartermaster Wilson and Stewardess Smith.

The place where the Monticello struck is at the mouth of the Bay of Fundy, where the waters of the bay join those of the Atlantic. There are many reefs and shoals at this spot, and the currents are many and changeable, it being one of the most dangerous places on the coast. The gale kicked up a tremendous sea, and at the time the vessel struck the waves were beating upon the rocks and sending spray hundreds of feet over the land.

New York's Divorce Mill.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The more the authorities investigate the Maison-Zeimer divorce mill the more they are astounded at the boldness and extent of the frauds perpetrated. It was developed yesterday that the field of operation of the conspirators has not been confined to New York city. The police have evidence that they furnished false witnesses in divorce cases before the courts in Buffalo and Syracuse. The divorce mill was rapidly becoming in extent a state institution when discovery stopped it. It will also be brought out that it was in the plan of Maison and Zeimer to make coconspirators of those who were inveigled into their net. The district attorney's office is in possession of facts which show that from 40 to 50 divorces were secured by Maison and Zeimer on perjured testimony.

Fatal Family Quarrel.

BUCYRUS, O., Nov. 12.—Mrs. Amos Dice filed a suit for divorce in court here Saturday, and at an early hour yesterday her husband beat down her door with an ax and demanded that she withdraw the suit. She refused to do so, and he opened fire on her with a revolver, one of three shots taking effect in her breast. Dice then shot himself and also cut his throat with a razor, but Mrs. Dice fought him off until he dropped dead from loss of blood. Mrs. Dice is now in a critical condition.

Invalids From South Africa.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Nov. 12.—The Allan liner Carthaginian has arrived here, having on board 35 invalids belonging to the Canadian contingents in South Africa who are returning from English hospitals. They were accorded an enthusiastic reception.

Attorney General Russell Resigns.

ELGIN, Ills., Nov. 12.—John A. Russell of Elgin, who is home on a vacation, has given in his resignation as attorney general of Porto Rico on account of personal business that demands his attention.

SPORTING.

GOLF

The first round for the Chapman cup was to have been played on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course Saturday afternoon, but owing to a chain of circumstances the play is left in a somewhat mixed state. On account of illness, H. Reeve Stockton was unable to play. W. L. C. Glenney was obliged to take part in a tournament on an out-of-town course, and J. Whitney Baker was unable to leave college to take part in the tournament. Before Mr. Baker returned to college he qualified, and as Morris J. Dumont beat Dr. B. VanD. Hedges on Saturday seven up, putting the latter out of the contest. Glenney and Baker will have to contest for honors, as well as several others, and it is hoped that the event will be completed before long so that a decision may be reached.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

The Kearney Athletic football team was defeated by the Plainfield Association team Saturday by a score of 3 to 0. The game was played on the Clinton avenue grounds and was witnessed by a large number of enthusiasts.

LONE WOLF WAS BROKE.

Son of Famous Indian Chief of the Sioux Tribe Tramping His Way From Maine to South Dakota.

Lone Wolf, a chief of the Sioux Indian tribe, was the guest at police headquarters last evening. He is bound from Maine, where he has been serving for the past three years as guide and trapper, to the reservation of his tribe in South Dakota. Lone Wolf is an excellent specimen of the native American as far as appearance is concerned. Three years at the Hampton School has done wonders to his education, however. He is the son of Lone Wolf, one of the famous Sioux chieftains, who took part in the Custer massacre. The son, whose English name is Roy Wolf, is now returning to his school, where he expects to get transportation to his home in the west. He had money enough to take him from the Maine woods as far as Sag Harbor, L. I. From there he has been working and spending his night as the guest of the police of the various towns. He reached Plainfield last night, and was well taken care of by the local authorities.

Switchman Done Away With.

The crews of the local drill engines and trainmen in general greatly regret an order issued by the Central officials, Friday, abandoning the position of switchman at the old Church street crossing. The trainmen will now have to do their own switching at this point. A switchman has always been stationed there for nearly thirty years, and the removal will be greatly felt. The present incumbent will be transferred to another part of the road.

SMALL BLAZE.

Curtain in Fred W. Dunn's House Caught Fire and Caused a Loss of $150.

During the past two days there have been several small fires about the city. Saturday evening a curtain caught fire from a candle at the home of F. W. Dunn, Sandford avenue. Some furniture was damaged and several pieces of bric-a-brac were destroyed. The total loss will be about 150. Last evening a curtain caught fire from a gas jet at the home of Joseph Sattels, East Second street. This was in the bath room. Mr. Sattels discovered the fire quickly and extinguished it before much damage resulted. The sum of $10 will cover the loss.

A third fire occurred at the home of Rev. Mr. Ferguson on Kensington avenue, where a live coal dropped from a grate on a rug in the parlor. The damage was about $5. All three places are insured through the Mulford insurance agency and a prompt settlement had been made. In no case was it necessary to call the department out.

MARCUS DALY DEAD.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

New York, Nov. 12—Marcus Daly, the copper king, died this morning in the Netherland Hotel, where he had been ill for about three months.

CLOSED BARGAIN AFTER ELECTION.

Real Estate Purchased Was Contingent on Success of Republican Ticket.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Nov. 12—The beneficial effects resulting from the election of McKinley and Roosevelt are already being experienced in this city. The The Alfred DeWitt estate, comprising six acres of land on North Broad street and Salem avenue, which is in the heart of the fashionable residential section of Elizabeth, was purchased Thursday by a syndicate of Boston and Elizabeth capitalists, who are going to spend at once $50,000 in improving the property. Six handsome dwelling dwellings, with all the latest improvements, are to be commenced this month.

The negotiation for the purchase of the estate was in progress prior to election, but the closing of the bargain was made contingent on the event of the success of the Republican National ticket. Thursday a member of the syndicate called on A. Denman Mulford, agent for the property, and paid him $1,000 in gold to bind the sale.

Looks Like a Danty.

Former Freeholder Vanderbeek appeared on the streets this morning wearing the latest pattern of a high silk hat. It is the first time that Mr. Vanderbeek has worn such headgear in twenty years, but he explains it by saying that it is the result of reciprocity. Before election he made an agreement with a friend that if Bryan was elected he would buy a hat for the other fellow and vice versa if McKinley won out. And so it is that he wears the hat in celebration of the victory of his favorite.

Many Heard Mr. Graham.

The meeting conducted by T. F. Graham, the Scotch evangelist, of Sing Sing, N. Y., at the Y. M. C. A. Hall yesterday, was largely attended and of great interest. Mr. Graham is a favorite speaker in Plainfield. "The Prosperous Business Man" will be the subject of the address to be given at the meeting this evening at 8:45. The talk will be illustrated in a unique manner.

An Organ Recital.

Ward Stephens, organist at the Crescent Avenue church, will give an organ recital next Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the church. A silver offering will be received, the proceeds of which will go to the chapel fund, after the expenses of the recital are met.

A Successful Operation.

Mrs. Norman K. Barnes, of the West End, who is at the hospital under treatment, underwent a successful operation last Saturday. Her condition is considered excellent.

—You can't afford to risk your life by allowing a cough or a cold to develop into pneumonia or consumption. One Minute Cough Cure will cure throat and lung troubles quicker than any other preparation known. Many doctors use it as a specific for grippe. It is an infallible remedy for croup. Children like it and mothers endorse it. L. W. Randolph.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Andrew Love, Sr., of Duer street, has about recovered from a recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Angerbauer, of East Third street, are the proud parents of a baby boy, which arrived at their home Friday.

Wersing Children Improving.

The three children of Mr. and Mrs. Wersing, of Washingtonville, who are ill with diphtheria, are all improving under the treatment of Dr. Zoglio. Mrs. Wersing called at The Daily Press office Saturday and resented all imputations regarding their circumstances and ability to pay doctors' bills, etc. She claims that they are well able to pay their bills, and do not want to appear as charity objects. The Daily Press in publishing a story about the family did not imply that the family was seeking charity. It stated that the family could not well afford to be sick.

Sunday-School Institutes.

The second of the series of Sunday-school institutes for the winter will be held at Grace M. E. church, Park place, tomorrow evening. Among those who will take part are Mrs. Alonzo Pettit, of Elizabeth; Miss Florence M. Hawkins and Mrs. F. G. Langhorne, of this city. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

To Hear Japan Mission Workers.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue church will be held in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Miss Elizabeth Milliken, of Tokio, Japan, and Miss Thompson, of Yokohama, will address the ladies. All are cordially invited.

Lecture by Dr. Richards.

The illustrations accompanying the lecture on "The Land of the Pharaohs," to be given by Dr. William R. Richards in the Crescent Avenue church chapel tomorrow evening, in aid of the Boys' Mission Band, will be in charge of Wm. T. Gregg, of New York.

Break Repaired.

The fire officials discovered a break in the fire alarm wires in Craig place last Saturday morning, this being the cause for the incessant ringing of the fire bell. The break was repaired immediately.

Took News Philosophically.

When the Yellow river flood carried off its thousands a Californian attempted to break the news gently to his cook, as it must, he thought, shock a Chinaman to learn that so many of his fellow countrymen had miserably perished. So he approached the climax of horror by degrees, expecting a perhaps passionate outbreak. But the cook's only comment was the eminently practical reflection: "Plentee Chinaman left."

QUEEN WILL MARRY.

Girl Ruler of Holland Has at Last Found a Bridegroom.

The Happy Man Is Duke Henry of Mecklenburg-Schwerin — Announcement Was a Surprise to Court Society.

Queen Wilhelmina has proclaimed her betrothal to Duke Henry of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, a dashing young officer and a special favorite of Kaiser Wilhelm.

Duke Henry is tall, bright-looking and German in appearance. He is a lieutenant in the Prussian Life guards and is also attached to the Mecklenburg fusileers.

The marriage will take place next spring.

The duke is scarcely known in Amsterdam and not particularly well at The Hague. It was rumored that the queen had selected his elder brother, Duke Adolf.

By betrothing herself to the duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin Queen Wilhelmina disappoints all the schemes of royal matchmakers. The name of the bridegroom selected has at no time been coupled with hers. The news of the engagement will bring disgust to a dozen or more highly eligible princes of royal families. Here are a few of them to whom she has actually been reported betrothed at one time or another:

Prince Frederick William, oldest son of the kaiser.
Prince William of Wied.
Prince Bernard Henry of Saxe-Weimar.
Prince Harold of Denmark.
Prince Nicolas of Greece.
Prince Eugene of Sweden.
Prince Alexander of Teck.
Prince Frederick Henry of Prussia.
Prince Adolph Bernard of Schaumberg Lippe.
Prince Louis Napoleon.
Prince Max of Baden.

The queen, in choosing the duke for a husband, has fulfilled the requirements of the law which demand that she shall marry a Protestant and that he shall be a prince of a reigning house. The Mecklenburg-Schwerins have been devout Protestants from the time of the reformation and they constitute a reigning family, though their principality is small.

DUKE HENRY OF MECKLENBURG.
(Engaged to Marry Queen Wilhelmina of The Netherlands.)

Queen Wilhelmina celebrated the twentieth anniversary of her birthday on August 31, and it was then expected that she would announce her choice at the banquet given in her honor at Amsterdam. She only promised that she would do so before Christmas.

Not since Queen Victoria ascended England's throne, 62 years ago, have so many princes sued for one lady's hand.

It is absolutely imperative that the queen should marry without delay. The security of Holland, the permanence of the dynasty and the continuance of the country in quiet, monarchical ways depend upon this event. She is the last representative in Holland of the ancient and illustrious house of Orange, which is forever endeared to the Dutch people by the services of William the Silent. All her near relatives are descended on the paternal side from some German house and there is nothing the Dutch fear more than absorption into the German empire.

The young queen early showed symptoms of independence in the matter of choosing a husband. She rejected her cousin, Prince Bernard of Saxe-Weimar, because he was so ugly. Nevertheless, it was confidently expected that she would finally marry a man indicated to her for reasons of state.

It was reported some time ago that she would certainly accept the suit of the German crown prince. It is an open secret in court circles that she was deeply in love with Frederick William, a fact which was substantiated during her recent visit to Berlin, where they were always together. When Kaiser Wilhelm stopped at Schweringen after his visit to Queen Victoria it was rumored that a match had been arranged. It is believed that the queen declined on account of the deep-rooted antipathy of her subjects to the Germans and their fear of being absorbed in the German empire.

A Trifle Too Aesthetic.

An aesthetic English vicar at Wembley will not allow the word "died" to be put on the tombstones of the people buried in the cemetery. He insists on phrases like "departed this life," or "passed away," or "entered into rest," and says that "died" is a denial of the Christian teaching of immortality.

DISEASES OF WILD BEASTS.

Consumption Carries Off a Good Many of Those Held in Captivity.

"What diseases are wild beasts in captivity subject to?" was the question a Washington Star reporter recently put to a leading animal importer.

"Well," was the reply, "monkeys for the most part die of consumption and pneumonia. Antelopes, moose, deer and other browsing beasts die because proper food cannot be found for them. In my opinion, the tannin in the bark and twigs which these animals feed most largely upon is what their systems need in order to keep them in a healthy condition. Of course, very little of this is found in the hay and other foods which are fed to these animals in captivity. In regard to the far-western animals of this country there seems to be some peculiar quality of the alfalfa and other grasses of the prairie which is absolutely necessary for their sustenance and well being. I think that the climatic change has very little influence upon them. I have shipped lots of mule deer, black-tailed deer, antelope and Rocky mountain sheep to Europe and the continent, but they did not live one year. You see that moose, for instance, live largely upon lichen and bark. Of course, these foods cannot be secured so far from the forests, and hay proves to be a very poor substitute. I have no doubt but that if these animals could be supplied with their natural food they would live as long as lions and tigers.

"All the African, Indian and Australian animals come to this country through a general depot in Germany. If any weakly specimens arrive in that country they are kept there until they recover. While in transit across the ocean it is a very common thing for noncarnivora to go without food for ten days, and they are often seasick. This is particularly true of llamas, antelopes and camels. There is a good deal of ignorance about the medical treatment of wild animals. Those which feed upon grass are treated in sickness much the same as the horse. In the case of lions, tigers and beasts of the cat family generally the same medicines which are given to a dog under similar circumstances are used.

"One of the most difficult of species to keep alive is the South American tapir. They are brought chiefly from the Amazon river and belong to the pig family. Like the monkeys, they all die of consumption. Snakes, as a rule, die of cancer. I have often taken from the mouth of a python pieces of decayed tissue as large as a walnut. This disease is produced by the habit of the snakes striking their fangs into wood or any hard substance with which they come in contact. The fangs are usually broken off in these attacks and cancer supervenes.

As soon as I detect the cancerous growth in the mouth of a snake I know that the reptile is doomed. I remember a curious instance of this kind in connection with a magnificent royal Bengal tiger, which went mad from convulsions brought on by eating too much, and in a frenzy the tiger ate off her own tail close up to the body and devoured every inch of it, including the hair.

"About three years ago I lost three rare Koodoo antelopes in a very curious manner. They were confined in a stable which was infested with rats. Late one night I heard a great hubbub in the stable. Opening the door I found the antelopes springing all over the stable, striking their horns against the flooring overhead and acting as if they were frightened out of their wits. I noticed that they looked at a particular spot in the corner, and when I saw a rat come out the effect was magical upon the antelopes. I tried in vain to quiet them, but the next morning they were found dead in the stable. They had died from fright."

GREATER PLAINFIELD HAS 21,377 PEOPLE.

The Population of North Plainfield Borough is Announced to be 6,009.

INCREASE OF 41.5 PER CENT IN LAST FIVE YEARS.

INHABITANTS IN THE EIGHT ENUMERATION DISTRICTS OF THE CITY.

The Borough Has Grown More in Proportion in Five Years Than the City Has in Ten Years—Fourth Ward Shows Greatest Number in This City.

Population of Plainfield - -	15,368
Population of North Plainfield borough	6,009
Total population of Greater Plainfield	21,377

The above figures tell the short but exact story of the number of inhabitants in the city of Plainfield and the borough of North Plainfield. The figures for the city were printed in The Daily Press yesterday and were sent out by the Superintendent of Census at Washington. The figures for the borough were secured this morning by The Daily Press from District Superintendent Tunis, of New Brunswick, and are officially correct.

The population of the borough in 1895, according to the State census conducted in that year, was 4,245. In five years, then, the percentage of increase in the population of the borough is 41.5 per cent. The borough was not formed in 1890, so that the exact population of the district now within its municipal limits in 1890 cannot be determined. In 1890 the population of the township of North Plainfield was 4,250. Allowing for an increase of 100 in the district now consisting of the township for the five years between 1890 and 1895, it is calculated that what is now the borough had about 3,700 inhabitants in 1890. Thus it will be seen that the growth of population in North Plainfield has been greater in proportion for five years past than it has been in Plainfield for ten years by five per cent.

The population by enumeration districts in North Plainfield borough is as follows:

District No. 86 - -	3,751
District No. 87 - - -	2,258
Total - - - -	6,009

The population by enumeration districts in Plainfield is as follows:

District No. 123, part of First ward	1,553
District No. 124, part of First ward	1,655
Total - - -	3,208
District No. 125, part of Second ward	1,837
District No. 126, part of Second ward	1.776
Total - - -	3,613
District No. 127, part of Third ward,	2,289
District No. 128, part of Third ward,	740
Total	3,029
District No. 129, part of Fourth ward,	3,220
District No. 130, part of Fourth ward,	2,298
Total	5,518
Total for city - - -	15,368

It will be noted that the total population of the city, as figured up from the various wards, is one less than that given out at Washington. This is probably due to an error made somewhere which does not appear on the face of the returns.

The great discrepancy between the two districts in the Third ward is explained by Superintendent Tunis to the effect that in laying out the district, he was forced to go by arbitrary rules, which made it impossible for him to even the ward up into districts of about the same number each.

The population of Dunellen is 1,236. The State census in 1895 gave the borough 1,215, so it will be seen that the increase has been only twenty-one in five years.

Need of Old Clothing.

The Plainfield Relief Association needs contributions of old clothing, shoes and furniture. In fact, a perpetual rummage sale can be carried on each week in the enlarged quarters by the sales committee, Mrs. Woltman, chairman, if the residents of Plainfield will remember this appeal and respond promptly. By order of the executive committee

Trolley Company Pays the Expense.

Crushed stone is being spread along Somerset street at various points where needed. This is being done by the borough at the expense of the trolley company.

Connolly Is Not Dead

A report was circulated about the city today that James Connolly, who was taken to the hospital Saturday night after being thrown out of a saloon, had died from his injuries. The report is false as Connolly is in no danger although badly injured. The doctors found it necessary to take fifteen stitches in the wound on his forehead before it could be closed. He will be able to leave the hospital in a short time.

DELAY IN WIDENING SOMERSET STREET.

The Improvement Not Likely to be Made Before End of Year as Was Calculated.

NO INTEREST BEING SHOWN.

MAYOR SMALLEY DISCOURAGED IN PUSHING THE WORK.

Those Who Would be Most Benefited Do Not Evidence Any Desire to See the Work Done in the Immediate Future.

Owing to a chain of circumstances there is little likelihood of Somerset street being widened this year or before the next borough election. Mayor Smalley has been the aggressive spirit in this movement, but he finds that those directly interested or affected by the improvement display no enthusiasm, neither do they try to help the matter along as they should.

It is not surprising that Mayor Smalley is discouraged in pushing this work. The improvement will not benefit him personally, but it will be a large benefit to the merchants and residents along Somerset street, and they are the ones who should lend their best effort toward the improvement. As Somerset street is today it is one of the worst streets leading into the borough, and unless it is a case of necessity people do not travel along that thoroughfare. The trolley tracks take up too much of the street. People in carriages or even on wheels have to use the utmost discretion in going through the street to avoid an accident. Then besides, between Craig place and the bridge, there is altogether too much sidewalk on one side of the street. This could be narrowed sufficiently to allow more room in the street. By this improvement it would bring people nearer the stores and thus help business materially. Another thing that argues against the present state of affairs is the fact that it is almost impossible to keep the street in good repair on account of its width. The street is generally in a muddy condition and only constant daily scraping could remove that difficulty.

Commissioners have been appointed for the purpose of widening the street, and they will no doubt report next Friday evening After the report is made it will be necessary to have an assessment map prepared and then the work of adjusting differences will begin. It is the idea of the commissioners to assess benefits and damages about even so that not much money will change hands. If this can be done satisfactorily the work may progress with little difficulty, but if not it may be a long time before the matter is settled. One thing is certain, the officials in the borough should establish the building line and compel every person whose building is outside it to get back in line. This will fix for all future time the question as to whether this or that one is inside or outside of the line.

STEALING CHICKENS.

Owners of Fowls in Somerville are Exercised Over the Raids on Their Poultry Yards.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, November 13.—Chicken thieves are exciting the people of this section. Saturday night fifteen fowls were stolen from Henry Eble, living on Grove street. The theft was reported to Detective Totten, who traced the stolen goods by the blood drops to the top of the mountain back of town, where part of them were found concealed under a pile of leaves, with their heads wrung off. A fire nearby and a pile of chicken bones showed that the rest had been roasted and eaten. At night a posse returned and watched near the hidden fowls, expecting the thieves would return. Shortly after midnight a man was seen near the spot and five shots were fired at him, but he escaped. It is not known whether any of the shots took effect or not.

Saturday night nine fowls and 20 bushels of corn was stolen from John Perlee, on the Sand Hill, west of town. Sunday night Mr. Perlee's hired man saw a man prowling around the chicken house and fired his gun at him. The fellow escaped in the darkness. Mr. Perlee was recently robbed of 25 bushels of apples, and he is expecting to find his farm stolen next while he is asleep.

SWEENEY WAS TOO FREE WITH PISTOL.

It is Alleged That He Acted in a High Handed Manner in First National Bank Building.

HELD FOR THE GRAND JURY.

COMPLAINTS MADE BY MRS. LANCASTER AND WILLIAM BARBER.

The Youthful Prisoner Arraigned Before Justice Nash—Bail Furnished for Him—Came Near Being Arrested Twice.

From the present outlook of the case, it seems as if Law Student William Sweeney had at last gotten himself into trouble, from which he will not escape as easily as on previous occasions. His latest escapade took place in the First National Bank building last evening and consisted, it is alleged, of drawing a revolver on Mrs. Frederick Lancaster and her father, William Barber and also, it is said, of striking the other.

Both Mrs. Lancaster and Barber swore out separate warrants against Sweeney before Justice Nash and he was arrested by Constable Mattox this morning. When arraigned in court he waived examination and furnished bail to await the action of the Grand Jury. It was furnished by John Lloyd. The amount was $250 on Mrs. Lancaster's charge and $150 on the other.

The facts of the case are as follows: Frederick Lancaster, who is an architect, occupies an office in the bank building jointly with William Kersting, of Westfield. For some reason Lancaster wished to move out and securing permission from the bank officials started last evening to transfer his belongings from the joint office to another room on the same floor. He was accompanied by his wife and her father.

They had just commenced operations when Sweeney appeared, and claiming to be acting under authority from Kersting ordered them to desist, saying the goods were attached. His commands were unheeded, where upon Sweeney turned off the gas. It was immediately turned on again by Mr. Barber to Sweeney's great anger.

It is then alleged that he rushed downstairs and procured a revolver from his desk in Lawyer McClure's office and branishing the weapon ordered them away in no polite terms. It is also claimed that he struck Mr. Barber. It was on these charges that the warrants were sworn out. Sweeney's action in attempting to prevent the removal was a little premature as no rent was due. The only authority he had was a writ of attachment drawn up by himself without Kersting's signature

Sweeney cannot act as bailiff for Kersting as he is a minor, and is prohibited by law from acting in that capacity. At any rate his proceeding was exceedingly high handed and from this and previous ones it is the general opinion that his actions should be stopped. Complications ensued over his arrest this morning between Constable Mattox and Patrolman Higgins. The former arrested him on Barber's warrant but allowed him to talk to his bondsman at the corner of Park and North avenues while he stood off. At this juncture Higgins appeared and placed Sweeney under arrest on Mrs. Lancaster's warrant. Sweeney resisted and the matter was becoming interesting when satisfactory explanations were made by Constable Mattox.

KILLED ON THE TRACK.

Man Stepped in Front of One Train to Avoid Another.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Nov. 13.—Carman Munro and Peter Santano were walking on the tracks of the Jersey Central through Vanderveer's Cut yesterday afternoon, when in attempting to get out of way of an east bound coal train they stepped on the track in front of a west-bound passenger train.

Santana saw the mistake in time to jump from the track and Munro was struck by the train. His body was thrown against Santano.

Munro was killed and Santano was badly injured.

To Visit the Navy Yard.

A delegation of members from Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O U. A. M., will visit the Brooklyn Navy York tomorrow, where they will be the guests of Chief Gunner Donnelly, who was in command of the marines and sailors when they were guests of Franklin Council a year ago the Fourth of July. The Juniors will also visit some of the war ships anchored at the yard.

DEATH CUT DOWN VENERABLE FRIENDS.

Samuel Stelle and Alexander Shotwell Died Within a Few Hours of Each Other.

ONE WAS 80; OTHER WAS 79.

NEWS OF FORMER'S DEATH THOUGHT TO HAVE HURRIED LATTER'S END.

Both Were Born in Plainfield, Mr Shotwell Passing Away in the Same House That He Was Born In—Both Esteemed.

Samuel Stelle, aged eighty years, a resident at 30 Pearl street, for the past three years, died this morning about 12:30 o'clock at the hospital, where he recently underwent an operation. About three hours later his brother-in-law, Alexander Shotwell, aged seventy-nine, also of 30 Pearl street, passed away at his home following an attack of apoplexy. Both were well known citizens of Plainfield, having been born in this city.

Mr. Stelle was a native of Plainfield, but when a young man he went west and engaged in the clothing business in St. Louis. He remained there until three years ago, when he returned to this city and took up his residence with his brother-in-law, Mr. Shotwell. Mr Stelle's eyesight gave him considerable trouble and he decided to have an operation. Unfortunately, pneumonia set in about the same time and this resulted in his death. He had been at the hospital about three weeks. During that time his wife was with him and helped to minister to his wants.

Mr. Stelle leaves a wife and a son, George. The latter resides in Chicago. Being informed of his father's condition, he arrived in this city before he passed away. The deceased also leaves a cousin, R. M. Stelle, of Stelle avenue, and three nieces, the Misses Marsh, of Madison avenue, and Mrs. O. B. Leonard, of Perth Amboy.

Mr. Shotwell was one of Plainfield's best known citizens. He was born in the house where he died and had lived in this city all his life. He was the son of Joseph Shotwell and Christiana Vail His mother was a native of Greenbrook Mr. Shotwell's occupation was that of a drug clerk, and he was employed by Drs. Lewis and John Craig when they kept a drug store where the City National Bank now stands. The postoffice was also in that store and Mr. Shotwell also looked after the mail business. He was a man of sterling qualities, and always held the highest esteem of everyone who knew him. He was a Friend and was a faithful attendant at all meetings.

Mr. Shotwell was enjoying his usual good health when he retired last evening, and, in fact, expressed himself as feeling very well. Shortly after Mr. Stelle's death he was informed of the fact, and it is believed that that had something to do with his death. It was a great shock to him. A little later he complained of not feeling so well, but he did not care to have a doctor, thinking the illness would pass over soon. It was about 3:30 o'clock that he complained again and he was conscious only a few minutes, when he passed away.

He is survived by a wife and two sisters, Miss Elizabeth Shotwell and Mrs. Samuel Stelle. Abram Vail, of East Third street, was a cousin.

To Promote Sociability.

About twenty young men met at the home of one of the members last evening and perfected an organization to be known as the Bronx Club. Its object will be to promote the general welfare of the members and for sociability during the winter months. The following officers were elected: President, Thomas Muir; vice-president, John Utzinger; secretary, V. W. Nash, Jr.; treasurer, George L. Apgar; seargent, Howard C. Drake. The members will take possession of their rooms in the Taylor building on North avenue, next Monday.

Marriage Just Announced.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Mamie Bancroft, of this city, and John D. Blaine, of Dunellen, which took place at the home of Mrs. Louis G. Fulton, of Elizabethport, Sunday, November 4th There ceremony was performed performed by Rev. George Buckle, pastor of the Presbyterian church at that place. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Fulton. The young couple returned to this city but will take up their residence in Elizabethport.

Almost Ready to Start.

The management of the Rodman-Hibbard-Ely Safe Company expect to commence operations at their new factory in this city in a short time.

CAN BE NOMINEE IF HE SO DESIRES.

But It's a Question Whether Mr. Fisk is Willing to Head the Republican Ticket.

STRENGTH OF MR. BUCKLE.

COUNCILMAN IS STRONGEST CANDIDATE EXCEPT MR. FISK.

Fourth Ward Holds the Key to the Situation Through Its Big Representation in City Convention—Other Political Gossip.

Does Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk want to run again for Mayor? If he does, the nomination at the hands of the Republican party is just as good as his. During the last few days a strong feeling in favor of Mr. Fisk has developed and only needs a word from him to sweep aside all the other booms and give him the nomination. The Republicans remember when he ran for the office four years ago and defeated James E. Martine, the Democratic nominee, by a small majority. If Mr. Fisk hadn't headed the ticket, it is the general belief that the Republican ticket would have gone to defeat.

If the election of a Mayor had come a year ago there is little doubt but that Former Councilman Elliot T. Barrow would have been the Republican nominee. If there was any such thing as the logical candidate Mr. Barrows was the one. As leader of the administration in the Council, he was the most conspicuous figure in municipal affairs. He devoted much attention to the city and his effective service in both police and street departments was generally recognized. It has since been stated that Mr. Barrows would under no circumstances accept the nomination.

Mr. Barrows was interviewed yesterday by a Press reporter on the subject. He explained that he was in no sense a candidate for the nomination and could not, at present, see his way clear to accept it should it be tendered to him.

Wm. Newcorn, secretary of the Republican city committee, states that the representation of the Fourth ward in the Republican city convention will be twelve instead of eleven as stated in The Press. According to the figures published after the last city election there were 574 Republican ballots cast in the Fourth ward. Mr. Newcorn says that the official figures furnished by City Clerk J. T. MacMurray makes the number 579. As the basis of representation is one delegate for each fifty votes and fraction thereof over twenty five, the official count gives the Fourth ward another delegate.

The Fourth ward delegation is going to play the leading role at the coming city convention of the Republicans. For once in the city annals the will of the leaders of that ward will probably decide the nominations. At the present writing, Councilman James F. Buckle is the likeliest man to be named for the first place on the Republican ticket. The movement for the nomination of Mr. Fisk is massive but, as yet, without a head. Should it grow it is liable to overwhelm all the others. At present, however, the Fourth ward leaders favor the selection of the First ward and want to see Mr. Buckle nominated. The convention will be held Thursday evening, November 22, and there is plenty of chance for many things to happen before that time.

PASSED LAW EXAMINATION.

Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., One of Ten Successful Candidates in a Class of Thirty-five.

Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., of this city, successfully passed an examination yesterday at Trenton, which admits him as an attorney and solicitor in chancery. He was one of ten in a class of thirty-five that passed, and the examination was one of the most severe yet given. After the examination Mr. Hetfield was congratulated by Judge Beasley for his excellent work. Mr. Hetfield has associated himself with his father, Lawyer W. L. Hetfield, in the law business at the office of the latter in Park avenue.

Lawyers George Ball and George Bird were successful yesterday in passing examinations admitting them to the bar as counsellors. John Owens, of South Second street, who has been a student in the New York Law School for a year past, took an examination yesterday to be admitted as an attorney. He passed successfully and he will return to the law school, where he will continue his studies.

MOVE FOR MORE PAY OF THE CITY FIREMEN

Common Council Considers Proposition of Submitting the Matter to Vote of Citizens.

NO DEFINITE ACTION TAKEN.

CONSIDERABLE DIFFERENCE OF OPINION OVER THE QUESTION.

Councilmen Inclined to Move Cautiously Owing to the Fact That It Means More Taxes—Other Routine Council Business.

Just before the Common Council adjourned its meeting last night, the members went into executive session, on a motion offered by Mr. Coriell, to discuss the advisability of allowing the citizens of Plainfield to vote on the question of raising the salaries of the paid firemen in the city department, in accordance with a State law passed last year. The recess lasted nearly a half hour and when the Council resumed an adjournment was taken at once. It was generally understood that it was the wish of those present that all members of the Council be in attendance when the question is to be decided, and after a lively debate the matter was laid over for the time being. The members have some hesitancy in bringing this matter before the public for they generally recognize that the citizens are paying at present about all they can afford to for the maintenance of the fire department. There is a wide difference of opinion on the subject, however, and there is no doubt but what pressure is being brought to bear to have the matter put to a vote.

On the other hand if the Council grants this request, there is no doubt but what the police will soon follow with a similar request, and there is likely to be a reaction on the part of the taxpayer. These points have all been considered by the Council, and they are inclined to move cautiously in the matter.

It was an adjourned meeting and was attended by President Dumont and Councilmen Randolph, Clifton, VanHerwerden, Tolles, Buckle and Gloak. In the absence of City Clerk MacMurray, George B. Wean acted as clerk until the former arrived later in the evening.

Most the session was taken up with the reception of many communications. The first was from Charles Hyde through his attorney J. B. Coward. Mr. Hyde objected seriously to a change in the grade of South avenue unless the Council makes some provisions to drain surface water from his property on that avenue. When R. M. Meeker was street commissioner he removed a drain from Mr. Hyde's property, promising to replace it. This, Mr. Hyde declares, has never been done. He asks that the matter be referred to a proper committee for settlement.

Another communication was received from F. C. Jennings, of the borough, through his counsel, Nelson & Wm. N. Runyon, in which he states that September 12th of this year he was driving through West Front street where the steam roller was at work. His horse shied and in spite of all efforts to prevent an accident his wagon ran into Mansfield Robinson, a city employe, knocked him down, inflicting a scalp wound and an injury to the thigh. Mr. Jennings states that he provided proper treatment for the man, paid his bills, amounting to $20 and he now asks the Council to reimburse. He desires the Council to settle the matter equitably. The communication was referred to the proper committee.

A communication was received from the New York Pasteur Institute, inclosing two bills of $200 each for treatment furnished Julia Rowley and John Kennedy, two children bitten by a mad dog some time ago and sent to the institute. It was decided that it was a matter for the consideration of the borough and not the city. On a motion by Mr. Buckle the matter was referred to the corporation counsel.

J. A. Hubbard and Wm. M. Stillman, executors for the Babcock estate, asked the Council to lay a double crosswalk across Madison avenue on West Front street to replace the walk that was ruined by the steam roller. The matter was referred to the street committee. At the request of Charles R. Knapp, formerly proprietor of the City Hotel, his liquor license was transferred to the present owners, James J. Walshe and Charles L. Strong.

Residents of LaGrande avenue east of Berckman street asked the Council for one more electric light, and J. W. Yates petitioned for a lower grade in CONDITION OF THE TREASURY.

Report of Operations For the Last Fiscal Year.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The treasurer of the United States, in submitting to Secretary Gage the annual report on the operations and condition of the treasury, remarks that the growth and prosperity of the country and the general activity of business are reflected in the transactions of his office. The net ordinary revenues of the government for the fiscal year were $567,240,852, the largest in the history of the country, exceeding those of 1866, the next highest, by $47,291,288. The increase of $51,280,232 over the preceding year was contributed to from all general sources, but chiefly, of course, from customs and internal revenue. On the side of expenditures there was a net decrease of $117,358,588 in comparison with 1899, so that the deficiency of $89,111,560 for that year was converted into a surplus of $79,527,060 in 1900. The gross receipts under warrant, including those on account of the public debt, were $1,387,299,262 and the disbursements $1,195,943,472, a large increase on both sides over the previous year.

With the exception of July, 1899, when there was a deficiency of $8,506,832, a surplus was realized for every month of the year, the one for June being the largest, at $17,895,159. The largest receipts for a single day were $5,199,513 on Feb. 26, 1900, and the largest expenditures $4,803,000 on July 3, 1900. The largest surplus on any one day was $4,047,396 on Aug. 29 and the largest deficiency $2,318,621 on July 5, 1899.

Besides the reserve fund the trust funds, consisting of gold coin, silver dollars and bullion and United States notes held for the redemption of certificates and treasury notes, amounted on the day the currency bill of the last congress became a law to $723,062,283 and increased by Nov. 1, 1900, to $740,965,679.

Exclusive of the reserve fund the available cash balance of the treasury was greater on June 30, 1900, by $24,887,193 than at the same date in 1899, but this gain was partly offset by a decrease of $8,663,273 in the next ensuing quarter. The cash assets beyond liabilities were $49,723,017 on June 30, 1899; $50,327,502 on June 30, 1900, and $41,183,160 on Oct. 1, 1900.

The aggregate amount of money of all kinds in circulation on Oct. 1, 1900, is estimated at $2,113,294,983, an increase of $180,810,744 in 15 months, of which $94,440,930 was due to the enlarged use of gold and gold certificates. The increase per capita was from $25.38 to $27.01. The per capita of gold at the latter date was $10.60, which is greater than that of all the currency in 1862, while the total of gold is greater than all the circulation at any time previous to July, 1879.

The amount of paper currency stamped with the seal of the department and prepared for issue during the year ending with September, 1900, was $523,192,000 against $362,412,000 in the year preceding. The redemptions of worn material were $303,219,824 in the latter period and $255,027,980 in the earlier. The increasing demand for notes of small denominations has been so heavy and so fully met by the department that, taking into account the gold coin of the estimated total circulation of $2,113,294,983 on Oct. 1, only $426,045,022 was in denominations larger than $20.

Canal Board Meets.

ALBANY, Nov. 13.—The canal board met today in the courtroom of the court of claims to resume its work of settling with contractors who had uncompleted canal contracts when the canal improvement work was suspended by the state under chapter 81 of the laws of 1900. The first contract to be passed upon will be that of Grannis & O'Connor of Syracuse. As soon as this has been disposed of the others will be taken up in their order, and it is expected that all of them will be disposed of before Jan. 1, as it is desired to complete the work of settlement before the expiration of the terms of the present members of the board.

Fancy Price For Vineyards.

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—Private advices from Treves say that the Moselle vineyards have increased enormously in value owing to the growing popularity of Moselle wines. At Berncastel the celebrated Doktor vineyard has just been sold at 100 marks a square meter. It was purchased in 1898 at 60 marks a square meter. The price was 1,000,000 marks, which is said to be the highest ever paid for an equal area in Germany. A few years ago the usual price in the Moselle district was 2 or 3 marks a square meter. A strip of unplanted vineyard land about 24 acres in area recently brought $20,950.

Confederacy Daughters.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 13.—The seventh annual convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will be held in Montgomery this week, commencing tomorrow. Two questions of live importance will come up. First will be the question of purchasing the "White House of the Confederacy" as a museum for southern history, and the second will be the taking of some action looking to the introduction into the public schools of histories treating of the civil war in a manner acceptable to the organization. The attendance at the convention is expected to be large.

Two More Bodies Washed Ashore.

HALIFAX, Nov. 13.—Two more bodies from the Monticello found at Chebeque point are those of Purser E. B. H. Hilton and Baggage Master Wilson. The body found at Pinkney's point and supposed to be Captain Harding's was First Officer Newell's. Captain Harding's body has not yet been found. As far as can be ascertained the total number of lives lost is 34. Another victim whose name was not before published is Samuel Durrette of Yarmouth, who leaves a wife and family. Arrangements for the funerals are now being made.

Revision Defeated by Close Vote.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—The presbytery of Philadelphia voted against a revision of the Westminster faith and recommended to the general assembly that the whole matter of revision of the faith be dismissed. The vote stood 70 against 65, divided as follows: Against revision, ministers 48, laymen 22; for revision, ministers 45, laymen 20.

American Steel a Menace.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—At a meeting of the Swansea Harbor trust yesterday Sir John Jones Jenkins, chairman of the Swansea Metal Exchange, said that the importation of American steel bars threatened the extinction of the local steel industry and that the trust would lose the large revenue now derived from the importation of iron ore.

COPPER KING DEAD.

Marcus Daly Passes Away In a New York Hotel.

MILLIONAIRE ONCE A POOR IRISH LAD

Development of the Anaconda and Other Montana Mining Property Reads Like a Romance—Former One of Greatest In the World.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Marcus Daly, the copper king, whose wealth is estimated at between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000, is dead in the Hotel Netherland.

He will be buried from the palace he reared at 725 Fifth avenue and which he never had occupied. It was his ambition to have the handsomest home along the highway of wealth. It will be his temporary tomb.

One of the striking features of the last day of this man who had lived a strenuous life, full of effort and strife, was the presence at the hotel during his illness of Senator W. A. Clark of Montana, his bitterest enemy, who declared that a single campaign against Daly had cost him more than $115,000.

Marcus Daly was born in June, 1840, in County Cavan, near Ballyjamesduff, Ireland. He came to this city when only 13 and lived for two years in Brooklyn. Then he went west.

The development of the copper mining properties is one of the most interesting romances of the rapid creation of wealth in the Rockies. Somewhere back in the seventies two miners named Hickey, who came from St. Lawrence county, N. Y., began to sink a shaft on a hill overlooking the little mining camp of Butte. It was a bleak place, well up on the western slopes of the main divide. In a valley hard by ran the Silver Bow creek, and along its banks the gold seekers had washed out about all the yellow metal that could be found in the gravel and had begun to turn their attention to the outcroppings of silver ore on the faces of the hills. A few paying mines had been opened.

Edward Hickey remembered a sentence he had read in one of Horace Greeley's editorials when he and his brother were living on their New York state farm, a sentence about McClellan's army closing in around Richmond like a huge anaconda, and he gave the name of the big snake to the new hole in the ground. A fairly promising vein of silver was struck, but the Hickeys had no money to go on with the mine and wanted to sell it.

A stalwart young Irish miner named Marcus Daly had been noticed about the camp for some time. He would work in a mine for a week or two and then call for his time, saying that he had the rheumatism and wanted to lay off for awhile. Then he would get a job in another mine and again quit after a short spell of work.

This young man had been sent out to Butte by J. B. Haggin of California to pick up some good mining properties, and he bought the Anaconda for his principal for $35,000.

What Haggin wanted was a silver mine. Nobody at that time suspected that there was a vast wealth of copper ore underlying Butte, but as the Anaconda shaft was sunk deeper the silver vein turned into a rich copper vein, carrying, besides its phenomenal wealth of copper, enough silver to pay all expenses of mining and smelting, so that the copper was all clean profit.

Daly was superintendent and part owner. He showed himself to be a man of great business capacity and of masterful temper. He developed the mine, bought adjacent mines on the copper vein, and, wanting a place to reduce and smelt his ores where water and wood were plentiful, he founded the town of Anaconda in a valley some 25 miles away and there established the greatest copper plant in the world.

He was not satisfied with the rates the Montana Union railroad charged him for transporting his ores, so he built a parallel road from Butte to Anaconda. The Anaconda now produces one-fourth of the entire copper output of the globe. Its annual product exceeds that of all the Lake Superior mines combined. Last year the assets of the Montana company were figured up at $37,087,092, and its net profits were $3,862,000. It has 3,000,000 tons of ore in sight in its mines, and no one of its shafts is down farther than 1,500 feet. How much deeper the vein goes into the bowels of the earth is a matter of conjecture. All this vast increase in actual wealth from the original $35,000 paid the Hickeys has come out of the ground. Butte, now a city of 45,000 people, has many mines besides the Anaconda, but none that approaches it in value.

Daly was worth many millions in his own right. His only extravagance was his passion for fine horses.

Another Small Strike.

HAZLETON, Pa., Nov. 13.—The men employed at the Derringer colliery of Coxe Bros. & Co. are on strike because, it is alleged, they have not been paid for overtime. Over 400 hands are affected. The difficulty will probably be settled. The drought is becoming more severe every day in this region. The Lehigh Valley Railroad company has begun hauling water in tanks to the collieries of G. B. Markle & Co. The strippings at Lattimer are idle on account of the scarcity of the water supply.

Peace Basis For Porto Rico.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The order placing Porto Rico on a peace basis has been issued by the war department. It abolishes the military department of Porto Rico and attaches the island to the department of the east as a district. Brigadier General Davis, formerly military governor and now commanding the forces in the island, is recalled and ordered to Manila. About 1,000 soldiers are withdrawn, leaving 1,500, including 400 natives, to do duty on the island.

Steam Pipe Bursts.

ALBANY, Nov. 13.—A bursting steam pipe at the capitol did a lot of damage in the storeroom of the state historian, which is used as the receptacle for the state historical reports. Some 500 volumes of the last report awaiting distribution which were on the shelves suffered from the escaping steam and will have to be recovered.

Four Boys at a Birth.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 13.—Mrs. Russell Christopher, aged 16, gave birth to four boys at her home in this county, six miles from Irvine. The children were perfectly formed and weighed from five to seven pounds each.

CREDENTIALS COMMITTEE AT WORK.

Havana the Only Province In Which Contests Are Likely—Many Mistakes Made In Voting—Adjourned Until Thursday.

HAVANA, Nov. 13.—The Cuban constitutional convention met at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after adjournment from the second day's session, in the Marti theater. Seats for the delegates had been arranged in a smaller area nearer the platform, the curtain of the stage had been lowered and the windows hung with heavy draperies, thus shutting out the noise of the street and making it possible for the delegates to speak in ordinary voice.

The upper galleries were crowded, colored persons predominating. They are taking an intense interest in the proceedings. On the first and second days the boxes did not contain many spectators, but yesterday several prominent families were present.

The committee on credentials reported as to all the provinces except Havana. The report said that, although many mistakes had been made, there was no reason to throw out votes or unseat delegates and that where names had been written on a ballot which was not marked with a cross, as in the case of the province of Pinar del Rio, the votes should be counted. The committee, however, reported that no final decision could be reached as to Havana province until Wednesday.

Havana is the only province where a contest has been talked of, the opponents of Senor Zayas wishing to seat Senor Pierra in his place. The report was laid on the table, and a discussion followed as to whether the convention was legally constituted. Senor Zayas claimed that the order of the government of intervention summoning the convention had made it legal. Senor Berriel argued, on the other hand, that it would not be legally constituted until the report of the committee on credentials had been accepted. The delegates took this view and so voted.

An attempt to discuss the question of holding secret sessions was voted down, the matter being left to the committee on rules. An adjournment was then taken until Thursday, when it is understood both committees will report finally.

General Castillo, civil governor of Santiago province, gave notice to the convention that he had resigned his membership and had appointed Senor Ferrera as an alternate delegate. In a communication to the convention covering such a possibility General Wood had said that alternates could act only in the event of the death or resignation of regularly elected delegates.

Canadians Visit Cuba.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Nov. 13.—Sir William Van Horne of the Canadian Pacific Railway company, accompanied by his son and by Mr. Percival Farquhar and Dr. Shepard, officials of the Cuban company, arrived yesterday morning on the fruiter Admiral Sampson from Philadelphia. The tug Admiral Dewey met the Admiral Sampson outside El Morro and brought the visitors to the city. Sir William will inspect the lands, railroads and other properties recently purchased by the company, including hundreds of thousands of acres of sugar and fruit lands along the Cayuto river and near Nipe bay, which will be developed as soon as the necessary railroad construction, now actively progressing, is completed.

Big Powder Explosion.

READING, Pa., Nov. 13.—Three hundred kegs of powder and dualin blew up yesterday morning and wrecked 11 frame dwellings at Bear Valley colliery of the Pennsylvania railroad near Williamstown. The shock, like an earthquake, was heard for 15 miles. Persons were thrown out of their beds. The engine house and hoist pump, 50 yards from the pump, were wrecked. Engineer Albert Price was badly hurt. Persons in the undamaged buildings rushed from their homes in terror. Only a great hole remains where the magazine stood.

Suit For Large Commission.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Nov. 13.—Arthur Milliken, a real estate man of New York, arrived here yesterday for the purpose of pushing a suit for the sum of $100,000 alleged to be due as commission on a sale of land and property to General R. A. Alger and associates. The sale was consummated last year and involved the transfer of nearly 300,000 acres of finely timbered lands. H. H. Sullivan of this city was the original owner of the property, and it seems that Sullivan had placed the sale in the hands of Mr. Milliken.

Wardell's Election Expenses.

ALBANY, Nov. 13.—William T. Wardwell, who was the candidate for governor on the Prohibition ticket, has filed his certificate of election expenses with the secretary of state. Mr. Wardwell expended in all $3,855, of which $1,200 was donated to the state Prohibition committee and $700 to the national Prohibition committee. The remainder was laid out on clerk hire, printing and traveling expenses.

To Secure a Successor For Hays.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, president of the Grand Trunk railway, who reached this city from England last Saturday, says that the main object of his visit is to secure a general manager for the Grand Trunk in place of Charles M. Hays. President Wilson says, "We have not decided to whom we shall offer the position, but it will go to an experienced American railroad man."

Former Six Day Walker Dead.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Patrick J. Fitzgerald, once champion six day walker of the world and still holder of the 100 hour go as you please record, is dead at his home in Long Island City. He died from dropsy, after a brief illness. Fitzgerald was born in Ireland in 1847. He came to America in 1864, settling in Montreal, where he took part in a number of international races.

Heavy War Expenses.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Parliament will assemble Dec. 3 to vote the expenses of the war in South Africa, which are now expected to amount to fully £100,000,000. Before Christmas an adjournment will be taken until the end of January.

PHILIPPINE POSTAL SERVICE.

Investigation Shows a Satisfactory Condition In the Islands.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Special Agent J. W. Erwin of the postoffice department, who has just returned from an investigation of the postal service in the Philippines, has reported to the postmaster general that the affairs of the department of posts there are in a most satisfactory condition, particularly as regards finances. The report says that Director General Vaille personally receives all stamped paper sent to the department of posts and counts it in the presence of two witnesses. In addition to the regular ledger account kept by the cashier Mr. Vaille keeps a private account of the receipts and issues of stamped paper. This is a perfect check on the cashier's account and enables him at any moment to know for himself the condition of his postal accounts. No one has access to the principal stock of stamped paper but the director general.

Mr. Erwin says the system of accounts kept by the cashier is entirely satisfactory, the books being well kept and posted daily. The director general exercises a careful personal supervision of the accounts of all the offices and stations throughout the archipelago and has inaugurated a system of inspections to meet all requirements. What impressed the inspector the most, he says, was the simplicity of the methods adopted and the conservative character of the supervision.

It has not been deemed necessary to organize numerous bureaus, and the work of the department has been arranged so as to secure the best results with the least expenditure of money. There were 205 natives, Filipinos and Spanish, on the pay roll of the postal and telegraph service in Manila at the time of the military occupation. The entire service in the archipelago now employs only 58 Americans and 55 natives, exclusive of the soldiers detailed at military stations, where the work is wholly performed by the military forces. The services of the natives are reported satisfactory.

The inspector reports that the salary allowances are moderate, not greater than would be paid in the United States, although the cost of living is greater in the Philippines. He says there is nothing to attract people after the novelty has worn off, and better allowances may have to be made. The postal service in the Philippines is absolutely dependent for transportation of mails on the military service, and the report says that, while the higher military authorities favor active co-operation along this line, this is not secured sufficiently to insure good service. The report says under present conditions it is not advisable to increase the number of postoffices, there being now 21 postoffices and 37 stations.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The one hundredth anniversary of Bridgeport, Conn., was celebrated.

The interior of the old Lyric theater at Chicago was badly damaged by fire.

The Gifford House, Poplar Bluff, Mo., was burned, and several persons were reported killed.

Henry Villard, railroad magnate and financier, expired at his country home at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.

The United States supreme court postponed until Dec. 17 argument in what are known as the Porto Rico and Philippine cases.

Morocco has again refused to pay indemnity for the murder of an American citizen, and a United States warship will be sent to Moroccan waters.

Special Treasury Agent Theobold in New York city arrested three Spaniards and charged them with smuggling the Maximilian gems, said to be worth $45,000.

Great Demand For Seats.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 13.—The demand for tickets of admission to the annual championship football game between Yale and Harvard is so great that the Yale management announces that there are already more applications on file from graduates and undergraduates than there will be seats for. The same condition of affairs prevails at Harvard, and the management of the crimson team has made a request for more tickets from Yale. The proposition has been made and bids have been called for to enlarge the stands at Yale field and in that way overcome the difficulty.

Agent Brooks Exonerated.

NORWICH, Conn., Nov. 13.—Coroner Brown of this city has gave his decision on the shooting of the burglar at the Gales Ferry railroad station late Saturday night and completely exonerated Station Agent William Brooks. Reuben Bolles, the ferryman between Gales Ferry and Montville, yesterday afternoon identified the remains as those of George Miner of Montville. Miner was about 55 years of age and has spent the greater part of the past quarter of a century in the Connecticut state prison for different burglaries.

Wild Day on Change.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—With a surging throng of excited brokers rushing about the floor like mad trading in the Stock Exchange yesterday surpassed all records of activity, and prices, after a phenomenal upward jump at the opening, remained steadily firm. Up to noon nearly 1,000,000 shares had exchanged hands, and through the afternoon brokers fairly fought with one another, so intense was their desire to unload the mountainous piles of orders placed with their houses.

Building an Observatory.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Nov. 13.—Professor Pickering of Harvard university has begun the erection of an observatory at Woodlawn, near Mandeville, for his colossal telescope. He hopes to take observations of the planet Eros early in December and will subsequently undertake observations of the moon and Mars. Important results are anticipated.

Fatal Head End Collision.

DALLAS, Nov. 13.—In a head end collision on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway between Sherman and Denison C. A. Andrews, vice president of the Grayson County National bank of Sherman, was fatally injured. D. H. Weaver, a fireman, was killed, and four other employees were seriously hurt.

A Costly Kick.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 13.—Gladiola, dam of King Lief, recently sold for $15,000, had a leg broken by a kick and had to be killed. The mare once belonged to the late Bryon McClelland.

Venezuelan Minister Shot.

CARACAS, Venezuela, Nov. 13.—Senor Cabrera Malo, minister of the interior, was fired on yesterday, receiving a slight wound.

PARIS EXPOSITION CLOSED.

The Great Fair a Success—Exceptionally Large Attendance.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—The booming of a cannon from the first story of the Eiffel tower yesterday announced that the exposition of 1900 had ceased to exist. It ended in a blaze of illumination, the final evening being celebrated by a night fete. The attendance, however, was small, visitors being kept away by a cold, drizzling rainfall.

Official statistics show that the exposition was a gigantic success from the point of view of attendance, which was double that of the exposition of 1889, when 25,121,975 passed the gates. When the gates of the exposition of 1900 closed last evening, more than 50,000,000 persons had passed through. The British and the Belgians headed the list in 1889 in point of numbers, but this year the Germans were first and the Belgians second, with the British far behind. Americans also formed a very noticeable contingent. Indeed they were immeasurably more numerous than at the previous exposition. The record paying day this year brought out more than 600,000 visitors as compared with a maximum of 335,377 in 1889.

Senator Davis Worse.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 13.—The condition of Senator C. K. Davis took a decided turn for the worse yesterday, new complications developing. Dr. Murphy, the eminent Chicago surgeon, has again been telegraphed for. Dr. A. J. Stone, the surgeon in charge of the senator's case, issued the following bulletin: "Senator Davis' elevation of temperature and restlessness last night have proved to be due to the sudden development of acute nephritis (inflammation of the kidneys). This abnormal condition was first observed at 2 o'clock this morning, and the complications revealed make the case so serious that I have telegraphed Dr. Murphy to see the senator again. Temperature tonight, 99; pulse, 108."

An Advance For Railroad Men.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Between 1,000 and 1,500 engineers and firemen on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul system have been notified that material concessions in the matter of pay and working time have been granted to them. The men who handle the throttles on the powerful ten wheelers henceforward will receive $4 for every 100 miles they cover while in the cabs, an increase of 15 cents over the old wages. The engineers on the compound engines, which are used exclusively in the passenger service, will get $3.85 for every 100 miles, an increase of 15 cents, and the firemen on the big locomotives will receive an increase of 10 cents per 100 miles, the pay being raised from $2.40 to $2.50.

Governor Roosevelt In Albany.

ALBANY, Nov. 13.—Governor Roosevelt, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, arrived here from New York city last evening at 6:45 o'clock. The governor was met at the station by Colonel Treadwell, his military secretary, and a number of newspaper men. To the latter the governor said he was glad to get back to Albany and that he expected to remain about a week. Asked when he would take up the ice trust matter relative to Mayor Van Wyck's alleged holdings of stock in the American Ice company, the governor said he would confer with Attorney General Davies at the executive mansion concerning the charge and would probably make known his decision today.

No Contest In Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 13.—After a meeting of the Republican campaign committee Chairman Leslie Combs gave out a statement in which, after reiterating his charges of wholesale fraud on the part of the Democrats, said: "There will be no contest over the gubernatorial vote. There is no tribunal to which we can appeal with any hope of an impartial hearing. It is not within the province of this committee to decide for the party or congressional candidates what is advisable with regard to contests for the electoral vote or congressional seats."

Price of Salt Doubled.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—The Chronicle says: "The National Salt company has put up the price of common salt of a fair quality to $2.50 per 100 pounds. The price before was $1.10 per 100 pounds for the same grade. The National Salt company controls directly 95 per cent of the salt output of the country and is able indirectly to dominate the remaining 5 per cent of the production. The principal mines of the National Salt company, which is commonly known as the salt trust, are in Michigan."

Blew Up Son-in-law's House.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 13.—Dr. Gleason of McLean, this county, aged about 75 years, a man of unbalanced mind, who had not lived with his wife for some time, went to the house of his son-in-law, Frank Platt, where Mrs. Gleason was living, and blew up the building with dynamite. Gleason was instantly killed, but although the house was wrecked none of the occupants was injured.

To Slight Rosebery.

GLASGOW, Nov. 13.—The students of the University of Glasgow are circulating a pledge among themselves to remain away as a body from Lord Rosebery's rectorial lecture next Friday. In consequence of the scanty allotment among the political clubs the Conservative club will get none.

WHAT CHINA MUST DO

Foreign Envoys Agree on Terms For Settlement.

ELEVEN PRINCES MUST SUFFER DEATH

Indemnity to Be Paid States, Corporations and Individuals—Taku and Other Forts to Be Razed and the Boxers Suppressed.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—"Great Britain has made a courteous protest to Russia," says the St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Mail, "against a few regrettable incidents in China, where Russians have brusquely opposed the hoisting of the British flag."

Dr. Morrison, wiring to The Times from Peking Sunday, says:

"Pressed by the common desire for a speedy termination of present conditions, the foreign envoys have finally agreed to the following terms, to be presented in a conjoint note, which, subject to the approval of the governments, will be pressed upon China as the basis of a preliminary treaty:

"China shall erect a monument to Baron von Ketteler on the site where he was murdered and send an imperial prince to Germany to convey an apology. She shall inflict the death penalty upon 11 princes and officials already named and suspend provincial examinations for five years where the outrages occurred. In future all officials failing to prevent antiforeign outrages within their jurisdiction shall be dismissed and punished. (This is a modification of Mr. Conger's proposal.)

"Indemnity shall be paid to the states, corporations and individuals. The tsungli-yamen shall be abolished and its functions vested in a foreign minister. Rational intercourse shall be permitted with the emperor, as in civilized countries.

"The forts at Taku and the other forts on the coast of Chi-li shall be razed and the importation of arms and war material prohibited. Permanent legation guards shall be maintained and also guards of communication between Peking and the sea.

"Imperial proclamations shall be posted for two years throughout the empire suppressing Boxers.

"The indemnity is to include compensation for Chinese who suffered through being employed by foreigners, but no compensation for native Christians. The words 'missionary' and 'Christians' do not occur in the note."

Commenting upon what it calls Mr. Conger's "excellent suggestion for the dismissal of officials permitting antiforeign outrages," The Times remarks that "this is the only considerable addition to the terms which the ministers proposed to submit to China last month."

It says that "American sense of justice and humanity is too strong and American intelligence too keen to be deluded by the pitiful Chinese appeal against the execution of the Pao-ting-fu officials."

A Denial From Belgium.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 13.—The Belgian foreign office denies that official dispatches confirm the statement relative to the alleged intention of Belgium to demand a section of Chinese territory.

Terrific Gas Explosion.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 13.—With a deafening roar and a shock that was felt in all parts of northeast Baltimore, an accumulation of illuminating gas exploded under the bed of North Gay street yesterday and caused intense excitement among the thousands of pedestrians and shoppers that crowded that thoroughfare and the stores that line either side of the street. An employee of the gas company searching for a leaky main caused the trouble. For a dozen blocks scarcely a store front or a window pane is left unbroken. Stories of hairbreadth escapes from death or mutilation are numerous, and that the accident was not attended with casualties is regarded as remarkable. The monetary loss will reach approximately $15,000, which may be increased if it is found that the shocks have caused damage to walls or building foundations. Two persons were slightly injured.

Large Orders For Cars.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—The Pennsylvania Railroad company has given out orders for 5,400 cars within a week. Yesterday's orders were distributed as follows: Five hundred gondola cars of 80,000 pounds capacity to the Allison Manufacturing company of Philadelphia, 500 similar cars to the Pullman company of Illinois, 700 box cars of 80,000 pounds capacity to the Barney & Smith company of Dayton, O., and 700 similar cars to the Illinois Car and Equipment company of Chicago. Orders for 1,000 flat cars, the bids for which have already been received, have not yet been placed.

Bold Highwaymen Escape.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Nov. 13.—Though surrounded by 20 pursuers, four highwaymen escaped capture near Danville and are still at large, though closely followed by bands whose number seems to preclude the possibility of their escape. The four men robbed three men and one woman in Danville before being chased from the town by angry citizens. They took refuge in a wood, but were trapped there. Shots were exchanged, and the smell of gunpowder seemed to discourage the men in the chase, for they allowed the fugitives to get safely away.

German Professor Drops Dead.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 13.—Professor W. H. Rosenstengel, head of the German department of the University of Wisconsin, fell dead in a faculty meeting yesterday from an attack of apoplexy, aged 68. He was born in Germany and educated there. He taught in St. Louis for some years, but has occupied his present position for the past 20 years.

Supplies Reach the Upper Yukon.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—A report has been received at the war department containing the gratifying information that commissary supplies for Fort Egbert and Fort Gibbon, on the upper Yukon, Alaska, have been received at those posts. The freight consisted of 63,900 pounds, mostly vegetables.

Damages For Dog Bite.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Nov. 13.—Miss Millie M. Jones has just secured a verdict of $500 in the supreme court against Mrs. L. C. Walworth of Tuxedo for being bitten by the latter's dog.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; fresh westerly winds.

The City Election.

Ardorous as was the campaign and crushing as their defeat in the National campaign, the Democrats of this city are planning for a vigorous contest in the canvass leading up to the municipal election on December 4th. The Democrats of Plainfield always enter upon the local election under great disadvantage owing to the fact that it follows so closely on the general election when the Republicans are usually victorious in this community by overwhelming majorities. Such a condition naturally takes the life and courage out of all but the most active and aggressive Democratic partisans. But notwithstanding all this, the party's leading spirits are determined to make as strong a fight against the Republican ticket as their resources will permit.

Of course, the Republicans and Democrats both appreciate that the vote of November 6th — when the G. O. P. received a majority of over 1,500 in this city—is not the test of strength between the two parties for municipal purposes. No better evidence of this is necessary than the mention of the fact that in 1896 the Democrats met with a more stunning defeat at the polls in the general election than they did this year, yet in the city election a month after the Republican majority on the head of the ticket was pulled down 1,300 votes For Mayor Charles J. Fisk defeated James E. Martine by a trifle over 300 votes, whereas McKinley had received 1,665 over Bryan four weeks previous.

Observing and calculating Democratic politicians declare that the local conditions now are about the same as those that contributed to make the result in 1898, and while they realize that it is an uphill and apparently unequal political battle that confronts them they are ready to do their best under the circumstances.

As for the straight-out Republicans, they are undoubtedly better satisfied to have the local campaign fought out between strict party tickets than to be mixed-up in a contest with a so-called citizens' movement. Plainfield has had several experiences with citizens' tickets and they have never proved satifactory.

The method which, according to report, has been devised by the superintendent of public schools in Orange to insure the attendance at school of an incorrigible truant may be effective, but its legality is doubtful, says the Newark News. It is asserted that during the noon recess the boy is locked up in the station house and that a cell in the same building shelters him in the interval between school closing time of one day and opening the next. The boy is escorted to and from school by a police officer. The News points out that the new school law provides for effective measures in cases of incorrigible truancy, but it gives no sanction to any such programme as that reported from Orange.

Governor Voorhees will have his hands full in appointments to be made at the next legislative session. A Chief Justice is to be named in place of Justice Depue, a Lay Judge of the Court of Errors and Appeals in place of Judge Krueger, other judicial vacancies seem probable; a Clerk in Chancery in place of Lewis A. Thompson, members of the State Board of Taxation in place of C. C. Black and Major Lentz, State Sewerage Commissioner in place of Dr. D. L. Wallace, State Assessor in place of B. W. Spencer, and many county officers. There will be reappointments in many cases, but where there are not the Governor will find plenty of applicants.

Speaking of campaign hustlers, it is interesting to note that Roosevelt, in nearly double the time that Bryan was actively on the stump, was estimated to have spoken in 24 States, visited 567 towns and cities, delivered 673 speeches, traveled 21,209 miles and addressed 3,000,000 people. Bryan in little more than half the period of Roosevelt's campaign, spoke in 18 States, visited 493 towns and cities, delivered 546 speeches, traveled 18,355 miles and addressed 2 500 000 people.

When a man wants the public to know that he has something to sell, or services to render, systematic and persistent advertising in the newspapers will do more toward achieving his purpose than any other means of publicity, says the Philadelphia Record. In every community the most successful merchants are those who use the newspapers.

The Philadelphia Inquirer says ex-Senator Quay will be re elected and the Philadelphia Press says he is already beaten.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Senator Reed having said that he is not a candidate for president of the Senate and favors Senator Pitney for the honor, in all probability the member from Morris will succeed President Johnson. A majority of the Senators was in favor of Mr. Reed, however, until his letter in The Press announced his preference for Mr. Pitney. In the last session of the Legislature Mr. Pitney demonstrated his ability as a leader and won general approval by his conservative course where the public welfare was under consideration. If he succeeds to the presidency the leadership naturally will go to Senator Reed. There will be few if any changes in the other offices in control of the Senate.—New York Press.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exacty News but Just as Interesting.

As soon as the borough officials place the fire-alarm system in that community in charge of people who thoroughly understand it the better it will be for all concerned. The present policy is a penny-wise and a pound-foolish one. A good example of a proper care of such a system can be seen in Plainfield, where the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company look after the fire alarm system and keep it in repair. In this way there is no worry or bother to the officials, and they have the satisfaction of knowing that the system will be taken care of properly.

A CHURCH FAIR.

Mt. Zion A. M. E. Members Conducting a Successful Event.

The annual fair and bazaar at the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church began under favorable circumstances last evening and will continue until Friday night. With the exception of last evening a special attraction is to be given each night. The fair was opened with an appropriate address by Rev. Mr. Cooper, pastor of the church, after which those in attendance busied themselves in examining the articles on the various tables and making sundry purchases.

There were five tables in charge of the following ladies, all of whom are members of the Helping Hand Society, under whose auspices the affair is being given: Supper table, Mrs. Marsh, Mrs. Cole, Mrs. Lane and Mrs. Binn; confectionery table, Miss Oliver and Miss Ford; fruit table, Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Agee; china table, Mrs. Downs and Mrs. Austin; fancy table, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Grobes and Mrs. Maynard. All were fairly well patronized and the affair will no doubt be a decided success. This evening's attraction will be a humorous "donkey party," in which everyone will be invited to join.

James Made a Misstep.

James Treacy, of Watchung avenue, is nursing sundry cuts and bruises about his face which he received while on a visit to an Elizabeth friend Sunday night. James was about to leave for home and being unacquainted with the yard, made a misstep and plunged down an area way. He was assisted to his feet but it was some time before he fully recovered.

Our Furniture Department

is one of the busiest in the store, and there's good reason for it. Large and elegant stocks coupled with close selling prices is the magnet. You know we sell furniture the same as we sell dry goods and there's a heap of difference between dry goods prices and furniture store prices. We were never in a better position to cater to your furniture wants. We have a complete furniture store and can fit you up from the kitchen to the parlor. New beginners especially should be interested in our quotations this week.

Bedroom Furniture

In solid oak, plain and quartered, golden finish. Also in birch, golden and mahogany finish. Consisting of bed, dresser with bevel French mirror, and washstand Some with plain fronts and some with swell fronts, without doubt the best offering of bedroom suits in the city. The prices are 12.98, 14.98, 16.98, 19.48, 25.00, 29.50 and 37.50.

Parlor Furniture.

Few people are aware of the fact that we have an extensive line of parlor suits and odd fancy chairs, but they are here nevertheless and you can make a little money go a great ways in this department. For instance, 3 piece parlor suits in mahogany finished inlaid frames, suit consists of diavan, large arm chair and small chair, upholstered in blue, red and green damask, at 16.98 instead of 20.00; at 19.98 instead of 25.00; at 24.50 instead of 30.00.

Odd fancy upholstered chairs, mahogany finished frames, at 4.98, 5.98, 6.98.

Tables and Stands.

One whole section devoted to this interesting line of furniture. Are you thinking about a holiday or wedding present? What would be nicer than a fancy table or stand. We have them in beautiful golden quartered oak and mahogany finish, finely polished. Also a full line of the new rope twisted tables and stands in oak, mahogany and white enameled. Then there is an elegant line of bamboo tables and stands with fancy straw tops, some of them are round and some of them are octagon shape.

We are also showing a very pretty line of India seats in quartered oak, birdseye maple, mahogany and bamboo. We would like to quote you prices on the above but the styles are too numerous, so come in and look them over.

New Morris Chairs.

We invite your attention to our exhibition of new Morris chairs and after you've seen them you'll agree with us, that there has never been such a showing in this city before. The styles are entirely new and up to date, we don't sell any antique furniture, the character of the frames are entirely different this year, heavy massive looking with broad arms and claw feet, rubbed and polished, in quartered oak, golden and mahogany finish, the cushions are covered with the best grades of English velours, upholstered with hair and all have spring seats. We direct special attention to those at 9.48, 9.98, 10.98 and 12.98

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, November 13.—The serious need of some form of police protection in the borough was clearly shown by the occurrence of Sunday morning and by others which have taken place at previous times. Robberies and holdups have become all together too frequent of late and it is time a stop was put to them. There are any number of tramps frequenting this vicinity who are aware of the borough's lack of protection, and there is no doubt but what the recent depredations can be traced to this lawless element. It is the opinion of a number of citizens that at least two men should patrol the borough at night and one in the daytime. The cost of the men, of course, is somewhat of a drawback, but the pecuniary part is not to be considered when it is a case of life ond death as was that of Sunday. With the men patrolling the streets at night, the sense of security would more than repay the citizens for the expense.

A farewell reception will be given to Walter Bodine and Charles Teel at the residence of A. F. Warden this evening. The young men leave Thursday for Oregon to engage in fruit raising.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, Nov. 13.—A wagon containing four Plainfield young men collided with William Randolph's milk wagon in front of William Tabb's residence about 8 o'clock Sunday evening A wheel was dished on the Plainfield rig and the young men who were considerably under the influence of liquor, were thrown in different directions. They afterward procured a wheel from Phillip Jenner and were enabled to get home. It is said that the Plainfielders were to blame for the accident as they were on the wrong side of the road.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Nov. 13—The several arrests for Sunday hunting through this section of late does not seem to be warning enough to some hunters. Sunday last several men were seen with guns and dogs in the woods near Johnston's Drive. A $50 fine would make the sport a little too expensive to indulge in every Sunday.

The local football eleven are practising nearly every night but have been very unfortunate this season in having a number of their games cancelled. On Saturday they are scheduled to meet the Roselle eleven and a good game is promised.

Several of the members of the Methodist church enjoyed a visit Sunday with their former pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Woodruff, of Little Falls, this State.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Frentz have been visiting at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Frank Putnam, in Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Terry have returned from a pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wambold at Springfield.

John Wade led an interesting Epworth League meeting in the Methodist church last night.

Fanwood Council, R. A., will hold their regular monthly meeting in their rooms this evening.

James McNair, of Brooklyn, was the guest Sunday of his friend Richard Robison.

Rev. G. M. Shott attended the weekly ministers' meeting in New York Monday.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, Nov. 13.—The Misses Dennis, of Tarrytown, N. Y., are visiting their sister, Mrs. Thomas Brantingham, this week.

The Lehigh Valley painters are at work on the coaling station painting it black.

John Mundy is at work again at Laing's shop after a two week's illness.

Stilman Randolph is on the sick list this week. He has the grip.

Miss Marderie Soper is detained at home with a sore throat.

A Unique Entertainment.

The Dorcas Circle of the King's Daughters will hold a unique entertainment in the parlors of the Park Avenue Hotel Thursday at 8 p. m for the purpose of increasing the King's Daughters nurse fund. The entertainment will consist of tableaux and the following talent: Fred VanEps, banjo; Miss Carroll, contralto; Miss Burnett, violin; Miss Aimee Emmons, elocutionist; Miss Glenn, soprano; Mrs. R Johnston, violin, and accompanists Miss Burnett, Miss Glenn and Mr. Smalley.

THE OFFICIAL CANVASS.

THE COUNTY VOTE AS REPORTED BY THE BOARD OF ELECTION.

McKinley's Plurality Was 4,856—Vote in the County Has Increased Nearly 4,000 in Eight Years.

The Union county board of election has completed its canvass of the votes of the recent election, and the result was officially declared yesterday.

The Republican National ticket received in the county 12,523 votes, and the Democratic National ticket 7,667. Mr. McKinley's plurality was 4,856.

The Prohibition vote in the county was 317; the Social-Labor, 220; Social-Democrat, 494; the People's party vote, 30.

For Congress the official returns give Charles N. Fowler, R., 12,419; Edward A.S. Man, D., 7,776; Kennedy, P., 307; Prieb, Social-Labor, 223; Koch, Social-Democrat, 484. Fowler's plurality, 4,943.

The total vote for each candidate for Assembly was as follows: Republicans—Meeeker, 12,297; Smith, 12,350; Foote, 12,294. Democrats—Lammerding, 8,009; Park, 7,810; Clark, 7,794. Prohibition—King, 325; Kasner, 317; Heller, 310. Social-Labor—Hoeh, 236; Peterson, 218; Samer, 217. Social-Democrat—Hick, 482; Orhme, 487; Joake, 482. Average Republican plurality, 4,443.

For Coroner the vote was: Bunting, R., 12,407; Cladek, D., 7,785; Syers, P., 300; Koerner, Social Labor, 225; Osterheld, Social Democrat, 486. Bunting's plurality, 4,622.

The following comparison of the total vote polled in the county since 1892 will be of interest to many:

1892	17,093*
1893	14,774
1894	16,455
1895	16,150
1896	19,162*
1897	14,867
1898	17,257
1899	15,862
1900	21,246*

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The characters which Bret Harte has used in his idyllic story of western mining life "M'liss," which is at Music Hall tonight, are at the same time quaint and original, yet they are true to the life. Most of the comedy in the play, which has been made from the novel, and which has been given a very elaborate revival this season, is furnished by a theatrical actor-manager in hard luck and a justice of the peace, whose knowledge of the law he dispenses is of the most limited character, yet who does everything "accordin' to the statoot." There were actors who travelled from camp to camp doing anything from "Hamlet" to a song and dance, managing their own attractions, and presenting anything their patrons demanded. Most of the local legal officers were filled by the man who could control the most votes. It was necessary for a camp to have a coroner and a justice, but it made little difference to the miners who they were. As long as the offices were filled, that was all that was necessary. "The story of M'liss" has always been one of the most popular of Bret Harte's tales, and as a play it has been as great a success as any native American drama which has ever been written. The production which has been made for the revival is said to be one of the handsomest that the play has ever had and the company is reported to be a very strong and well balanced organization. Nellie McHenry is to play the name part.

. . . . . .

An amusing anecdote is told of the petite and popular actress Josephine Sabel, who will be seen at Music Hall Thursday night in "The Soldier's Queen." At one of her performances in the Metropolis last season General Shafter and family occupied a box At the conclusion of Miss Sabel singing "There was a Hot Time in Santiago That Night," the General, recognizing the air to be the victorious cheer of our brave boys at the occupation of Santiago, rose to offer courtesy to the lady who made famous "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight." Becoming enthusiastic, he loudly applauded and jokingly threw her kisses. Miss Sabel remarked she did not object to being Hobsonized by one so high in military authority. "The Soldier's Queen" will be produced with splendid scenery and accessories, and Schilzony's Hungarian Boys' Military Band, which is a feature in itself.

. . . . . .

The coming of Amy Stone's Little Tots in a spectacular presentation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" promises to be a great novelty. All the participants are children none of whom are over 12 years of age, and the well-known drama will be performed in its entirety. There will be reserved seats for the matinee performance.

GRAHAM VERDICT SET ASIDE.

Supreme Court Again Reverses Hudson County Petit Jury.

The Supreme Court rendered a decision yesterday setting aside the verdict in the case of A. L. Graham against the Consolidated Traction Company. This is the fourth time the Supreme Court has disagreed with the decision of petit jurors in the Hudson County Court.

Graham's son, Melville, four years old, was killed by a trolley car in Jersey City. He sued and the jury awarded him $5,000 damages. The case was appealed, and the Court suggested that $1,000 would be a fair verdict. Graham refused to accept it. The case was again tried, and the jury again voted for $5,000 damages. It was again appealed and Justice Gummere filed the opinion that caused so much comment concerning the value of the life of a child. For the third time the jury awarded $5,000 damages and the verdict was set aside. The last time the jury reduced the award of damages to $3,000, but the company again appealed on the ground that the verdict was excessive, and also that it was clearly against the weight of evidence, and these contentions were sustained by the Court.

Ants, Cockroaches, Bed Bugs

Mix, say, a 25c. box of "Rough on Rats" carefully with a pound or so of mashed boiled potatoes, or with a loaf of finely crumbled dampened bread, or two tin cups of fine powdered sugar, and place about their haunts, out of reach of children or pet animals. Even the hardier Black Cockroaches, Beetles, Wood or Water Bugs, in one or two applications will be completely annihilated. "Rough on Rats" is the only thing that will effectually and permanently annihilate Bed Bugs, and it stands unrivalled the world over for the prompt and effective extermination of Rats and Mice. 15 and 25 boxes at druggists.

Mr. Graham's Topic.

"There is Life for a Look" will be the subject of the address to be given by Thomas F. Graham, the Scotch evangelist, at the Y. M. C. A. this evening. The talk will be illustrated and fully as interesting as the one given last night. The attendance and the result of the work yesterday was very encouraging.

KEEPING PROMISES
Plainfield Appreciates Always When Promises Are Kept.

Every time you read about Doan's Kidney Pills you are told they cure every kidney ill, from backache to urinary disorders. How are our promices kept? Ask any citizen who has tried the treatment. Ask the woman who makes the following statement.

Mrs. Valentine Utzinger of 75 Grandview avenue, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for six years, I doctored and used various kinds of medicine with little or no result. I had almost a constant sharp darting pain across my back, and if I ever exerted myself or took cold I suffered severely. I always felt it most when the weather was damp. There was also a kidney weakness which was very distressing and inconvenient. While in this condition I saw Doan's Kidney Pills recommended and my son bought me a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. I started to use them at once following directions closely. They helped the pain in my back, and relieved my other difficulty. I give all the credit for this relief to Doan's K ... for they are beyond a doubt a grand medicine for kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co. Buffalo N. Y. sole agents for the U. S.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER.

Although 80 Years of Age He Still Takes an Active Part in Canadian Party Agitation.

Sir Charles Tupper, who confidently predicts an overwhelming victory for the conservatives in the approaching elections, is indisputably the grand old man of the Dominion of Canada. In the eightieth year of his eventful life his brain is as clear and his generalship as active and wary as it was in 1878, when the conservatives swept the country. Sir Charles has a long list of titular abbreviations after his name, conferred by the queen, by learned societies and by different universities in England,

SIR CHARLES TUPPER.
(Grand Old Man of the Conservative Party of Canada.)

Scotland and Canada. Since 1862 he has been governor of Dalhousie college, Halifax, and he has been active in politics, if not a real power, ever since he was made member of the executive council of Nova Scotia in 1857. For 32 years he represented the county of Cumberland in the parliament, and has occupied cabinet positions in conservative governments, going in and out and up and down with the fortunes of his party. In 1888 he was created a baronet, and in 1896 he was premier, when the liberals came into power. In August of that year he was elected leader of the opposition in the new parliament.

RIDING DRESS.

Appropriate Costume For Horseback Exercise—Long Wrap.

For riding habits fine, flexible cloth is used, covert cloth or heavy serge, and black or an extremely dark blue, almost black, is chosen. Brown and dark green are no longer seen. The bodice is plainly buttoned, with a point in front and a short postilion basque. Sometimes there is simply a short point at the back also, instead of a postilion, as the latter is inclined to flutter up and down with the motion of the horse. A high hat or derby is worn. Occasionally the long skirted, tight fitting riding coat, with a vest, is seen, but it is not graceful when the wind catches it and is little worn.

For country riding greater latitude is permissible. Beige or tan habits may be worn, with a plain flannel shirt waist, or even a short, loose sack, and a sailor hat or alpine, trimmed with a plain band, is allowable.

Dogskin or castor gloves are preferred, and they fasten with two or three clasps, like a street glove. Gauntlets are never worn.

The picture shows an empire wrap of black velvet. It consists of a plaited skirt mounted on a very short bodice. The plaits are fastened down by stitched straps of white satin, except near the front, where they are free. The bodice is trimmed with stitched white satin straps, and the sleeves have caps and cuffs of stitched white satin. The revers are of embroidered white satin, as is the high, flaring collar, and the wrap is closed by stitched tabs and ornamental buttons. The hat of black spangled tulle and velvet is trimmed with black ostrich plumes and a jeweled buckle.

FASHION NOTES.

Indications of Styles For the Winter Wardrobe.

Skirts are more and more undulating around the foot and are without stiffening or any facing which shall produce rigidity and prevent the formation of soft folds. Nearly always there is a circular flounce of greater or less depth. With the arrival of winter bands of fur will appear at the edge of the flounce, or the entire flounce may be made of fur. This is to be a fur season, and redingotes, even whole gowns composed of it, are to be worn and will be an exclusive novelty, as fur is never cheap enough to become common.

There are many very long wraps and redingotes made of rich materials expensively lined. These are not employed for walking, however, being far too cumbersome and requiring to be held up.

FANCY BOLERO.

They are for carriage wear, and boleros or short jackets or sacks are used with walking gowns. The bolero is usually longer in front than at the back, while the sack may be short or of half length.

The illustration given today shows a bolero of military blue cloth. It is elongated in two tabs in front and ornamented with applications of plaid goods in front, at the sides and back of the waist, at the top of the sleeves and on the high, flaring collar. The applications are outlined by fancy braid, and the bolero is closed by cords and buttons. The plain cloth sleeves come to the elbow, whence they are completed by full lower sleeves of plaid, gathered into plain cuffs, trimmed with braid. The revers are of plaid. The hat of military blue felt is trimmed with curled ostrich plumes and velvet chrysanthemums.

BOB BURDETTE Takes a Trip Abroad

He Inspects the Old Churches of England and Tells of the Dead That Live Forever

[Copyright, 1900, by Robert J. Burdette.]

THIS old, old, overcrowded land. When you are out among its thronging, jostling—"hurrying?" not on your strenuous life, my boy—nobody hurries over here. A man may lurch against you in the street, but he doesn't shove you out of the way. You grind lazily past each other. The crowd stops and stares at a man who chases after a bus, wondering what ails the crazy one. A people content to have the streets of their city blocked by cabs and omnibuses, which comprise about four-fifths of the street traffic of London, is not liable to be in a hurry about anything. Oh, once or twice I have observed a man, in the act of running over himself with a cab, make a startled, impatient, rather than a sudden, movement to get out of the way, but this is not habitual. And in a little while you become acclimated and enjoy the leisurely movement of life just as though you were born to it. Once in awhile you shake yourself together and wonder in a dreamy way what has become of the fool who is always in a hurry and who always puts his hand on your breast as he meets you and shoves you out of the way rather than "divide de road" with you. And your heart is glad to know that there are places on this feverish old planet where he is not permitted to run at large in the streets. He is missed, but not regretted.

Oh, I know; we are "hustlers," and can't afford to do business on the "crawl;" we have to rush in order to get through our work. And yet there does seem to be a fair amount of business transacted in London. It is quite an important monetary center; there is an extensive jobbing business done here; several London business houses have branch establishments in the United States, Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia and Bithynia, I used to think, not being a business man myself, that "business" consisted in rushing violently around all manner of places from nine to five. But I discover that here in London business men keep on all their garments, without rending any of them, all day, and manage to transact a really creditable amount of business between ten and four.

Such a delightful old puzzle of a town as it is. Some days I go out and come back to write in my notebook that it is 50 years behind China, and that is true. The next day I go out and come back at night to declare that it is 100 years ahead of the rest of the universe. And that is true. It just depends upon the side of it you see, and the time you see it. But, anyway, and all the time, and in whatever mood you may happen to see it, the one fact remains unchanged and unshaken, that this is the middle of things, this is the center of the world; everything comes here and most things stay here. Everybody comes here, praises or censures goes away delighted or disgusted—and comes back again. Its living attract you, and its dead fascinate you.

The Dead That Live Forever.

The living! All the life of London is so inextricably connected with its dead; its to-days and yesterdays are so blended; some of the glory and romance of the "Round Table" shines upon Victoria, and somewhat of Arthur lives in the Victorian age—they do not seem so far apart as Washington and McKinley. Into almost any mildewed old church that you may enter—and they elbow you everywhere—some voice cries from a tablet built into the wall or a slab in the pavement under your feet: "I am with you and of your time!" A handful of dust—centuries old, but it is a living voice, and the name on the slab, well-nigh obliterated by thousands of careless fe is the name of a living man, a man whom you know. You turn aside from the eddying stream of life that surges and babbles and frets through the crowded streets, to muse at the feet of the mighty dead—why, the dead are all outside! These people who jostled you in the street—they never were alive to you. Some of them will really die before another daybreak. It is nothing to you; they are already dead to you. Their lives, their hopes, their ambitions, their sorrows and disappointments—you have no thought or feeling for them. All that is unreal. Next Sabbath morning it will take an hour of burning appeal—earnest, sincere and impassioned—from the most eloquent preacher in your city to wring a reluctant coin of silver or gold from you to assuage the griefs of the suffering, feed the hungry and clothe the naked whom you see every day, and then you will complain that your pastor "begs too much."

Sentiment and Charity.

But here, in this moldy old church, builded centuries ago by some old bandit who killed and pillaged and plundered until he had gathered enough wealth to keep him in Easy street while he built this church that he might die in the odor of sanctity, and in five minutes you will have a little pang of heartache for a woman who suffered and died a thousand years ago; your heart will burn with anger against some tyrant who wrought agony of sorrow and suffering into the lives of the helpless and innnocent centuries gone by; you will touch reverently and lovingly the tomb of this poet, and wish that you might have befriended him in the days of his poverty and friendliness 1,200 years ago. But you don't yearn to do anything of that sort for the poet, just as sincere and just as earnest, who lives in the next block. You could make him the happiest and gratefullest man on earth, but you don't intend to do anything of the kind. It is so much easier and pleasanter and cheaper to weep over the urn of a poet who won't ask you for a cent, who won't even meekly ask if you have read his book—which you haven't, or if you have you read it in a free library and have no intention of enriching him with his ten cents' royalty by purchasing a copy.

Why, the dead people are the ones who are alive; they are nearest our sympathies, closest to our hearts. We don't know who may be these people in the streets—Smith, Jones, Brown and Robinson. But these people in the abbey and the churchyard—Burns, Ben Jonson, Gay, Cowper—why, these we know; with these we can sympathize, with these we can laugh and weep. These are living friends of ours. We can repeat to you the clever things they said and tell you the great things they did. Why, man, you never want to go to a graveyard to find dead people. The dead are the people of the keenest sympathies. They enter most intelligently and most lovingly into your moods. They most accurately understand you. They never misjudge you. That's why men love to loiter about the resting places of the dead.

Conventional "Reverence."

How forgiving are the dead. How gentle and quiet and patient. And how quickly they hush us, with our pretty little fussiness, our small trials, our light afflictions, into their own quiet and peace. We call this unconscious influence "reverence for the dead," and take credit to ourselves for it, just as though we didn't cut up the cemetery into town lots the day it becomes valuable as residence or business property. Just as though we didn't have to keep guards posted about the graves of our illustrious dead to keep their reverential fellow citizens from chipping the tombstones to pieces for cheerful souvenirs and stealing all the flowers and grass on the lot. You can measure our reverence for the dead by just such things. Our "reverence" for the dead! You can't pick up a newspaper without having your eyes greeted by this and that and the other page in the court docket, in which some loving and dutiful children are reverently trying to tear to pieces their father's will, preferring that the lawyers should have it all rather than that the father should have his way about a little of it.

An Old Burial Place.

Westminster Abbey. No wonder that even the most irreverent head bows itself instinctively in the presence of the memories of the place. The human who must always give his or her impressions voice is silent here. The guide, rushing his little party from tomb to tomb, is a living impertinence. And yet it is only a common burying ground. Some of the monuments, like those in the cemetery which it is your pride to show to the visitor in your own town, with its new white marble tombstones, and its one granite monument, costing, as per bill rendered, so many thousand dollars, are in most execrable taste. The most high-sounding epitaphs are found, in Westminster as in all other places of burial, upon the tombs of the most persons the most commonplace and inconsequent. Westminster Abbey; somehow or other you always think of it as in some sort a church. They do hold religious services in it, regularly and numerously. One week day we stood through three most impressive and beautiful services—the most touchingly tender and sympathetic of all being an intercessory service for the soldiers in South Africa. Over it all the cross, emblem of triumphant and unresisting suffering of wrong without the doing of wrong, emblem of the humility of perfection; we heard again and again the name of Jesus exalted in the service, the Prince of Peace, the God who had humbled Himself to the station and form of man; we confessed ourselves "miserable sinners;" we heard extolled the love and gentleness and compassion, the pity and the tenderness of Christ; we prayed with lusty and long-drawn "amens" that we might be forgiven, even as "we forgave those who trespassed against us," and all around us the walls of the venerable minister were bursting with human pride and arrogance; shouting to the heavens the boast and bluster of men, before which our world-renowned Yankee brag sinks into a bashful whisper of conscious meekness and confessed humility.

IT'S PLEASANTER AND CHEAPER TO WEEP OVER THE URN OF A POET.

It takes a thousand years of fighting to crowd so much boastfulness of human achievement in foray and siege, in brawl and battle and sea fight, into the walls of a single church. No young nation can hope to do this. Monument to this general and that admiral; paganism overshadowing the emblems of Christianity with her winged "victories" ever alighting on our banners; her "histories" writing immortal records upon the imperishable bronzes in purest Greek, and her "fames" blowing out their distended cheeks to bursting, and splitting their long trumpets with the names of our heroes who killed the other fellows' heroes and silenced their pretentious fames by depriving them of the wind wherewith to blow, for the trumpet of fame is a veritable windmill after all, when you come to measure its power.

The chnurch is crowded with soldiers. And, there being no name in the religion of the Teacher who said to His one warlike disciple: "Put up thy sword into its place," for a church sacred to the glory of war, we graciously pitied, and, I trust, forgave the poverty of Christian nomenclature, and adopted a name from our Pagan neighbors, and so call Westminster Abbey the "English Valhalla." And no old viking could go into Valhalla with any respect—he couldn't hold up his head unless he had killed at least several hundred other men and sent them before him as his credentials. A Valhalla for our illustrious fighters, by all means, but only, to a man brought up [illegible] and living all his life in the country, it looks as though it should be placed in a fort rather than in one of the most prominent and best places in a church.

You have to consult the guide book repeatedly and hunt around in Westminster Abbey to find the tombs of the poets and politicians and warriors; you do find one he is art to be one part priest and nine parts politician, and while you are searching for the life-size statue in full canonicals that marks the resting place and commemorates the virtues of the humble follower of the street preacher of Galilee Fame shrills a fearful blast into your ears and History looks up from her tablet to shout:

"This way! Here's the tomb you're looking for! Combination of the fall of Jericho, siege of Gibraltar and end of the world! Biggest mass and mix of tumbling marble ever exhibited under one canvas!" And another Fame, slenderer in the waist but with much bigger cheeks and a far longer trumpet, shrills at you: "Here's the Christian teacher, if that's what you're lookng for! Effigy of him with his legs crossed, to show how peaceable he was when he was dead! Record of his last battle on his tomb—killed, 23,000; wounded, 57,000; sold into slavery, 5,000. Here's your successful evangelist! He'd either convert a man or he'd kill him!" Modern evangelistic methods, too. "Hold up your hands!" Hands go up. "Saved!" Hands stay down. "Swish!" Lost! They believed in the most holy faith, these old crusaders. Wore the cross on the back of their coats, where they couldn't see it. Allee samee to-day.

Say, isn't it awful, these bloody persecutions in China—murdering men by the hundred, just because they have a different religion from the—but "that's another story." A bas the Chinese. We'll teach these benighted Pagans to pass anti-immigration laws. Who ever heard of such a thing?

Another Valhalla.

Same way in St. Paul's. Best places reserved for the soldiers and sailors—the fighting men. Sacred place looks like the books of Joshua and Judges sound. Have to keep your eyes shut if you want to follow the service. If you open them straightway your mind goes off to Waterloo, the organ peals nothing but bugle calls, the choir chants the life and death clutch at Hugomont; you hear "the frightened waves rush wildly back before the broadsides' reeling rack" at Trafalgar; you listen to the cheers and volleys at Inkermann and Balaclava. The Valhalla influence is all right, but the voice of the church is very faint. This is noticeably so at St. Paul's. People get up and move about during the service. True, one reason for this may be that the service to the vast majority of the audience is merely a combination and succession of religious sounds. The acoustics of a cathedral are very like those of an American national convention hall—made to hear nothing in except the yelling. And as there is no "yelling" in a cathedral you understand nothing in it. But at Westminster Abbey people do maintain a reverent attitude and silence during the services. If some wild man should come in and tip-toe down the aisle to stare at the monuments it is the reproachful eyes of his fellow tourists more than of the Englishmen, who seldom look at him, that shames him to a seat and decorum.

The veriest savage, it seems to me, could not misbehave himself in Westminster. One may be struck by the fact that it looks more like a military burial place than a church; none the less is he awed and hushed into reverential silence and respectful attitude. No fussy attendants run after him to keep his hands off things and to restrain his shallow levity. The place does that. You pass by the resting place of patriot and tyrant—"rich man, poor man, beggarman, thief," man, snob, saint and scoundrel—same as in any collection of dead or living humans anywhere, and the atmosphere of the place is your monitor. The shallowest idiot that ever driveled, the fellow who "always finds such funny things in a graveyard" can find nothing over which to make merry in Westminster.

One thing other you observe in the valhalla—in all valhallas, I reckon—I am not very familiarly acquainted with them—only the pedigreed heroes buried here. The general and the admiral, my lord and captain, the colonel and the duke. I looked carefully for the tomb of one Thomas Atkins. But it must be on the outside. I thought maybe a fighter so famous as "a private of the buffs" might find a resting place in the Valhalla, but he must have been buried in the general trench with the rest of them. I thought maybe just one common sailor, Bill Buntline, might sleep near the admiral with whom he died with no honors and less reward, but they must have consigned Bill to the waves and the sharks. And yet but for Tommy and Bill the general and the admiral had not slept in Westminster. Takes a heap of dead soldiers to make a general. And one of these days the man at the tail of the plow, the man at the forge and the man behind the desk will get to thinking of this. And after that there won't be so many generals. But there won't be so many fat graveyards with numeral epitaphs—"772," "1984," "unknown," "3,457." The world will be a little short on "valhallas" then. But there won't be so many broken families. And the world will be just as happy, I reckon, as it would be if every town had a costly sarcophagus containing "the hallowed dust" of one "hero," while the "common people" waited with the dumb patience of the poor for the sea to give up its dead.

ROBERT J. BURDETTE.

Origin of "Dixie's Land."

The original song, "Dixie's Land," was composed in 1859 by Daniel Emmett as a "walk around" for Bryant's minstrels. Mr. Emmett frequently heard the performers in a circus make the remark: "I wish I was in Dixie," as soon as the northern climate began to be too severe for the tent life which they followed. This expression suggested the song: "Dixie's Land." It made a hit at once in New York, and was speedily carried to all parts of the union by numerous bands of wandering minstrels. In the fall of 1860 Mrs. John Wood sang it in New Orleans in the burlesque of "Pocahontas," and before a week had passed the whole city had taken it up. A New Orleans publisher saw possibilities in the music, and without the authority of the composer had the air harmonized and rearranged, issuing it with words embodying the strong southern feeling then existing in New Orleans.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Swift was 59 when his brain gave birth to "Gulliver's Travels."

SPORTING.

GOLF

Michael Higgins, of West Front street, who is laying out the nine-hole golf course for the Westfield Golf Club, is making excellent progress. A portion of the course is completed so that members can use it. The club now has a membership of 150, and among them are several Plainfielders. The course promises to be one of the most popular in the State as Sunday playing is to be allowed. This will no doubt injure the course at Baltusrol, where so many golfers spend their Sundays. The Westfield course is easier to reach on account of the trolley.

In the inter-city contest between the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association and the Women's Golf Association, of Philadelphia, finished Thursday on the links of the Philadelphia Country Club, the New Yorkers were the successful players. The score being 39 to 21. In the leaders' play, Miss Hecker, of Wee Burn, won by 2 over Miss Griscom, the National woman champion. Miss N. Pendleton Rogers, of Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, contributed materially to the final result by winning 6 over her opponent, Mrs. W. M. Gorham, of the Philadelphia Cricket Club.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

A hard game is in prospect for the Plainfield High School eleven tomorrow afternoon. The team will go to New Brunswick and line up against the Rutgers Preparatory School on Neilson Field. When the Rutgers Prep boys came to Plainfield the result of the game was a tie, 6 to 6. The High School team at that time was somewhat stronger than it is now, while the Rutgers Prep boys will have the advantage of playing on home grounds. The Plainfield boys are not going to give up, however, without a hard struggle and they are hoping to prevent their opponents from scoring. It promises to be a good game and quite a party of local enthusiasts are planning to attend the match.

COURT MUST GO TO H.M.

Bennett Says He's Too Ill to Appear for Trial.

The officials of the Middlesex County Court of Quarter Sessions, at New Brunswick, have struck a curious snag in trying to enforce the excise laws. James F. Bennett, a saloonkeeper, of New Brunswick, has been indicted, but he cannot be tried because there is no way of getting him to court. Bennett is a helpless cripple and has not been out of the house for number of years. When the case was called Bennett's counsel, Irving Hoagland, presented a certificate from his physician, declaring that to bring Bennett to court would be to incur grave risks. Bennett connot be tried unless he appears in person.

It is possible court may be held at his house.

Chattel Mortgage Foreclosed.

Armed with a chattel mortgage obtained against the place by the Trenton Abbatoir Beef Corporation, Lawyer Wm. G. DeMeza took possession this morning of the goods in the butcher shop formerly conducted by B. F. Crane on Somerset street. They will be sold Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Titus & Coddington had also issued an attachment against Crane as an absconding debtor, but the chattel mortgage overrules any prior claim and they were unable to take possession.

Death of Miss VanPelt.

The death of Miss Katharine VanPelt, sister of Mrs. Fanny VanCleef, of East Millstone, occurred Sunday morning last at the home of the latter after a long and painful illness. Miss VanPelt was a resident of East Millstone for many years. She had many friends in this city who will learn with deep regret of her death. The funeral services were held this afternoon from the home of Mrs. VanCleef at 2 o'clock.

Wage Scale on the Lehigh.
(Special to the Daily Press.)

Phillipsburg, Nov. 13—Members of the grievance committee of the Lehigh Valley Railroad employes met the officials of the road at the superintendent's office in Easton Saturday afternoon and the scale of wages of the men employed on the road between New York and Buffalo was revised. The men have asked for a uniform rate on all the divisions.

Dr. Matthewson's Aunt Dead.

Dr. C. B Matthewson, of this city, has gone to Wickford, R. I., to attend the funeral services of his aunt, Mrs. F. Birge Griswold, who many Plainfielders will pleasantly recollect. She was an authoress of much note, having written as many as thirty books.

front of his property on Seventh street so that it will conform to the grade on the opposite side of the street. N. B. Smalley and others asked for an extension of the water mains through South Second street to Rock avenue to provide for better fire protection. This was referred to the proper committee.

Armstrong Mulford and others, executors of the estate of E. C. Mulford, petitioned for two electric lights on Kensington avenue, south of LaGrande avenue, and one light on Carleton avenue, south of LaGrande avenue. It was referred to the committee with power. The League of American Municipalities which is soon to meet at Charleston, S. C., asked the Council to send a representative to the convention, as heretofore. The communication was filed.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane reported the granting of seventeen permits during the past month, and Street Commissioner Gavett reported that nineteen sewer permits were granted during September, October and November. Overseer of the Poor Hansen reported for the past quarter. There were ten applicants for relief, of which number eight were granted. Four persons received temporary aid. There was one death at the Industrial Home. There are now twenty-nine beneficiaries, of which five are males, twenty females and four minors. There are eleven at the home.

Mr. Tolles offered a resolution which provides for the advertising of an ordinance to provide for the establishment of certain grades, and Monday evening, December 3d, was set as the date for a public hearing on the same. Mr. Clifton recommended the granting of one electric light on the south side of East Front street and Johnston avenue, and one light on Johnston avenue, near Farragut avenue; also that the light now in front of the propertty at 319 East Second street be removed to a point on the south side of the street between two lights that are now located on that street. The Council concurred in the recommendations.

BRYAN MEN PLAY HORSE.

Forced to Draw Republicans Through Elizabeth Streets.
(Special to the Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Nov. 13. — The Union Pleasure Circle of this city had a big time last night when, to the music of the Unity Fife and Drum Corps, of fourteen pieces, the organization, 120 strong, had a torchlight parade through the principal streets and escort some of the members who, in the role of horses, paid election bets.

Jacob Schweig, who weighs 260 pounds, and George Hersh, who tips the scales at 200, were harnessed up together to a rubber-tired carriage, in which Louis Ubrick and William Hurdkopf, who bet on McKinley, were seated. William Slattery, who bet Charles Reingard that McKinley would not have 45,000 plurality in New Jersey, had to drag the winner through the streets in a similar conveyance. Reingard was dressed as Uncle Sam John Hessler had to push Peter Hessler, his brother, in a wheelbarrow over the same distance of about two miles.

WANTS $1,000 FOR BEING BITTEN.

Keech's Hand Badly Mangled by a Hotel Man's Mastiff.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Nov. 13.—A suit for $1,000 damages was started yesterday in the Union County Circuit Court against John Broadlin, proprietor of the Manhattan Hotel at Garwood, by William Keech, of Aldene, for injuries which Keech says he received from a mastiff belonging to Broadlin Sunday, October 28th.

Keech, who is a mason by trade, called at the hotel to see Hugh McGilvery, of Garwood. While Keech was standing at the bar in the hotel the mastiff rushed in and seized his right hand, badly lacerating the flesh before the brute could be clubbed off. The hand may have to be amputated.

Broadlin said he would kill the dog, but Keech declared that would not do him any good, so Saturday morning he came to Elizabeth and retained a lawyer to draw up the necessary papers for the suit.

Price of Coal Reduced.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, November 13.—There has been a slump here in the retail price of coal, which dropped from $6 a ton to $5.40. The announcement was a welcome one to consumers, who look for a still further reduction if the fine weather continues.

DAILY PRESS LEAGUE READY FOR BUSINESS

Season Will Open Dec. 4th With Same Four Clubs in the Bowling League.

OFFICERS WERE ELECTED.

MEETING OF THE LEAGUE HELD LAST EVENING AND PLANS MADE.

Schedule Provisionally Adopted—The Change in Arrangement of League as Last Season Proved a Great Success.

Satisfied with the success of the first season of the Daily Press Bowling League, the representatives of the clubs included in the league held a meeting at The Daily Press office last evening and decided to continue the league on the same lines as last year. It will therefore be a four-cornered tournament, each club being represented by a team of five men, and each team will meet each other team once on the home alleys and once away, rolling three games at each meeting.

Last season was the first in The Daily Press Bowling League which succeeded the old Central Journal Bowling League. The last season of the latter organization had seven clubs in the league and did not prove a success. So The Daily Press League was formed with only the Park Club, the Roselle Casino, the Cranford Casino and the Westfield Club as members. They were the original members of the old Central League and the best of feeling existed among them.

The change proved a decided success. Bowlers of all the interested clubs declared that the season was the most satisfactory of any since the clubs of Union county had had any bowling league. The bowlers of the Town and Country Club, of Elizabeth, heard so much about its success that they showed a disposition to enter the league this year. The clubs already in the league were in favor of no changes in the arrangement, so the Elizabeth club made no formal application to join the league.
